Another Letter from May. John W. Lord, one month later Wonderful Cures by Dr. Quain's Pills Effected on Him in Thirteen Days. First time Free from Pain for Three Years.

West Lebanon, Me., March 22, 1875.

Mr. Thomas W. Lane:—I commenced taking Dr. Quain's Condition Pills February 9th, and wrote you February 22d of their wonderful effect. I have continued to improve ever since. My appetite is good, and I sleep as well as I ever did in my life. I am free from pain for the first time in three years. When I was taken sick four years ago, I weighed one hundred and eighty-six pounds; I now weigh one hundred and thirty, but, as I am gaining in strength, I have faith I shall regain my flesh this summer, by the use of the Pills. I shall continue taking them for some time to come.

Yours truly, JOHN W. LORD.

Dr. Quain's Pills the Remedy for Soldiers' Aches and Pains.

West Lebanon, Me., June 1, 1875.

Mr. Thomas W. Lane—Dear Sir:—I am now able to walk out every day, and am gaining in strength very fast, all of which is due to you as agent for the best Pills in the world. I have taken no other medicine, and my improvement has been steady since first taking Dr. Quain's Condition Pills. They have done everything for me, and I will say to you, advertise them direct to the soldiers, for they will certainly cure them of aches and pains caused from exposure and hardship on the field. Please send me by return mail another package.

JOHN W. LORD.

Rheumatism for Twenty Years Cured by One Package of Dr. Quain's Condition Pills—"The Best Medicine in the World."

East Andover, N. H., Dec. 10, 1875.

Mr. Lane—Dear Sir:—As I know the value of Dr. Quain's Condition Pills and the great they have done me, I take pleasure in giving them praise; so I send you another testimonial. My father has been troubled with Rheumatism for twenty years or more, and has tried everything that could be thought of, but to no good. At times it would be so bad that he could not lift his hand to his head or do any work at all, especially in cold weather. A short time ago I advised him to get some of these Pills. He believed nothing in them, but I gave him the last package I had of you, as I did not need them, and he has not been as free from the Rheumatic Complaint for years. No Rheumatism, no pain. What helped him? It was Dr. Quain's Condition Pills, the best medicine in the world. There is nothing like them. I know it, for I have tried them, and they are all, yes, more than they are recommended to be. Give them a fair trial and you will say so. I write this because I know the goodness of them and wish others to know the same. Some may think I am telling a big story. I am. But remember I am not giving them half the praise they ought to have.

Yours with respect, ED. F. PEVARE.

Daingerfield, Morris Co., Texas, Nov. 15, '75.

Mr. Thomas W. Lane—Dear Sir;—I have been afflicted for near twelve years with Neuralgia in the face and head. I tried it do not know how many physicians, and could only get partly relieved. I also tried many patent medicines with the same result. I have been confined to my room for all the time for eight or ten winters, and have been traveling and visiting medical springs, and I still suffered most intensely. The physicians pronounced my case the worst and most stubborn that they had had anything to do with. One told me I could never get well; they all advised me to go South and spend the winter, and thought that was the only chance for me, and I was trying to get ready to go to Florida, when through the kindness of Rev. H. M. Mathis, my attention was called to the advertisement of Dr. Quain's Magic Condition Pills. I immediately sent to you for a package. I have taken four doses and I am almost free from pain. The impression here seems to be that if your pills will cure me, they will cure anybody. I have five applications to send for the pills. Enclosed please find three dollars; send five packages to me and one to Mrs. Laura Sherrel, Sulphur Springs, Hopkins county, Texas.

Yours truly, J. S. PATTON.

Liver Complaint, Nervousness, Dropsy and Headache.

Laconia, N. H., Jan. 29, 1874.

Thos. W. Lane—Sir:—I have been troubled with Bad Blood, Liver Complaint, Nervousness, Dropsy and Headache. I have taken one package of Dr. Quain's Condition Pills. They have done me more good than all the medicine I ever took; I have taken considerable medicine within the last five years. For the nerves I think there is nothing so good as those pills. I am recommend them to all who are similarly afflicted, they have done me so much good. I think they will recommend themselves wherever they go. I shall recommend those Pills to all who need them. Please send me two packages more, one for myself and one for a lady friend of mine. Many thanks to the inventor, agent and advertiser of those Pills.

MRS. P. L. ELLIOTT.

PULMOCINE.

BUCHMAN'S PULMOCINE CORDIAL

is no new discovery. Twenty-three years ago it was used by one of New England's most famous physicians as the best Pulmonary Curative he could prescribe, after dozen years spent in experimenting with it before he was satisfied that the Materia Medica could add nothing in its favor.

Among its many ingredients are Wild Cherry Bark, Squill Root, Liquorice Root, Blood root, &c. It is a Blood Purifier, gently stimulating. It increases expectoration and is diuretic. It is sudorific and alterative. It is a necessary family medicine. It is a Tonic and a powerful aid to the digestive organs. It is a gentle sedative, and relieves nervousness. It is aromatic and agreeable to the taste.

CLEAR YOUR THROAT!

Relieve Your Lungs.

or the terrible diseases engendered by the lungs trying climate of New England

PULMOCINE CORDIAL

is a speedy and reliable Preventive and Remedy. Every Family should have a bottle at hand to check the sudden growth of all Pulmonary Diseases. For the Asthma, Coughs, Croups, Laryngitis, or inflammation of the larynx, Diphtheria, and all kindred Throat Diseases at all times prevalent, it is the ounce of Prevention. Children attacked with Whooping Cough or Croup should be immediately cared for. These painful attacks come with scarcely a moment's warning, when a physician may be out of immediate each. A dose of Pulmocine Cordial gives speedy relief, and the little ones are spared hours of pain and agony. As "a stitch in time saves nine," so does the possession of this Family Medicine prevent the spread of disease. Parents seeing their children gasping with pain, friends and relatives beholding each other in peril from suffocation by the choking pain in the throat, paralyzed with fear and not knowing the best course to pursue, are liable to apply the wrong remedial agents. There is no safety in delay, no time to waste in such cases. CONSUMPTION, that fearful scourge of the human race, lies at the door of all thus afflicted. Buchman's Pulmocine Cordial arrests it (unless in its advanced stage at which time there is no local cure) relieves the pressing, suffocating feeling at the lungs, and patient's danger is past.

For Coughs,

Croup,

Diphtheria,

Asthma, etc.,

use

Buchman's Pulmocine Cordial.

The Pulmocine Cordial is not a quack medicine, is not an experiment, is not composed of any ingredients "discovered" by "walking in pastures" in South America or anywhere else, nor by one who discovered a weed and thereby cured himself. Most of the ingredients are such as our best educated physicians daily use for the complaints specified in some form or other. The recipe is that perfected by one of New England's most learned and famous physicians, who used it entirely in his daily practice until his death. It is offered to the profession and to the public, absolutely pure and unadulterated.

AYER'S SARSAPARILLA,

For Purifying the Blood.

This compound of the vegetable alteratives, Sarsaparilla, Dock, Stillingia, and Mandrake, with the Iodides of Potash and Iron, makes a most effectual and safe a series of complaints which are very prevalent and afflicting. It purifies the blood, purges out the lurking humors in the system, that undermine health and settle into troublesome disorders. Eruptions of the skin are the appearance on the surface of humors that should be expelled from the blood. Internal derangements are the determination of these same humors to some internal organ, or organs, whose action they derange, and who e subsistance they disease and destroy. AYER'S SARSAPARILLA expels these humors from the blood. When they are gone, the disorders they produce disappear, such as Ulcerations of the Liver, Stomach, Kidneys, Lungs, Eruptions and Eruptive Diseases of the Skin, St. Anthony's Fire, Rose or Erysipelas, Pimples, Pustules, Blotches, Boils, Tumors, Tetter and Salt Rheum, Scald Head, Female Weakness, Sterility, Leucborrhœa arising from internal ulceration and uterine diseases, Dropsy, Dyspepsia, Emaciation and General Debility. With their departure health returns.

"Girled Up."

We hereby suggest a new "colloquial expression" for the next edition of Webster's dictionary. It was invented by an anxious father on the occasion of an interview with the principal one of our Hampden county academies, where the co-education of boys and girls still prevails. The boy in the case had formerly been studious and promising, but for several months had gradually fallen off from his previous standard, growing so careless and unscholarly that it became a serious question whether he would be able to pass his college entrance examination. It was a coincidence that he had meanwhile become conspicuous as a "ladies' man." The principal having alluded to this as a prominent cause of the boy's demoralization,—"Yes," broke in the father, "I know it; he's got all girled up." Which is a remarkably happy and pregnant phrase. If there is anything that plays the mischief with boys and girls during that budding, downy and vealy period of their teens, when they ought to be laying solid and permanent educational foundations, it is this premature efflorescence which moves boys and girls, who ought to be kept down to study, to perk and prim and sidle, and play with each other's eyes, and write silly and badly spelled notes to each other, and eat slate pencils in private. But then, it rarely lasts long; it is less harmful than tobacco or whiskey; and there is no law "agin" youths of that age making fools of themselves.—Springfield Republican.

Her Sweetheart.

During the war there lived in the vicinity of Jackson, Tenn., a solitary maiden of sixty summers, who had none to protect her against the rude buffets of the world. If any flower of affection for the other sex had ever warmed and beautified her maiden heart, it bloomed in secret and "wasted its sweetness on the desert air." At that time, which "tried men's souls," she continued to live alone, unterrified by the evils of civil war. One day, while the city was occupied by Federal troops, a soldier went into her potato-patch and commenced helping himself to the potatoes. She soon discovered his presence, and, rushing out, she screamed: "Get out of my potato-patch, you vagabond!" Soldier—"I shan't do it. Your sons are in the army fighting against us now, and I am going to have all the potatoes I want." Maid—"You're a liar." Soldier—"Well, if your sons ain't your husband is, and I'm going to have these potatoes." Maid—"You're a liar, sir; I have got no husband." Soldier—"Well, if your husband ain't your sweetheart is." Maid—"Well, I declare (softening), who told you I had a sweetheart?" Soldier—"Never mind." Maid—"Well, I reckon you can have a few potatoes, but don't take more'n you want for your own use."

How Gov. Nicholls Broke up a Communist Meeting.

Detective Hennessy, who has returned from a New Orleans trip, in conversation with a Republican reporter gives a very interesting report of the manner in which the New Orleans uprising was suppressed. The communists, or mobites, to the number of about two hundred, met one evening in a hall on the second floor of a building for the purpose of taking steps to organize and enlist the rough element for ugly work. Governor Nicholls, who takes great pride in the peace and good order which has attended his administration thus far, learned of this meeting, and determined that the movement should reach no further development. Going to the police headquarters he gave orders for a raid. Chief Boylan instructed that two howitzers and a Gatling gun be taken out from the arsenal, which institution is in his charge, and with a large force of men started for the building. The building was surrounded, and the howitzers planted, the Gatling gun being fixed so as to rake the main exit. Governor Nicholls then gave orders that the Communists be informed that they would be allowed five minutes to get out of there, and if, at the end of that time, the meeting was not dispersed, the building should be blown down by the cannon. Chief Boylan entered the saloon on the lower floor and asked the proprietor, a creole, what sort of meeting was going on upstairs. The creole did not know anything except that he had rented the hall to the men, and that nobody else would be permitted to go up. "We'll see about that," said Boylan, as he walked up and tried the door opening on the stairs. It was locked, and he called in four of his men. "Knock that door down," was the order, and in a moment the butts of four muskets went crashing through the panels. The chief walked up stairs. Addressing the chairman of the meeting, he said, "This body has met for no good purpose, and I now order it to disperse. Let every man get outside of this building in five minutes." "Oh, I don't know now whether we will or not," was the rather defiant reply of the chairman, while the meeting looked stubborn. "Well, I know," said the chief; and then, addressing his officers:—"Boys, get outside the building." Some one happened to look out of a window and saw the cannon, and there was a yell, which created a commotion that soon grew into a panic. The crowd had two minutes yet to spare when the last man had reached the street. The chief then informed them that if they attempted to organize anywhere else they would not receive any warning, but the cannon would be turned in upon them. There were no more meetings, and New Orleans did not suffer by a mob.—St. Louis Republican.

The Eastern War.

A determined attack by the Russians upon the whole length of Osman Pasha's line is reported to have begun on Monday, 3d inst. The battle of Lovatz on Tuesday was part of this attack.

The London Standard's Bucharest correspondent says that the battle of Lovatz was commenced by the Turks, who, disquieted by the great increase of Russians before the town, attacked them fiercely. The Russians repulsed nine successive Turkish assaults, and finally drove the Turks back into the town, which they entered with them. The struggle continued in the streets until the Turks were driven out from the other side of the town in great disorder. They retreated and were followed by Gen. Skobeloff's cavalry brigade, which had by its gallantry largely contributed to the Russian success. The slaughter was great, especially among the Turks.

A despatch from Constantinople says Suleiman Pasha telegraphs that he has silenced the Russian battery at Shipka Pass, a shell from the Turkish batteries having exploded the powder magazine of the Russians. A British newspaper correspondent at Schipka Pass says the Russians have made a fine road up the pass, which would never have been done had they not intended to use it for the passage of a large army into Roumelia when the proper moment arrives. New bridges and other improvements in the road are still being made.

Ahmed Pasha claims to have won a great victory over the Russians at Kadikoi on the 4th inst., killing 1000 and wounding 100 of them.

Washington Correspondence.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Sept. 5th.

The Commission appointed by Secretary Sherman to investigate the affairs of the Norfolk Custom House have attended to that duty and returned home. It is understood that they have fully established all the charges made by Moore after his investigation of that very rotten institution. The duties from entire cargoes were stolen, according to the talk on the street here this morning, and the vessels were entered as though arriving in ballast. These robberies are said to have been traced through a series of years under Collector Lee, and there appears to have been a systematic falsification of the books. What is to be done to save the credit of the special agents stationed there to protect the Government from just such robberies, and who reported everything correct month after month, has not yet been made public. Their dismissal from the service would seem the minimum punishment demanded by the interests of the Government, and by their defective vision, to characterize it very mildly.

Rumors long afloat of the intended resignation of Assistant Secretary of the Treasury McCormick have assumed more definite shape, and his retirement appears now accepted without question. Cause assigned, the very onerous and exacting character of the labor required, if the duties of the position are conscientiously performed; and his most bitter personal or political enemy would hardly venture to suggest they had not been during his incumbency. The sharp contrast in this respect between him and some of his predecessors makes his contemplated resignation all the more regretted. He is one of our few public men who have been sought by the positions they have filled. He is a politician in the very best acceptation of the term. Mr. McPherson is regarded as having the inside track as his successor; and if one must be selected, a designation more generally acceptable to those having business with the office could hardly have been suggested.

The lobby intriguers who have been operating for a recall of the proclamation convening Congress in extra session on the 15th proximo, have retired, apparently discouraged; and every plan of the army of interested ones is evidently laid with the view that there is to be no postponement.

Some items of interest are made public by the Treasurer in his assessment of National Banks for the cost of assorting and redeeming their notes, just now engaging his attention. Total amount assorted during the last fiscal year was $214,361,300; unfit for circulation and hence destroyed, $62,518,600; fit for circulation and returned to the banks for that purpose, $151,842,700. Increase of amount redeemed over year preceding, $38,239,445. Number of notes assorted 22,745,548. Expenses for expressage, $189,362.05, and for all other charges, $167,704.05, aggregating $357,066.10. Other than express charges, decrease of expense $38,346.42, or a reduction of nearly 20 per cent. as compared with 1875. The assessment for express expenses is made in proportion to the amount of notes assorted for each bank; and all other expenses incurred in proportion to the number assorted. On this basis the ratio for express charges assessed is 88 34-100 cents for each $1000 as against 90 36-100 cents for 1875. Assessments for other expenses $7.37 for each $1000 notes assorted, as against $10.78 for 1875. Not one cent's loss has been sustained by the agency during the two past years, showing the accuracy of the system.

KNOX.

Woman's Crusade in Claremont.

A correspondent of the Boston Globe, writing from Claremont, N. H., gives the following account of what the women of that town are doing in the way of legal suasion with the liquor dealers:

"The 'woman's crusade' against the rum traffic in this town is being carried forward with great energy and with glorious results. In addition to the cases before reported in your columns, the Woman's Committee have made seizures at several other places, including the four hotels. The proprietor of the Junction House fled to escape the penalty of the law, this being his third offence. New Hampshire has a good strong law, yet in the face of it the liquor dealers here have, for some time past, been engaged in selling to our reformed men with terrible effect. The women of Claremont have determined that this should not be, and are proceeding to prosecute all violators of the prohibitory law. In the majority of cases the sellers have paid their fines. The women are resolute and determined, and are receiving letters from other towns inquiring into their method of procedure. The prohibitory law can be enforced, provided there is an honest attempt on the part of the officials to enforce it. Let the women of New England, who have suffered so much by the rum-sellers, declare war against these disturbers of the public peace and destroyers of the happiness of home. The 'lords of creation' are too much under the influence of partisan politics to be candid in dealing with the temperance question, but the women have no such notions to influence them, and are, therefore, more likely to engage with honest convictions in the temperance work. The day is not far distant when the intelligent women of this land will have a voice at the polls in settling these great moral questions that are now agitating us. May that day soon come."

Attention, New Hampshire Veterans.

The following call, signed by U. S. Marshal J. N. Patterson and others, has been issued to the Veterans of New Hampshire:

CONCORD, N. H., Sept. 4, 1877.

Comrades: A general invitation has been extended for all Veteran Soldiers to participate in the ceremonies at the dedication of the Army and Navy Monument, at Boston, on the 17th inst. Although this is a tribute by the City of Boston to Massachusetts soldiers, it is expected that each New England State will be represented. Vermont, Maine and Rhode Island have already signified their intended presence. Will New Hampshire Veterans "fall in" and fill the column? No two States have been more closely allied in all our wars, than Massachusetts and New Hampshire. In the last war there was not one Regiment from our State that cannot recall the familiar name of some Regiment from Old Bay State with whom they fought side by side. Now let us meet again our comrades of a sister State, and with our presence add our humble tribute to the memory of our fallen comrades. It is not probable that there can ever again be such a parade of Veterans. Will the Old Granite State respond? A meeting will be holden at the State House, in this city, Saturday, Sept. 8th, at 11 o'clock, A. M., for choice of officers, and perfecting arrangements. It is desired that the old soldiers in every city and town will send representatives to this meeting, to complete the organization.

News and Notes.

Hon. Kenneth Raynor, Solicitor of the Treasury, was fined $20 and costs for his assault on Soteldo, editor of the Washington Republican.

The Bangor Whig administers a just rebuke to the writers who, in the security of their homes, are criticising General Howard's Indian campaign, and abusing a gallant officer who is rendering valuable service to the country, under great difficulties. These scribblers say, by implication, how much better they could carry on the fight. The Whig says: "If the government could recruit a regiment of those pen-and-ink warriors, and let General Howard drop them down in the vicinity of the Nez Perces, and prevent them from running, they might furnish substitutes for better men's scalps, and the regions of civilization would be no loser in brains."

The Mr. Soteldo, who was assaulted by Solicitor Raynor, at Washington, has led an eventful life. Newspaper correspondents who chronicled the progress of the last Fenian raid remember him as a blustering, bullying fellow, who was prone to hide in the corner whenever any trouble was likely to occur, and they also recall his subsequent experience which resulted in the dissolution of his connection with the New York Sun. Neither of these experiences would read well if detailed in print.—Traveller.

Schooner Wave Crest, Capt. Ellis, sprung a leak off Race Point on the 2d inst., and sank in an hour. Crew saved.

Vermont farmers complain of the potato rot being very prevalent.

Sheriff Palmer of Palmer, Mass., has arrested two tramps, a man and a woman named Hatstatt. They are wanted for kidnapping a young girl named Josephine Davis of Camden, N. J., about a year ago. They confessed the crime and were remanded to Palmer jail to await the arrival of necessary papers from New Jersey.

The Chicago Times says that Semmes was a kind husband, a fond father, and an estimable pirate.

There is no doubt now that the attempt of the prisoners, Hamlin and Allen, to escape from Wethersfield (Conn.) prison, during which they brutally murdered the faithful watchman, Wells Shipman, was made with a knowledge of an under keeper, J. H. Davis, and that the latter conveyed them the revolvers with which they were armed. Davis, after testifying at the inquest, went home, under a plea of sickness, and vomited a great deal during the night. His young wife says he put on his best clothes and left the house. His connection with the case being suspected, for various reasons, officers were put on his track, but no trace of him has been found. Many believe that he has drowned himself, and this belief is strengthened by the assertion of his physician that his vomiting was produced by poison which he had taken when he saw he was, under the Connecticut law, liable to hang for the murder of Watchman Shipman. Davis has only been married a few weeks. A special grand jury was sworn in and found true bills against Hamlin and Allen. Davis' case awaits the result of a search for him.

The U. S. S. Marion is ordered to Constantinople.

The funeral of the late John A. Harris, Secretary of the Grand Masonic bodies, took place in Concord, Wednesday, and was very largely attended. The funeral services occurred in Masonic Hall, under the auspices of Blazing Star Lodge. The Grand Lodge and Grand Commandery were present, and, with Mount Horeb Commandery of Concord, Trinity Commandery of Manchester and Blazing Star Lodge, acted as an escort to the remains, which were taken to Warner for interment.

Charles Barnard, of Lowell, who has been officiating as change pitcher for the Manchester base ball club, attempted to outrage a girl named Nellie Hayes at a hotel in Manchester on the night of Sunday, the 2d inst. The girl's screams attracted the police, and Barnard was arrested. The scoundrel had beaten the girl brutally, her face being badly discolored and one eye totally closed. Barnard was arraigned for attempt at rape, but that charge was withdrawn and he was fined $20 and costs for the assault.

Charles W. Hoitt of Nashua and Thomas C. Luce of Manchester were admitted to the Hillsborough County Bar, at the session of the Supreme Judicial Court at Nashua, on the 4th inst.

Ayer's Hair Vigor,

FOR RESTORING GRAY HAIR

TO ITS NATURAL VITALITY AND COLOR.

Advancing years, sickness, care, disappointment, and hereditary predisposition, all turn the hair gray, and either of them incline it to shed prematurely.

AYER'S HAIR VIGOR, by long and extensive use, has proven that it stops the falling of the hair immediately; often renews the growth; and always surely restores its color, when faded or gray. It stimulates the nutritive organs to healthy activity, and preserves both the hair and its beauty. Faded, weak or sickly hair becomes glossy, pliable and strengthened; lost hair regrows with lively expression; falling hair is checked and stabilized; thin hair thickens; and faded or gray hairs resume their original color. Its operation is sure and harmless. It cures dandruff, heals all humors, and keeps the scalp cool, clean and soft—under which conditions, diseases of the scalp are impossible.

As a dressing for ladies' hair, the VIGOR is praised for its grateful and agreeable perfume, and valued for the soft lustre and richness of tone it imparts.

POLICE COURT.

Thursday, September 6th.

No other place of business in this city presented so lively an appearance on Thursday as the Police Court, and Judge Batchelder was all day long engaged in serving out justice. The first on the list was Charles W. Randall, who was bound over in the sum of $200 to appear at the October term of the Supreme Court to answer to a charge of selling liquor.

Ellen Harrington, charged with being a common drunkard, was dismissed.

Edna Moody was charged with having committed an assault on Ida Griswold, but got clear. Edna was then arraigned for being drunk on the public street, but was discharged, the evidence showing that she was drunk in a yard. She was then arraigned for being drunk in a private place—the yard aforesaid—was adjudged guilty and ordered to pay $9.90, fine and costs, from which sentence she appealed and was ordered to give bonds in $50 to prosecute the appeal.

A young married man was before the Court charged with assaulting his wife, but the evidence showed the parties about equally in fault and the case was dismissed.

John Stack, for being a common drunkard, got thirty days in Brentwood, costs $3. John Stack also answered to three different charges of assault on his wife, and was fined $8 on each charge, the costs aggregating $17.44. John Stack, on a charge of "simple drunk," was acquitted.

Ida Griswold and Edna Moody, for rude, indecent and disorderly conduct (fighting in a public street) were charged $9.59 each, fine and costs.

MORE NUISANCE.

The cool weather of the last few days has greatly abated the mill-pond nuisance, and correspondingly improved the health of the city. Some few sanguine people are under the impression that all the recent growling about the millponds and pigstyes and other filthy and death dealing things, in private and through the papers, must result in something effective being done to obviate the trouble complained of; but it won't. It will be (as it often has been before) but another version of the old story of the lazy man and his leaky roof. When he was asked by one who saw him standing in one corner of his hut, holding a piece of birch bark over his head to keep off the rain, why he did not mend the roof, he replied, "How can I mend the roof when it is raining like this?" "But," said the other, "why don't you mend it when the weather is fair?" "Because then it don't need mending, as the rain does not come through then," was the reply. Just so the people of Portsmouth have a season of complaining every year, during the hot weather when it would be death to half the population to stir up the city cesspools; but as soon as cool weather arrives and the stench becomes less aggressive, all thought of the matter is given up, and the indignation is stowed away in some safe place to be hauled out again the next year as soon as the ponds make themselves prominent to the olfactories once more. To abate the millpond nuisance would take more money than the tax-paying citizens will ever willingly lay out in that direction, and the others will have to "take it out in growling" for a good many years yet.

Two petitions—both aiming at the same end, the abatement of the millpond nuisance—were handed to the City Clerk on Thursday afternoon to be presented to the Board of Mayor and Aldermen that evening. One of these petitions bore the signatures of one hundred and fifty-two ladies; the other was signed by one hundred and sixty-four voters, the name of Lewis W. Brewster, Esq., heading the list, which contained a much larger proportion of "strong names" than petitions usually do. The amount of taxable property represented by the gentlemen's petition is very large.

PORTSMOUTH AND VICINITY.

On Monday evening next the last steamboat excursion of the season from this city to the Shoals takes place per steamer Appledore, the occasion being the benefit of Capt. Robinson and Engineer Gertin. Apart from the deserved popularity of the beneficiaries, which should suffice to crowd the steamer, a pleasant evening's amusement is provided for; Harlow's band will make music for the occasion, and there will be a grand hop in the fine dance hall at the Appledore House. The boat will leave steamboat wharf at six o'clock, and remain at the Shoals three hours, leaving there at ten o'clock. See advertisement.

Ninety passengers went out in steamer Appledore on Thursday, it being Col. J. C. Butler's last excursion for the season. It was the roughest day since the steamer began to run, so far as the sea was concerned, and more than one excurtionist was seasick. There are still seventy-five guests at the Appledore House.

A special meeting of the Veteran Artillery Association is called for this (Friday) evening at Light Artillery Hall, at 7:30 o'clock. See advertisement. A full attendance of the members is requested, as important business is to be acted upon. The second annual field day and clambake of the Association, on Tuesday next, promise to call out a large assemblage; the glorious time of a year ago is not yet forgotten, and this year the managers mean to out-do it if possible.

Hon. John S. H. Frink, ill at his residence in Greenland, was much easier on Thursday.

Mr. John S. Treat entertains the Mechanics' Fire Society at the Rockingham House this evening.

City Marshal Entwistle is doing good work so far, and if he keeps on (and he shows no sign yet of becoming weary in well doing) will soon be as unpopular among law breakers as a City Marshal ought to be. Go ahead, Thomas; as long as you are on that track all the people whose good opinion is worth having will back you up with their moral support.

The wrecked brig Clara J. Adams will be sold at auction on Monday afternoon next. The brig is a well built vessel of 407 tons, seven years old, and has a full inventory.

On Thursday afternoon a horse attached to a job wagon owned by Mr. John Woods started to run away from a point on Hanover street near Bridge street, and ran through Hanover, Market and Bow streets to the blacksmith shop of Mr. George H. Wendell, successfully turning two corners. When he reached the blacksmith shop he ran the wagon against the building, stove it up some and cleared himself from the shafts, and then stopped; the horse was unhurt, and the wagon was at once taken inside and repaired. That horse knew what was the proper place in which to smash up the wagon.

The treasury of the Children's Home was benefitted over two hundred dollars by the receipts of the Fair held on Wednesday afternoon and evening for its benefit in the chapel on State street, under the management of the young ladies of St. John's church choir. We are glad to learn that the debt incurred to start this worthy Home, in which there are now twelve inmates, was paid off recently by voluntary contributions, hence the sum just added is so much "to the good."

Mrs. George D. Bartlett on Thursday lost her pocket-book, with more money than she cared to part with in that way, and also some minor articles such as ladies frequently carry in their pocket-books. Steps were taken to advertise the loss, but the property had been found by Mr. William B. Randall and by him of course promptly reported to the police; so Mrs. Bartlett soon rejoiced in the repossession of her pocket-book, and Mr. Bartlett takes this method of expressing his thanks to the finder thereof.

The Granite State base ball club will play a game at 2:30 this afternoon at the Plains, with a picked nine; and on Monday afternoon at 2:30, at the same place, with a Rye Beach club.

William P. Benedict, of this city, nominated for a cadetship at West Point by Hon. Frank Jones, has successfully passed his examination, and is ranked ninth in a class of one hundred and fifteen. Sixty-five candidates were examined at the same time with young Benedict, but only thirty-two passed.

Numerous petitions were received in the Board of Aldermen last night relative to the "nuisance question," and the Board voted to visit the premises of John Stokell & Co. this afternoon at four o'clock. William C. Ham was elected harbor master and inspector of petroleum. George E. Fernald was chosen supernumerary watchman, and Charles W. Shannon special police officer without pay.

Political.

The Richmond Whig predicts that not a single man will be elected to the Legislature of Virginia who is in favor of levying a tax sufficient to pay the interest on the public debt. This will manifest a demoralization fatal to the credit of the State, and indirectly injurious to American credit generally. If the great State of Virginia can repudiate her obligations deliberately incurred, and created for valuable purposes, of which she enjoys the benefit, the damage will not be confined to the dishonest State, but will be felt by other States, which will find the money markets of the world, if not closed against them, reluctant to receive their proposals. While no State has a valid excuse for repudiation, it is difficult to conceive of a more unpardonable delinquency than that of Virginia, which could meet her honest obligations by a tax not larger than is paid in many States, but which deliberately adopts the course of dishonesty, because it is easier in the beginning, and because there is no superior law to compel an honest recognition of her indebtedness.

The republican State convention of Pennsylvania on Wednesday nominated as candidate for Auditor-General J. A. Rossmore, whose candidacy it is said Simon Cameron favored. "The policy" was ignored in the platform, the President being neither endorsed nor censured.

In disregard of the pledges made when the troops were withdrawn, and it was agreed that "bygones should be bygones," the democrats of South Carolina are bringing indictments against the republican ex-officials, and in some cases against those that remain in office; but the latter are generally discontinued on the resignation of the officer. Of course, no republican can have a fair trial with the courts and the juries against him; and the proceedings are merely the forms of law in the interests of the worst tyranny. The dominant party of South Carolina—and in that it does not differ from the other Southern States—is determined not only to crush out republicanism, but to revenge itself for its long humiliation. This thing may be pushed too far, and a reaction may come, if not in the South, then from the course of the North.

—The venerable Elder Atwell of Pleasant Valley—a veteran Mason—upon the occasion of a Masonic dinner at the hotel in New Hartford, was called upon to "say grace," and thus he delivered himself: "Oh! God. Our father Adam fell by eating; our father Noah fell by drinking—may we now before Thee shun the sin of the one and the folly of the other. Amen."

—Eli Perkins says one of the young colored men from Hampton College, Va., at the Saratoga United States Hotel acting as waiters, remarked to Eli that he heard a rich old lady from Duluth says she was "going to cut Mrs. Dobson dead!" "Why cu Mrs. Dobson?" asked a lady friend. "Because her husband has lost all his money, and she wears a machine made dress. Do you think I want to associate with any such dresses as she wears—me?" And this indignant and aristocratic old lady from Duluth went on eating fried potatoes with her knife. "How do you know it is a machine made dress?" asked her friend. "Me know! me!" she exclaimed. Then this aristocratic old lady leaned forward and whispered so low that nobody but the Hampton student and her friend heard her: "I'll tell you how I know that Mrs. Dobson wears a machine made dress; I used to be a seamstress, and I saw the stitches clear across the room."

A Porcelain Set

Is handsome as a dinner service, but a set of porcelain teeth is of no service at dinner.

New Orleans at the close of the late war was financially crippled. To support the charitable and educational institutions of the State, the Louisana State Lottery Company was incorporated in 1868, with its management in the hands of citizens of integrity and energy. The drawings take place without fail on the appointed day, and are honestly conducted. For tickets or information, address M. A. Dauphin, P. O. Box 692, New Orleans, La.—See advertisement.

THE NEW TOWN HALL AT AYER. This elegant structure is now complete. In beauty of design it surpasses anything of the kind in the State. Constructed of brick and dark marble, it is as permanent as it is charming. The English architects have adorned it in subdued colors, which please without tiring the eye. Dr. J. C. Ayer built and gave it to the town in acknowledgement of the distinction they conferred upon him in taking his name. Although it is a generous gift, still the hearty good wishes of a whole people are of greater value, and the generous donor has doubtless secured them.—Groton (Mass.) Journal.

Ayer's Cathartic Pills

For all the Purposes of a Family Physic,

CURING

Costiveness, Jaundice, Dyspepsia, Indigestion, Dysentery, Foul Stomach and Breath, Headache, Erysipelas, Piles, Rheumatism, Eruptions and Skin Diseases, Biliousness, Liver Complaint, Dropsy, Tetter, Tumors and Salt Rheum, Worms, Gout, Neuralgia, as a Dinner Pill, and Purifying the Blood, are the most congenial purgative yet perfected. Their effects abundantly show how much they excel other Pills. They are safe and pleasant to take, but powerful to cure. They purge out the foul humors of the blood; they stimulate the sluggish or disordered organs into action; and they impart health and tone to the whole being. They cure not only the every day complaints of everybody, but formidable and dangerous diseases. Most skilful physicians, most eminent clergymen, and our best citizens, send certificates of cures performed, and of great benefit derived from these Pills. They are the safest and best physic for children, because mild as well as effectual. Being sugar coated, they are easy to take; and being purely vegetable, they are entirely harmless.

AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL,

For Diseases of the Throat and Lungs, such as Coughs, Colds, Whooping Cough, Bronchitis, Asthma and Consumption.

The few compositions, which have won the confidence of mankind and become household words, among not only one but many nations, must have extraordinary virtues. Perhaps no one ever secured so wide a reputation, or maintained it so long as

Ayer's Cherry Pectoral.

It has been known to the public about forty years, by a long continued series of marvellous cures, that have won for it a confidence in its virtues, never equalled by any other medicine. It still makes the most effectual cures of Coughs, Colds, Consumption, that can be made by medical skill. Indeed, the CHERRY PECTORAL has really robbed these dangerous diseases of their terrors, to a great extent, and given a feeling of immunity from their fatal effects, that is well founded if the remedy be taken in season. Every family should have it in their closet for the ready and prompt relief of its members. Sickness, suffering, and even life is saved by this timely protection. The prudent should not neglect it, and the wise will not. Keep it by you for the protection it affords by its timely use in sudden attacks.

A Modern Evangeline.

The story of Evangeline is repeated with wonderful fidelity in all its details in the experience of a young French girl, a resident of Marseilles. She was engaged to a sailor to whom she was to be married on his return from a voyage to New York. He did not return, and after a year she got a berth as stewardess' assistant on one of the Havre steamers to come here in search of him. On the passage a rich American lady became interested in her story and resolved to help her to find out her lover. In New York she learned that he had gone to Canada. For months she travelled about the Dominion, sometimes close on his track and again losing every clue as to his whereabouts. She returned to New York, and one day while standing at a Broadway crossing waiting her turn to get across she saw the object of her long search on the other side. She shrieked his name and ran into the middle of the street, but a policeman caught her and saved her from the wheels of the long string of vehicles. "Angel of God there was none," and she never again saw the Gabriel she had so long sought and so nearly found. She then learned that he had sailed for San Francisco, and so went overland to California to meet him. Arrived on the Pacific coast, she found that her lover had fallen overboard just outside the Heads and been drowned. Meanwhile the body of a young man dressed in sailor's clothes was cast ashore on the beach, carried to the Coroner's office and, not being identified, was interred in the public cemetery. A water-sodden pocket-book was taken from the dead man, which contained only a few letters written in French and unaddressed. The girl hearing of this went to the Coroner's office and found that the letters were hers. The waves had tardily and partially recompensed her devoted search, and she was able to find the grave of her lover.

—If you reach a crosswalk and patiently wait for a driver to get his horse over before you, he will pull in his horse, settle down on his elbows and go as slowly as possible. If, however, you try to run across, he will whip his horse at the moment when you are in front of him.

—An orator declaring that Fortune knocked at every man's door, once, an old man said, "When she knocked at mine I must have been out."

Centaur Liniments.

One thing is now thoroughly established. Never since man suffered and human agencies alleviated pain has there been any thing which went so far as a pain annihilator and curative agent as the Centaur Liniments. These Liniments have within the past year cured more cases of Rheumatism, Neuralgia, Stiff joints, Caked Breasts, Swellings, Poisonous Bites, Burns, Lame Animals, etc., etc., than all other remedies combined. As the name of Centaur implies half horse and half man, so the Centaur Liniments are for man and beast. But not the same Liniment. The White Liniment is for man and the Yellow for horses and animals. Herein this Liniment differs from all other remedies, although some of the ingredients are alike in each. They contain the well-known Witch Hazel, Arnica, Carbolic, Rock Oil, Mentha and other powerful ingredients.

Wm. H. Hickcox, Rector of St. John's E. Church, Wakefield, Clay Co., Kansas, writes: "Many years I have been suffering from a Weak Back, caused from a sprain more than 40 years ago. I have not found any thing to relieve me until I commenced the use of Centaur Liniment. I feel it my Christian duty to inform you that by its wonderful effects I am entirely relieved of pain. January 22d, 1876."

Messrs. J. McClure & Co., Druggists, Cincinnati, Ohio, say:

"Teamsters pronounce the Yellow Centaur Liniment superior to any thing they have ever used. We sell several dozen bottles per month, and the sale is steadily increasing."

These are only samples of thousands upon thousands of similar testimonials reaching us every month. All the Extracts, Embrocations, Salves and Ointments in existence are not doing one-tenth the good which is done by these admirable Centaur Liniments. For Frost-bites, Stings, Cuts, Itch, Salt Rheum, etc., there is nothing like the Centaur Liniment, White Wrapper. For Spavin, Ring-bone, Sweeney, Wind-Galls, Poll-evil, Scratches, etc., on horses, the Yellow Centaur Liniment is equally as good. They are certain in their effects; they are pleasant to use, they are handy and they are cheap. No family should be without Centaur Liniments. They are worth one hundred times their cost.

J. B. ROSE & CO., 46 DEY ST., NEW YORK.

Castoria.

Mothers may have rest and their babies may have health, if they will use Dr. Pitcher's Castoria for Wind Colic, Worms, Feverishness, Sour Mouth, Croup, or Stomach Complaints. It is entirely a vegetable preparation, and contains neither mineral, morphine, nor alcohol. It is as pleasant to take as honey, neither gags nor gripes, and is superior to any remedy in existence.

Dr. E. Dimoch, of Dupont, Ohio, says:

"I am using CASTORIA in my practice with the most signal benefits and happy results, and find it a perfect substitute for Castor Oil."

This is what every one says. Many nurses in New York use the CASTORIA. It is prepared by Messrs. J. B. ROSE & CO., successors to Samuel Pitcher, M. D. (nov1

The Centaur Liniments have created a revolution in remedies for Rheumatism, Strains, Swellings, Pains, Burns, Scalds, Stings, etc. The White Liniment is for the human family, and the Yellow Liniment is for horses. They are certain, handy and cheap.

Castoria is certain to operate. It does not nauseate or gripe like Castor Oil, but is pleasant to take, digests the food, regulates the bowels, cures wind colic, expels worms, and causes natural sleep. It is equally adopted to adults and infants. It contains neither Mineral, Morphine nor Alcohol. Children teething may have health, and mothers find rest, if they use Castoria. (nov1

MR. THOMAS W. LANE:—I commenced taking DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS February 8th, and wrote you February 22d of their wonderful effect. MR. THOMAS W. LANE—Dear Sir:—I am now able to walk out every day, and am gaining in strength very fast, all of which is due to you as agent for the best Pills in the world. I have taken no other medicine, and my improvement has been steady since I commenced taking DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS. JOHN W. LORD.

Rheumatism for Twenty Years Cured by One Package of Dr. Quain's Condition Pills—"The Best Medicine in the World."

EAST ANDOVER, N. H., Dec. 10, 1875.

MR. LANE—Dear Sir:—As I know the value of DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS and the good they have done me, I take pleasure in giving them praise; so I send you another testimonial. My father has been troubled with Rheumatism for twenty years or more, and has tried everything that could be thought of, but to no good. At times it would be so bad that he could not lift his hand to his head or do any work at all, especially in the cold weather. A short time ago I advised him to get some of these Pills. He believed nothing in them, but I gave him the last package I had of you, as I did not need them, and he has not been as free from the Rheumatic Complaint for years. No Rheumatism, no pain. What helped him? It was DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS, the best medicine in the world. There is nothing like them. I know it, for I have tried them, and they are all, yes, more than they are recommended to be. Give them a fair trial and you will say so. I write this because I know the goodness of them and wish others to know the same. Some may think I am telling a big story. I am. But remember I am not giving them half the praise they ought to have.

Yours with respect, ED. F. PEVARE.

DAINGERFIELD, MORRIS CO., TEXAS, Nov. 15, '75.

MR. THOMAS W. LANE—Dear Sir:—I have been afflicted for near twelve years with Neuralgia in the face and head. I tried I do not know how many physicians, and could only get partly relieved. I also tried many patent medicines with the same result. I have now confined to my room most all the time for eight or ten winters, and have been traveling and visiting medical springs, and I still suffered most intensely. The physicians pronounced my case the worst and most stubborn that they had had anything to do with. One told me I could never get well; they all advised me to go South and spend the winter, and thought that was the only chance for me, and I was trying to get ready to go to Florida, when through the kindness of Rev. H. M. Mathis, my attention was called to the advertisement of Dr. Quain's Magic Condition Pills. I immediately sent to you for a package. I have taken four doses and I am almost free from pain. The impression here seems to be that if your pills will cure me, they will cure anybody. I have five applications to send for the pills. Enclosed please find three dollars; send five packages to me and one to Mrs. Laura Sherrel, Sulphur Springs, Hopkins County, Texas.

Yours truly, J. S. PATTON.

Liver Complaint, Nervousness, Dropsy and Headache.

LACONIA, N. H., Jan. 29, 1875.

THOS. W. LANE—Sir:—I have been troubled with Bad Blood, Liver Complaint, Nervousness, Dropsy and Headache. I have taken one package of DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS. They have done me more good than all the medicine I ever took; I have taken considerable medicine within the last five years. For the nerves I think there is nothing so good as those pills. I can recommend them to all who are similarly afflicted, they have done me so much good. I think they will recommend themselves wherever they go. I shall recommend those Pills to all who need them. Please send me two packages more, one for myself and one for a lady friend of mine. Many thanks to the inventor, agent and advertiser of those Pills.

MRS. P. L. ELLIOTT.

DR. QUAIN'S MAGIC CONDITION PILLS are put up only by the AMERICAN MEDICINE CO. Manchester, N. H., THOMAS W. LANE, Agent.

PULMOCINE.

BUCHMAN'S PULMOCINE CORDIAL

is not a new discovery. Twenty-three years ago it was used by one of New England's most famous physicians as the best Pulmonary Curative he could prescribe, after dozen years spent in experimenting with it before he was satisfied that the Materia Medica could add nothing in its favor.

Is the ultima thule of Medical Discovery.

Among its many ingredients are Wild Cherry Bark, Squill Root, Liquorice Root, Bloo. root, &c. It is a Blood Purifier, gently stimulating. It increases expectoration and is diuretic. It is a sudorific and alterative. It is a necessary family medicine. It is a Tonic and a powerful aid to the digestive organs. It is a gentle sedative, and relieves nervousness. It is aromatic and agreeable to the taste.

CLEAR YOUR THROAT!

Relieve Your Lungs.

PULMOCINE CORDIAL

Is a speedy and reliable Preventive and Remedy. Every Family should have a bottle at hand to check the sudden growth of all Pulmonary Diseases. For the Asthma, Coughs, Croups, Laryngitis, or inflammation of the larynx, Diphtheria, and all kindred Throat Diseases at all times prevalent, it is the ounce of Prevention. Children attacked with Whooping Cough or Croup should be immediately cared for. These painful attacks come with scarcely a moment's warning, when a physician may be out of immediate each. A dose of PULMOCINE CORDIAL gives speedy relief, and the little ones are spared hours of pain and agony. As "a stitch in time saves nine," so does the possession of this Family Medicine prevent the spread of disease. Parents seeing their children gasping with pain, friends and relatives beholding each other in peril from suffocation by the choking pain in the throat, paralyzed with fear and not knowing the best course to pursue, are liable to apply the wrong remedial agents. There is no safety in delay, no time to waste in such cases. CONSUMPTION, that fearful scourge of the human race, lies at the door of all this afflicted. BUCHMAN'S PULMOCINE CORDIAL arrests it (unless in its advanced stage at which time there is no local cure) relieves the pressing, suffocating feeling at the lungs, and patient's danger is past.

For Coughs,

Croup,

Diphtheria,

Asthma, etc.,

USE

Buchman's Pulmocine Cordial.

The Pulmocine Cordial is not a quack medicine, is not an experiment, is not composed of any ingredients "discovered" by "walking in pastures" in South America or anywhere else, nor by one who discovered a weed and thereby cured himself. Most of the ingredients are such as our best educated physicians daily use for the complaints specified in some form or other. The recipe is that perfected by one of New England's most learned and famous physicians, who used it entirely in his daily practice until his death. Its offered to the profession and to the public, absolutely pure and unadulterated.

AYER'S SARSAPARILLA,

For Purifying the Blood.

This compound of the vegetable alteratives, Sarsaparilla, Dock, Stillingia, and Mandrake with the iodides of Potash and Iron, makes a most effectual course of a series of complaints which are very prevalent and afflicting. It purifies the blood, purges out the lurking humors in the system, that undermine health and settle into troublesome disorders. Eruptions of the skin are the appearance on the surface of humors that should be expelled from the blood. Internal derangements are the determination of these same humors to some internal organ, or organs, whose action they derange, and whose substance they disease and destroy. AYER'S SARSAPARILLA expels these humors from the blood. When they are gone, the disorders they produce disappear, such as Ulcerations of the Liver, Stomach, Kidneys, Lungs, Eruptions and Eruptive Diseases of the Skin, St. Anthony's Fire, Rose or Erysipelas, Pimples, Pustules, Blotches, Boils, Tumors, Tetter and Salt Rheum, Scald Head, Female Weakness, Sterility, Leucorrhœa arising from internal ulceration and uterine diseases, Dropsy, Dyspepsia, Emaciation and General Debility. With their departure health returns.

This standard article is compounded with the greatest care.

Its effects are as wonderful and satisfactory as ever.

It restores gray or faded hair to its youthful color. It removes all eruptions, itching and dandruff; and the scalp by its use becomes white and clean.

By its tonic properties it restores the capillary glands to their normal vigor, preventing baldness, and making the hair grow thick and strong.

As a dressing nothing has been found so effectual, or desirable.

Dr. A. A. Hayes, State Assayer of Massachusetts, says of it: "I consider it the best preparation for its intended purposes."

Living "Bang Up" on $2.50 Per Week.

Those persons who are just now discussing the possibility of living on $1 a day will doubtless be interested in the story of a man who lives on $2. 50 a week. Such a man is Eugene Hall, a pleasant-looking fellow, although somewhat shabby, who, relaxing a little Saturday night from the strict rules of economy which are, according to his tale, habitual with him, and purchasing that which was not needful to his sustenance, as a consequence was brought before Justice Duffy in the Tombs Police Court Sunday morning charged with drunkenness. Hall said that he got drunk through pique. He worked for a plumber, and his wages were $2.50 a week. Last Saturday he received only $1.50, and overcome by anger he sought consolation in the cup. "But," asked the justice, "how do you live on $2.50 a week?" "Oh, bang up," answered Hall; "I can get nice pie for three cents, coffee and cakes for three cents, and pork and beans for eight cents." He said that he slept on a woodpile sometimes and was thankful that his wife had died before he had sunk so low. "Here," said Justice Duffy, "take this half-dollar and get something to eat." "Spend a whole half-dollar for something to eat," exclaimed Hall. "Why, I can get a first-rate meal for twenty-three cents. No man could eat fifty cents' worth at one sitting." Nevertheless, he took the money, and discharged by the Court, left the building a happy man.—New York Times.

The Servant Girl.

For as a matter of fact the real capitalist of to-day is the Irish servant girl. She has everything provided for her but her clothes. The cost of cottons, woolens, and all the clothing that she wears, has been reduced to a price below the average before the war; below the average even of twenty years ago, when wages paid to girls for household services were less than half what they are to-day. Yet, the "girl" cannot see and will not understand this. Incomes may have shrunk to one-half, but speak of reducing wages a couple of dollars per month, leaving them still at double their former standard, and she sets her arms akimbo, talks of her "rights," and leaves the family where she has found a good home for years, that has instructed her ignorance, borne her stupidity, and enabled her to save money enough to feel her independence, at a moment's notice, and without a thought of the inconvenience to which she subjects its members except to congratulate herself upon it.—Baltimore American.

"Is This Seat Occupied?"

An old, but vigorous-looking gentleman, seemingly from the rural districts, got into a car and walked its full length without receiving an invitation to sit down. Approaching one gentleman who had a whole bench to himself he asked, "Is this seat occupied?" "Yes, sir, it is," impertinently replied the other. "Well," replied the broad-shouldered agriculturist, "I will keep this seat until the gentleman comes." The original proprietor withdrew himself haughtily to one end and looked insulted. After a while the train got in motion, and still nobody came to claim the seat, whereupon the deep-chested agriculturist turned and said: "Sir, when you told me that this seat was occupied you told me a lie;"—such was his plain language—"I never sit near a liar if I can avoid it; I would rather stand up." Then appealing to another party he said: "Sir, may I sit next to you. You don't look like a liar." We need hardly say that he got his seat, and that the original proprietor though there was something wrong about our social system.—Baltimore Gazette.

Watery Phantoms.

We have all heard of the Palatine light which burns off the north point of Block Island, blazing up in three streams like a lofty ship with masts and sails in flames, and which was supposed to be a phantom of the plague-laden ship, that drifted with its dying passengers into those waters two centuries ago, and there perished. This is not the only phantom light on the American coast. In the waters of the island provinces, with their gigantic tides and strange currents, their overwhelming fogs, and the general element of mystery and danger that hangs about them, the phantom lights that appal the fisherman are many and mysterious. In the Bay of Chaleur there is one that has been observed at odd times for more than a century; and, a few days ago, it appeared to a party of tourists who undertook to run it down and investigate it. It appeared like the hull of a small craft on fire, but before they had reached the spot, it had vanished, to re-appear astern, after they had passed beyond it. The fishermen remonstrated with them for their hardihood and predicted the northeasterly storm, which speedily blew with great force. The tradition is current that people have been near enough to discover the forms of sailors on board, and hear ejaculations in the Irish language, of terror and despair; and they tell of an emigrant ship, laden with the exiles of famine in '49, which perished miserably by fire in the Gulf of St. Lawrence. An illumined boat has been seen off the island of Antigonish, and another in the Lac St. Jean. White rowers, who can make no progress against the young ice, are seen and heard in a small river in the parish of St. Louis Roberval. The poets and the artists can find a richer and more virgin field in the waters and on the coasts of the island provinces, than in any other easily accessible field. The spirit of storm and wreck broods upon the people, as it does in the Hebrides, and phantoms which elsewhere would be ridiculous, there exist in an appropriate home. Already we have had "Evangeline" and "The New Priest in Conception Bay," but there is plenty of room for more, with phases of life yet untouched.—Providence Journal.

Daily Chronicle.

SATURDAY, SEPTEMBER 8, 1877.

The Eastern War.

The Turkish commander in Herzegovina reports that a band of 2000 Montenegrins surrounded a village near Pressika, intending to get cattle and corn. During the night a fresh band of Montenegrins arrived whom the first band supposed to be Turks. A fierce combat took place in which 700 were killed and a great number wounded. The mistake was not discovered until morning.

Mehemet Ali telegraphs on the 6th inst. from Kechlowa: "To-day, Eyoub Pasha's army corps, which was divided into two columns, attacked the Twelfth Russian corps, supported by a division on the bank of the Lom. The Russians were defeated and recrossed the Lom in disorder. They abandoned their fortified positions near Kechlowa. They lost 3000 killed and wounded. The commander of their cavalry was killed. We lost 200 killed and 700 wounded."

An important engagement was fought near Rustchuk Wednesday morning. Soon afterwards the Russians commenced to bombard that city from Slobosia. The Turks from Widdin attempted to reach Chupercheni, near Kalafat, in boats, but were driven back by the Roumanian battery. The garrison of Widdin has been raised to 8000 men in consequence of the threatening attitude of Servia.

The correspondents say the Russian success at Lovatz places Osman Pasha in the awkward position of having hostile forces on both flanks. Either defeat at Plevna or attempted withdrawal might result in the destruction of his army unless the Russians are compelled to weaken their forces on that side in order to meet Mehemet Ali's advance from Rasgrad. The latter seems to place the Czarowitch's army in a position very similar to Osman Pasha's. If Turkish accounts may be trusted the Turkish force has crossed the Lom and reached the neighborhood of Obertini, while another force has crossed the Kara Lom to Polomarka. These corps are understood to be operating against Biela, but jeopardize the whole Russian campaign east of Yantra as well as the communications with Tirnova.

A Long "Procession."

Immense flocks of swallows haunt a little copse in Westerly, R. I. Hundrdes of thousands of these birds gather, filling the air and confusing the mind with their twittering. They come singly, in pairs, by the score, in hundreds, and even in flocks of thousands, until there seems no room in the air for more. All at once, as by magic, they shoot into the copse and disappear. It is really a wonderful sight. Westerly people visit the place every evening, and many come over even from Watch Hill and Stonington to witness the singular phenomenon. They have been known to gather here for a number of years, but in number they excel this year.

Dear Chronicle: This item in your paper reminds me of an incident in New Orleans prior to the "late unpleasantness," when I was employed on the Picayune. At the corner of Poydras and Baronne streets was a large tobacco warehouse, and as is usual in such buildings the large windows in the gable ends were entirely free of sash or glass. Passing just at dusk one evening my attention was drawn to an innumerable flight of bats emerging from the windows on Poydras street. Wheeling and whirling in the air, chippering and chattering, the little flying mice presented a curious sight, and I (as in duty bound,) waited to see the finale in expectation of a first-class item. Ten minutes passed, but there was no cessation to the stream that flew from the window. Fifteen minutes, a full half hour, and still no diminution of numbers. Surely the old building must have been solid full of bats! When a full hour had passed I went up on the Baronne street side, and the mystery was explained. The miserable little bats flew in at the western window and came out of the eastern one, while yours truly was wasting his sweetness on the desert air, waiting for the procession to pass. M.

News and Notes.

During the past season many alterations and improvements have characterized the internal arrangements of the popular American House, Boston. Although the Hotel is one of the oldest and decidedly the largest first-class House in New England, there are few so well kept and none more clean and comfortable.

Two homeopathic physicians in Philadelphia recently certified that the inmate of a colored person's home was insane and should be removed to the almshouse. This certificate required the signature of the district physician, but he being allopathic declined to certify that the homeopaths were physicians of good standing. While the doctors were quarrelling the patient's insanity assumed a violent form and he then jumped from a window and was killed. An official investigation is being made.

A correspondent of the New York Farmers' Club gives his treatment of a case of bone spavin. He had two horses that were lame with this ailment, and he had used about half a pint of oil of spike for each horse, applying it once in two or three days with a swab; a large teaspoon will contain about the quantity for each application. The horse was lame for seven or eight months. For the past six weeks he has not taken a lame step, being in use all the time when needed.

The first reports from the California election indicate that the democrats have carried the Legislature, which will give them a United States Senator in place of Sargent.

A party consisting of John and James Maloney, Patrick Deane, Michael Higgins and William Cullen were sailing about the lower harbor at Biddeford Wednesday afternoon when the boat was upset, and in swimming to shore, half a mile distant, John Maloney, aged twenty-eight, was drowned. Higgins was picked up clinging to the wreck, and the others reached Wood Island in an exhausted condition. Maloney leaves a young wife.

Some fishermen at Naskeag Point, Harbor Island, Me., a short time since caught an immense turtle, whose dimensions, as given by the Bangor Whig, were as follows: From tip of nose to the tail, eight feet; between the tips of the flippers, eleven feet; length of shell, five feet seven inches; width of shell, four feet six inches; length of flipper, three feet six inches; weight of flipper, forty pounds; weight of head, twenty-five pounds. A party who saw it estimates the total weight at 800 pounds, which is probably less than it actually was. The turtle proved to be blind, his eyes having been put out by charges of buckshot, which he had received at some time. The fact of his being blind is supposed to be one of the causes of his straying so far from the usual haunts of turtles of his description.

Crazy Horse is dead. He was shot while attempting to escape from custody, and died in a few hours.

Commenting upon the fact that Irene A. V. House, who murdered her husband, has been released from the New Jersey State Lunatic Asylum, completely restored, a New York editor remarks that it is a remarkable fact in pathology that murderers are cured of insanity quicker than any other class.

The London Court Journal says: "Canon Walker, the Roman Catholic priest of Macclesfield, on Wednesday refused to inter the body of an excise officer named Delaney, on the ground that the rules of the Church forbade him reading the service over any member of secret societies. The deceased, who was a Roman Catholic, was also a Free Mason. Rev. Mr. Hurst, of Huddersfield, interred the body, which it was originally intended should be buried in Roman Catholic ground, but which was laid in the Church of England portion of the cemetery."

At Wapakonetta, Ohio, on Wednesday evening, Mr. Myers, county treasurer, on his way home from a Catholic festival, was captured almost in the centre of the town, gagged, carried down an alley and held a prisoner till midnight. He was then taken to the court-house, and after being subjected to a severe ordeal of fire, which was placed between his feet as he lay upon the floor, he was compelled to divulge the combination of the county safe. Some $50,000 was taken therefrom. Myers was discovered next morning in a helpless condition, his wrists, feet, mouth and face bearing witness of much suffering. Myers was the outgoing treasurer and should have delivered up the office on the first of September, but owing to some settlement of the accounts was still in possession.

The republicans of Kittery have nominated Dennis M. Shapleigh for the Legislature.

Charles Brown, the Manchester rough who attempted to kill officer H. W. Longa of that city by shooting him, has been sentenced to State prison for seven years.

The first annual reunion of the Graduates' Association of the Great Falls High School took place in the Town Hall Wednesday evening, the exercises consisting of an oration by C. C. Woodman, A. M., of Worcester, Mass., a graduate of '62; an historical poem by Mrs. W. D. Knapp of Great Falls. The exercises were interspersed with vocal and instrumental music, concluding with a very social entertainment.

Harry Parker of Lisbon, C. C. Frost of Auburn, Me., J. S. Davis of Littleton, and D. C. Moulton of Lisbon, were nearly drowned off Weir's Landing, Lake Winnipesaukee, Thursday forenoon. They were rescued by the steam tug Minocla.

W. H. Kimball of Stratford Hollow was attacked a few days since by a furious bull, and in a position where escape was impossible; but with one blow of his fist he deprived the bull of one eye, knocking it completely out, whereupon the bull gave up the fight.

The hotel at Policy Pond was destroyed by an incendiary fire Thursday night at eleven o'clock. Loss $5000. Mrs. Plummer, an aged lady, mother-in-law of the proprietor, was burned to death.

—L. Bertaccini, the man-horse, is billed to appear at Brussels, on the Plaine des Manœuvres, where he challenges any pedestrian to run him twelve and a half miles, or any mounted man to a race of six times that distance. He claims to have run from Valence to Lyons and back, about one hundred and twenty-five miles, in eleven hours; and at Paris, December 28th, 1876, at the Skating Palace, to have made twenty-five kilometres, say sixteen miles, in an hour and twenty-five minutes. At Marseilles he beat a horse in a race forty times the circuit of the Hippodrome, and at Rome was successful in a similar match.

—A couple of flush Nevada miners recently attended a church fair, bought up the whole concern, and then fun began. Prizes were announced for the prettiest girl in the room, etc., etc. The strangers were the centre of attraction. After turning the heads of all the girls and making all the boys desperately jealous, they gave the remainder of the goods back to the church, and left as mysteriously as they came, simply saying in explanation that they were mining speculators.

New Orleans at the close of the late war was financially crippled. To support the charitable and educational institutions of the State, the Louisana State Lottery Company was incorporated in 1868, with its management in the hands of citizens of integrity and energy. The drawings take place without fail on the appointed day, and are honestly conducted. For tickets or information, address M. A. Dauphin, P. O. Box 692, New Orleans, La.—See advertisement.

THE NEW TOWN HALL AT AYER. This elegant structure is now complete. In beauty of design it surpasses anything of the kind in the State. Constructed of brick and dark marble, it is as permanent as it is charming. The English architects have adorned it in subdued colors, which please without tiring the eye. Dr. J. C. Ayer built and gave it to the town in acknowledgement of the distinction they conferred upon him in taking his name. Although it is a generous gift, still the hearty good wishes of a whole people are of greater value, and the generous donor has doubtless secured them.—Groton (Mass.) Journal.

Ayer's Hair Vigor,

FOR RESTORING GRAY HAIR

TO ITS NATURAL VITALITY AND COLOR.

Advancing years, sickness, care, disappointment, and hereditary predisposition, all turn the hair gray, and either of them incline it to shed prematurely.

AYER'S HAIR VIGOR, by long and extensive use, has proven that it stops the falling of the hair immediately; often restores the growth; and always surely restores its color, when faded or gray. It stimulates the nutritive organs to healthy activity, and preserves both the hair and its beauty. Thus healthy, weak or sickly hair becomes glossy, pliable and strengthened; lost hair regrows with lively expression; falling hair is checked and arrested; thin hair thickens; and faded or gray hairs resume their original color. Its operation is sure and harmless. It cures dandruff, heals all humors, and keeps the scalp cool, clean and soft—under which conditions, disease of the scalp are impossible.

As a dressing for ladies' hair, the VIGOR is praised for its grateful and agreeable perfume, and valued for the soft lustre and richness of tone it imparts.

The Boston Journal says: "Mr. Carswell's style is entirely unreportable. He has a wonderful command of his audience. A very rapid speaker, one moment his audience was convulsed with laughter by some happy story or pleasant witticism, aptly illustrative of his subject, and a moment after they would be softened to tears by the tender word-picture of some home made desolate, some noble manhood wrecked by intemperance." Five cents admission will be charged, to defray the expenses.

THE "NUISANCE" CRUSADE.

We have already published the petitions of Lewis W. Brewster and others, and Mrs. Fannie M. Jones and others, to the city fathers, praying for relief from the millpond (and other) nuisances which annually afflict residents of our city in the hot season. Following we give copies of documents submitted to the Board of Mayor and Aldermen on Thursday evening, the first being a report of the Health Committee, signed by Dr. D. W. Jones and Capt. Robert Shillaber:

To the Honorable the Mayor and Board of Aldermen:

This is to certify that in response to the complaint of Chas. E. Bailey, we have examined the premises of John H. Stokell & Co. on Hancock street, and said premises are deemed by us to be a nuisance and injurious, in their present condition, to the public health. We would recommend an injunction against keeping swine or trying tallow or other offensive material during the warm weather, or from the 15th of June to the 15th of September. Your committee would also call the attention of your honorable body to the filthy and unsanitary condition of the so-called Pudddle Dock, and the North and South mill ponds; and would recommend the appointment from your Board of a special committee on health, to consult with the legally organized board as to what measures can be adopted to enhance the sanitary condition of our city.

The next is a petition of Wm. Conn, Ichabod Goodwin, E. G. Peirce, Jr., John Stokell, Wm. W. Cotton, J. V. Hanscom, William H. Sise and others. It reads:

To the Honorable the Board of Mayor and Aldermen of the city of Portsmouth, N. H.:

The undersigned citizens and tax-payers would most respectfully represent that the stench from the filth and stagnant water at the west end of the North Mill-pond, and from the soap manufactory of Messrs. Asa T. Walker & Son is intolerable, and we would earnestly and urgently request that you take such measures immediately as will purify these noxious places which are destroying the comfort of our homes and impairing our health.

Then come two petitions from Charles W. Bailey, in relation to John Stokell & Co's establishment on Hancock street:

To His Honor the Mayor and Aldermen of the city of Portsmouth:

Gentlemen: Please take notice that the buildings owned and occupied by John Stokell and Cyras L. Brown, doing business under the firm name of John Stockell & Co., said buildings being situated on Hancock street so-called, in the city of Portsmouth, are deemed by the undersigned and the surrounding neighborhood a common nuisance, in the way that said Stockell & Co. conduct their piggery and also the manner of trying out of old bones and tallow, and at times there has been butchering of calves and other animals, greatly to the damage of the health and property in said neighborhood and against the ordinances of the city made and provided,—to all of which we call your special attention and ask to have the same discontinued.

To the Mayor and Aldermen of the city of Portsmouth in the County of Rockingham and State of New Hampshire:

Charles W. Bailey of said Portsmouth respectfully represents that a certain pen or sties for swine kept by John Stokell and Cyrus L. Brown of said Portsmouth, doing business under the firm name of John Stokell & Co., on premises situated on Hancock street in said Portsmouth, adjoining land of John W. Berry and others, is a nuisance dangerous and injurious to the public health. Wherefore he prays that you will declare and decree that the said pen or sties for swine so kept by John Stokell & Co. is so near the dwelling house of said Charles W. Bailey as in your judgment is a nuisance.

PREMIUMS AWARDED.

At the New England Fair, at Portland, premiums were awarded to residents in this vicinity, as follows:

Herd Ayrshires, 2d prize, C. N. Healey, Stratham; 3d prize, Charles Hayes & Son, Portsmouth.

Ayrshire bulls, three to five years old, with specimens of stock not less than five, 3d prize to C. Hayes & Son; one year old and under two, C. N. Healey 2d premium.

Ayrshire cows, four years old and upward, 2d prize to C. N. Healey, 3d prize to C. Hayes & Son; three years old and under four, 2d premium to C. Hayes & Son; two years old and under three, 2d to Healey, 3d to Hayes & Son; one year old and under two, 1st to Hayes & Son, 2d to Healey.

Shorthorns, herd, 2d premium to C. N. Healey, 3d to Hayes & Son;

Shorthorn cow, one year old, 1st premium to Charles Hayes & Son.

PORTSMOUTH AND VICINITY.

The County Commissioners will meet the Representatives from Rockingham county at the County Farm in Brentwood on Tuesday, the 11th inst. Carriages will be provided for the Representatives and those accompanying them at the railroad stations in Epping and Exeter.

Kittery has very many unoccupied houses on the farms of the town.

On Thursday evening, in the Board of Mayor and Aldermen, two petitions were received from Charles W. Bailey and one communication from the city Board of Health, setting forth that the piggery and slaughter house of John Stokell & Co., on Hancock street, is an intolerable nuisance. On the same evening an urgent petition was received by the Aldermen for the abatement of the millpond nuisance and an alleged soap factory nuisance at the west end of the city, and Mr. Stokell's name appeared in the list of signers of the latter petition.

Butler & Laighton have received a quantity of "green ginger root" for preserving. This is a new article in this market, but is extensively used in Washington and other cities. It makes an excellent preserve, equal in every respect to the imported, at a much less cost. Try it.

Mr. John Woods is indignant that the CHRONICLE of Friday morning should have made his horse run away and smash a wagon on Thursday afternoon, at which time he, the horse aforesaid, was peaceably enjoying himself at Rye Beach with a picnic party. Mr. Woods asserts that his horse never runs away, and that it was Mr. James Woods' horse that so misbehaved.

The Boston Globe announces the location of the Veterans' clambake at "Newcastle, Me." The Post placed Newington in Portsmouth, not long ago; and Congress once decided that the navy yard was in "Kittery, N. H."

About 500 cords of wood, the property of the Concord Railroad was burned Wednesday evening, at Raymond. Loss $1500 to $2000. Cause unknown.

It is gratifying to learn that there are but three dogs (all males) in this city—at least only that number have paid licenses The owners of these dogs are W. J. Holmes, George W. Clarke and Hall T. Varrell.

The rumor that Longfellow has started into business in Boston as an advertising agent, is untrue, though the beautiful and poetic imagery and flowery language of the chap who gets up the advertisements for the special trips of the steamer "Katahdin" furnished very reasonable foundation for the rumor. We last week gave one specimen of this gentleman's composition, and now give another, taken from the announcement of that steamer's trip to the Shoals on Sunday: "Although the southing sun has now forsaken the Virgin, and Libra will soon be weighing the year in equal scales; Eurocloydon has not yet blown one angry blast, the summer solstice still tempers the air on the ocean, and if the rippling billows away from the shore lift up their voice, its tone is as soft and low as the music of waving pines. A band will entertain the company with excellent music."

Schooner George L. Treadwell, (formerly of this port) which was wrecked on Chincoteague Shoals last winter, sold, raised by wreckers and repaired at Baltimore, and was again wrecked by being capsized off Nassau, N. P., on the passage from Nassau to Baltimore, was repairing at Nassau on the 28th of August, having been again raised and taken into that port. They'd better have left her on the bottom; she's an unlucky craft, and will be her crew's coffin some day.

Nathaniel D. Miller has been elected 1st Lieut., John Christie 2nd Lieut., George E. Hodgdon 3rd Lieut., and Oliver M. Knight 4th Lieut. of the Veteran Artillery Association, to fill vacancies.

Mr. William B. Bacon, one of the trustees of the Eastern Railroad, has just returned from Europe and reports that the present condition of the company's affairs is entirely satisfactory to those who hold its securities abroad. Without the sanction of Mr. Bacon for the statement we venture to say that the constant increase of freight traffic, under the most discouraging circumstances, has exceeded the hopes of the trustees. In expectation of better times this will be the strong point upon which the trustees expect to build up a future for the road. The interest is all provided for, as well as the rental, and there is no reason for doubting that in the end the road will redeem its credit and be a dividend-paying corporation.—Traveller.

Mr. Edmund Clark, of Christian Shore in this city, who lost one eye several years ago by a small bit of stone from a ledge upon which he was working, had the terrible misfortune to lose the other a few weeks since in a similar manner, while at work blasting rocks from the extension of Union street near South.—Weekly.

The U. S. S. Ticonderoga, at the navy yard, has had her masts taken out and her boilers are to follow her masts, preparatory to her being taken into the dry dock.

For all the Purposes of a Family Physic,

CURING

Costiveness, Jaundice, Dyspepsia, Indigestion, Dysentery, Foul Stomach and Breath, Headache, Erysipelas, Piles, Rheumatism, Eruptions and Skin Diseases, Tetter, Tumors and Salt Rheum, Worms, Gout, Neuralgia, as a Dinner Pill, and Purifying the Blood, are the most congenial purgative yet perfected. Their effects abundantly show how much they excel other Pills. They are safe and pleasant to take, but powerful to cure. They purge out the foul humors of the blood; they stimulate the sluggish or disordered organs into action; and they impart health and tone to the whole being. They cure not only the every day complaints of every body, but formidable and dangerous diseases. Most skilful physicians, and eminent clergymen, and our best citizens, send certificates of cures performed, and of great benefits derived from these Pills. They are the safest and best physic for children, because mild as well as effectual. Being sugar coated, they are easy to take; and being purely vegetable, they are entirely harmless.

AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL,

For Diseases of the Throat and Lungs, such as Coughs, Colds, Whooping Cough, Bronchitis, Asthma and Consumption.

The few compositions, which have won the confidence of mankind and become household words, among not only one but many nations, must have extraordinary virtues. Perhaps no one ever secured so wide a reputation, or maintained it so long as Ayer's Cherry Pectoral. It has been known to the public about forty years, by a long continued series of marvellous cures, that have won for it a confidence in its virtues, never equalled by any other medicine. It will cure the most effectual cures of Coughs, Colds, Consumption, that can be made by medical skill. Indeed, the CHERRY PECTORAL has really robbed these dangerous diseases of their terrors, to a great extent, and given a feeling of immunity from their fatal effects, that is well founded if the remedy be taken in season. Every family should have it in their closet for the ready and prompt relief of its members, sickness, suffering, and even life is saved by this timely protection. The prudent should not neglect it, and the wise will not. Keep it by you for the protection it affords by its timely use in sudden attacks.

—Did you ever notice how long it takes a boy's hair to dry when he has run away and gone in swimming? It is painful to be a boy, with a mother constantly in fear that you will be brought home from the river on a board. The boy is commanded not to go in swimming, and he swears he won't, but he lies like a trooper. He thinks he will go in and not get his hair wet and no one will know it, but just as he gets ready to come out of the water a big boy ducks him and then he swears, and when he crawls in at the back window at ten o'clock at night his mother, with a press board hid in the folds of her dress, is the first obstacle he encounters. Does she believe him when he tells her he has been practicing with the "first nine" of a Sunday-school class? No! She feels of his hair, finds it wet, smells of it finds it musty, and finds his shirt wrong side out. Then she spits upon her hands, and with the press board so works upon his tender sensibilities that he goes to bed with his hand on his aching heart, wishing he was a half orphan, and he dreams he is a stern-wheel boat running backward and has collided with a barge loaded with benzine on fire. The best way for a boy to get along at this season of the year is to have his hair shingled.—Cincinnati Saturday Night.

Centaur Liniments.

One thing is now thoroughly established. Never since man suffered and human agencies alleviated pain has there been any thing which stood so far as a pain annihilator and curative agent as the Centaur Liniments. These Liniments have within the past year cured more cases of Rheumatism, Neuralgia, Stiff joints, Caked Breasts, Swellings, Poisonous Bites, Burns, Lame Animals, etc., etc., than all other remedies combined. As the name of Centaur implies half horse and half man, the Centaur Liniments are for man and beast. But not the same Liniment. The White Liniment is for man and the Yellow for horses and animals. Herein this Liniment differs from all other remedies, although some of the ingredients are alike in each. They contain the well-known Witch Hazel, Arnica, Carbolic, Rock Oil, Mentha and other powerful ingredients.

Wm. H. Hickrox, Rector of St. John's E. Church, Wakefield, Clay Co., Kansas, writes: "Many years I have been suffering from a Weak Back, caused from a sprain more than 40 years ago. I have not found any thing to relieve me until I commenced the use of Centaur Liniment. I feel it my Christian duty to inform you that by its wonderful effects I am entirely relieved of pain. January 23d, 1876."

Messrs. J. McClure & Co., Druggists, Cincinnati, Ohio, say:

"Teamsters pronounce the Yellow Centaur Liniment superior to any thing they have ever used. We sell several dozen bottles per month, and the sale is steadily increasing."

Castoria.

Mothers may have rest and their babies may have health, if they will use Dr. Pitcher's Castoria for Wind Colic, Worms, Feverishness, Sour Mouth, Croup, or Stomach Complaints. It is entirely a vegetable preparation, and contains neither mineral, morphine, nor alcohol. It is as pleasant to take as honey, neither gags nor gripes, and is superior to any remedy in existence.

Dr. E. Dimoch, of Dupont, Ohio, says:

"I am using CASTORIA in my practice with the most signal benefits and happy results, and find it a perfect substitute for Castor Oil."

This is what every one says. Many nurses in New York use the CASTORIA. It is prepared by Messrs. J. B. ROSE & CO., successors to Samuel Pitcher, M. D. (nov1

Castoria is certain to operate. It does not nauseate or gripe like Castor Oil, but is pleasant to take, digests the food, regulates the bowels, cures wind colic, expels worms, and causes natural sleep. It is equally adapted to adults and infants. It contains neither Mineral, Morphine nor Alcohol. Children nothing may have health, and mothers find rest, if they use Castoria. (novl

CONDITION PILLS!

The Wonderful Remedy for Liver Complaint, Biliousness Dyspepsia, Constipation, Neuralgia, Rheumatism, Headache, Kidney Complaint, Nervousness, Scrofula, Piles, and all diseases arising from a bad state of the Blood!

Is the ultima thule of Medical Discovery.

No medicine ever offered to the public has given such universal satisfaction as Dr. Quain's Magic Condition Pills. Their praises are on every tongue where their merits are known. They strike at once at the seat of disease and show their healing power almost immediately. Thousands of voluntary testimonials of their merits have been received by the agent, from those who have been cured by them, of which the following are samples:

Dyspepsia Four Years, Constipation and Inflammation of the Bowels Three Years, Confined to my Room Two Years, Pain so I Could Not Sleep Without Morphine. One Package of Dr. Quain's Condition Pills Made Me Eat Well, Sleep Well and Free from Pain, after being given up by Physicians.

WEST LEBANON, ME., Feb. 22, 1

MR. THOMAS W. LANE:—I have been sick for 5 years with Dyspepsia, and for the past three years Constipation and Inflammation of the Bowels, have been confined to my room for two years, and could not sleep nights without the use of morphine. I have been given up by physicians as past cure. I have taken one package of DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS, and they have done me more good than all the doctors I have had. I sleep well, I eat well and have no pain. They are all they are recommended to be. Please send me three packages, as two of my neighbors wish to try them. I enclose $1.50.

Your truly, JOHN W. LORD.

Another Letter from May. John W. Lord, one month later Wonderful Cures by Dr. Quain's Pills Effected on Him in Thirteen Days. First time Free from Pain for Three Years.

WEST LEBANON, ME., March 22, 1875.

MR. THOMAS W. LANE:—I commenced taking DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS February 9th, and wrote you February 23d of their wonderful effect. I have continued to improve ever since. My appetite is good, and I sleep as well as I ever did in my life. I am free from pain for the first time in three years. When I was taken sick four years ago, I weighed one hundred and eighty-six pounds; I now weigh one hundred and thirty, but, as I am gaining in strength, I have faith I shall regain my flesh this summer, by the use of the Pills. I shal continue taking them for some time to come.

Yours truly, JOHN W. LORD.

Dr. Quain's Pills the Remedy for Soldiers' Aches and Pains.

WEST LEBANON, ME., June 1, 1875.

MR. THOMAS W. LANE—Dear Sir:—I am now able to walk out every day, and am gaining in strength very fast, all of which I owe to you as agent for the best Pills in the world. I have taken no other medicine, and my improvement has been steady since first taking DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS. They have done everything for me, and I will say to you, advertise them direct to the soldiers, for they will certainly cure them of aches and pains caused from exposure and hardship on the field. Please send me by return mail another package.

JOHN W. LORD.

Rheumatism for Twenty Years Cured by One Package of Dr. Quain's Condition Pills—"The Best Medicine in the World."

EAST ANDOVER, N. H., Dec. 10, 1875.

MR. LANE—Dear Sir:—As I know the value of DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS and the good they have done me, I take pleasure in giving them praise; so I send another testimonial. My father has been troubled with Rheumatism for twenty years or more, and has tried everything that could be bought of, but to no good. At times it would be so bad that he could not lift his hand to his head or do any work at all, especially cold weather. A short time ago I advised him to get some of these Pills. He believed nothing in them, but I gave him the last package I had of you, as I did not need them, and he has not been as free from the Rheumatic Complaint for years. No Rheumatism, no pain. What helped him? It was DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS, the best medicine in the world. There is nothing like them. I know it, for I have tried them, and they are all, yes, more than they are recommended to be. Give what use you will, and you will say so. I write this because I know the goodness of them and wish others to know the same. Some may think I am telling a big story, I am. But remember I am not giving them half the praise they ought to have.

Yours with respect, ED. F. PEVARE!

DAINGERFIELD, MORRIS CO., TEXAS, Nov. 15, 75.

MR. THOMAS W. LANE—Dear Sir:—I have been afflicted for near twelve years with Neuralgia in the face and head. I tried I do not know how many physicians, and could only get partly relieved. I also tried many patent medicines with the same result. I have been confined to my room most all the time for eight or ten winters, and have been traveling and visiting medical springs, and I still suffered most intensely. The physicians pronounced my case the worst and most stubborn that they had had anything to do with. One told me I could never get well; they all advised me to go South and spend the winter, and thought that was the only chance for me, and I was going to do so. Hearing of Florida, when through the kindness of Rev. H. M. Mathis, my attention was called to the advertisement of Dr. Quain's Magic Condition Pills. I immediately sent to you for a package. I have taken four doses and I am almost free from pain. The impression here seems to be that if your pills will cure me, they will cure anybody. I have five applications to send for the pills. Enclosed please find three dollars; send five packages to me and one to Mrs. Laura Sherrel, Sulphur Springs, Hopkins county, Texas.

Yours truly, J. S. PATTON!

Liver Complaint, Nervousness, Dropsy and Headache.

LACONIA, N. H., Jan. 29, 1875.

THOS. W. LANE—Sir:—I have been troubled with Bad Blood, Liver Complaint, Nervousness, Dropsy and Headache. I have taken one package of DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS. They have done me more good than all the medicine I ever took; I have taken considerable medicine within the last five years. For the nerves I think there is nothing so good as those pills. I can recommend them to all who are similarly afflicted, they have done me so much good. I think they will recommend themselves wherever they go. I shall recommend those Pills to all who need them. Please send me two packages more, one for myself and one for a lady friend of mine. Many thanks to the inventor, agent and advertiser of those Pills.

PULMOCINE.

BUCHMAN'S PULMOCINE CORDIAL

is no new discovery. Twenty-three years ago it was used by one of New England's most famous physicians as the best Pulmonary Curative he could prescribe, after dozen years spent in experimenting with it before he was satisfied that the Materia Medica could add nothing in its favor.

Among its many ingredients are Wild Cherry Bark, Squill Root, Liquorice Root, Blood root, &c. It is a Blood Purifier, gently stimulating. It increases expectoration and is diuretic. It is audorific and alterative. It is a necessary family medicine. It is a Tonic and a powerful aid to the digestive organs. It is a gentle sedative, and relieves nervousness. It is aromatic and agreeable to the taste.

CLEAR YOUR THROAT!

Relieve Your Lungs.

PULMOCINE CORDIAL

is a speedy and reliable Preventive and Remedy. Every Family should have a bottle at hand to check the sudden growth of all Pulmonary Diseases. For the Asthma, Coughs, Croups, Laryngitis, or inflammation of the larynx, Diphtheria, and all kindred Throat Diseases at all times prevalent, it is the ounce of Prevention. Children attacked with Whooping Cough or Croup should be immediately cared for. These painful attacks come with scarcely a moment's warning, when a physician may be out of immediate each. A dose of PULMOCINE CORDIAL gives speedy relief, and the little ones are spared hours of pain and agony. As "a stitch in time saves nine," so does the possession of this Family Medicine prevent the spread of disease. Parents seeing their children gasping with pain, friends and relatives beholding each other in peril from suffocation by the choking pain in the throat, paralyzed with fear and not knowing the best course to pursue, are liable to apply the wrong remedial agents. There is no safety in delay, no time to waste in such cases. CONSUMPTION, that fearful scourge of the human race, lies at the door of all thus afflicted. BUCHMAN'S PULMOCINE CORDIAL arrests it (unless in its advanced stage at which time there is no local cure) relieves the pressing, suffocating feeling at the lungs, and patient's danger is past.

For Coughs,

Croup,

Diphtheria,

Asthma, etc.,

USE

Buchman's Pulmocine Cordail.

The Pulmocine Cordial is not a quack medicine, is not an experiment, is not composed of any ingredients "discovered" by "walking in pastures" in South America or anywhere else, nor by one who discovered a weed and thereby cured himself. Most of the ingredients are such as our best educated physicians daily use for the complaints specified in some form or other. The recipe is that perfected by one of New England's most learned and famous physicians, who used it entirely in his daily practice until his death. Its offered to the profession and to the public, absolutely pure and unadulterated.

AYER'S SARSAPARILLA,

For Purifying the Blood.

This compound of the vegetable alteratives, Sarsaparilla, Dock, stillingia, and Mandrake with the iodides of Potash and Iron, makes a most effectual cure of a series of complaints which are very prevalent and afflicting. It purifies the blood, purges out the lurking humors in the system, that undermine health and settle into troublesome disorders. Eruptions of the skin are the appearance on the surface of humors that should be expelled from the blood. Internal derangements are the determination of these same humors to some internal organ, or organs, whose action they derange, and who's substance they disease and destroy. AYER'S SARSAPARILLA expels these humors from the blood. When they are gone, the disorders they produce disappear, such as Ulcerations of the Liver, Stomach, Kidneys, Lungs, Eruptions of the Skin, Diseases of the Skin, St. Anthony's Fire, Rose or Erysipelas, Pimples, Pustules, Blotches, Boils, Tumors, Tetter and Salt Rheum, Scald Head, Female Weakness, Sterility, Leucorrhœa arising from internal ulceration and uterine disease, Dropsy, Dyspepsia, Dissolution and General Debility. With their departure health returns.

Honor to the Marines.

The many friends of the Marine Corps of the United States service will be glad to know that their conduct during the recent special period of duty in maintaining public peace is duly appreciated. Colonel Charles G. McCawley, Commandant Marine Corps, Washington, D. C., has received the following from the Secretary of the Navy:

NAVY DEPARTMENT, August 17, 1877.

Sir: The Department has received from Major-General Hancock an official order, wherein he bestows the highest praise upon the marines, who have just returned from Maryland and Pennsylvania, under command of Major and Lieutenant-Colonel by brevet Heywood, and Captain and Lieutenant-Colonel by brevet Forney. The Major-General expresses his high appreciation of the excellent conduct and soldierly qualities of both officers and men, and adds that citizens and soldiers are united in admiration of the soldierly bearing, excellent discipline and devotion to duty displayed by them while at Baltimore, Philadelphia and Reading. The Secretary of War also forwarded to the Department a copy of a report from Colonel and Surgeon J. M. Cuyler, Medical Director of the Division of the Atlantic, who, in accordance with instructions, inspected the sanitary condition of the detachment of Marines at Reading, Penn., in which Medical Director Cuyler says: "The sanitary state of the command is excellent, and the officers evidently take great pride in looking after the health and comfort of the men. I do not recollect of ever having seen a more soldierly set of men, or a more orderly set, proving that they are under most excellent discipline. These men seem to be so well taken care of by their officers that I really cannot see what the Major-General commanding can do to add to their health and comfort. It is quite remarkable that men performing such service are able to keep themselves and their arms, etc. etc., so very clean and neat." This was to be expected from the well established character of the Marines, but is none the less gratifying to the department, and it desires to express through you to both officers and men its high appreciation of them and to assure them of its readiness to co-operate in the adoption of any measures necessary to their comfort and an increase to their efficiency. They are a most important arm of the national defence, and the readiness with which they have responded to the recent summons of the Department to aid in the suppression of unlawful combinations of men, no less than their proficiency in discipline, proves that they may be confidently relied upon whenever the public exigency shall call them into active service.

Very respectfully,
R. W. THOMPSON,
Sec'y of the Navy.

Washington Correspondence.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Sept. 7th.

The Graphic of the 4th inst says: "Better times are coming. There can be no mistake about it. Everything promises a better fall and winter trade than we have had for the last four years." Some of the evidences adduced in support of its predictions are the enormous crops of the present season, with a large foreign demand at good prices; coal has been advanced with little prospect of receding to the ruinous figures that have ruled for some time past; preparations are being made by merchants to meet demands of such magnitude as have been unknown for years; confidence has been re-established in commercial circles; bottom prices have been touched and the tendency is now upward. "Burleigh," the New York correspondent of the Boston Journal, whose sound judgment is conceded, arrives at like conclusions. He says the furloughed clerks of large houses have been recalled, in many cases re-enforced, and are all busy, whereas a few weeks ago those on duty were idle, sitting on boxes and leisurely eating fruit. Similar reports reach us from the centres of trade. The rebound, too, appears to have been much more abrupt than was expected in many branches of trade. A gradual reaction was all the most sanguine dared hoped for and the restoration of confidence indicated by the unexpectedly large orders received in the past two weeks, are all the more cheering. Rents, prices of food and boarding rates have all had to yield at last here in Washington, though landlords and boarding-housekeepers struggled long and with a determination worthy of a better cause.

Fears of the dangerous development of agrarianism under the pressure of a wide-spread destitution, such as was never before known here, at least not for many years, has spurred, philanthropy to an organized effort looking to relief. At a meeting on Monday evening composed in part of many of our most wealthy citizens and officials, preliminary steps were taken to form a "labor exchange." It contemplates furnishing employment to those willing to work; also tools to the artisan destitute of the implements of his craft; raw material for the manufacturing of such articles as can find here and in the vicinity a remunerative market; and, in short, to aid the industriously disposed in every legitimate effort to support themselves and those dependant on them. The aid of the police is to be invoked to suppress street begging, now one of the most constant features of Washington life. It was proposed to raise $10,000 wherewith to begin operations and several subscriptions of $100 each were received at the meeting for that purpose. Several committees of our most prominent citizens were appointed to perfect the crude plan and to attend personally to details. Much is hoped from this plan, and unless the hobby riders, who were out in full force, get possession and ruin all, it can hardly fail to accomplish much good.

At a Cabinet meeting Wednesday Mr. Cornell's case was considered but no definite conclusion was reached. It is given out as a reason for the seeming vacillation and hesitancy of the Administration to enforce its authority in this case, that Cornell manifests signs of yielding. It is as strenuously denied and, even if true, the point is made that Mr. Hayes and his "reform" Cabinet have cut a very sorry figure in dealing with this "machine politician" who has defied them to their faces. Mr. Schurz was reported as very absent minded during the conference, being wholly engrossed with calculating the value of the stumpage of the stolen Government timber.

It will be remembered that in Kane's charges against Lauston was an intimation to the effect that Christian Exel was appointed a special service agent at the instance of Lauston, in part payment of a debt due Exel by Lauston. The Republican this morning charges that Exel is now in Minnesota on private business, with all his expenses paid by the Government on the pretext of public business. It is presumed that he also receives his per diem in addition to regular salary and mileage. The same paper charges that out of the $40,000 annually appropriated to investigate fraudulent pension claims, at least $15,000 is squandered by favorites of the Pension Office in the manner above indicated. After the stumpage business shall have been "reformed" one falcon-like glance from Mr. Schurz' organs of vision will light on these perambulating fellows, smiting them dead in their shoes.

It is not the opinion here that Mr. Soteldo, editor of the Republican, by knocking the aged Solicitor of the Treasury heels over head down a flight of fifteen or so steps has enhanced his reputation for courage or chivalry; and it is just as doubtful whether the profanity and obscenity indulged in by Mr. Raynor, on that occasion, if correctly reported, has added much to his credit, or to the reputation for sound judgment of those responsible for his appointment to the present position, however great his provocation for the assault. KNOX.

The Civil Service Humbug.

The New York Tribune, after perusing a recent account in the Boston Globe of an interview between a reporter and the New Hampshire Senators, says: "Senator Rollins, of New Hampshire, refuses to talk politics with anybody, but a vigorous application of the interviewer's pump has extracted from him the remark that the Civil Service order against office-holders will, eventually, be a dead letter, because the office-holder has the same right as a private citizen before and during election. There are chances that this prophecy may not be entirely unfulfilled." Whether or no Senator Rollins is right in his opinion, time only can tell; but he ought to be, for Hayes' attempt to deprive office-holders of their rights as citizens certainly ought to fail. It is his right to demand that every office-holder shall do his whole duty as such; but when he goes beyond this, and arrogates to himself a right to dictate to office-holders how they shall live and act outside their official life, he is meddling with what is most decidedly none of his business. If the President is competent to overhaul and direct the private affairs of office-holders in one point, he is in another; and we shall probably soon be having a general order that all office holders shall join the Methodist or Universalist or Catholic church—whichever one the President for the time being may favor—on pain of being kicked out of office if they refuse. The office-holder who was active and earnest in attending to his duties as a citizen before he was appointed, gave up none of his rights when he accepted office, and has as much right as ever to be active and earnest in attending to his duties as a citizen, provided he does not neglect any of his official duties in so doing.

The Eastern War.

A dispatch from Shumla, dated the 7th, says that two days' hard fighting around Kazelevo resulted in a complete Turkish success, the Russians retreating and concentrating around their headquarters at Bella.

A Constantinople dispatch dated the 7th says "3000 wounded from Suleiman Pasha's army have reached Adrianople. English doctors report 400 more at Kazanlik and that at Shipka they lie all over the steep hillsides."

A Contrastinople dispatch dated 9:20 o'clock Saturday morning, says a battle commenced at Plevna on Friday morning. Result unknown.

News and Notes.

Frank Leslie, the well known publisher of periodicals, has failed, owing to unfortunate real estate investments. His numerous publications will be continued.

The Hartford Times publishes a full disclosure of the plot of the burglars, Brown, Allen and Hamlin, to escape from Wethersfield (Conn.) State Prison, which was frustrated by the alarm consequent on the shooting of Watchman Shipman. The confession is made by Allen, who, with Hamlin, is under an indictment for murder. Allen says the plot was concocted two weeks before, Brown furnishing $500 to buy Watchman Davis and procure pistols and ammunition from his "pals" in New York. Davis was won by the money and the goods were received from New York. The sequel is well known.

Adelina Patti asks the French courts to declare her marriage with the Marquis de Caux invalid and void, on account of alleged informality.

A race to test the relative speed of steam and sail craft came off in Narragansett Bay last Wednesday, which strangely enough was decided in favor of the latter. As the Richard Borden, of the Fall River Line, one of the swiftest boats in the bay, came out from Bristol harbor she found waiting for her the catamaran Tarantula, recently built by the Herreshoff Manufacturing Company. The captain of the steamer, seeing that a race was inevitable, ordered more steam, and by the time she reached the catamaran the Richard Borden was doing her level best, but to no avail, for Capt. Nathan Herreshoff filled away and the Tarantula sped on her course to Rocky Point, beating the steamer one mile in four.

A heavy storm prevailed along the coast on Thursday and Friday of last week. The sea was very heavy, and packet communication between Nantucket and Martha's Vineyard was cut off. The tide was higher along the Jersey shore than was ever before known, and much damage was done to bathing houses and shore line railroads.

Political.

Returns from throughout the State of California show that the democrats will have a majority of thirty-eight in the legislature on a joint ballot for Senator. Ryland and Farley are aspirants. The Constitutional Convention is probably defeated.

Naval Officer Cornell, Collector Arthur and Surveyor Sharpe, of the New York custom house, are to go out of office October 1st. They are as competent and faithful officials as ever filled the positions named, but they are not enthusiastic over "the policy," so they are to be dismissed in the interests of "civil service reform."

New Hampshire Items.

Sylvester Sweat, while driving a threshing machine into Joseph Blair's barn, in Plymouth, Friday, upset and crushed the entire left leg and broke the ankle of the right.

Newell Ranlett, a well-known farmer of Belmont, who has been partially insane for some time, attempted suicide Friday morning by cutting his throat with a butcher knife. His condition is critical.

At Newport, Thursday, Frank Ladd attempted to get on a freight train, but slipped under the cars, and his leg was crushed from the knee to the foot.

S. Corey of Oxford, 78 years old, dropped dead on the 5th inst., while walking across the room in his residence. He was to all appearance perfectly well previously. The cause is supposed to be heart disease.

The September term of the Supreme Court, Judge Foster presiding, commenced in Dover on Tuesday, the 4th inst. The Grand Jury finished their labors Friday, bringing 150 indictments, 132 of which were for selling liquor.

The Dartmouth Agricultural College has only eight students in place of twenty-four last year. None have entered this Fall, and the prospect is not very encouraging.

Slippery Pets.

There is a curious case at Rockport of the singular attachment sometimes instituted between man and the lower animals. A Mr. Hale has been for a long time accustomed to throw bits of food for some eels in a little brook that runs along the back of his lot. Latterly he observed that they seemed to be waiting for his visit, and with a little training they were induced to eat food directly from his hand. Then they learned to play and fondle about his fingers, held in the water, and enjoyed his caresses. More recently the largest one of the four, a huge old fellow over two feet long and very large around, allows Mr. Hale to take him entirely out of the water, slide him about freely from hand to hand, apparently enjoying the novel gymnastics. When Mr. Hale goes to the brook he calls them with a peculiar whistle, and they soon come rushing briskly from down stream. Not long ago he brought them his usual lunch of fish and mackerel, when only the large one came. The eel waited a few moments, then turned down stream and soon came back, bringing his tardy family to supper. This shows there is no touch of the human in them, for any ordinary biped boarder would have pitched in without waiting, and cleared the table!—Globe.

—Of Mrs. Grant this story of unostentatious benevolence is told: "George S. Joice of Unadilla served faithfully through the war of the Rebellion, and early in President Grant's first term was appointed a doorkeeper at the Capitol, or Executive Mansion. He remained there until some three and a half years ago, then sickened and returned to Unadilla, to linger through the balance of life with consumption. He lived some twelve or fourteen months, and died. While in Washington he attracted the favorable attention of Mrs. Grant. His father's family were in very limited financial circumstances, and George was worth nothing but an irreproachable character and good name. Mrs. Grant, in some way, knew of these conditions, and during the entire time that Mr. Joice was lying sick in Unadilla she sent him each month a check for $100 until he died. There was never any bluster over the matter, and few people in Unadilla know of it to-day."

New Orleans at the close of the late war was financially crippled. To support the charitable and educational institutions of the State, the Louisana State Lottery Company was incorporated in 1868, with its management in the hands of citizens of integrity and energy. The drawings take place without fail on the appointed day, and are honestly conducted. For tickets or information, address M. A. Dauphin, P. O. Box 692, New Orleans, La.—See advertisement.

THE NEW TOWN HALL AT AYER. This elegant structure is now complete. In beauty of design it surpasses anything of the kind in the State. Constructed of brick and dark marble, it is as permanent as it is charming. The English architects have adorned it in subdued colors, which please without tiring the eye. Dr. J. C. Ayer built and gave it to the town in acknowledgement of the distinction they conferred upon him in taking his name. Although it is a generous gift, still the hearty good wishes of a whole people are of greater value, and the generous donor has doubtless secured them.—Groton (Mass.) Journal.

Ayer's Hair Vigor,

FOR RESTORING GRAY HAIR

TO ITS NATURAL VITALITY AND COLOR.

Advancing years, sickness, care, disappointment, and hereditary predisposition, all turn the hair gray, and either of them incline it to shed prematurely.

AYER'S HAIR VIGOR, by long and extensive use, has proven that it stops the falling of the hair immediately; often renews the growth; and always surely restores its color, when faded or gray. It stimulates the nutritive organs to healthy activity, and preserves both the hair and its beauty. Thus lifeless, weak or sickly hair becomes valuable and strength-ened; lost hair regrows with lively expression; falling hair is checked and stabilized; thin hair thickens; and faded or gray hairs resume their original color. Its operation is sure and harmless. It cures dandruff, heals all humors which make the scalp cool, clean and soft—under which conditions, diseases of the scalp are impossible.

As a dressing for ladies' hair, the VIGOR is prized for its grateful and agreeable perfume, and values for the soft lustre and richness it lends to it imparts.

RURAL VISITORS.

The habitues of the Athenæum are often amused at visitors from the interior mistaking the reading-room of the institution for that of a hotel. A few mornings since a tall individual, bearing a travelling-bag in one hand and an umbrella in the other, walked up to a gentleman who sat reading the CHRONICLE, and wished to know, with a business air, where the clerk or the bartender was to be found. About the 4th of July, six rustic young ladies, with their escort, who had come to town evidently in pursuit of summer millinery, entered the room, and appropriating to themselves six of the chairs, while their Damon bestowed himself in a window-seat, and taking from the band-boxes their gaily trimmed "loves of bonnets," (with which they doubtless anticipated creating a sensation on the coming Sabbath at the village church,) held them up before their admiring eyes; ignoring altogether meanwhile the presence of two gentlemen, who, while secretly amused, were chatting together in a moderate tone. On a recent forenoon, a young couple, but whether a brother and sister or a case of "love's young dream" was not apparent, came to take a look at the "metropolis," and in the course of their travels, three times entered the door, and seated themselves with as much indifference to those who were reading around them, as if imagining themselves, like Falstaff, "taking their ease in their own inn;" and the same afternoon an elderly lady, who had evidently come to town "a-shopping" by the bundles she had, made her appearance, drew a chair to the half-opened door, and seemed as if feeling as much at home, while she stayed, as if upon her own hearth-stone. When the excursion season was at its height, a gentleman who, while reading in the library, heard numerous feminine voices blended together in what seemed a near proximity, descended to the reading-room, where he found a rural party of three and twenty, of both sexes, who were having a most happy time, which continued until one of the pleasure wagons came to take them on an out-of-town excursion.

When the New York Express was a morning as well as an evening journal, and was located in what had been, years before, the old National Hotel in Broadway, the counting-room people were often amused at applications for accommodations, but especially at night for lodging, and not seldom, at the same hour, for spiritual refreshment by half-seas-over individuals in their pilgrimages about town. At a late hour one evening, when two or three of the reporters and the dramatic critic had stopped for a moment in the counting room before going home, one of the latter class of customers above mentioned walked up to a counter used only in the daytime for the evening editions, and, with hands in his pockets and half-closed eyes, asked for "a glass of beer;" repeating the request at intervals, until at last, straightening himself up a little, he exclaimed with considerable emphasis, "I said I'd take a glass of beer!" Still receiving no response, he opened wider his eyes to see before him a bare white wall, but turning a little to the left, six smiling faces met his view, and eyes that had been watching his movements from the time of his entrance. With a jolly laugh, his next words were "Guess I got into the wrong shop," as he forthwith retreated to seek his desired beverage elsewhere. On a stormy winter night, just as the latest to remain of the clerks was about closing the door, at the hour of twelve, a traveller entered with his valise, and shaking off the snow with which he was covered from the crown of his hat downwards, asked for a glass of hot whiskey-punch while he warmed himself by the huge coal stove that stood in the centre of the room, and then to be conducted to bed. "This is not a hotel," the clerk replied. "Not a hotel!" exclaimed the stranger; "what, then, has become of the hotels that were so plenty in this part of New York a dozen years ago, and one of which I have been searching for in the storm since landing an hour ago from a Hudson river steamer?" "They have all gone farther up town," was the clerk's response "as have the people who once lived in this part of Broadway, and farther down town around the Battery." "What shall I do, then?" asked the other, in seeming utter despair. "I have been travelling for the last thirty hours without sleep, am ready to drop with fatigue, and at this late hour not a carriage have I seen to take me anywhere." "Well," replied the clerk, who had seen, when the snow was melted from him, that the stranger was a well-dressed gentleman, "I can furnish you with a lounge yonder, a couple of chair-cushions for a pillow, and any amount of newspapers to cover you, if you will consent to be locked up here until the counting-room is opened at seven in the morning,—and you will accept such accommodations, a proposal which the traveller did gratefully accept and profuse were his thanks to the early clerk, when taking his departure, after, as he said, a refreshing night's sleep.

NAVAL MATTERS.

We take from last week's Army and Navy Journal the following items of intelligence, of interest to Portsmouth readers:

The Secretary of the Navy acknowledges in handsome and gratifying terms the prompt and judicious services of Rear Admiral Alexander Murray in the settlement of the difficulties between the Mexican authorities and the U. S. Consul at Acapulco some time ago, and on the occasion of the riots at San Francisco.

Rear-Admiral John C. Howell, chief of the Bureau of Yards and Docks, is Acting Secretary of the Navy during the absence of the Secretary.

Capt. Oscar C. Badger is to be detached from the Washington navy yard on November 5th, and placed on waiting orders. Capt. J. C. P. DeKrafft will relieve Capt. Badger.

Pay Inspector Charles H. Eldredge has been detached from the U. S. S. Richmond and ordered to settle his accounts.

Naval Constructor Edward Hartt has been appointed president, and Naval Constructors Thomas H. Webb and Samuel H. Pook members, of a board for the examination of Carpenter Joseph H. Thatcher as to his qualifications for the position of assistant naval constructor.

Medical Director S. F. Coues, attached to the Naval Hospital at New York, has been granted lease of absence for two weeks from September 3d.

The U. S. S. "Enterprise" has been ordered to be docked at the Norfolk navy yard.

PRIZE DOGS.

At the "Bench Show" of dogs in Boston Music Hall, last week, five dogs from this city were entered for premiums being taken by them.

In the open class "native English setters," Mr. John S. Sides' field-trial setter "Di," (female,) eighteen months old, entered as "unknown" and therefore adjudged solely on her merits, irrespective of her pedigree, (which, however, is first-class,) was awarded the first premium of $20, there being seventeen competitors in that class.

Mr. Charles Allen took the first prize of $10 for best female puppy of pointer breed, and Mr. James Carroll took the first prize of $10 in the same class for the best male puppy.

In the class "native red, or red and white setters," there were eighteen entries; and Mr. Adolph Nelson's dog "Dick" was awarded the second premium of $10.

Four premiums on five entries is a pretty good showing, and there are other dogs in this city that would most probably have taken prizes had they been entered. Mr. Sides has a setter dog that is not easy to beat; and a well known dog fancier who attended the show says Col. J. Horace Kent's dog "Pedro" would have taken first premium off-hand over anything in the shape of a Scotch collie (shepherd's dog) seen at the Music Hall last week.

The Portsmouth Weekly says: "The Portsmouth Mercantile Library Association was organized March 19th, 1853, and so their twenty-fifth anniversary (silver wedding) will occur next March. We hope it will be fittingly noticed, and the Society waked up to its capacity of usefulness. We have from Major D. J. Vaughan, the original agreement of organization, of the date above, as follows. Of the twenty-one signers, the nine marked with a * are dead. The first meeting was held in the studio of P. A. Butler, in the old Congress Block, or perhaps at the house of Mr. Harvey on Deer street."

We the subscribers agree to form ourselves into a Society for Mutual Improvement:

THE NEW OPERA HOUSE.

It is expected to have the new opera house completed about the first of December. The building is being put up in the very best manner, and when it is finished the city will have what it has never before had, a first-class amusement hall large enough to accommodate in comfort any average audience, and in the safety of which the public will have entire confidence. The old Temple was comfortable, and roomy enough for all common occasions, but many people considered that it would be a bad place for an audience to get out of in case of fire, and the public generally were very suspicious as to its strength, and anticipated a break-down at some time when it should be overcrowded. The latter fear was not well-founded, as was shown by the way the frame of the building held together at the time it was burned; but it was well-known that the structure was a piece of patchwork, having been raised and enlarged at various times, so its stability was —and always would have been—distrusted. The new building will be strong enough and have sufficient means of exit to reassure the most timid; and the substitution of a handsome, fire-proof brick building for the old wooden Temple will not only make the street look better but will enhance the value of all the property in the neighborhood.

AQUATIC.

The tide was unusually high on Sunday, the "Universalist field" being partially overflowed and the waters of the South Mill-pond reaching right up to Richards avenue, covering the usually-bare marsh between the avenue and the western end of the pond. Some of the wharves were under water at high tide. A very heavy sea was running outside the harbor, the surf at Odiorne's Point and Gerrish's Island being visible from the house-tops in this city. The steamer Major, Capt. Bird, started for a trip to Boston in the morning with about eighty persons on board, and if she made the trip we imagine many of her passengers even wished that they were dead before they got to their destination. The men on board the tug Clara Batemen reported seeing the Major put into the Shoals, and most like that was as far as she got that day. The tug J. H. Glover, on her way back to Boston from Kennebunkport, Me., where she had been to tow a dredging machine, put in here for a harbor Sunday morning, not caring to face the heavy sea off Cape Ann.

PORTSMOUTH AND VICINITY.

Election in Maine to-day.

We are glad to be able able to chronicle an improvement in the condition of John S. H. Frink, Esq., and trust he will soon be restored to perfect health.

Caswell speaks again this evening at Franklin Hall on the subject of Temperance. He is one of the most affecting and effective temperance orators of the day, and many of those who listened to him last evening will hear him again to-night. Five cents admission, to defray actual expenses.

The wrecked brig Clara J. Adams will be sold as she lies on the rocks near the beacon, this afternoon. Mr. Manning, who is in town and represents the coal company that shipped the cargo, has directed the coal remaining on board to be sold at the same time; the purchaser will have ten days to get out the coal. A chance for a bargain for some man. See advertisement.

The Granite State base ball club will go to Rye Beach this afternoon to play the Rye club, instead of playing them on the Plains, as previously announced.

This evening, if the weather is favorable, the last steamboat excursion from this city to the Shoals for this season will take place, the Appledore leaving her wharf at six o'clock and the Shoals at ten, giving her passengers about three hours at the Shoals. Harlow's band will go along, and there will be a dance in the hall of the Appledore House. This excursion is for the benefit of Capt. Robinson and Engineer Gertin, two popular and deserving officers, and with anything like decent weather we expect the steamer to be filled. See advertisement.

John Leahy, a fisherman, we are informed has been missing from his home in this city for nearly two weeks. The last time he was seen was in the evening, on one of the wharves, intoxicated and asleep. It is supposed he fell overboard on awakening, and was drowned.

Charles M. Laighton and Edward J. Moulton have been drawn as jurors from Ward Two, to serve at the United States District Court which meets in this city September 18.

The team of the N. E. P. Union store ran away on Saturday from near the railroad crossing on Vaughan street, and brought up near Mr. Jones' office on Market street. The forward axle of the wagon was snapped short off in the middle, but no other damage was done.

The annual meeting of the stockholders of the Portsmouth & Dover Railroad will be held in this city on Monday, Sept. 24.

An express freight train on the Eastern Railroad, consisting of twenty-five cars, jumped the track just beyond West Biddeford Thursday night, and two cars went off. Passenger trains were delayed two hours. Damage slight.

Sheriff Kent will sell at auction in front of his office this forenoon at ten o'clock, a horse, attached on a writ in favor of E. S. Fay and against J. Frank Willey.

The docket of the Supreme Judicial Court commencing in this city October 16th, will contain 401 civil actions, fifty-six equity cases, twenty State actions and seven cases on the sessions docket. Judge Stanley will preside.

The arrangements for the clambake of the Veteran Artillery Association to-morrow have been completed. Members will report at Light Artillery Hall at 8 o'clock, armed and equipped; at 9 o'clock the Association will march, and go over the following route: Market, Deer, Vaughan, Congress, Islington, Cabot, Middle, State and Pleasant streets to South Mill-bridge, where they will take carriages for Hotel Wentworth. Carriages to convey ladies and gentlemen to the grounds will start from the head of Daniel street at 9 and 11 o'clock in the forenoon. The services of a military and a string band have been secured, and there will be a promenade concert and dance in the afternoon, and a social assembly in the evening. The clambake will be opened at 1:30 P. M.; supper served at 6:30; grand march at 8 o'clock. The ladies accompanying the members will carry baskets of whatever good things they choose to contribute for the supper; table ware will be furnished by the hotel. If bad weather to-morrow, the clam-bake will be served the next fair day.

John Faulkner, a man who for some time past has worked in the hosiery weaving establishment of Thomas Kennedy & Son at No. Three Wibird place, and boarded at Mrs. Alton's at Christian Shore, was found dead in his room at about one o'clock Sunday morning. The Mayor sent the City Physician, Dr. Jones, to the house to ascertain the particulars of his death, and on reporting to him that there was a possibility of foul play ordered an inquest. Coroner Whittier summoned the following named gentlemen as the jury: Dr. John W. Parsons, Edwin A. Tilton and Harry G. Tanton. After the post-mortem examination by Drs. Folsom and Parsons some of the witnesses were examined, but the inquest was adjourned until the room-mate of Faulkner becomes sober enough to testify, he being drunk at the time the inquest was held.

Rev. Wm. H. Alden, D. D., having returned from his summer vacation, resumed his pastoral duties at the Middle street church on Sunday.

Rev. W. J. Potter, of New Bedford, preached at the Unitarian church on Sunday. Next Sunday the Vesper Service at this church will be resumed, at 7:45 o'clock P. M.

AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL,

For Diseases of the Throat and Lungs, such as Coughs, Colds, Whooping Cough, Bronchitis, Asthma and Consumption.

The few compositions, which have won the confidence of mankind and become household words, among not only one but many nations, must have extraordinary virtues. Perhaps no one ever secured so wide a reputation, or maintained it so long as

Ayer's Cherry Pectoral.

It has been known to the public about forty years. Every year is marked by a long continued series of marvellous cures, that have won for it a confidence in its virtues, never equalled by any other medicine. It still makes the most effectual cures of Coughs, Colds, Consumption, that can be made by medical skill. Indeed, the CHERRY PECTORAL has really robbed these dangerous diseases of their terrors, to a great extent, and given a feeling of immunity from their fatal effects, that is well founded if the remedy be taken in season. Every family should have it in their closet for the ready and prompt relief of its numerous ills. Sickness, suffering, and even life is saved by this timely protection. The prudent should not neglect it, and the wise will not. Keep it by you for the protection it affords by its timely use in sudden attacks.

BY UNCLE JOSEPH.

Church bells are very convenient. They are almost a necessity. As a whole, people will be at religious service in better season. They remind all of public worship, call to it, and perhaps more attend in consequence of them.

In the early times of our country's settlement, it cannot be supposed there were church bells. Their houses of worship were rudely constructed, not unfrequently of logs. But something to call the people, and to call them at the right time, was deemed necessary. At Hampton, Nov. 22, 1639, which was the second year after the settlement, a person was appointed by the town, to "ring the bell before the meetings on the Lord's days, and on other days." We do not suppose there was a bell on their meeting house, for it is not certain the house had been built then. The first house was of logs, and stood near where the Academy now does. More likely it was a large hand or dinner bell.

In some places the blowing a horn Sabbath morning announced that the hour of worship was at hand. In Cambridge, Mass., settled early, a drum was beat on the Sabbath, to call the inhabitants to meeting.

But the most noted record we have of the doings of a town arranging for the beating of a drum to call to meeting was in Dover, settled in 1623. The settlement was at what is now called the Neck, and there was their meeting house. It was Sept. 27, 1648. We give the record as we find it, spelling, capital letters and all: "It is this day ordered at a publique Towne meeting that Richard Pinckame shall beat the drumme on Lord's days to give notice for the time of meeting and to sweepe the meeting house for the which hee shall bee allowed six bushells of Indian corne this yeare and to be freed from Rates." The minister at that time was Daniel Mand.

Centaur Liniments.

One thing is now thoroughly established. Never since man suffered and human agencies alleviated pain has there been any thing which went so far as a pain annihilator and curative agent as the Centaur Liniments. These Liniments have within the past year cured more cases of Rheumatism, Neuralgia, Stiff-joints, Caked Breast, Swellings, Poisonous Bites, Burns, Lame Animals, etc., etc., than all other remedies combined. As the name of Centaur implies half horse and half man, the Centaur Liniments are for man and beast. But not the same Liniment. The White Liniment is for man and the Yellow for horses and animals. Herein this Liniment differs from all other remedies, although some of the ingredients are alike in each. They contain the well-known Witch Hazel, Arnica, Carbolic, Rock Oil, Mentha and other powerful ingredients.

Wm. H. Hickcox, Rector of St. John's E. Church, Wakefield, Clay Co., Kansas, writes: "Many years I have been suffering from a Weak Back, caused from a sprain more than 40 years ago. I have not found any thing to relieve me until I commenced the use of Centaur Liniment. I feel it my Christian duty to inform you that by its wonderful effects I am entirely relieved of pain. January 23d, 1876."

Messrs. J. McClure & Co., Druggists, Cincinnati, Ohio, say:

"Teamsters pronounce the Yellow Centaur Liniment superior to any thing they have ever used. We sell several dozen bottles per month, and the sale is steadily increasing."

These are only samples of thousands upon thousands of similar testimonials reaching us every month. All the Extracts, Embrocations, Salves and Ointments in existence are not doing one-tenth the good which is done by these admirable Centaur Liniments. For Frost-bites, Stings, Cuts, Itch, Salt Rheum, etc., there is nothing like the Centaur Liniment, White Wrapper. For Spavin, Ring-bone, Sweeney, Wind-Galls, Poll-evil, Scratches, etc., on horses, the Yellow Centaur Liniment is equally as good. They are certain in their effects; they are pleasant to use, they are handy and they are cheap. No family should be without Centaur Liniments. They are worth one hundred times their cost.

Castoria.

Mothers may have rest and their babies may have health, if they will use Dr. Fletcher's Castoria for Wind Colic, Worms, Feverishness, Sour Mouth, Croup, or Stomach Complaints. It is entirely a vegetable preparation, and contains neither mineral, morphine, nor alcohol. It is as pleasant to take as honey, neither gags nor gripes, and is superior to any remedy in existence.

Dr. E. Dimoch, of Depost, Ohio, says:

"I am using CASTORIA in my practice with the most signal benefits and happy results, and find it a perfect substitute for Castor Oil."

This is what every one says. Many nurses in New York use the CASTORIA. It is prepared by Messrs. J. R. ROSE & Co., successors to Samuel Pitcher, M. D. tnov1

The Centaur Liniments have created a revolution in remedies for Rheumatism, Strains, Swellings, Pains, Burns, Scalds, Stings, etc. The White Liniment is for the human family, and the Yellow Liniment is for horses. They are certain, handy and cheap.

Castoria is certain to operate. It does not nauseate or gripe like Castor Oil, but is pleasant to take, digests the food, regulates the bowels, cures wind colic, expels worms, and causes natural sleep. It is equally adapted to adults and infants. It contains neither Mineral, Morphine nor Alcohol. Children teething may have health, and mothers find rest, if they use Castoria. [illegible] tnov1

They strike at once at the seat of disease and show their healing power almost immediately. Thousands of voluntary testimonials of their merits have been received by the agent, from those who have been cured by them, of which the following are samples:

Dyspepsia Four Years, Constipation and Inflammation of the Bowels Three Years, Confined to my Room Two Years, Pain so I Could Not Sleep Without Morphine. One Package of Dr. Quain's Condition Pills Made Me Eat Well, Sleep Well and Free from Pain, after being given up by Physicians.

WEST LEBANON, ME., Feb. 22, 1

MR. THOMAS W. LANE:—I have been sick for 2 years with Dyspepsia, and for the past three years Constipation and Inflammation of the Bowels, have suffered all the pain I could endure and live, have been confined to my room for two years, and could not sleep nights without the use of morphine. I have been given up by physicians as past cure. I have taken one package of DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS, and they have done me more good than all the doctors I have had. I sleep well, I eat well and have no pain. They are all they are recommended to be. Please send me three packages, as two of my neighbors wish to try them. I enclose $5.50.
Your truly, JOHN W. LORD.

Another Letter from May. John W. Lord, one month later Wonderful Cures by Dr. Quain's Pills Effected on Him in Thirteen Days. First time Free from Pain for Three Years.

WEST LEBANON, ME., March 22, 1875.

MR. THOMAS W. LANE:—I commenced taking DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS February 9th, and wrote you February 22d of the wonderful effect. I have continued to improve ever since. My appetite is good, and I sleep as well as I ever did in my life. I am free from pain for the first time in three years. When I was taken sick four years ago, I weighed one hundred and eighty-six pounds; I now weigh one hundred and thirty, but as I am gaining in strength, I have faith I shall regain my flesh this summer, by the use of the Pills. I shal continue taking them for some time to come.
Yours truly, JOHN W. LORD.

Dr. Quain's Pills the Remedy for Soldiers' Aches and Pains.

WEST LEBANON, ME., June 1, 1875.

MR. THOMAS W. LANE—Dear Sir:—I am now able to walk out every day, and am gaining in strength very fast, all of which is due to you as agent for the best Pills in the world. I have taken no other medicine, and my improvement has been steady since first taking DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS. They have done everything for me, and I will say to you, advertise them direct to the soldiers, for they will certainly cure them of aches and pains caused from exposure, hardship on the field. Please send me by return mail another package.
JOHN W. LORD.

Rheumatism for Twenty Years Cured by One Package of Dr. Quain's Condition Pills—"The Best Medicine in the World."

EAST ANDOVER, N. H., Dec. 10, 1875.

MR. LANE—Dear Sir:—As I know the value of DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS and that people have done me, I take pleasure in giving them praise; so I send you another testimonial. My father has been troubled with Rheumatism for twenty years or more, and has tried everything that could be thought of, but to no good. At times it would be so bad that he could not lift his hand to his head or do any work at all, especially in cold weather. A short time ago I advised him to get some of these Pills. He believed nothing in them, but I gave him the last package I had of you, as I did not need them, and he has not been as free from the Rheumatic Complaint for years. No Rheumatism, no pain. Whatshelped him? It was DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS, the best medicine in the world. There is nothing like them. I know it, for I have tried them, and they are all, yes, more than they are recommended to be. Give them a fair trial and you will say so. I write this because I know the goodness of them and wish others to know the same. Some may think I am telling a big story. I am. But remember I am not giving them half the praise they ought to have.
Yours with respect, ED. F. PEVARE.

DAINGERFIELD, MORRIS CO., TEXAS, Nov. 15, '75.

MR. THOMAS W. LANE—Dear Sir:—I have been afflicted for twelve years with Neuralgia in the face and head. I tried I do not know how many physicians, and could only parcial relief. I also tried many patent medicines with the same result. I have been confined to my room most all the time for eight or ten winters, and have been traveling and visiting medical springs, and I still suffered most intensely. The physicians pronounced my case the worst and most stubborn that they had had anything to do with. One told me I could never get well; they all advised me to go South and spend the winter, and thought that was the only chance for me, and I was trying to get ready to go to Florida, when through the kindness of Rev. H. M. Mathis, my attention was called to the advertisement of Dr. Quain's Magic Condition Pills. I immediately sent to you for a package. I have taken four doses and I am almost free from pain. The impression here seems to be that if your pills will cure me, they will cure anybody. I have five applications to send for the pills. Enclosed please find three dollars; send five packages to me and one to Mrs. Laura Sherrod, Sulphur Springs, Hopkins county, Texas.
Yours truly, J. S. PATTON.

Liver Complaint, Nervousness, Dropsy and Headache.

LACONIA, N. H., Jan. 29, 1875.

THOS. W. LANE—Sir:—I have been troubled with Bad Blood, Liver Complaint, Nervousness, Dropsy and Headache. I have taken one package of DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS. They have done me more good than all the medicine I ever took; I have taken considerable medicine within the last five years. For the nerves I think there is nothing so good as those pills. I can recommend them to all who are similarly afflicted, they have done me so much good. I think they will recommend themselves wherever they go. I shall recommend those Pills to all who need them. Please send me two packages more, one for myself and one for a lady friend of mine. Many thanks to the inventor, agent and advertiser of those Pills.
MRS. F. L. ELLIOTT.

PULMOCINE.
BUCHMAN'S PULMOCINE CORDIAL

Is the ultima thule of Medical Discovery.

Among its many ingredients are Wild Cherry Bark, Squill Root, Liquorice Root, Blood root, &c. It is a Blood Purifier, gently stimulating. It increases expectoration and is diuretic. It is sudorific and alterative. It is a necessary family medicine. It is a Tonic and a powerful aid to the digestive organs. It is a gentle sedative, and relieves nervousness. It is aromatic and agreeable to the taste.

CLEAR YOUR THROAT!
Relieve Your Lungs.
or the terrible diseases engendered by the inspiriting climate of New England!

PULMOCINE CORDIAL
Is a speedy and reliable Preventive and Remedy. Every Family should have a bottle at hand to check the sudden growth of all Pulmonary Diseases. For the Asthma, Coughs, Croups, Laryngitis, or inflammation of the larynx, Diphtheria, and all kindred Throat Diseases at all times prevalent, it is the ounce of Prevention. Children attacked with Whooping Cough or Croup should be immediately cared for. These painful attacks come with scarcely a moment's warning, when a physician may be out of immediate each. A dose of PULMOCINE CORDIAL gives speedy relief, and the little ones are spared hours of pain and agony. As "a stitch in time saves nine," so does the possession of this Family Medicine prevent the spread of disease. Parents seeing their children gasping with pain, friends and relatives beholding each other in peril from suffocation by the choking pain in the throat, paralyzed with fear and not knowing the best course to pursue, are liable to apply the wrong remedial agents. There is no safety in delay, no time to waste in such cases. CONSUMPTION, that fearful scourge of the human race, lies at the door of all thus afflicted. BUCHMAN'S PULMOCINE CORDIAL arrests it (unless in its advanced stage at which time there is no local cure) relieves the pressing, suffocating feeling at the lungs, and patient's danger is past.

For Coughs,
Croup,
Diphtheria,
Asthma, etc.,
USE
Buchman's Pulmocine Cordial.

The Pulmocine Cordial is not a quack medicine, is not an experiment, is not composed of any ingredients "discovered" by "walking in pastures" in South America or anywhere else, nor by one who discovered a weed and thereby cured himself. Most of the ingredients are such as our best educated physicians daily use for the complaints specified in some form or other. The recipe is that perfected by one of New England's most learned and famous physicians, who used it entirely in his daily practice until his death. His offered to the profession and to the public, absolutely pure and unadulterated.

AYER'S SARSAPARILLA,

For Purifying the Blood.

This compound of the vegetable alteratives, Sarsaparilla, Dock, Stillingia, and Mandrake with the Iodides of Potash and Iron, makes a most effectual course of a series of complaints which are very prevalent and afflicting. It purifies the blood, purges out the lurking humors in the system, that undermine health and settle into troublesome disorders. Eruptions of the skin are the appearance on the surface of humors that should be expelled from the blood. Internal derangements are the determination of these same humors to some internal organ, or organs, whose action they derange, and whose substance they disease and destroy. AYER'S SARSAPARILLA expels these humors from the blood. When they are gone, the disorders they produce disappear, such as Ulcerations of the Throat, Stomach, Kidneys, Lungs, Eruptions and Eruptive Diseases of the Skin, St. Anthony's Fire, Tetter or Erysipelas, Pimples, Pustules, Blotches, Boils, Tumors, Tetter and Salt Rheum, Scald Head, Female Weakness, Sterility, Leucborrhea Fluxing from internal ulceration and uterine disease, Dropsy, Dyspepsia, Emaciation and General Debility. With their departure health returns.

PADDLING ON THE PISCATAQUA.

It might have been in Every Saturday editorship days of brain-tire or possibly in more remote time, but it was surely in hours when Thomas Bailey Aldrich longed for rest and knew where it could be found that he wrote this song of

"PISCATAQUA RIVER."

Thou singest by the gleaming isles,
By woods and fields of corn;
Thou singest, and the heaven smiles
Upon my birthday morn.

But I, within a city, I,
So full of vague unrest,—
Would almost give my life to lie
An hour upon thy breast;

To let the wherry listless go,
And, wrapped in dreamy joy,
Dip, and surge idly to and fro,
Like the red harbor-buoy!

To sit in happy indolence,
To rest upon the oars,
And catch the heavy earthy scents
That blow from summer shores;

To see the rounded sun go down,
And with its parting fires
Light up the windows of the town,
And burn the tapering spires;

And then to hear the muffled tolls
From steeples slim and white;
And watch, among the Isles of Shoals,
The beacon's orange light.

O river, flowing to the main
Through woods and fields of corn!
Hear thou my longing and my pain,
This sunny birthday morn;

And take this song which sorrow shapes
To music like thine own,
And sing it to the cliffs and capes
And crags where I am known.

Within fifty years there have been perhaps fifty "Poets of Portsmouth" who have written good poetry, which has been printed and bound up into books, and scarcely one of the fifty but has in some way sung of the Piscataqua River; so, unless the greater body of water is viewed as containing the lesser, it seemed a little defective in fulness of construction to read the paragraph recently put afloat saying that a native of Portsmouth never forgets that he was born in a locality that has "a naval station, a harbor and a history;" defective is it, considering all that has been said and sung about the subject, to note that in the floating newspaper wait all allusion is omitted to there being also "a river" in the Portsmouth creed of nativity. But there is a river worthy to have been part of the creed, whether or not it has been mentioned, and a stream which Kennard, Aldrich, Laighton, Shillaber and all of the Strawberry Bank poets who have sung its praises have not magnified the glories, beauties nor restfulness of. The "goodly groves and woods upon Piscataquack's banks" were praised by its discoverer and earliest navigator, and now the varied, picturesque scenery above the bridge along its shores, and views upon the water, with the curious, foreign-looking inteen-sailed packets and gondolas—sometimes floating lazily with the tide, and sometimes impelled by strong breezes, crowding along their broad prows and hulls, heavily laden, with a rush and a roar, toward their destination—are scenes that might inspire a poet with many moods and measures. When Aldrich desired—

"To let the wherry listless go,
And, wrapped in dreamy joy,
Dip, and surge idly to and fro,"

he had probably in fancy shot Portsmouth Bridge and was on the upward tide toward Great Bay, the Cocheco or Salmon Falls rivers, or had put into some of the creeks. Those ways he would find it safe

"To sit in happy indolence,
To rest upon the oars,
And catch the heavy earthy scents
That blow from summer shores;"

and those ways he would find the loveliest of shores and the quiet still-life landscape

"By woods and fields of corn,"

he sings of in verse-pictures daintily and half mournfully. But below the bridge, toward the sea, the Piscataqua in its broad tide-way is a turbulent river with a seven-knot current, by the mariner's reckoning, and with swirls and eddies in it that may make an overset of the wherry against pier or bridge on the incoming tide, or a sweep of it away to sea on the outgoing flood, if any considerable amount of "happy indolence" is permitted to happen. This current, which keeps the river from freezing, is the winter-glory that warms the pride-cockles of the Portsmouthian's heart. He cannot be libelled worse than to say that his loved river was ever gelid. Albert Laighton says, in "My Native River," that it is—

"Hushed by the Ice-king never;
For he strives in vain to clasp a chain
O'er thy fetterless heart, brave river."

Only so little while ago as last winter some unlucky night telegraph editor inadvertently published in his newspaper an item about the freezing-in of certain vessels, which happened perhaps, at Portsmouth, Virginia, as occurring at Portsmouth, New Hampshire. If that night editor saw and read at the time the local daily paper's comments on his stupidity, or if any of the Portsmouth personal allusions to the opaqueness of his brain receptiveness reached him, he will doubtless be very careful not to allow the same mistake to occur twice. And yet—but in Kittery, to be sure, in Maine, the opposite shore of the river, the navy yard lying between the interchange of considerable more civility that might happen than does if it were not there,—in Kittery, let it be recollected, they say that the river did, perhaps twenty-five or more years ago, close with ice, and that a man crossed it, as he declared, "upon a horse." Any Portsmouth man will explain this by saying that the closing of the river was simply by an ice jam held up by one flooding of the tide and going out to sea on the next ebb. Taking advantage of the time and safety, a wag put a saw horse upon a hand sled, seated himself upon it, hired some of the "Tom Bailey" style of boys to draw him across to Kittery, and ever afterward said that he had crossed the Piscataqua on the ice upon a horse. The man who did it is now dead, and many of the waggish pranks that he played are laughed at and forgiven, but it is rather uncertain whether this trifling with the reputation of the river is one of the forgiven things.

Say all that may be said in pleasantry and badinage of local pride, again it may be said that Portsmouth's poets or any other writers in song or prose who have written of the glories of the Piscataqua have not too rosily tinted the pictures, nor exhausted its due of being sung and said about. Reluctant parting from its shores, after days of paddling with oars and canoe upon its rapid main channels and its quieter creeks and estuaries, confirms the verse and story, and makes the warrant of the home pride of the dwellers by its banks and stream-sides manifest. Where the song has revealed but half that the poet has seen shows in the memory-retained pictures that can only be faintly limned in telling.

Other memories of history linger among the colors of the pictures borrowed from the stream and shore, taking the thoughts back to days when Martin Pring and Captain John Smith were navigators in the same waters, Mason and Gorges were promoters of settlements on the same shores, and Odiorne's Point, Kittery and Strawberry Bank had local habitants and a name before Boston was. Old houses that tell of early greatness and prosperity remain among the landmarks, and their interiors continue, with the objects and flavors of antiquity, to help people them; old churchyard tombstones record names and fames of more than a century and a half past; grand and stately trees, with ample shade, make the thoughtful tender with gratitude in remembrance of those who planted them, and all together hallow the pictures of streams and shores with more ineffaceable stamp than is brought by the impressions from newer-found lands and waters, settled upon and sailed upon.—Boston Transcript.

Conciliation.

A correspondent of the Boston Traveller, writing from South Carolina, gives a series of illustrations of how "conciliatory" the victorious Hampton-Butler democracy are towards the republicans. In a late letter he says:

"To illustrate the character of the charges upon which some of these indictments are based, I will give you a brief statement of those found against the late Comptroller, General Dunn, a former citizen of your State, and a gentleman whose character has always stood high in this State, until by his manly action last November as the principal member of the State Board of Canvassers, he aided in saving the electoral vote of the State to Hayes, and thereby earned for himself the bitter and undying hatred of the South Carolina democracy. He is first charged with neglect of official duty in January, 1877, while his accusers persistently deny to him any official character or authority after the 14th of December, 1876, the day of Hampton's inauguration, when according to the State Constitution the newly elected State officers enter upon the discharge of their official duties. Not a warrant, or other official paper bearing the signature of Mr. Dunn as Comptroller, dated subsequent to that day, is regarded as valid; not a dollar of salary has been allowed him after that day, and yet he is indicted for neglect of official duty in the following month. Comment is unnecessary.

He is next charged with official misconduct in the issuing of a warrant upon the State Treasury for a sum due from the State to the firm of Thos. W. Price & Co. of Philadelphia. It is not denied by his accusers that this debt was justly due Messrs. Price & Co., or that there had been a special act passed by the legislature auditing this account and ordering it to be paid by the State Treasurer; but in paying it, they affirm that the State Treasurer paid the warrant out of funds appropriated to other purposes, and thereby was guilty of misappropriation of public funds, which by a clause of the general appropriation bill of that year was declared a felony. If the Treasurer made any mistake as to the fund from which he paid this amount, it is difficult to see wherein Mr. Dunn is liable for issuing a warrant, which did not designate any particular fund out of which the Treasurer should pay it, particularly as it is made his duty by statute to issue his warrant for all payments ordered by the General Assembly, upon the presentation and filing of the proper vouchers in his office. In this case it would seem that Mr. Dunn has been indicted for strictly performing his official duty.

The remaining charge against Mr. Dunn is for conspiracy to defraud the State by funding past due coupons of State bonds under the funding act of 1873. It is not denied that the funding act authorized the funding of these coupons, that the coupons themselves were genuine, or that the funding act itself declares it a penal offence for any officer to refuse to fund the specified bonds or coupons, when presented by the holder for that purpose. But it is affirmed by his accusers that those coupons had matured before the bonds to which they belonged had been issued by the State. Whether this assertion be true or not I am not informed, but this I do know, that consolidation bonds were issued in 1876, having on them coupons maturing in July, 1875, and January, 1876, which it is proposed by the Hampton government to fund into new bonds instead of levying a tax to pay them. It seems that only the average democratic lawyers of South Carolina can detect guilt in an act when done by a republican, which if performed by a democratic official is not only harmless but praiseworthy."

The Eastern War.

The fighting around Plevna continued all Saturday and Sunday. The Russians carried the heights south of Plevna on Sunday, losing 500 men. The Manchester (England) Examiner had a special despatch from Sistova on Sunday, which says: This morning an attack on all sides commenced and was continued throughout the day. By six o'clock in the evening the town of Plevna was in the hands of the Russians. The Turks were in full retreat in great disorder. Their losses are enormous, but the details are not yet received."

Niesics has capitulated unconditionally to the Montenegrins.

News and Notes.

Police officer Garrigan, of Providence, was assaulted by a gang of roughs on Sunday morning, and severely beaten. He finally fired into the crowd, and fortunately killed Hugh F. McCahey, a ruffian who was engaged in throwing stones at the officer.

Under a recent decision of the Secretary of the Navy the caterer of the mess, in all the departments of a vessel, is the presiding officer thereof, and entitled to the head of the table. The executive officer can interfere only to prevent disorder or unrestrained breaches of decorum. The decision is based on the new regulations, and deprives the executive officer of the right heretofore claimed and exercised of taking the head of the table and considering himself the presiding officer thereat, so far as the room is concerned.

The Providence, R. I., woman who was reported some weeks since to have died from the bite of a spider, really died from malignant pustule on the lip.

The coroner's jury charged in Bristol, R. I., to inquire into the circumstances of the death of Capt. Ezra Baxter, found in the harbor of that place with a heavy granite block secured to his neck, returned a verdict that he came to his death by violence at the hands of unknown parties.

The railroad rioters convicted at Harrisburg, Pa., have been sentenced to jail for two to eight months and fines from $25 to $500.

The democrats of Iowa have nominated for Governor a man who, four years ago, in his capacity of chairman of the democratic State committee, and in open State convention, formally announced that the democratic party had "survived its usefulness," and that then was the time to "bury it out of sight."

New Hampshire Items.

Mrs. Levina Jackson Jenks, of Newport, who died last Friday at the age of eighty-six, was the widow of the late Captain Oliver Jenks, and was a sister of the late Hon. Eleazer Jackson of Cornish. She left eight children, among whom are George F. Jenks, Secretary of the Republican State Committee of New Hampshire, and Edward A. Jenks, Manager of the Republican Press Association. The deceased was a most excellent woman, and carried to her grave the love of her kindred and the warm esteem of all who knew her.

Mrs. D. G. Rollins of Great Falls is the possessor of a night blooming cereus which has taken upon itself to bloom in the forenoon. On Tuesday forenoon of last week it put forth seven handsome flowers.

An elopement has taken place at West Deerfield. The parties were a Frenchman and the wife of Mr. James M. Willey. Mrs. Willey is sixty-five years old. The Frenchman has been the hired man on the farm since last spring, and is twenty-nine years old. Mrs. Willey carried her husband with a team as far as the Parade on Aug. 28th, and he went from there to Epping camp-meeting. She went home and sold a yoke of oxen, traded three cows and a calf for a horse and wagon, sold a hog, some wheat, etc., and then, with the Frenchman, started for parts unknown. Mr. Willey, on his return home, went to a lawyer and is trying to get his stock back.

—"Gentlemen, I introduce to you my friend, who isn't as stupid as he appears to be." Introduced friend, with vivacity—"That's precisely the difference between my friend and myself."

—There is a magnificent Newfoundland dog at Long Branch, who, as regularly as the flag floats to denote the bathing hour, goes down to the beach, descending the steps in front of one of the hotels, and walks solemnly forward to the water's edge, as if it were a matter of business.

—Osman Pasha, says the Graphic, is a Tennesseean named Crawford, in disguise. The telegraphs reveals him. It is also announced, through private channels of communication, that Suleiman Pasha is Oakey Hall; that Baker Pasha, instead of being the Colonel Valentine, late of the English army, is, in fact, the Baker who killed Bill Poole; that Mehemet Pasha is Dr. Mary Walker—the Me-he-met being a malicious allusion to the janitor of the Treasury Department; that the Grand Duke Nicholas is Bishop A. Cleveland of Cozeski of Buffalo bazaar, and General Nepokoitchitski is old Bender, formerly of Kansas. Harrigenet Pasha controls the Sultan's Treasury, Slipridik Pasha is the head of the Commissary Department, and Charliros Bey is an infant drummer now before Plevna. This is curious.

PROPOSALS.

PROPOSALS FOR MATERIALS TO BE SUPPLIED TO THE NAVY YARDS UNDER THE COGNIZANCE OF THE BUREAU OF CONSTRUCTION AND REPAIRS.

NAVY DEPARTMENT,
BUREAU OF CONSTRUCTION AND REPAIR,
Washington, D. C., August 21, 1877.

SEALED PROPOSALS to furnish Timber and other materials for the Navy for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1878, will be received at this Bureau until Tuesday, 12 o'clock M., the 25th of September next, at which time the bids will be opened.

The proposals must be addressed to the "Chief of the Bureau of Construction and Repair, Navy Department, Washington," and must be indorsed "Proposals for Timber, &c., for the Navy," and may be distinguished from ordinary business letters.

To prevent confusion, and facilitate the opening of the bids, partial bidding for supplies at several yards will enclose their bids in separate envelopes for each yard, indorsed with the name of the yard for which the bid is made.

Printed schedules for such classes as parties deal in and intend to bid for, together with instructions to bidders, giving the forms of proposal, of guarantee, and of certificate of guarantors, with printed forms of offer, will be furnished to such persons as desire to bid, on application to the Commandants of the respective Navy Yards, and those of all the yards on application to the Bureau.

The Commandant of each Navy Yard, and the purchasing Paymaster for each Station, will have a copy of the schedule of the other yards, for examination only, in order that persons who intend to bid may judge whether it is desirable to make application for any of the classes of those yards.

The proposals must be for the whole of a class, but the Bureau reserves the right to reject any one whole class, should the interest of the Government require it, before the execution of the contract. All applications for information, or for the examination of samples, must be made to the Commandants of the respective yards.

Bids or orders will be received only from parties who are bona fide dealers in, or manufacturers of the articles they offer for sale. The guarantee bond must be certified by the Collector of Internal Revenue for the district in which they reside.

The contract will be awarded to the person who makes the lowest bid and gives the guarantee required by law, the Navy Department, however, reserving the right to reject the lowest bid, or any which it may deem exorbitant.

Under the provisions of Section 3722 of the Revised Statutes, the offer of any person who, as principal or surety, has been a defaulter in any previous contract with the Navy Department will be rejected.

Sureties in the full amount will be required to sign the contract, and their responsibility must be certified to by the authorities of the Navy Department.

A additional security twenty per centum will be withheld from the amount of the bills until the contracts shall have been completed, and eighty per centum of the value of each bill, approved in triplicate by the Commandants of the respective yards, will be paid by the Paymaster of the station designated in the contract, or, if none is specified, by the Paymaster of the station nearest the yard where the goods are delivered, within ten days after the warrant for the same shall have been passed by the Secretary of the Treasury.

THE SCHOOLS.

Miss M. H. Garrett has been temporarily assigned the charge of the 3d and 4th classes of the Franklin Intermediate School on North street. Miss Garrett's place at the Plains School is filled by Miss Johnson.

It costs eight hundred and sixty-four dollars annually to take care of the school-rooms of the city. One would think that out of this sum enough could be scrimped to pay for the removal of the unsightly weeds on the sidewalk in front of the High School building, but perhaps there is nothing in the regulations requiring such care to be taken outside the building. If it is nobody's business to look after this matter, nobody does his business very well.

There are now in the High School one hundred and thirty-eight pupils,—sixty-four boys and seventy-four girls. When the present board of teachers took charge of the school, the number of pupils was one hundred and six,—thirty-eight boys and sixty-eight girls. A gain of twenty-six boys,—more than sixty-eight per cent.—is somewhat remarkable, but the school is in good hands and is becoming more and more popular.

William B. Benedict of this city, recently admitted as a cadet at West Point, reviewed his studies this summer with Charles E. Buzzel, Esq., master of the Walker School. Benedict was much more than an average scholar, but had been some time away from school, and we have no doubt his successful examination was due in no small degree to the clear and methodical drill for which Mr. Buzzell is noted.

PORTSMOUTH AND VICINITY.

Lieut. Fred L. Dodge, 23d U. S. Infantry, was on detached service at Fort Leavenworth, Kansas, last week, as one of a board to examine applicants for superintendencies of national cemetery.

The figure-head of the new ship Paul Jones is in place. It is a full length figure of the great naval hero whose name the vessel bears, and is a very handsome piece of work, though we cannot say whether or no it is a good likeness of the old sailor.

Mr. John Caswell has recently put up, on Noble's Island, flakes for drying fish. Thirty years or so ago that island was a noted place for fish curing, and many a "pinky" discharged there her scaly load; but for many years past the only traces of the once large business done there have been the tumble-down wharves and fish houses.

Mrs. Thomas B. Laighton, who has lived so long at Appledore, is to spend the winter in Portsmouth. Mrs. Laighton, her sons, and Mrs. Thaxter, have rented the house on State street recently vacated by the family of the late Pay Director A. E. Watson, of the United States Navy, and Mrs. Laighton will have the benefit of constant medical attendance and other conveniences which in a rough winter are less likely to be available by a person at the Isles of Shoals.

Paymaster Ambrose J. Clark, U. S. N., now on duty at the Brooklyn navy yard, is paying a visit to his friend Paymaster Guild, in this city.

We notice that the sale of the ship Yo Semite, of this port, now at San Francisco, has been consummated at $39,500. Samuel Blair is the purchaser. The ship was built here in 1867, and registers 1154 tons. Her owners were Capt. John S. Pray, William Simes, William D. Fernald, Stephen Tobey, Daniel Littlefield, Thomas E. Call, John T. French, Wm. R. Preston, Jos. Hiller Foster and others of this city, and Capt. Andrew Mack and others of Kennebunk, Me. The Yo Semite is a fine ship, and the San Francisco papers say she is in perfect order and will be used as a coal carrier. She was built by Tobey & Littlefield, a former firm that did much to add to the celebrity of Portsmouth as a ship-building place, and never launched a poor vessel.

The Probate Court will be in session in this city to-day.

"Autumn leaves" have arrived, and got stuck all over some of the early-changing trees about the city. A light frost was reported one night last week, and some of the trees look as though it had touched them.

Pay Director George F. Cutter, U. S. N., is on a visit to his friends in this city.

Mr. Chas. A. Lee, of our namesake the Gazette and Chronicle of Pawtucket, R. I., who participated in the N. H. Press Excursion, has taken another cruise, this time out West. If a man who publishes a newspaper is able to indulge in such frequent excursions, he ought to be considerate enough of those of the craft who can't get away to abstain from sending them his three column recitals of a trip across the Alleghanies. But we suppose a man who lives in Rhode Island must gush occasionally when he crosses the line and sees other States of larger dominion.

On Monday morning the seven o'clock train from Dover ran into a freight car near the Green street crossing in this city, the engine's head light being smashed and the car thrown from the track by the collision. A misplaced switch caused the accident.

The steamer Major arrived home from her Sunday trip to Boston at about eight o'clock on Sabbath evening. She didn't reach Boston at all, the very heavy sea making all her passengers seasick and driving her for refuge into Gloucester harbor, where also the big steamer Katahdin went with her. Shoals-bound passengers from Boston, they too being seasick and not caring to complete their intended trip. The Katahdin's passengers on Monday were hunting all over Boston for the agent who the week before announced in his advertisement of the trip that "Eurocldon has not yet blown one angry blast," and that "if the rippling billows away from the shore lift up their voice, its tone is as soft and low as the music of waving pines." They wanted to give him Eurocldon and things, and let him know just how the "rippling billows away from the shore lifted up their voice" and made things lively for the floating public.

On Saturday two young men from Stratham started out of this port in the boat "Sea Lark," intending to go to Bangor, but on reaching the outer harbor the craft was upset, washed ashore and badly stove up. The men were picked up by members of the Portsmouth City Guards, who are in camp on Newcastle beach, and were well cared for.

John Leahy, who was reported as missing by the CHRONICLE of Monday, is said by the Times to be finishing off a "bust" in Newburyport.

The Kearsarge Mill was started up on Monday.

A large Newfoundland dog belonging to Mr. Thomas E. Call, Jr., bit Mr. Call's sister slightly on Saturday, and Mr. Call deemed it his duty to have him shot, as the dog had shown signs of being cross and he did not wish any one else to suffer from him, although he was a very valuable animal. He was killed on Monday.

Steamer Major made her last trip for the season Monday evening, as the Oceanic has closed. The Major goes to Boston from Star Island at 10 o'clock this morning.

The Granite State club went to Rye Beach Monday, and had things their own way in a game with the Rye club defeating them by a score of 32 to 6. The playing of the Portsmouth nine was good, the pitching of Buckley being very effective, also the playing of Whittem at third base, he making one of the best catches of the game. The Granite State nine is now a very strong team and with a little practice would make warm work for any amateur club.

Those of our readers who desire to hear the eloquent and witty Carswell must embrace the opportunity afforded by the Reform Club's meeting at Franklin Hall this evening. His engagements are such that he cannot possibly remain and speak Wednesday evening as advertised. The demand for his services are so great that he cannot fill all the calls made on him; he is already booked to speak in this State every night until the second week in October. His greatest lecture will be given this evening, on "Fashion, Avarice and Appetite." All who would enjoy an evening's entertainment should certainly hear Carswell.

The vote of Kittery for governor, on Monday, was as follows: Connor 328; Williams 136; republican majority, 192,—a considerable falling off from last year. The vote of York was: Connor 202; Williams 149; rest of ticket same vote.

We have received No. Two of Vol. One of The National Guardsman, a monthly journal issued in New York city in the interests of the National Guard of the United States. Its aim is to help make the National Guard all it should be and may be; it is an ably edited journal, and should be found at the armory of every company of State militia in the land. Subscription price, $1 per year.

SALE OF THE WRECK.

Steamer Clara Batemen took down quite a number of persons to the wreck of the brig Clara J. Adams on Monday, to attend the sale of the wreck and gear, and that portion of her cargo of coal remaining on board. There were about thirty boats alongside the brig, and a goodly attendance of people on board, including gentlemen from Boston, Portland, etc.

The first lot offered for sale was the coal, which after some competition was knocked down to John E. Locke for $115. The hull and lower masts were then sold for $325, the purchaser being Mr. Dewey, of the firm of J. S. Winslow & Co., of Portland. Other articles were sold as follows: wire rigging, $35; chains and anchors, $220; water casks, $27; topmasts, topgallantmasts and main boom, $35; the running rigging developed quite a lively competition, and brought $150; while the sails were sold at $305; two boats aggregated $47.50. The sale of vessel and tackle realized $1144.50, and the whole lot (excepting the two boats) was purchased by Mr. Dewey.

The brig when she went on the rocks was valued at $14,000, she having cost $32,000 to build about seven years ago. She had not a full cargo of coal on board, and took the freight simply to help out her homeward trip by carrying a cargo part of the way. She was on her way to Lubec to load deals for Europe, she having always until this unlucky trip been engaged on deep water voyages. She has not changed her position since the Monday after she went ashore, shows no material signs of weakening, and can probably be floated off without great difficulty after the coal is taken out of her.

RYE LETTER.

RYE, Sept. 10th.

The season at the beach is over; and the money made, if applied to building plank sidewalks and putting up street lamps, would not make much of a show. If any one doubts this assertion, there is no law to prevent the building of the sidewalks or the erecting of the lamp posts, by the parties who have made the money to do it with, if they choose so to invest their profits.

Rev. Mr. Angier, of Ipswich, supplied the pulpit of the Congregational church during the month of August; but for the past two Sundays there has been no service in that church, and there seems to be no prospect, at present, of any settled minister there. At the Christian church, a praise meeting on Sunday evening, 9th inst., was an occasion of some interest and was well attended. It is proposed to have a praise meeting some evening soon, at North Hampton, in which the prominent singers in this town are invited to take a part.

The Cornet Band have appeared in full uniform, in public, several times during the past few weeks, and it is evident to the most casual observer that they have made rapid improvement under the instruction of Mr. Harlow. He had them out on the "training field" last Friday, drilling them in marching, and doing the dress parade; and if daylight couldn't be discerned through their legs, on their first attempt at playing a slow march, it's no reason why they can't keep step after a little more practice. They play for the Portsmouth Veteran Artillery Association on Tuesday, and go to Stratham Hill with the Christian Sabbath School on Wednesday.

The farmers are busily engaged in securing a good second crop of hay, cutting their corn stalks, digging potatoes, and hauling sea weed. The crop of potatoes is fair, and no rot reported. The drought affected corn somewhat, but there is an average crop. There will also be quite a yield of apples, some orchards which never would produce an apple before, having done well this year. Does anybody propose to have a big, old-fashioned husking, this fall? NAT.

POLICE COURT.

Monday, September 10th.

William Keefe, for a breach of the Sunday law, was fined $10, costs $6.90, the evidence showing that he sold liquor on Sunday.

Harry Lombard was complained of for the same offence; but the defence showing that he did not sell anything, but merely invited in a couple of old army friends and treated them to cigars, and he agreeing to keep his saloon closed altogether on Sunday in the future, the case was placed on file.

Barney McKone, for a criminal assault on Martha Brooks, (colored,) was bound over in three hundred dollars to answer to the charge at the October term of the Supreme Court.

AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL,

For Diseases of the Throat and Lungs, such as Coughs, Colds, Whooping Cough, Bronchitis, Asthma and Consumption.

The few compositions, which have won the confidence of mankind, and become household words, among not only one but many nations, must have extraordinary virtues. Perhaps no one ever secured so wide a reputation, or maintained it so long as

Ayer's Cherry Pectoral.

It has been known to the public about forty years, by a long continued series of marvellous cures, that have won for it a confidence in its virtues, never equalled by any other medicine. It still makes the most efficient cure of Coughs, Colds, Consumption, that can be made by medical skill. Indeed, the CHERRY PECTORAL has really robbed these dangerous diseases of their terrors, to a great extent, and given a feeling of immunity from their fatal effects, that is well founded if the remedy be taken in season. Every family should have it in their closet for the ready and prompt relief of its members. Sickness, and even life, is saved by this timely protection. The prudent should not neglect it, and the wise will not. Keep it by you for the protection it affords by its timely use in sudden attacks.

Daily Chronicle.

"The Thinking Bayonet."

It is a pretty phrase—the "thinking bayonet." There is a captivating jingle about it which charms the ear like a well-rounded period. There is something inspiring about it, too; something that sets the blood tingling, stirs up martial enthusiasm, and tends to make one ponder on the triumphs of mind over matter. But there is such a thing as tiring even of the delights of life; the choicest of delicacies pall upon a cloyed appetite, and the voice of the charmer, charm he never so sweetly, lures us no more beyond satiety. "Let us stop to consider for a moment. There were "thinking bayonets" in New York, and "it was a glorious victory." So, too, there were "thinking bayonets" in Pennsylvania, and it was a shameful defeat. How much fortune had to do with either case need not here be discussed. In the one the bayonet thought, "I am under competent leadership; I have confidence in my commanders; whatever they direct, I will obey; I am on duty; all that is required of me is that I shall execute the orders I receive." In the other the bayonet thought the reverse of this, and with results which are only too painfully recalled. All of which goes to prove that the bayonet will think just what it is taught to think—no more, no less.

Let it not for an instant be supposed that we are disbelievers in the strength which educated intelligence in the ranks imparts. The higher that intelligence the more invincible the army—if properly guided and directed.

The point which we would make is this—that the reliance upon the "thinking bayonet" is misplaced, if that reliance is not supported by competency and efficiency on the part of those in command. The weakness of the National Guard does not lie in the rank and file, but is too often to be met with in the line, the staff, and even in the field. This granted, the rank and file should realize that they have an important work to perform in the upbuilding and strengthening of the National Guard; and since it is through their votes that company officers are created, let them bestow their suffrages carefully, conscientiously, wisely and well. Here, in the privilege of selection which is conferred upon the citizen soldiery, is the highest field for display of the best attributes of the "thinking bayonet."—National Guardsman.

Centaur Liniments.

One thing is now thoroughly established. Never since man suffered and human agencies alleviated pain has there been any thing which went so far as a pain annihilator and curative agent as the Centaur Liniments. These Liniments have within the past year cured more cases of Rheumatism, Neuralgia, Stiff Joints, Caked Breasts, Swellings, Poisonous Bites, Burns, Lame Animals, etc., etc., than all other remedies combined. As the name of Centaur implies half horse and half man, the Centaur Liniments are for man and beast. But not the same Liniment. The White Liniment is for man and the Yellow for horses and animals. Herein this Liniment differs from all other remedies, although some of the ingredients are alike in each. They contain the well-known Witch Hazel, Arnica, Carbolic, Rock Oil, Mentha and other powerful ingredients.

Wm. H. Hickcox, Rector of St. John's E. Church, Wakefield, Clay Co., Kansas, writes: "Many years I have been suffering from a Weak Back, caused from a sprain more than 40 years ago. I have not found any thing to relieve me until I commenced the use of Centaur Liniment. I feel it my Christian duty to inform you that by its wonderful effects I am entirely relieved of pain. January 22d, 1876."

Messrs. J. McClure & Co., Druggists, Cincinnati, Ohio, say:

"Teamsters pronounce the Yellow Centaur Liniment superior to any thing they have ever used. We sell several dozen bottles per month, and the sale is steadily increasing."

These are only samples of thousands upon thousands of similar testimonials reaching us every month. All the Extracts, Embrocations, Salves and Ointments in existence are not doing one-tenth the good which is done by these admirable Centaur Liniments. For Frost-bites, Stings, Cuts, Itch, Salt Rheum, etc., there is nothing like the Centaur Liniment, White Wrapper. For Spavin, Ring-bone, Sweeney, Wind-Galls, Poll-evil, Scratches, etc., on horses, the Yellow Centaur Liniment is equally as good. They are certain in their effects; they are pleasant to use, they are handy and they are cheap. No family should be without Centaur Liniments. They are worth one hundred times their cost.

J. B. ROSE & CO., 46 DEY ST., NEW YORK.

Castoria.

Mothers may have rest and their babies may have health, if they will use Dr. Pitcher's Castoria for Wind Colic, Worms, Feverishness, Sour Mouth, Croup, or Stomach Complaints. It is entirely a vegetable preparation, and contains neither mineral, morphine, nor alcohol. It is as pleasant to take as honey, neither gags nor gripes, and is superior to any remedy in existence.

Dr. E. Dimoch, of Dupont, Ohio, says:

"I am using CASTORIA in my practice with the most signal benefits and happy results, and find it a perfect substitute for Castor Oil."

This is what every one says. Many nurses in New York use the CASTORIA. It is prepared by Messrs. J. B. ROSE & CO., successors to Samuel Pitcher, M. D. tnov1

The Centaur Liniments have created a revolution in remedies for Rheumatism, Strains, Swellings, Pains, Burns, Scalds, Stings, etc. The White Liniment is for the human family, and the Yellow Liniment is for horses. They are certain, handy and cheap.

Castoria is certain to operate. It does not nauseate or gripe like Castor Oil, but is pleasant to take, digests the food, regulates the bowels, cures wind colic, expels worms, and causes natural sleep. It is equally adapted to adults and infants. It contains neither Mineral, Morphine nor Alcohol. Children teething may have health, and mothers find rest, if they use Castoria. tnov1

They strike at once at the seat of disease and show their healing power almost immediately. Thousands of voluntary testimonials of their merits have been received by the agent, from those who have been cured by them, of which the following are samples:

Dyspepsia Four Years, Constipation and Inflammation of the Bowels Three Years, Confined to my Room Two Years, Pain so I Could Not Sleep Without Morphine. One Package of Dr. Quain's Conditior Pills Made Me Eat Well, Sleep Well and Free from Pain, after being given up by Physicians.

WEST LEBANON, ME., Feb. 22, 1

MR. THOMAS W. LANE:—I have been sick for 2 years with Dyspepsia, and for the past three years Constipation and Inflammation of the Bowels, have suffered all the pain I could endure and live, have been confined to my room for two years, and could not sleep nights without the use of morphine. I have been given up by physicians as past cure. I have taken one package of DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS, and they have done me more good than all the doctors I have had. I sleep well, I eat well and have no pain. They are all they are recommended to be. Please send me three packages, as two of my neighbors wish to try them. I enclose $1.50.

Your truly, JOHN W. LORD.

Another Letter from May. John W. Lord, one month later Wonderful Cures by Dr. Quain's Pills Affected in Him in Thirteen Days. First time Free from Pain for Three Years.

WEST LEBANON, ME., March 22, 1875.

MR. THOMAS W. LANE:—I commenced taking DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS February 9th, and wrote you February 22d of their wonderful effect. I have continued to improve ever since. My appetite is good, and I sleep as well as I ever did in my life. I am free from pain for the first time in three years. When I was taken down I weighed 120 pounds; I now weigh one hundred and eighty-six pounds; I now weigh one hundred and thirty, but, as I am gaining in strength, I have faith I shall regain my flesh this summer, by the use of the Pills. I shal continue taking them for the time to come.

Yours truly, JOHN W. LORD.

Dr. Quain's Pills the Remedy for Soldiers' Aches and Pains.

WEST LEBANON, ME., June 1, 1875.

MR. THOMAS W. LANE—Dear Sir:—I am now able to walk out every day, and am gaining in strength very fast, all of which is due to you as agent for the best Pills in the world. I have taken no other medicine, and my improvement has been steady since first taking DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS. They have done everything for me, and I will say to you, advertise them direct to the soldiers, for they will certainly cure them of aches and pains caused from exposure and hardship on the field. Please send me by return mail another package.

JOHN W. LORD.

Rheumatism for Twenty Years Cured by One Package of Dr. Quain's Condition Pills—"The Best Medicine in the World."

EAST ANDOVER, N. H., Dec. 10, 1875.

MR. LANE—Dear Sir:—As I know the value of DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS and the good they have done me, I feel bound in giving them my testimony, so I send you another testimonial. My father has been troubled with Rheumatism for twenty years or more, and has tried everything that could be thought of, but to no good. At times it would be so bad that he could not bit his hand to his head or do any work at all, especially in cold weather. A short time ago I advised him to get some of these Pills. He believed nothing of them, but I gave him the last package I had of you, as I did not need them, and he has not been as free from the Rheumatic Complaint for years. No Rheumatism, no pain. What helped him? It was DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS, the best medicine in the world. There is nothing like them. I know it, for I have tried them, and they are all, yes, more than they are recommended to be. Give them a fair trial and you will say so. I write this because I know the goodness of them and wish others to know the same. Some may think I am telling a big story. I am. But remember I am not giving them half the praise they ought to have.

Yours with respect, ED. F. PEVARE.

DAINGERFIELD, MORRIS CO., TEXAS, Nov. 15, 75.

MR. THOMAS W. LANE—Dear Sir:—I have been afflicted for near twelve years with Neuralgia in the face and head. I tried I do not know how many physicians, and could only get partly relieved. I also tried patent medicines but without the same result. I have been confined to my room most all the time for eight or ten winters, and have been traveling and visiting medical springs, but I still suffered most intensely. The physicians pronounced my case the worst and most stubborn that they had had anything to do with. One told me I could never get well; they all advised me to go South and spend the winter, and thought that was the only chance for me, and I was trying to get ready to go to Florida, when through the kindness of Rev. H. M. Mathis, my attention was called to the advertisement of Dr. Quain's Magic Condition Pills. I immediately sent to you for a package. I have taken four doses and I am almost free from pain. The impression here seems to be that if your pills will cure me, they will cure anybody. I have five applications to send for the pills. Enclosed please find three dollars; send five packages to me and one to Mrs. Laura Sherrel, Sulphur Springs, Hopkins county, Texas.

Yours truly, J. S. PATTON!

Liver Complaint, Nervousness, Dropsy and Headache.

LACONIA, N. H., Jan. 29, 1875.

THOS. W. LANE—Sir:—I have been troubled with Bad Blood, Liver Complaint, Nervousness, Dropsy and Headache. I have taken one package of DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS. They have done me more good than all the medicine I ever took; I have taken considerable medicine within the last five years. For the nerves I think there is nothing so good as those pills. I can recommend them to all who are similarly afflicted, they have done me so much good. I think they will recommend themselves wherever they go. I shall recommend those Pills to all who need them. Please send me two packages more, one for myself and one for a lady friend of mine. Many thanks to the inventor, agent and advertiser of those Pills.

PULMOCINE.

BUCHMAN'S PULMOCINE CORDIAL

Is the ultima thule of Medical Discovery.

Among its many ingredients are Wild Cherry Bark, Squill Root, Liquorice Root, Blood root, &c. It is a Blood Purifier, gently stimulating. It increases expectoration and is diuretic. It is sudorific and alterative. It is a necessary family medicine. It is a Tonic and a powerful aid to the digestive organs. It is a gentle sedative, and relieves nervousness. It is aromatic and agreeable to the taste.

CLEAR YOUR THROAT!

Relieve Your Lungs.

PULMOCINE CORDIAL

Is a speedy and reliable Preventive and Remedy. Every Family should have a bottle at hand to check the sudden growth of all Pulmonary Diseases. For the Asthma, Coughs, Croups, Laryngitis, or inflammation of the larynx, Diphtheria, and all kindred Throat Diseases at all times prevalent, it is the ounce of Prevention. Children attacked with Whooping Cough or Croup should be immediately cared for. These painful attacks come with scarcely a moment's warning, when a physician may be out of immediate each. A dose of PULMOCINE CORDIAL gives speedy relief, and the little ones are spared hours of pain and agony. As "a stitch in time saves nine," so does the possession of this Family Medicine prevent the spread of disease. Parents seeing their children gasping with pain, friends and relatives beholding each other in peril from suffocation by the choking pain in the throat, paralyzed with fear and not knowing the best course to pursue, are liable to apply the wrong remedial agents. There is no safety in delay, no time to waste in such cases. CONSUMPTION, that fearful scourge of the human race, lies at the door of all thus afflicted. BUCHMAN'S PULMOCINE CORDIAL arrests it (unless in its advanced stage at which time there is no local cure) relieves the pressing, suffocating feeling at the lungs, and patient's danger is past.

For Coughs,

Croup,

Diphtheria,

Asthma, etc.,

USE

Buchman's Pulmocine Cordial.

The Pulmocine Cordial is not a quack medicine, is not an experiment, is not composed of any ingredients "discovered" by "walking in pastures" in South America or anywhere else, nor by one who discovered a weed and thereby cured himself. Most of the ingredients are such as our best educated physicians daily use for the complaints specified in some form or other. The recipe is that perfected by one of New England's most learned and famous physicians, who used it entirely in his daily practice until his death. It is offered to the profession and to the public, absolutely pure and unadulterated.

AYER'S SARSAPARILLA,
For Purifying the Blood.

This compound of the vegetable alteratives, Sarsaparilla, Dock, Stillingia, and Mandrake with the Iodides of Potash and Iron, makes a most effectual cure of a series of complaints which are very prevalent and afflicting. It purifies the blood, purges out the lurking humors in the system, that undermine health and settle into troublesome disorders.

Eruptions of the skin are the appearance on the surface of humors that should be expelled from the blood. Internal derangements are the determination of these same humors to some internal organ, or organs, whose action they derange, and whose substance they disease and destroy. AYER'S SARSAPARILLA expels these humors from the blood. When they are once out of the system they produce disease, such as Ulcerations of the Liver, Stomach, Kidneys, Lungs, Eruptions and Eruptive Diseases of the Skin, St. Anthony's Fire, Tetter or Erysipelas, Pimples, Pustules, Blotches, Boils, Tumors, Tetter and Salt Rheum, Scald Head, Female Weakness, Sterility, Leucorrhœa arising from internal ulceration and uterine diseases, Dropsy, Dyspepsia, Emaciation and General Debility. With their departure health returns.

Talk with an Undertaker.

"How do the dull times affect your business?" we inquired of a leading undertaker of this city; "do people economise in funeral expenses?"

"No," he said, "they are as lavish as ever in their orders, but save in not paying their bills." He had never known a time, he said, when it was so difficult to collect money for his services in burying people, yet there was no apparent effort to render funerals less expensive than formerly. He could, if he was a mind to, specify many cases where the family indulged in the most expensive trappings of woe, while the undertaker was destined to be the genuine mourner after all—mourning for the pay he couldn't get.

"Ever attend funerals?" asked our friend the undertaker.

We answered that we did attend occasionally.

"Ever hear the minister mention the undertaker in his sermon or prayer?"

We couldn't remember that we ever had.

"No, they don't do it. They talk about nearly everybody else, but they haven't a word for the man who does more than all the rest—unless we except the doctor—towards preparing the chief figure in the funeral for the solemn occasion. Reporters, too, ignore us altogether. They report the sermon, in full sometimes; they tell who furnished the flowers, and give the names of the bearers, sometimes describe how the mourners were dressed, but not a line does the undertaker get."

"I never thought of that before," we said, "but it does seem as though you were somewhat slighted."

"Slighted! I should say so. After a man has done a neat job, superintended every thing, and carried the whole thing through without a break or flaw, it does seem as though he was entitled to a few words of commendation. I remember one minister who appeared to have some consideration for the undertaker, and I have since thought he must have been in the business himself once. It was during the cholera season; we were overrun with business, and while some clergymen would keep a funeral running two hours, in a close room, like as not crowded with weeping relatives who were in danger of catching the epidemic—and I awaiting outside to finish the job, this minister of whom I am speaking would hurry the business up just as though I had winked at him to 'cut it short,' which I never did, though, upon my word. But that man had some sense. He seemed to realize that time was very precious with me, as business was so brisk, so he just spoke a few words about the merits of the deceased, kind of encouraged the mourners and closed with a brief prayer in which he mentioned the undertaker in a complimentary manner, and expressed a hope that he might have strength to meet the large demands upon him. Then the bearers were called in and we were off in a jiffy. It was a real pleasure to manage a funeral in connection with that man. But I have never met one like him since."

A Bad Bargain.

Last Thursday morning a raffle was made up by some of the citizens of Paris for a box of five hundred cigars. There were twenty-five chances at one dollar a chance. The plan was that known as the shot-gun plan, in which each man taking a chance puts his mark on the blank paper surrounding a target. The target is placed on a pivot and whirled, and while thus whirling is fired at with a gun loaded with a small shot. The man whose mark comes nearest being hit takes the prize. In this case George Leflis took a chance, but would not put down his mark until all the other marks had been placed around the target. He then went to each of the raffleers and said:—"You and I have each got a chance in this cigar raffle; let us go in 'cahoot'—if you get them divide with me, and if I get them I'll divide with you." This arrangement he made with eighteen of the chance holders, telling each to keep their partnership a secret. To prevent any possibility, as he though, of winning the cigars himself, he made his mark as far from the target as the paper would allow. He then felt sure of half the cigars, and already, in imagination, was puffing the fragrant weed, and laughing in his sleeve over the sharp trick and excellent joke he had played the "other boys." But, alas! the' joke was soon turned, and visions of a cob pipe floated before his astonished eyes. The gun was fired, and a stray shot knocked the centre out of George's mark. Eighteen men stepped up and said, "I'll take my half now." Leflis thus found himself booked for $300 worth of cigars. He compromised, however, after some wrangling, by dividing the cigars equally among his partners.—Paris ((Tenn.,) Intelligencer.

The Eastern War.

The latest despatches from the battle ground at Plevna reports that the Russians are slowly and surely encircling Plevna. The Czar, Grand Duke and Prince Charles are on the battle-field, directing operations. The Turks are reported to be in a strong position at Gavitza.

Washington Correspondence.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Sept. 10th.

It is felt that we have made very little progress in the science of government if we are unable to enact and execute laws that will adequately punish the unconscionable swindlers and thieves who have manipulated Life Insurance matters in this county during the past quarter of a century, and deter others from crimes that have brought the whole business into disrepute, and which bid fair to wholly ruin the few honestly conducted companies, through loss of confidence. Among all the revelations of iniquity in business circles brought to light by the stringency of the past four years, life insurance, as conducted in the United States, presents the most stupendous system of robbery and thinly disguised fraud. The facts reflect little credit upon our State and National Legislators. Of the millions paid in by people of moderate or very limited means, with the comforting reflection that in case of sudden death they would leave dependent families measureably provided for, all but a small fraction appears to have been squandered upon fast women, fast horses and riotous living, and utterly swallowed up by the thousand and one forms of dissipation to which the scoundrelly officials who handled the funds were addicted, leaving to the defrauded only the memory of good intentions as an offset for their pinching economy and self denial. At a meeting here for the formation of a "Policy Holders' Protective Association," the most exasperating instances of the outrageous frauds and swindling practiced by these legalized thieves "whose eyes stand out with fatness" were given, speaking volumes for the forbearance of the insured when the provocation was so great to wreak vengeance upon the vampires who have sucked them bloodless; and now comes the rumor that several of our District companies are about to take advantage of bankruptcy.

From what is heard at the resort of democratic politicians it seems that the hope is cherished of their ability to capture the organization of the Senate at the opening of the extra session. Senator Morton's inability to be present is counted upon, and Dr. Bliss is cited as authority for the statement that he cannot participate without great danger of a relapse that would almost certainly prove fatal. The resentment of Patterson and Spencer toward the Administration is counted upon with a good deal of certainty, and they affect to believe they can offer Conover such terms as will incline him to fall in with their overtures, in view of the almost hopelessly prostrate condition of his party south of the Mason and Dixon line.

The harmony so noticeable in the Pennsylvania Republican Convention relative to State affairs; its outspoken declarations upon all matters of public interest; its refusal to coquette with the mob spirit, in such marked contrast to the work of their demagogue leaders, and above all, its wise attitude toward the Administration have led the democrats to discount very heavily on the hopes entertained of Pennsylvania only a few days ago.

Hon. Kenneth Rayner, Solicitor of the Treasury, voluntarily surrendered himself to the officers of the Police Court, plead guilty of a technical assault, and was fined $20 for the fun of getting his eyes draped in mourning and being pitched down a flight of stone steps into the street, by the editor of the Republican, in an encounter with him last Monday. Very few approve the attempt of Mr. Rayner to revive a method of adjusting private quarrels by a mode that became obsolete with the ending of Buchanan's Administration; and those justifying the personalities resorted to by the Republican in order to vent the editor's spite against an official are still fewer in number.

Justice Bradley has attached more importance to the malicious utterances of the Sun than almost any one else; and has thought it worth his while to review and emphatically deny the charges of that sheet to the effect that he, at one time, wrote out and read an opinion favorable to Tilden's Presidential aspirations, to Justice Field. That gentleman denied it, but Dana with his usual disregard of facts, reiterated the charges with more explicitness still, until Mr. Bradley felt he was called on to add his own denial. KNOX.

New Hampshire Items.

Bean and McNulty, two Boston sharpers, snatched $40 from a boy named Clement, from Tamworth, on Market street in Great Falls on Saturday, while learning him a trick. On Monday they were committed to Dover jail to await trial in default of $3000 bail. They had a valise full of swindling games and devices to use at the County fair at Great Falls this week. Clement got most of his money back.

The Twelfth Regiment, New Hampshire Volunteers, held a reunion at Bristol on Friday. The exercises included a procession, banquet and speeches by many distinguished men. In the evening a social entertainment was held in the Town Hall. During the firing of the salute one of the guns, a large 24-pounder, burst, but no one was injured.

The house and two barns containing this season's crops belonging to Adolphus Booth and situated one mile north of Walpole Village, were burned on Sunday evening. Part of the household furniture was saved. Loss $5000; insurance $1100. Supposed to have been set by a tramp.

The hotel stable at the Morton House at Salmon Falls, was burned Monday morning, with its contents. Loss, $2000; insured.

There was a small fire in Catharine Dolloff's French hotel in Nashua, Monday; damage $500; insured.

The contemptible college custom of "hazing" has been finally given up by the students of Dartmouth.

George Thompson, a drover, whose residence is in Manchester and doing business at Warren Summit, struck his head against the bridge over the highway at Lake Village, Monday evening, while standing on a cattle train. He was caught by the conductor, who held him on the train till it arrived at Laconia, in an insensible condition. He recovered consciousness, but the result is uncertain.

The house of Wm. H. Allison in Concord was entered and ransacked by burglars Sunday night, and a sum of money stolen.

News and Notes.

Rev. Patrick Leonard, pastor of St. Joseph's Roman Catholic Church in Newark, N. J., last Sunday denounced the public schools from his altar and threatened parents who send children to them, and boasted of the political influence of the priesthood.

Wilson Shannon was a name very prominent in the days of the anti-slavery agitation in Kansas. He was Pierce's Governor of that territory during the turbulent and disgraceful scenes that were enacted preliminary to the adoption of the State constitution. He was a man of great ability and promise, but he went down amid the wreck of blighted hopes in which subserviency to the slave power engulfed so many men. Shannon was twice Governor of Ohio, defeating Tom Corwin in 1842 by 4,000 majority. Tyler sent him Minister to Mexico, and in 1853 he represented the Seventeenth Ohio District in Congress—voting for the infamous Nebraska bill. After his attempt to fasten slavery upon Kansas, he retired from public life, and during the past twenty years he has lived in seclusion at Lawrence, in that State, where he recently died.

Thomas F. Curley, nineteen years old, was hanged in the jail at Norristown, Pa., on Monday, for the murder of Mary Ann Whateley. The murder was a most brutal one, and the world is well rid of a monster who was almost a tenth part as hideous as the Pomeroy devil that Massachusetts is saving up with such care.

Seven deaths from yellow fever have occurred at Fernandina, Florida.

The Mexican government has sent 1500 regular troops to the Texas frontier, to enforce the laws and prevent marauding. The local Mexican troops, being in sympathy with the raiders, cannot be relied on to prevent such outrages as they have for years committed.

Sitting Bull is still in Canada, and means to stay there. All right; nobody wants him this side of the line.

Senator Morton has had a relapse.

Three leading citizens of Freeport, Ill., two of them being the proprietors of the local gas works and the third President of Illinois College, have been indicted for burning a watch factory in which they were interested, to get the insurance.

Maine Election.

The election in Maine, Monday, called out but a very light vote. Gov. Connor is re-elected by 6000 to 8000 majority. The greenback ticket polled about 3000 votes, and Marcellus Emery's revolt against the democratic candidate made more difference than it was thought it would. Senator Blaine, following his custom of many years past, sent to Washington on Monday evening a comprehensive statement of the result of the election, directed to "Secretary McCormick of the National Republican Committee." The Senate will stand 29 republican, two democrats; House two-thirds republican. There was little interest taken in the election, either in the State or outside of it.

An American Poetess Abroad.

Mrs. Estelle Anna Lewis, it is not too much to say the ablest of our native lady writer, in verse, formerly of Brooklyn, N. Y., but in more recent years a resident in Europe, has recently added much to her fame as a poetess in the production of a five-act tragedy, entitled "Sappho," which has already passed through three editions in London. The following extracts will give an idea of its merits;

"Remember Sappho lived in other times,
When Jove rewarded virtue, punished crimes:
When woman had no friend to take her part,
And calm the troubled waters of her heart,
To lend a patient ear to all her woe.
If wrong assail you, now to Christ ye go;
Who turns you not away on say grounds,
But pours the balm of Gilyead on your wounds."

The above is from the prologue; the following from the tragedy:

"The sweetest wine that Hebe ever poured,
To please the palates of Olympian gods,
The balmy, breathing incense of thy smile—
The inebriating music of thy voice.
I only ask to sit and look at thee,
And dream of love, and love's divinity,
Till envy, wrong, dissension, strife depart,
And leave the sweet millenium of the heart."

It is not a little to win the note it has in the literary world in these later days and beneath foreign skies, when the work is a tragedy, and the scene is laid in the far-off past. Before her leaving for abroad, the Appletons of New York published an elegant edition, in blue and gold, of her earlier writings, and to these she has since added others, published in London, of even higher merit. A Just Judge.

Judge Smith of New Orleans has recently delivered an extra-judicial, but seemingly righteous decision. James Cazentre, who has a wife and several children, courted Maggie Kern's younger sister, assuming the name of Joe Wagner, and representing himself as a single man. When the older sister heard that he was a married man, and was going about among his friends boasting of his new conquest, she lay in wait for him, threw lime or flour in his face, and then knocked him down. The gay deceiver applied for an order of arrest, but the Judge discharged the assailant with these words: "You have done just what you should do. As for this man, I have seen much of human nature, but never in my life have I seen so much meanness in so little of God's make. There is a man who assumes a name and represents himself as a single man, to make love to an unprotected young lady, and when her sister discovers that he is a fraud, she punishes him herself because she has no one to do it for her. He has the impudence to call in a court of justice, and asks for redress. I am sorry that the law does not permit me to punish him as he ought to be. If you had beat him more severely, he would have got just what he deserved."

—The question of the hour—What time is it?

—We are not the only people who have in hand a troublesome Chinese immigration question. The Chinese are flocking to Australia in such vast hordes that the colonists are alarmed. In Queensland they are present in such numbers that the head of the Government has addressed the Governors of other States asking for united action to check the inflow of the Mongolians. They are invaluable as workers, and there is not precisely such jealousy of them as is felt in California; but in Queensland they threaten to form a majority of the population, and much complaint is made of the vices they introduce. It is proposed now to impose a heavy poll tax upon them and to refuse to allow future immigrants to land unless they are accompanied by their wives.

Ayer's Hair Vigor,
FOR RESTORING GRAY HAIR
TO ITS NATURAL VITALITY AND COLOR.

Advancing years, sickness, care, disappointment, and hereditary predisposition, all turn the hair gray, and either of them incline it to shed prematurely.

AYER'S HAIR VIGOR, by long and extensive use, has proven that it stops the falling of the hair immediately; often restores the growth; and always surely restores its color, when faded or gray. It stimulates the nutritive organs to healthy activity, and preserves both the hair and its beauty. Thus brashy, weak or sickly hair becomes glossy, pliable and strengthened; lost hair regrows with lively expression; falling hair is checked and stabilished; thin hair thickens; and faded or gray hairs resume their original color. Its operation is sure and harmless. It cures dandruff, heals all humors, and keeps the scalp cool, clean and soft—under which conditions, diseases of the scalp are impossible.

As a dressing for ladies' hair, the VIGOR is praised for its grateful and agreeable perfume, and valued for the soft lustre and richness of tone it imparts.

THE YEAR'S BUSINESS.

The following table shows the amount of "business" transacted by the Police Court during the year from Sept. 7th, 1876, to Sept. 6th, 1877, both dates inclusive:

The various offenses the commission of which brought the actors before the Court, were as follows:

Drunks	133
Vagrants	80
Assaults	19
Brawl and Tumult	23
Larceny	14
Malicious mischief	10
Breaking and entering	10
Disorderly house	8

In addition to the criminal business, there were fifty-six civil cases entered during the same time.

PROBATE COURT.

Judge Leavitt held a term of the Probate Court in this city on Tuesday.

In the matter of the will of Mrs. Mary A. Dow, of Hampton Falls, presented for probate, a caveat was filed against the probate of the will, and it was continued.

Will of Joseph W. Seavey, of Rye, proved; E. J. Seavey, executor.

Howard L. Aiken, guardian, account settled.

W. Berry and others, of Rye, partition of real estate; order of acceptance vacated and report recommitted.

The business of the day was light.

PORTSMOUTH AND VICINITY.

Arrangements have been made by the Eastern Railroad by which all uniformed and organized bodies can go to Boston and back on the 17th inst., for fare one way.

The Clambake of the Veteran Artillery Association at Newcastle on Tuesday was a complete success. The Association did not muster in great force for the parade, though there were enough of the lazy old fellows around to have made a big show; but they were on hand for the clams, and the dancing too, and offered an example that the young fellows will find hard to beat.

The special Aldermanic Committee on the sanitary improvement of the North and South millponds have a meeting at the Common Council Rooms this (Wednesday) evening, and invite the attendance of citizens. See advertisement.

The Rockingham county representatives to the Great and General Court of the State of New Hampshire having been invited by the County Commissioners to attend the annual junket at the County Farm, several of the Portsmouth representatives went to Brentwood on Tuesday. This annual dinner is one of the recognized perquisites of a representative; whether or not the county reaps any benefit from the good time enjoyed we cannot say.

The Portsmouth Heavy Artillery expect to go to Salem for a two days' trip, in October, having received an invitation from the Salem Cadets, who were so handsomely entertained by the Heavies last year during their visit to this city.

Quite a number of operatives in the spinning room at the Kearsarge Mills are indignant and refuse to work, because of a reduction of wages. A large part of those in the room continue to work at the reduced rates.

The long easterly blow made the waves which dashed against the rock at Appledore, as the gushing Boston girl described it, "just too splendid for anything."

"Well I declare," exclaimed a lady from Barrington in the cars on the Dover Railroad, as they passed the Raynes ship-yard: "If there ain't the 'Nathan Jones!' La sakes, just because Frank has had a ship named for him, Nathan must go and do just like him." Aaron Young, who happened to be in the same car with his townswoman, explained that the ship she was viewing was called the "Paul Jones," not "Nathan." "Do tell," exclaimed the rural visitor; "they've got it all over Barrington it is the 'Nathan Jones;' come to think of it, that image [the figure-head] does not look as much like Nathan as it ought to if it was taken for him."

The "unsightly weeds" on the sidewalk in front of the High School disappeared on Tuesday.

There is a meeting called this evening at eight o'clock in the common council room, of those favoring an abatement of the fearful odor arising from the North and South mill ponds. The physicians are of the opinion that the unusual and fatal amount of sickness is owing in a great measure to the strong malaria coming from those places. We hope there will be a full meeting and that something decisive will be done in this matter.

Mr. Thomas H. Odion was badly hurt on Tuesday evening by a blow from a stone, thrown by some worthless scoundrel from beside the road at an excursion wagon returning from the Veterans' clambake, loaded with men and women. Mr. Odion's eye was badly injured. There is a good probability that the stone-thrower will find his way into the court.

Game is reported to be plenty on the seashore between York Nubble and Hampton Beach.

Col. Joseph P. Junkins, of York, lies in a very critical condition and his recovery is considered extremely doubtful.

Salisbury gathering takes place to-day.

THE PENSIONS.

And now the unpaid pensioners, who heretofore promptly on the fourth of the month were in receipt of their quarterly payments in this city, begin to wonder if Carl Shurz had any idea how long it would take before a man can receive his pension under such a foolish consolidation as the pension department in Maine and New Hampshire to-day shows. We hope every member of Congress of whatever political organization will move in the matter of righting the wrong, which has no pretence of economy, and is only a source of vexatious annoyance to the pensioner and of no sort of saving to the government.

PERILOUS ADVENTURE.

On Sunday while a party of ladies and gentlemen were watching the breakers at Appledore Island, one of their number, Mr. W. I. Butler of Boston, who was on a rock some distance from the others saw a sea heavier than any before coming toward him. He turned and retreated as fast as possible, but was overtaken by the wave before he could get sure footing and washed out to sea by the undertow, and brought back again by the next sea and dashed into a crevice in the rocks, where he was jammed and bruised, and sustained a severe fracture of the wrist. His wife, who was some distance off, saw the accident and supposed he was lost. He was found insensible and remembered nothing after seeing the wave until he came to his senses. He was carried to the Hotel and received the best of care from the Laighton brothers and others.

To Remove a Mote from the Eye.

Take a horsehair and double it, leaving a loop. If the mote can be seen, lay the loop over it, close the eye, and the mote will come out as the hair is withdrawn. If it cannot be seen, raise the lid of the eye as far as possible, and place the loop in it as far as you can, close the eye and roll the ball a few times, then draw out the hair. The substance which caused so much pain will be sure to come with it.

—Somebody says: "Every failure is a step to success." This will explain why the oftener some men fail the richer they become.

—When Ah Sin was asked what he thought of Schurz he answered, "Washee, washee."

—She saw the placard in front of the bookstore, "You can get that husband of mine for half a dollar," and, as she passed on, she muttered, "I have one I will sell for half that much."

—A Roman, who recently returned from Philadelphia, informs us that a Keeley motor consists of a pound of boarding-house butter shut up in an iron box. This statement will do much to restore confidence in the power of the motor.—Rome Sentinel.

—According to a curious story, the authority for which is not now accessible to us, M. Thiers was of New England ancestry. The story is that more than a century ago, when Newport had considerable commercial importance, a young man named Thayer went from that town to Marseilles as correspondent and agent of a mercantile house in the former place. Finding his residence there profitable and pleasant, he remained, married, and his descendants, of whom the deceased statesman is one, have retained his name in the Gallicised form which has become familiar to the world. Some of the New England Thayers firmly believe this story, and we understand, have some evidence to support it.—Worcester Spy.

Ayer's Cathartic Pills

For all the Purposes of a Family Physic,

CURING

Costiveness, Jaundice, Dyspepsia, Indigestion, Dysentery, Foul Stomach and Breath, Headache, Erysipelas, Piles, Rheumatism, Eruptions and Skin Diseases, Biliousness, Liver Complaint, Dropsy, Tetter, Tumors and Salt Rheum, Worms, Gout, Neuralgia, as a Dinner Pill, and Purifying the Blood, are the most congenial purgative yet perfected. Their effects abundantly show how much they excel other Pills. They are safe and pleasant to take, but powerful to cure. They purge out the foul humors of the blood; they stimulate the sluggish or disordered organs into action; and they impart health and tone to the whole being. They cure not only the every day complaints of every body, but formidable and dangerous diseases. Most skillful physicians, most eminent clergymen, and our best citizens, send certificates of cures performed, and of great benefits derived from these Pills. They are so skilful and so mild a physic for children, because mild as well as effectual. Being sugar coated, they are easy to take; and being purely vegetable, they are entirely harmless.

AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL,

For Diseases of the Throat and Lungs, such as Coughs, Colds, Whooping Cough, Bronchitis, Asthma and Consumption.

The few compositions, which have won the confidence of mankind and become household words, among not only one but many nations, must have extraordinary virtues. Perhaps no one ever secured so wide a reputation, or maintained it so long as Ayer's Cherry Pectoral. It has been known to the public about forty years, by a long continued series of marvellous cures, that have won for it a confidence in its virtues, never equalled by any other medicine. It still makes the most effectual cures of Coughs, Colds, Consumption, that can be made by medical skill. Indeed, the CHERRY PECTORAL has really rendered these dangerous diseases of their terrors, to a great extent, and given a feeling of immunity from their fatal effects, that is well founded if the remedy be taken in season. Every family should have it in their closet for the ready and prompt relief of its ailments. Sickness, suffering, and even life is saved by this timely protection. The prudent should not neglect it, and the wise will not. Keep it by you for the protection it affords by its timely use in sudden attacks.

Daily Chronicle.

—A Kentucky farmer says that three good bull-dogs roaming the yard at night will do more to keep a man honest than all the talking in the world.

—A philosophic Benedick says: "To be nagged at and blown up by a beautiful being of your own, who loves you all the while like apple-pie, and who you love like plum-pudding, is, to my idea, the happiest privilege of matrimony."

—A boy undertook to torture a wasp by touching a lighted match to its body. The wasp applied its warm side to the boy's hand, and as it flew away it gave the boy these words of wisdom: "Never try to beat a man at his own game."

—In Warren county, Tenn., last week, a sewing-machine agent named Frank Hewitt, was killed by a man named Moody, his brother-in-law. Moody heard a noise about his premises, and, arming with a shot-gun, discovered a man in an upstairs room with a light, and fired at him through a window, killing him instantly. It is not every man who has the luck to kill a worthless brother-in-law, a sewing-machine agent and a burglar at one shot.

—A man in Tennessee knelt down in church, at prayer. There was a protruding nail head in the floor. One of his knees fell upon it with the force of his weight, so that it was buried in the flesh. Within a week the man died of lock-jaw. A woman in Wales, in the habit of kneeling frequently at prayer, accidentally abraded one of her knees; and a sore, at first a pimple, but later a terrible and painful swelling, killed her within six weeks. It is unnecessary to call attention to the moral of these terrible warnings.

—Thad Stevens had a way of squelching an antagonist in debate that was wholly irresistible. Once, during the war, Roscoe Conkling, then a Representative in the House, was making an earnest appeal in favor of a bat contractor, who had asked Congress for relief of some kind, and he had just reached the end of one of his most eloquent sentences, in which he had spoken of the Star of Bethlehem, at which point Mr. Stevens begged permission to interrupt him. Mr. Conkling very graciously yielded, when Mr. Stevens said, "Mr. Speaker, I don't know anything about the Star of Bethlehem, but I do know that the fellow stole the hats." And that killed Mr. Conkling's bill.

Centaur Liniments.

One thing is now thoroughly established. Never since man suffered and human agencies alleviated pain has there been any thing which went so far as a pain annihilator and curative agent as the Centaur Liniments. These Liniments have within the past year cured more cases of Rheumatism, Neuralgia, Stiff-joints, Caked Breasts, Swellings, Poisonous Bites, Burns, Lame Animals, etc., etc., than all other remedies combined. As the name of Centaur implies half horse and half man, the Centaur Liniments are for man and beast. But not the same Liniment. The White Liniment is for man and the Yellow for horses and animals. Herein this Liniment differs from all other remedies, although some of the ingredients are alike in each. They contain the well-known Witch Hazel, Arnica, Carbolic, Rock Oil, Mentha and other powerful ingredients.

Wm. H. Hickox, Rector of St. John's E. Church, Wakefield, Clay Co., Kansas, writes: "Many years I have been suffering from a Weak Back, caused from a sprain more than 40 years ago. I have not found any thing to relieve me until I commenced the use of Centaur Liniment. I feel it my Christian duty to inform you that by its wonderful effects I am entirely relieved of pain. January 22d, 1876."

Messrs. J. McClure & Co., Druggists, Cincinnati, Ohio, say:

"Teamsters pronounce the Yellow Centaur Liniment superior to any thing they have ever used. We sell several dozen bottles per month, and the sale is steadily increasing."

These are only samples of thousands upon thousands of similar testimonials reaching us every month. All the Extracts, Embrocations, Salves and Ointments in existence are not doing one-tenth the good which is done by these admirable Centaur Liniments. For Frost-bites, Stings, Cuts, Itch, Salt Rheum, etc., there is nothing like the Centaur Liniment, White Wrapper. For Spavin, Ring-bone, Sweeney, Wind-Galls, Poll-evil, Scratches, etc., on horses, the Yellow Centaur Liniment is equally as good. They are certain in their effects; they are pleasant to use, they are handy and they are cheap. No family should be without Centaur Liniments. They are worth one hundred times their cost.

J. B. ROSE & CO., 46 Dey St., New York.

Castoria.

Mothers may have rest and their babies may have health, if they will use Dr. Pitcher's Castoria for Wind Colic, Worms, Feverishness, Sour Mouth, Croup, or Stomach Complaints. It is entirely a vegetable preparation, and contains neither mineral, morphine, nor alcohol. It is as pleasant to take as honey, neither gags nor gripes, and is superior to any remedy in existence.

Dr. E. Disnoch, of Dupont, Ohio, says:

"I am using Castoria in my practice with the most signal benefits and happy results, and find it a perfect substitute for Castor Oil."

This is what every one says. Many nurses in New York use the Castoria. It is prepared by Messrs. J. B. Rose & Co., successors to Samuel Pitcher, M. D. 1nov1

The Centaur Liniments have created a revolution in remedies for Rheumatism, Strains, Swellings, Pains, Burns, Scalds, Sprains, etc. The White Liniment is for the human family, and the Yellow Liniment is for horses. They are certain, handy and cheap.

Castoria is certain to operate. It does not nauseate or gripe like Castor Oil, but is pleasant to take, digests the food, regulates the bowels, cures wind colic, expels worms, and causes natural sleep. It is equally adapted to adults and infants. It contains neither Mineral, Morphine nor Alcohol. Children teething may have health, and mothers find rest, if they use Castoria. 1nov1

Mr. Thomas W. Lane:—I have been sick for 2½ years with Dyspepsia, and for the past three years Constipation and Inflammation of the Bowels, have suffered all the pain I could endure and live. have been confined to my room for two years, and could not sleep nights without the use of morphine. I have been given up by physicians as past cure. I have taken one package of Dr. Quain's Condition Pills, and they have done me more good than all the doctors I have had. I sleep well, I eat well and have no pain. They are all they are recommended to be. Please send me three packages, as two of my neighbors wish to try them. I enclose $1.00.

Your truly, JOHN W. LORD.

Another Letter from May. John W. Lord, one month later Wonderful Cures by Dr. Quain's Pills Effected on Him in Thirteen Days. Pills time Free from Pain for Three Years.

West Lebanon, Me., March 22, 1875;

Mr. Thomas W. Lane:—I commenced taking Dr. Quain's Condition Pills February 9th, and wrote you February 22d of their wonderful effect. I have continued to improve ever since. My appetite is good, and I sleep as well as I ever did in my life. I am free from pain for the first time in three years. When I was taken sick four years ago, I weighed one hundred and eighty-six pounds; I now weigh one hundred and thirty, but, as I am gaining in strength, I have faith I shall regain my flesh this summer, by the use of the Pills. I shal continue taking them for some time to come.

Yours truly, JOHN W. LORD.

Dr. Quain's Pills the Remedy for Soldiers' Aches and Pains.

West Lebanon, Me., June 1, 1875.

Mr. Thomas W. Lane—Dear Sir:—I am now able to walk out every day, and am gaining in strength very fast, all of which I owe to you as again for the best Pills in the world. I have taken no other medicine, and my improvement has been steady since first taking Dr. Quain's Condition Pills. They have done everything for me, and I will say to you, advertise them direct to the soldiers, for they will certainly cure them of aches and pains caused from exposure and hardship on the field. Please send me by return mail another package.

JOHN W. LORD.

Rheumatism for Twenty Years Cured by One Package of Dr. Quain's Condition Pills—"The Best Medicine in the World."

East Andover, N. H., Dec. 10, 1875.

Mr. Lane—Dear Sir:—As I know the value of Dr. Quain's Condition Pills and the good they have done me, I take pleasure in giving them praise; so I send you another testimonial. My father has been troubled with Rheumatism for twenty years or more, and has tried everything that could be thought of, but to no good. At times it would be so bad that he could not lift his hand to his head or do any work at all, especially in cold weather. A short time ago I advised him to get some of these Pills. He believed nothing in them, but I gave him the last package I had of you, as I did not need them, and he has not been as free from the Rheumatic Complaint for years. No doubt your pills do him good. What relief him? It was Dr. Quain's Condition Pills, the best medicine in the world. There is nothing like them. I know it, for I have tried them, and they are all, yes, more than they are recommended to be. Give them a fair trial and you will not be sorry. I write this because I know the goodness of them and wish others to know the same. Some may think I am telling a big story. I am. But remember I am not giving them half the praise they ought to have.

Yours with respect, ED. F. PEVARE.

Daingerfield, Morris Co., Texas, Nov. 15, '75.

Mr. Thomas W. Lane—Dear Sir:—I have been afflicted for near twelve years with Neuralgia in the face and at times I feel as if I do not know my physicians, and could only get partly relieved. I also tried many patent medicines with the same result. I have been confined to my room the most all the time for eight or ten winters, and have been traveling and visiting medical springs, and I still suffered most intensely. The physicians pronounced my case the worst and most stubborn that they had had anything to do with. One told me I could never get well; they all advised me to go South and spend the winter, and thought that was the only chance for me, and I was trying to get ready to go to Florida, when through the kindness of Rev. H. M. Mathis, my attention was called to the advertisement of Dr. Quain's Magic Condition Pills. I immediately sent to you for a package. I have taken four doses and I am almost free from pains. The impression here seems to be that if your pills will cure me, they will cure anybody. I have five applications to send for the pills. Enclosed please find three dollars; send five packages to me and one to Mrs. Laura Sherrel, Sulphur Springs, Hopkins county, Texas.

Yours truly, J. S. PATTON.

Liver Complaint, Nervousness, Dropsy and Headache.

Laconia, N. H., Jan. 29, 1875.

Thos. W. Lane—Sir:—I have been troubled with Bad Blood, Liver Complaint, Nervousness, Dropsy and Headache. I have taken one package of Dr. Quain's Condition Pills. They have done me more good than all the medicine I ever took; I have taken considerable medicine within the last five years. For the nerves I think there is nothing so good as those pills. I can recommend them to all who are similarly afflicted, they have done me so much good. I think they will recommend themselves wherever they go. I shall recommend those Pills to all who need them. Please send me two packages more, one for myself and one for a lady friend of mine. Many thanks to the inventor, agent and advertiser of those Pills.

PULMOCINE.

BUCHMAN'S PULMOCINE CORDIAL

Is the ultima thule of Medical Discovery.

Among its many ingredients are Wild Cherry Bark, Squill Root, Liquorice Root, Blood root, &c. It is a Blood Purifier, gently stimulating. It increases expectoration and is diuretic. It is anodyne and alterative. It is a necessary family medicine. It is a Tonic and a powerful aid to the digestive organs. It is a gentle sedative, and relieves nervousness. It is aromatic and agreeable to the taste.

CLEAR YOUR THROAT!

Relieve Your Lungs.

or the terrible diseases engendered by the lungs trying climate of New England!

PULMOCINE CORDIAL

is a speedy and reliable Preventive and Remedy. Every Family should have a bottle at hand to check the sudden growth of all Pulmonary Diseases. For the Asthma, Coughs, Croups, Laryngitis, or inflammation of the larynx, Diphtheria, and all kindred Throat Diseases at all times prevalent, it is the ounce of Prevention. Children attacked with Whooping Cough or Croup should be immediately cared for. These painful attacks come with scarcely a moment's warning, when a physician may be out of immediate each. A dose of Pulmocine Cordial gives speedy relief, and the little ones are spared hours of pain and agony. As "a stitch in time saves nine," so does the possession of this Family Medicine prevent the spread of disease. Parents seeing their children gasping with pain, friends and relatives beholding each other in peril from suffocation by the choking pain in the throat, paralyzed with fear and not knowing the best course to pursue, are liable to apply the wrong remedial agents. There is no safety in delay, no time to waste in such cases. CONSUMPTION, that fearful scourge of the human race, lies at the door of all thus afflicted. Buchman's Pulmocine Cordial arrests it (unless in its advanced stage at which time there is no local cure) relieves the pressing, suffocating feeling at the lungs, and patient's danger is past.

For Coughs,

Croup,

Diphtheria,

Asthma, etc.,

USE

Buchman's Pulmocine Cordial.

The Pulmocine Cordial is not a quack medicine, is not an experiment, is not composed of any ingredients "discovered" by "walking in pastures" in South America or anywhere else, nor by one who discovered a weed and thereby cured himself. Most of the ingredients are such as our best educated physicians daily use for the complaints specified in some form or other. The recipe is that perfected by one of New England's most learned and famous physicians, who used it entirely in his daily practice until his death. Its is offered to the profession and to the public, absolutely pure and unadulterated.

AYER'S SARSAPARILLA,

For Purifying the Blood.

This compound of the vegetable alteratives, Sarsaparilla, Dock, Stillingia, and Mandrake with the iodides of Potash and Iron, makes a most effectual cure of a series of complaints which are very prevalent and afflicting. It purifies the blood, purges out the lurking humors in the system, that undermine health and settle into troublesome disorders. Eruptions of the skin are the appearance on the surface of humors that should be expelled from the blood. Internal derangements are the determination of these same humors to some internal organ, or organs, whose action they derange, and whose substance they disease and destroy. AYER'S SARSAPARILLA expels these humors from the blood. When they are gone, the disorders they produce disappear, such as Ulcerations of the Liver, Stomach, Kidneys, Lungs, Eruptions and Eruptive Diseases of the Skin, St. Anthony's Fire, Rose or Erysipelas, Pimples, Pustules, Blotches, Boils, Tumors, Tetter and Salt Rheum, Scald Head, Female Weakness, Sterility, Leucorrhœa arising from internal ulceration and uterine diseases, Dropsy, Dyspepsia, Emaciation and General Debility. With their departure health returns.

Turkish Soldiers of Fortune.

The number of Turkish pashas who have achieved fame of late, but who are not Turks at all, is quite remarkable. There is Hobart Pasha, the daring and energetic commander of the Turkish fleet, who left the English service years ago for that of the Crescent; Baker Pasha, who has so valorously distinguished himself in the affray over the Balkan pass, is the disgraced English officer whose outrageous attack upon a defenseless lady in an English railway train is fresh in public memory; Mehemet Ali, the commander of the army in Bulgaria, is a blonde German; while Osman Pasha, the victor of Plevna, there is strong reason for believing is no other than a vagrant American, R. Clay Crawford, native of an East Tennessee county, a protege of Andy Johnson, and well remembered for his brilliant and erratic career in the Union army during the war. Most of these Turkish soldiers of fortune seem to have in common a brilliant, restless recklessness of character. The common paths of life, or even service in the armies of the more civilized powers, were too tame and irksome to suit their lawless dispositions, and they find congenial atmosphere in the semi-barbarous absolutism of the Sultan or the Egyptian Khedive. Mehemet Ali ran away from home at twenty, to escape the reins of parental authority, and began his career at Vienna as a cafe waiter. Here he attracted the favorable notice of the officers of the Ottoman embassy, and Ali Pasha, persuading him to turn Mohamedan, took him to Constantinople and had him educated at a military school there. After graduating he married a sister-in-law of the powerful Omar Pasha, and thenceforward his fortune was assured. But the career of Osman Pasha, or the American Crawford, as those who have penetrated the disguise of the Turkish title claim him to be, is more notable and varied than any of the others. Appointed to a cadetship at West Point by Andy Johnson, he quickly distinguished himself for great intelligence as likewise an audacious disregard of all law, and before graduation he was expelled for gross breaches of discipline. Going southward his penniless condition tempted him one night to rob a cattle-drover, stopping at a Virginia hotel, and his speedy arrest resulted in several years' confinement in State prison at Richmond. Then the war broke out and he escaped and soon turned up as a private in a Union Tennessee regiment, and it was not long ere his bravery and military knowledge elevated him to the rank of colonel. But the war did not march rapidly enough to suit this erratic and restless young adventurer, and before it was half through he distinguished himself by selling several hundred recruits to a northern substitute broker, pocketing a large sum of money and then slipping away to Mexico. Here he took a prominent part on the Mexican side in the last days of Maximilian's ill-starred reign, and during the excitement and confusion incident to the breaking up of the empire, Crawford was in his element. From Mexico he returned to this country and settled in Charlestown, Md., for a year or two, where he purchased an elegant house and stood high in the neighborhood society till it was discovered that he had a faro "lay-out" in his house and was initiating the young men of the town into its mysteries. Crawford was in Vineland for several weeks after leaving Maryland, and endeavoring to swindle the settlers in the formation of a stock company, but his designs were frustrated by the discovery of his former connection with counterfeiters, cotton thieves and gamblers, and he fled from the place. We next hear of the unstable fellow in Cuba fighting on the side of the patriots, later still in Egypt in the army of the Khedive, and now he turns up in the thick of the stirring scenes of the war with the Russians, irrepressible and brilliant as ever, and winning a fame that places him with the very foremost of the Turkish commanders. To be sure the Turkish legation at New York claim that Osman Pasha is of Mussulman parents, according to a late dispatch, but Crawford's story is worth telling, any way.

Easing a Wife's Death.

The Cincinnati Enquirer's telegram from Atlanta, Ga., has the following story from Florida: "Mrs. Julia L. Key, a daughter of Caroline Lee Hentz, lived in Florida. For some time she has been in bad health, and exhibited a morbid fear of pain. About the first of the month she despaired of recovery and begged her husband that, when he thought the end was approaching, he would administer chloroform, so that she might die speedily and painlessly. At length he believed the time had come, and showed her the chloroform bottle. She inhaled it, put a few drops on her handkerchief, and laying it over her face, died without a murmur. The husband frankly admits that she might have lived a few days longer, but says, as she seemed to have no dread of the hereafter, and begged him to give her chloroform, he thought he had best do so. It appears that no doctors were present, but that she began to 'strangle,' and she thought the time had come. The case will probably undergo investigation."

A Woman's Personal Luggage.

The Montreal Witness of Aug. 31 says: "Acting upon information received from this city, a lady believed to be of New York, was on the 28th inst. followed from Prescott across the line to Ogdensburg, N. Y., by a female inspector, under the direction of the United States Customs Agent at Prescott, upon suspicions of smuggling. When the lady boarded the train in Montreal for the West she attracted the attention of the United States Agent here on account of the unnatural portliness of her appearance and the heavy clothing she wore. On arriving at Ogdensburg she was detained, clad in the following articles of clothing: One seal skin sagne, 12 yards of velvet, 15 yards of silk, and one muff. This expensive habit, valued at $247.50, was confiscated on behalf of the American government, and the lady, said to be a Jewess, allowed to go on her way. It is conjectured that the lady was acting in the capacity of one of the regular female smugglers, whom the authorities say they know to be employed by some of the dry goods houses in Montreal."

Hayes' Title.

Says the New York Tribune in a recent issue: "It is a matter for no little congratulation that the good sense of the better portion of the democratic party may be relied upon to oppose any dishonorable political scheme of the worse portion of it. Just as the better class of democrats defeated the filibustering attempt of last winter to prevent the completion of the electoral count, so now they would certainly oppose, and almost as certainly defeat, any endeavor to unsettle President Hayes' title to his office." We should think there had been twaddle enough expended over "President Hayes' title to his office." Hayes has been declared President, has exercised all the powers (and more than all the rights) of President, and is President; and there are but two ways to get him out of the Presidential office. One way is that provided in the Constitution, which says that the President "shall be removed from office on impeachment for, and conviction of, treason, bribery, or other high crimes and misdemeanors," the Senate having "the sole power to try all impeachments," and it being provided that "when the President of the United States is tried, the Chief Justice shall preside; and no person shall be convicted without the concurrence of two-thirds of the members present." The other way of getting rid of a President is to assassinate him; but this plan, though it was put in force in the case of at least one anti-democratic President, is not Constitutional; neither is it popular with law-abiding people of any party. If no better scare-crow than the "unsettlement of Hayes' title" to the Presidency can be rigged up, the country might as well not have any scare-crow.

Eruption of Cotopaxi.

A letter from Latacunga, Ecuador, says: On the 25th of August the volcano of Cotopaxi gave unmistakable symptoms of an eruption. A dense cloud of ashes completely concealed the peak, and in the evening the lightning-like flashes of the subterranean fires as they fitfully pierced or were reflected in the ashy cloud, added to the majesty and terror of the scene. The first rays of dawn of the morning of the 26th showed the mountain covered with a thick, black garment. At eight o'clock a hoarse noise was heard, distant at first, but gradually approaching until the entire population were in motion, one and all dominated by the feeling that something dreadful was about to take place. At ten o'clock there was no longer any doubt that the always increasing noise was a forerunner of an eruption. On being assured of this, several of us mounted our horses and rode out to observe the quantity of water and the direction it would take. We soon saw enough to make us fear that the enormous quantity of water vomited out by the volcano would totally destroy the city. On this I put spurs to my horse and rode back to town in hopes of being of use in assisting some of the unfortunate inhabitants to ascend the "Calvario," their nearest and perhaps only safety in case of inundation. Nor was I mistaken in my prognostications, for the torrent was sufficient to have destroyed the city had its course not been turned in the most unexpected, unhoped for manner. Streams of water poured from all the craters at once on the Callao side, sweeping away everything in their course down to the "potreros" of San Augustin. Another irresistible torrent followed the course of the Saquimala River destroying everything before it. The river carried off 500 head of cattle which were at pasture in the fields. The Alaques River overflowed and caused great damage. The Cutuchi overflowed and ran into the Pumacunchi, carrying everything before it. In a word, this entire district was like a sea, and the inundation would have destroyed the city had not one portion of the flood overflowed the Sicsicalle by way of the Cutuchi, and another portion turned off by Yana-yacu. It is too soon to determine with any certainty the destruction of property, but the loss of life will reach, if it does not exceed, 1000 persons. At least 2000 head of cattle have been destroyed, and of smaller animals the loss has been much greater. I had forgotten to state that in the midst of the roar of the waters and the crashing of houses, the volcano poured out enormous quantities of cinders, which gradually darkened the whole face of the heavens and left us in the profoundest obscurity from one o'clock in the afternoon until ten at night. To-day the whole face of the country is covered with ashes, and, in addition to the other miseries, we have hunger staring us in the face.

Capt. Allen of Exeter, 80 years of age, recently married Mrs. Sherburn, aged 78. There is nothing like early marriages.

News and Notes.

That unscrupulous old scoundrel, MacMahon of France, is villainously misusing his power as President of the Republic to effect the Republic's overthrow and make "the Church" supreme in affairs of State. Gambetta has been fined 2000 francs and sentenced to three months' imprisonment, on account of his very temperate speech delivered at Lille. The public and press were excluded from the proceedings in court. Well, Gambetta in prison will be honored, while the traitor in the President's chair is despised by every honorable man.

The British ship Avalanche, from London for New Zealand with 50 passengers and a crew of 32, collided with the British ship Forest, from London for New York, off the Bill of Portland, on the 11th. Both ships went down, and 93 persons lost their lives.

Augustin Daly, of the Fifth Avenue Theatre, New York city, has failed.

Edward J. Buddington killed Wm. Thompson in New London, Conn., on the 10th inst. Cause, rum and jealousy.

The trial of Hayden, the Derby Line, Vt., wife murderer, began at Irasburg, Vt., on the 10th inst. "Emotional insanity" is the defence.

The prohibitionists of Massachusetts on Wednesday nominated Judge R. C. Pitman for governor.

The Mormon "Twelve Apostles" have "had a revelation" directing them to rule over the church without electing a new President. There's a big row brewing in Mormondom.

The reduction of the public debt last month reached the large sum of $3,869,538. The net coin balance in the treasury is $40,000,000, of which amount probably all but $2,000,000 is gold. The receipts over expenditures last year were $30,000,000, although they were $18,000,000 less than the year previous by reason of the reduction in taxation. The splendid condition in which the world finds our national finances extorts from the London Times the admission that it sees no reason why our entire indebtedness may not be refunded in four per cents.

The cultured and high-toned Springfield Republican calls Gail Hamilton "the most brilliant blackguard among women." And in that one insulting sentence makes for her friends where she had only enemies. We believe the Springfield Republican is the only journal in the United States capable of so insulting a woman, whose only offence is that she has shown herself a more honorable disputant, better informed, better read, and better bred, than the editor of the Republican. Samuel Bowles had better go back to his first love, and nominate Charles Francis Adams for something. —Burlington Hawkeye.

Illinois may now successfully challenge the claim of New York to be the Empire State. Illinois pays $21,000,000 of internal revenue, while New York pays only $14,000,000. Even Ohio is a million ahead of New York. Illinois pays one-fifth of the entire internal revenue. Surely the "star of empire" is taking its way from the Atlantic to the valley of the Mississippi.

New Hampshire Items.

The Nashua Iron and Steel Company have reduced the wages of their help fifteen per cent.

Carrie L. Beebe, eight years old, an adopted daughter of A. G. Beebe of Fitzwilliam, was drowned in a mill-pond on the 3d inst.

Emmel Lyon, one of the three roughs who broke jail at Manchester some time ago, and assaulted the keeper, Stearns, in so doing, has been sent to State prison for twenty years, for that job. All three of the jail-breakers are now in the State prison on long terms, though the offenses for which they were first arrested were comparatively slight.

The potato crop is unprecedented this year, both in quantity and quality of the tubers. One man in this village, who last year got five bushels, informs us that he has over fifty this year from the same ground. All reports are of a similar character.—Lake Village Times.

Ayer's Hair Vigor,

FOR RESTORING GRAY HAIR

TO ITS NATURAL VITALITY AND COLOR.

Advancing years, sickness, care, disappointment, and hereditary predisposition, all turn the hair gray, and either of them incline it to shed prematurely.

AYER'S HAIR VIGOR, by long and extensive use, has proven that it stops the falling of the hair immediately; often renews the growth; and always surely restores its color, when faded or gray. It stimulates the nutritive organs to healthy activity, and preserves both the hair and its beauty. Thus lonely, weak or sickly hair becomes glossy, pliable and strengthened; lost hair regrows with lively expression; falling hair is checked and stabilished; thin hair thickens; and faded or gray hairs resume their original color. Its operation is sure and harmless. It cures dandruff, heals all humors, and keeps the scalp cool, clean and soft—under which conditions, diseases of the scalp are impossible.

As a dressing for ladies' hair, the VIGOR is praised for its grateful and agreeable perfume, and valued for the soft lustre and richness of tone it imparts.

THE VETERANS' REUNION.

To say that this event, which occurred on Tuesday, was as much enjoyed as that of last year, would be saying much; yet it may be asserted, without fear of contradiction, that it was even more enjoyed than then, while a larger number participated in it. There is something singularly interesting in this association of survivors of the military organizations of past years, with those of a later day, not only to the members themselves, but to others who can remember when they marched away, in the buoyancy of youth, with light footsteps, on the brightest of October mornings, for the grand annual musters at the Plains, that are so much enjoyed in the retrospect whenever they are looked back upon. Such a band as Harlow's, or such an artist as their leader, to enliven the way and make lighter their footsteps, had not then been dreamed of. A most pleasant fact connected with these later festive events that greatly enhances their pleasure, is, that they are shared in by the gentler sex, the wives and daughters of the members, who could not have followed them to the Plains in those pleasant days of the past; the boys young and old—and not a few were they of the latter—having all the enjoyment then, the former in squandering their well saved fourpences upon Plumer's gingerbread, Berry's buns, raw oysters, and new cider, at a cent a glass, from a barrel on tap in a farmer's wagon, and the latter, with not less of zest, in various ways.

As the Veterans had made arrangements to go in carriages by the new route to Newcastle, instead of marching by way of the old bridges and the village, they did not have occasion to halt, as they did last year, for a rest at the pretty cottage of their commander, Capt. Towle, with its bright flowers without, and rich store of elegant literature within; and after a march through the principal streets, to the music of Mr. Harlow's newly trained Rye band, they accordingly took conveyance for their destination from the South mill bridge; their families, invited guests and visitors going meanwhile by carriages from the head of Daniel street, and when the entire party were gathered upon the piazza of the Hotel Wentworth, all were delighted with the music of the band, which was repeated at intervals during the day, making it a most charming feature of the festival. Among the most attractive of the pieces of music given upon the piazza during the afternoon, was the Fireman's Polka, which was given under Mr. Harlow's direction with such brilliant effect at Mrs. Bartlett's summer entertainment at Miss Morgan's hall, and will be as well remembered. A lady also performed at various times during the day upon the piano in the parlor, while others sang.

An attraction for a while, on the first arrival of the party, was the huge bonfire of pine upon the rock that was to serve as a base of operations in the great clambake to form so prominent a feature of the occasion, and then, while the Veterans chatted with friends, in which many a happy reminiscence of the past was recalled, others of the party, including the young and fair among them, strayed away in groups wherever their fancy led them; some to the sandy beach facing Whale's Back and the Isles of Shoals, where, upon "a lone rock by the sea," a young lady was seen, which a gent of a poetic turn of mind was sure was Evangeline, until he discovered on approaching her, while affecting to be looking out to sea, that instead of reading her own history from Longfellow, in the volume before her, she was eating peanuts, cracking their shells and devouring the contents with a relish that would have done credit to the "old Bowery" in New York when "Mose" was the great attraction at that famed temple of the muses; another equally poetic young man fancied she might be Mrs. Enoch Arden, and was quite ready, if E. A. did not return, to be his successor, until the peanut discovery was made, and the book was found to be neither the works of Longfellow or Tennyson, but instead thereof, "a silly old novel" as one of the young ladies termed it upon learning its title. Another group went in search of the Devil's Den, as it has always been somewhat profanely called, but to which Mr. Ordway, the well known Boston artist, after taking a sketch of it not long since, has given the name of "the Murderer's Cave," for the reason that Wagner landed there after committing his fiendish deed at Smutty Nose island; but it will not do thus to rob his Satanic Majesty; he must "have his due" if the stars fall. When the cavern was found, in the face of the cliff below the Hotel Wentworth, if, like Mercutio's wound in Shakespeare, it was "not as deep as a well, nor as wide as a church door," it quite repaid the walk to find it. A lady suggested it might be the entrance to the robbers' cave of the "Forty Thieves," that all had read of in their early days, but if so, "Open Sesame," though twice repeated, failed to open it and reveal its treasures; the charm of those magical words was gone.

If the sea air around them wherever they were, had not given to all the keenest of appetites, the perfume arising from the vast oven into which so many bushels of clams, lobsters, crabs, eggs, sweet potatoes and Irish potatoes, had been cast, and where they were seething in companionship, would have done so, and when all were seated, an attack was made on the good things, as they were poured from bushel baskets before them in the greatest abundance, that showed, if they had ever lost them, all present were blessed with appetites worthy of bears on emerging from their winter quarters, and as they eat away, piling up the shells of the bivalves beneath the tables, fun and merriment abounded without stint, causing grave personages to laugh who are not given to such an indulgence; one, especially, who never before had been seen to smile even by that celebrated individual, "the oldest inhabitant." If any unfortunate hypochondriac was there, or victim to the nightmare, well might it be conjectured what a spectacle would be presented to him that night in his dreams, of the lobsters, the crabs, the clams, the eggs and the potatoes he had devoured, to say nothing of the pickles and bread, the tea and coffee, that had all gone the same way.

When the much-enjoyed repast was over, to aid in its digestion such as preferred to do so again started off in rambles into the various attractive regions Newcastle affords. Some visited the new carthworks at Jerry's Point, near Mr. Albee's tasteful "cottage by the sea;" others strolled onward to old Fort Constitution, from whence there is a legend that a young lady and her gentleman escort were not long since sent away, while very harmlessly engaged in taking a sketch of the gateway that survives of that ancient stronghold, on the ground that sketching its fortifications was against the laws of the United States. A hero so valiant and vigilant ought to have awarded him a medal by Congress, if of no more costly material than leather. One of the best points of the story is that the gentleman was an officer in the naval service of his country, and the young lady a sister of another. Most of the party remained about the hotel during the afternoon, (visitors continually arriving from town,) where dancing was enjoyed when Mr. Harlow's string-band came to afford the needful music. A dress parade and music by the brass band then followed, and at six o'clock a most sumptuous "basket" repast took place in the dining hall, for the enjoyment of which the dinner, bountiful though it was and heartily partaken of, did not seem in the least to have deprived the participants in it of appetites, and in the evening, dancing was indulged in until a reasonably late hour, Mr. Harlow's string-band again furnishing the music.

The Veteran Artillery may be congratulated on the perfect success of their second annual festival. The weather was delightful, and all who shared in it cannot but feel grateful to them for a day of such unalloyed enjoyment; with the hope that the year to come may be to them and their's a happy and prosperous one. What a delightful way too, it has been, for the last two years, to close up the season at the Hotel Wentworth; for the success of which in the summer of 1878, the best wishes no doubt are given by those who shared in the closing scene of that of 1877. UNIVERSALIST CONVENTION.

The Rockingham Convention of Universalists met at the Universalist church in this city on Wednesday forenoon at eleven o'clock. A. F. Craig, Esq., was elected President for the ensuing year. In the afternoon religious services were conducted by Rev. Dr. George H. Emerson, of Boston, editor of the Universalist, and Rev. Dr. A. J. Patterson of Boston Highlands, Dr. Emerson preaching the sermon. A conference meeting followed. In the evening there was divine service again. The Convention closes its session to-day.

THE NUISANCE QUESTION.

Agreeably to the published call, there was a meeting of citizens with the Aldermen's committee on mill-ponds and other nuisances, at the Common Council Room on Wednesday evening, to discuss the matter, a large number of prominent citizens being present.

Dr. Jones, who had made examination as chairman of the Board of Health, thought the city violates its own laws by allowing private drains and sewers to run into the ponds, and running their own in them also; he also considered Puddle Dock an intolerable nuisance.

Frank W. Hilton, of the Rockingham House, said that guests who had engaged board at his house for a stated time had left on account of the stench arising from the South Mill-pond, and that the odor was more offensive in the upper stories of his house than to those living nearer the pond.

Remarks were made by Mark F. Wentworth, Joseph P. Morse, Joseph B. Upham, Jr., William H. Sise, William R. Preston, William H. Rollins, Charles W. Bailey, Rev. James DeNormandie, and others.

Mr. DeNormandie offered a resolution that the Secretary of the Boston Sanitary Committee be invited to visit this city and give us such suggestions and advice as he might think proper. Carried unanimously.

Alderman Chas. W. Norton made a statement that three months in the year the flats from Edward street to Webster's building are not covered, except at a high run of tides, the strip left bare being from ten to twenty feet wide, and from 1200 to 1400 feet long, the mud being two feet and a half in depth.

Mr. Wentworth offered a resolution that for the present the tide gates be kept closed and only opened at such time as the Board of Health should direct.

Alderman Hadley stated that the North pond gates could be controlled for $20, and the South pond gates for $12 to $15 per day.

John W. Stavers and Marcellus Bufford favored a marginal sewer to be run outside the bridges, and all the sewers and drains run into it. Mr. Stavers moved that the Mayor be requested to call a special meeting of the Board of Aldermen. Carried.

Adjourned to meet at the call of the Chairman of the Sanitary Committee.

RUFFIANISM.

The Rye Cornet Band, after playing during the day at the Veterans' reunion on the 11th inst., started from Hotel Wentworth in a beach wagon for their home shortly after six o'clock, and as they left the hotel struck up a tune. When they were about half way down the hill between the house and the bridge, one of a crowd of boot-blacks that had been hanging around all day and were then collected near the road, struck one of the band-men a violent blow across the back with a club, and then ran. The team was stopped, and the music too, quick; the assaulted man jumped out and raced after the assailant, many of his bandmates taking part in the chase, but the gamin escaped,—lucky for him, too. It was reported at the time (with what truth we cannot say) that another one of the street Arabs at the same time threw a stone at the loaded team and struck a little boy in it; and many of the Veterans expressed their reprobation of such performances in pretty plain language. Who the boy was we could not learn; one man told us he believed his name was Hennessey, and that he is a notorious leader of a Church Hill gang of young roughs; but one of the Rye band writes us that "Portsmouth has not the honor of containing the residence of the unfledged 'rooster' that made the cowardly assault on one of our band boys on the 11th. He is a young rowdy of Newcastle: so don't claim the honor for Portsmouth. We have taken measures to ascertain his name, and will let you know as soon as we find out." A Portsmouth man who was on the grounds told us that the boy had been previously the victim of an unjustifiable assault by the bandsman in the billiard room of the hotel; but another authority afterward assured us that the boy was put out of the billiard room by an employe of the house, for gross insolence.

Not proposing to allow his guests to be annoyed and his hotel run by a lot of boys and half-grown men, Mr. Campbell sent for the Newcastle constable, who soon appeared and cleared out the crowd. This action it probably was which caused the outrageous assault on Mr. Thomas H. Odion a few hours later, as already reported by us; and also still another similar assault at about midnight, when Mr. Ralph Reinwald, leader of the Dover Cornet Band, who played with Harlow's Orchestra for the occasion, was struck in the face by some missile, but not seriously harmed.

As to the trouble between the bandman and the boy we know only what we were told, and have given both sides of the story; but the worthless scoundrel or scoundrels who threw the missiles at the loaded wagons deserve State prison, be they boys or men. Neither Messrs. Odion nor Reinwald, nor any of the ladies in the teams, had anything to do with the evening's skirmish; and the contemptible sneaks who committed the assaults should be ferreted out if possible, and taught that street bummers, be they ever so vicious and cowardly, cannot safely spit out their spite upon quiet citizens and unoffending women. Mr. Odion is not a man to take the smashing of his head as a matter of course, and we have strong hopes that he will yet have the pleasure of "sending up" the fellow who threw the stone at him.

PORTSMOUTH AND VICINITY.

The Granite State base ball club on Wednesday posted about town an announcement of a game with "Our Boys" of Newmarket at the Plains to-day, "admission free." The "hourly" will run from Market square to accommodate those who wish to see the game, which is expected to be a good one, as "Our Boys" are called a good nine. Game called at half-past 2.

The steamer Appledore makes her last—positively the very last, for sure this time,—excursion trip to the Shoals to-morrow, the fare for the round trip being put at the very low price of 60 cents, with half-price fare for children under 12 years old. Tickets for sale by David Kimball & Co.

Paymaster John H. Stevenson is ordered to the New York navy yard, relieving Paymaster A. J. Clark, who is ordered to settle accounts.

The Representatives who went to Brentwood on the 11th inst., met there Gov. Prescott and the County Commissioners. The new asylum for the insane was pronounced all right, and also the general establishment, except that more fire escapes are needed for the latter. The dinner was duly approved.

Mrs. Thomas Chase, senior, was thrown from a wagon at Seabrook depot on the 11th inst., and seriously hurt. On the 10th inst. Hattie Newell Locke, the seven-years-old daughter of Mr. George W. Locke, while running tripped and fell, breaking her collar bone. Dr. J. W. Colcord set the bone.

POLICE COURT.

Wednesday, Sept. 12th.

John Woods, for an alleged assault on Geeorge W. Twombly, was "bonded" in the sum of $100.

George W. Twombly, for an alleged assault on John Woods, was placed under $100 bonds.

—During the war Lady de Houghton and other aristocratic ladies made a large and beautiful Confederate flag, richly embroidered, of silk and satin, intending it as a present to Admiral Semmes. Circumstances prevented its transmission until the Fall of 1873, when Mr. Appleton Oaksmith, remembered as a slaver and pirate, received it and sent it to him. He acknowledged the receipt, and said the banner was "folded away for the sleep of centuries."

AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL,

For Diseases of the Throat and Lungs, such as Coughs, Colds, Whooping Cough, Bronchitis, Asthma and Consumption.

The few compositions, which have won the confidence of mankind and become household words, among not only one but many nations, must have extraordinary virtues. Perhaps no one ever secured so wide a reputation, or maintained it so long as

Ayer's Cherry Pectoral.

It has been known to the public about forty years, by a long continued series of marvellous cures, that have won for it a confidence in its virtues, never equalled by any other medicine. It still makes the most effectual cures of Coughs, Colds, Consumption, that can be made by medical skill. Indeed, the CHERRY PECTORAL has really robbed these dangerous diseases of their terrors, to a great extent, and given a feeling of immunity from their fatal effects, that is well founded if the remedy be taken in season. Every family should have it in their closet for the ready and prompt relief of its members. Sickness, suffering, and even life is saved by this timely protection. The prudent should not neglect it, and the wise will not. Keep it by you for the protection it affords by its timely use in sudden attacks.

Daily Chronicle.

—A reporter for a Wisconsin paper writes: "Those who personally know our esteemed fellow citizen, Col. Smith, will regret to hear that he was brutally assaulted last evening, but not killed."

—Yesterday a painter employed on Mr. Hecker's house, South side, fell from a scaffold a considerable distance to the railroad, striking a platform in his fall, but fortunately not injuring him. In his trip through air he maintained a death grip on the paint pot, and succeeded in pouring the contents over his head, making a brilliant spectacle as he flew through the air. As he cleared out his hair with the fluid used for renovating kid gloves, he was heard to remark that he was the worst looking object that ever benzine.—Oil City Derrick.

—If you keep any kind of a shop, do you display your money on a shelf behind the counter? If you do, it is a dangerous habit. Probably up to this time you have found it safe enough, but there is a little game which makes it so no more. It is a western invention, of course. Everything wicked starts either out there or in New York. A nice little widow in St. Louis, who sells the fosmiest of beer in the biggest of schooners, was continually missing money from the shelf behind the counter. This was out of the reach of her customers, and her rule was, "Nobody allowed back of the bar," She couldn't suspect the greasy-headed young man who was her assistant; for the money there, while she herself was on duty, would be gone in an instant, as if by magic. Once, just after a pretty young man had gone, she missed a two-dollar bill. He came in again after a while, and she quietly called in a policeman to watch him. He carried a cane; on the end of the cane was tar, and, as she stooped to draw the beer, with the cane he captured the money. In his pocket was found a bottle of sticky tar and seventeen one-dollar bills, all daubed with tar in a circular shape. Station house.

Centaur Liniments.

One thing is now thoroughly established. Never since man suffered and human agencies alleviated pain has there been any thing which went so far as a pain annihilator and curative agent as the Centaur Liniments. These Liniments have within the past year cured more cases of Rheumatism, Neuralgia, Stiff Joints, Caked Breasts, Swellings, Poisonous Bites, Burns, Lame Animals, etc., etc., than all other remedies combined. As the name of Centaur implies half horse and half man, the Centaur Liniments are for man and beast. But not the same Liniment. The White Liniment is for man and the Yellow for horses and animals. Herein this Liniment differs from all other remedies, although some of the ingredients are alike in each. They contain the well-known Witch Hazel, Arnica, Cartoile, Rock Oil, Mentha and other powerful ingredients.

Wm. H. Hickcox, Rector of St. John's E. Church, Wakefield, Clay Co., Kansas, writes: "Many years I have been suffering from a Weak Back, caused from a sprain more than 40 years ago. I have not found any thing to relieve me until I commenced the use of Centaur Liniment. I feel it my Christian duty to inform you that by its wonderful effects I am entirely relieved of pain. January 22d, 1876."

Messrs. J. McClure & Co., Druggists, Cincinnati, Ohio, say:

"Teamsters pronounce the Yellow Centaur Liniment superior to any thing they have ever used. We sell several dozen bottles per month, and the sale is steadily increasing."

These are only samples of thousands upon thousands of similar testimonials reaching us every month. All the Extracts, Embrocations, Salves and Liniments in existence are not doing one-tenth the good which is done by these admirable Centaur Liniments. For Frost-bites, Stings, Cuts, Itch, Salt Rheum, etc., there is nothing like the Centaur Liniment. White Wrapper. For Spavin, Ring-bone, Sweeny, Wind-Galls, Poll-evil, Scratches, etc., on horses, the Yellow Centaur Liniment is equally as good. They are certain in their effects; they are pleasant to use, they are handy and they are cheap. No family should be without Centaur Liniments. They are worth one hundred times their cost.

J. B. ROSE & CO., 46 DEY ST., NEW YORK.

Castoria.

Mothers may have rest and their babies may have health, if they will use Dr. Pitcher's Castoria for Wind Colic, Worms, Feverishness, Sour Mouth, Croup, or Stomach Complaints. It is entirely a vegetable preparation, and contains neither mineral, morphine, nor alcohol. It is as pleasant to take as honey, neither gags nor gripes, and is superior to any remedy in existence.

Dr. E. Dimoch, of Dupont, Ohio, says:

"I am using CASTORIA in my practice with the most signal benefits and happy results, and find it a perfect substitute for Castor Oil."

This is what every one says. Many nurses in New York use the CASTORIA. It is prepared by Messrs. J. B. ROSE & CO., successors to Samuel Pitcher, M. D. tnov1

The Centaur Liniments have created a revolution in remedies for Rheumatism, Strains, Swellings, Pains, Burns, Scalds, Stings, etc. The White Liniment is for the human family, and the Yellow Liniment is for horses. They are certain, handy and cheap.

Castoria is certain to operate. It does not nauseate or gripe like Castor Oil, but is pleasant to take, digests the food, regulates the bowels, cures wind colic, expels worms, and causes natural sleep. It is equally adapted to adults and infants. It contains neither Mineral, Morphine nor Alcohol. Children teething may have health, and mothers find rest, if they use Castoria.) tnov1

The Wonderful Remedy for Liver Complaint, Biliousness Dyspepsia, Constipation, Neuralgia, Rheumatism, Headache, Kidney Complaint, Nervousness, Scrofula, Piles, and all diseases arising from a bad state of the Blood!

No medicine ever offered to the public has given such universal satisfaction as Dr. Quain's Magic Condition Pills. Their praises are on every tongue where their merits are known. They strike at once at the seat of disease and show their healing power almost immediately. Thousands of voluntary testimonials of their merits have been received by the agent, from those who have been cured by them, of which the following are samples:

Dyspepsia Four Years, Constipation and Inflammation of the Bowels Three Years, Confined to my Room Two Years, Pain so I Could Not Sleep Without Morphine. One Package of Dr. Quain's Conditior Pills Made Me Eat Well, Sleep Well and free from Pain, after being given up by Physicians.

WEST LEBANON, ME., Feb. 22, 1

MR. THOMAS W. LANE:—I have been sick for 3 years with Dyspepsia, and for the past three years Constipation and Inflammation of the Bowels, have suffered all the pain I could endure and live, have been confined to my room for two years, and could not sleep nights without the use of morphine. I have been given up by physicians as past cure. I have taken one package of DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS, and they have done me more good than all the doctors I have had. I sleep well, I eat well and have no pain. They are all they are recommended to be. Please send me three packages, as two of my neighbors wish to try them. I enclose $1.50.

Yours truly, JOHN W. LORD.

Another Letter from May. John W. Lord, one month later — Wonderful Cures by Dr. Quain's Pills Effected on Him in Thirteen Days. First time Free from Pain for Three Years.

WEST LEBANON, ME., March 22, 1875.

MR. THOMAS W. LANE:—I commenced taking DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS February 9th, and wrote you February 22d of their wonderful effect. I have continued to improve ever since. My appetite is good, and I sleep as well as I ever did in my life. I am free from pain for the first time in three years. When I was taken sick four years ago, I weighed one hundred and eighty-six pounds; I now weigh one hundred and thirty, and I am gaining in strength, I have faith, I shall regain my flesh this summer, by the use of the Pills. I shal continue taking them for some time to come.

Yours truly, JOHN W. LORD.

Dr. Quain's Pills the Remedy for Soldiers' Aches and Pains.

WEST LEBANON, ME., June 1, 1875.

MR. THOMAS W. LANE—Dear Sir:—I am now able to walk out every day, and am gaining in strength very fast, all of which is due to you as agent for the best Pills in the world. I have taken no other medicine, and my improvement has been steady since first taking DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS. They have done everything for me, and I will say to you, advertise them direct to the soldiers, for they will certainly cure them of aches and pains caused from exposure and hardship on the field. Please send me by return mail another package.

JOHN W. LORD.

Rheumatism for Twenty Years Cured by One Package of Dr. Quain's Condition Pills—"The Best Medicine in the World."

EAST ANDOVER, N. H., Dec. 10, 1875.

MR. LANE—Dear Sir:—As I know the value of DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS and the good they have done and may do, I write to you as agent for the sale; so I send you another testimonial. My father has been troubled with Rheumatism for twenty years or more, and has tried everything that could be thought of, but to no good. At times it would be so bad that he could not lift his hand to his head or do any work at all, especially in cold weather. A short time ago I advised him to get some of these Pills. He believed nothing in them, but I gave him the last package I had of you, as I did not need them, and he has not been an free from the Rheumatic Complaint for years. No Rheumatism, no pain. What helped him? It was DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS, the best medicine in the world. There is nothing like them. I know it, for I have tried them, and they are all, yes, more than they are recommended to be. Give them a fair trial and you will say so. I write this because I know the goodness of them and wish others to know the same. Some may think I am telling a big story. I am. But remember I am not giving them half the praise they ought to have.

Yours with respect, ED. F. PEVARE.

DAINGERFIELD, MORRIS CO., TEXAS, Nov. 15, '75.

MR. THOMAS W. LANE—Dear Sir:—I have been afflicted for near twelve years with Neuralgia in the face and head. I tried I do not know how many physicians, and could only get partly relieved. I also tried many patent medicines with the same result. I have been confined to my room most all the time for eight or ten winters, and have been traveling and visiting medical springs, and I still suffered most intensely. The physicians pronounced my case the worst and most stubborn that they had had anything to do with. One told me I could never get well; they all advised me to go South and spend the winter, and thought I would have the only chance for me, and I was trying to get ready to go to Florida, when through the kindness of Rev. H. M. Mathis, my attention was called to the advertisement of Dr. Quain's Magic Condition Pills. I immediately sent to you for a package. I have taken four doses and I am almost free from pain. The impression here seems to be that if your pills will cure me, they will cure anybody. I have five applications to send for the pills. Enclosed please find three dollars; send five packages to me and one to Mrs. Laura Sherrel, Sulphur Springs, Hopkins county, Texas.

Yours truly, J. S. PATTON.

Liver Complaint, Nervousness, Dropsy and Headache.

LACONIA, N. H., Jan. 29, 1875.

THOS. W. LANE—Sir:—I have been troubled with Bad Blood, Liver Complaint, Nervousness, Dropsy and Headache. I have taken one package of DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS. They have done me more good than all the medicine I ever took; I have taken considerable medicine within the last five years. For the nerves I think there is nothing so good as those pills. I can recommend them to all who are similarly afflicted, they have done me so much good. I think they will recommend themselves wherever they go. I shall recommend those Pills to all who need them. Please send me two packages more, one for myself and one for a lady friend of mine. Many thanks to the inventor, agent and advertiser of those Pills. MRS. P. L. ELLIOTT.

PULMOCINE.

BUCHMAN'S PULMOCINE CORDIAL

Is the ultima thule of Medical Discovery.

Among its many ingredients are Wild Cherry Bark, Squill Root, Liquorice Root, Blood root, &c. It is a Blood Purifier, gently stimulating. It increases expectoration and is diuretic. It is sudorific and alterative. It is a necessary family medicine. It is a Tonic and a powerful aid to the digestive organs. It is a gentle sedative, and relieves nervousness. It is aromatic and agreeable to the taste.

CLEAR YOUR THROAT!

Relieve Your Lungs.

or the terrible diseases engendered by the lingering climate of New England!

PULMOCINE CORDIAL

is a speedy and reliable Preventive and Remedy. Every Family should have a bottle at hand to check the sudden growth of all Pulmonary Diseases. For the Asthma, Coughs, Croups, Laryngitis, or inflammation of the larynx, Diphtheria, and all kindred Throat Diseases at all times prevalent, it is the ounce of Prevention. Children attacked with Whooping Cough or Croup should be immediately cared for. These painful attacks come with scarcely a moment's warning, when a physician may be out of immediate each. A dose of PULMOCINE CORDIAL gives speedy relief, and the little ones are spared hours of pain and agony. As "a stitch in time saves nine," so does the possession of this Family Medicine prevent the spread of disease. Parents seeing their children gasping with pain, friends and relatives beholding each other in peril from suffocation by the choking pain in the throat, paralyzed with fear and not knowing the best course to pursue, are liable to apply the wrong remedial agents. There is no safety in delay, no time to waste in such cases. CONSUMPTION, that fearful scourge of the human race, lies at the door of all thus afflicted. BUCHMAN'S PULMOCINE CORDIAL arrests it (unless in its advanced stage at which time there is no local cure) relieves the pressing, suffocating feeling at the lungs, and patient's danger is past.

For Coughs, Croup, Diphtheria, Asthma, etc.,

USE

Buchman's Pulmocine Cordial.

The Pulmocine Cordial is not a quack medicine, is not an experiment, is not composed of any ingredients "discovered" by "walking in pastures" in South America or anywhere else, nor by one who discovered a weed and thereby cured himself. Most of the ingredients are such as our best educated physicians daily use for the complaints specified in some form or other. The recipe is that perfected by one of New England's most learned and famous physicians, who used it entirely in his daily practice until his death. His offered to the profession and to the public, absolutely pure and unadulterated.

AYER'S SARSAPARILLA,

For Purifying the Blood.

HOPE

This compound of the vegetable alteratives, Sarsaparilla, Dock, Stillingia, and Mandrake with the Iodides of Potash and Iron, makes a most effectual cure of a series of complaints which are very prevalent and afflicting. It purifies the blood, purges out the lurking humors in the system, that undermine health and settle into troublesome disorders. Eruptions of the skin are the appearance on the surface of humors that should be expelled from the blood. Internal derangements are the determination of these same humors to some internal organ, or organs, whose action they derange, and whose substance they disease and destroy. AYER'S SARSAPARILLA expels these humors from the blood. When they are gone, the disorders they produce disappear, such as Ulcerations of the Liver, Stomach, Kidneys, Lungs, Eruptions and Eruptive Diseases of the Skin, St. Anthony's Fire, Rose or Erysipelas, Pimples, Pustules, Blotches, Boils, Tumors, Tetter and Salt Rheum, Scald Head, Female Weakness, Sterility, Leucorrhœa arising from internal ulceration and uterine disease, Dropsy, Dyspepsia, Exudation and General Debility. With their departure health returns.

PADDLING ON THE PISCATAQUA.

II.

To the Boston-trained mind and eye, the sun in the Piscataqua region rises nearly due south and sets about due north. Yet, as the common belief is that the sun ought to rise, the globe over, nearest to the eastern horizon, even discounting its summer southing, the points of the compass, reckoned by the sun, would seem to place Kittery on the northeast bank of the river. To paddle for that shore, and go down and in among the creeks and runs on that side, take the tide at say half-flood. That will give water, current, and margin of time enough, to go into the arms of the river and explore to the very nails of the fingers—to do it without hurry—and then have tide enough on the ebb not to be hung by the keel, and be left in the department of aquarial study until the next flood tide. But to get across to Kittery abreast of the seven-knot Piscataqua current without fetching Portsmouth Bridge, going on this creek trip, is a feat giving to a stranger on the waters a lively, if not a perilous, zest at the outstart of the voyage. Take any water-able philosopher, hanging his heels over the capsill of the wharf, waiting for a job to ferry somebody over to the navy yard in his boat, and ask him how to do it, he might say that doing it safely resembles most of the success in life, which begins very low down. Construed, this could be taken as advice to begin at a much lower point down on the river at the start than is expected to be reached on the opposite bank at the arrival, say a leeway allowance for drift by an amateur paddler, without university-crew biceps and wind, of about an eighth of a mile. It may save a novice a laugh at his cost to get his boat far enough down to shoot the river sure, even if he has to tow along the ends of the piers by the boat's painter to do it. Not long ago a young fresh-water sailor from Lake Erie who "knew all about boats," went out on the Piscataqua for a gentle pull, as he supposed; but he made a miscalculation and soon found himself, in spite of all his inland knowledge and muscle, only able to go precisely where he did not want to go, and that in a decidedly unsafe direction. "He hollered like 'blue blazes,'" so the ancient watermen that infest the waterside say, and they hurried out from shore and towed him in his boat ingloriously back to the pier; taking him in charge only in the nick of time to save, at least, the dryness of his clothes. Any of the little human shrimps that shoal on the wharves in Portsmouth could have done with ease and safety, by proper calculation, what the young man from Erie tried by main strength and awkwardness to accomplish, and failed; so the little shrimps slyly laughed and jeered at him, among themselves, from behind the board piles and fish barrels on the piers, having no respect for the stranger within their gates who could not do what they could. But it is not always the inexperienced who get into trouble this way here, for only the other day a vessel coming up the stream to the coal pier, in charge of a competent pilot, mistayed in the tide, got picked up on a ledge, became a perfect wreck, and had to be stripped in mid-river, nearly at the intended mooring. The expense of hiring a tow boat was saved, but the vessel was lost. The experience of the young man from Erie is worth something, and instead of beginning just back of Church Hill to go across, suppose "Adams' Pier," a couple of hundred yards or more distant down the river, is tried. Yes, it will be a good idea. "Adams'" seems to be the popular city fishing place, and can scarce be passed on the river at any tide but what many lines are out, and expectation of bites sits tiptoe on the fishers' faces. It may be here that the story of the catch of "salt-water trout," told by the Portsmouth humorist, is located. This is the nub:

"Now," said I, as I put on a whole clam, "I'll show you fishing that will astonish you."

"I daresay," said Ben, from the post, blowing out a cloud of smoke.

Down went the morsel to the bottom, which it no sooner touched than I had a bite. And such a bite! The rod in my hand bent like a withe, and the line whistled through the water as the struggling fish essayed to escape, now this way, now that way—now up, and then plunging heavily down.

"Hold on!" cried Ben, from the post; "you've got him, sure. He must be a half-but!" He was very much excited, but stuck to the top of the post. "Give him play sir, and you'll tire him out."

I made a feint to pull him, and he again started, coming to rest again speedily in six fathom of water, from which I in vain endeavored to start him, my pole bending double as I tugged to draw him from the bottom; but he held on most tenaciously. At last, after a violent struggle, grown weary with the effort, the sweat streaming down my face, I laid down the rod and pulled the victim in, to Ben's great delight, hand over hand.

"You've cotched him, sir, as sure as eggs," said Ben from the post, who had not. I was sure, as I certainly had not, breathed for fifteen minutes, as I drew upon the wharf a splendid river trout, weighing, I should judge, three pounds, that, as I threw him down, flapped a half-handful of gravel in my eyes with his tail. He was a noble speckled fellow, with horns on his head, and a mouth four inches wide, with which he had swallowed my hook. Such a pair of expressive eyes I never saw in a trout before; and as he turned them up to mine, there seemed almost a human reproach in them, that melted me.

"Ben," said I, "isn't that a monstrous trout?"

"That's the king of 'em," said Ben, "but they don't call 'em trout down here."

"What do they call 'em?" I asked, with much interest.

He gave a name.

Well, a fish is a fish, anyhow, whatever may be said to the contrary; and if any one wishes to know what I caught, let him ask Ben.

The sculpin as the fish captured is as truthfully described by Shillaber's apt pen as Griggs could paint a real trout on canvas or a panel. On the Piscataqua they generally call the sculpin variety of trout "grope." The spelling is various, sometimes it is "graupy." Boston dissents from either of those spellings and pronunciations, knowing the fish's common appellation to be "crapey."

Do not imagine, to resume, when "paddles" and canoe are mentioned in this sketch as propulsive and water-carrying, that they mean such implements and means of transportation as are associated with Indian voyaging. They have all gone out of style on the Piscataqua. Stout spruce or ashen handles and blades are better, and a light pilot's canoe like the "Swan" which has more bearings, keel and hold-on, is safer than the round-bottom canoe of the wandering tribes that voyaged on these waters more than two centuries ago, and who, among the many cowardly things they did on land, killed poor, inoffensive Ursula Cott. Neither, as a rule, is the method of "paddling" any such operation as they performed, sometimes standing bolt upright and sometimes kneeling, but instead the propelling is done seated on a firm thwart with oars in hand and a foot-stretcher at the properly adjusted distance to give all the muscles full play and strength. Here at "Adams'" the "Swan" starts, and the paddler must be careful to put science into his paddling lest he hear some critical remarks, perhaps made in this style of lingual construction: "Say, mister, why don't you put your oars down deep in the water and take 'em out with a jerk?" Or possibly coming in form like this: "Say, is that a sidewheeler, mister? Why don't you throw your oars up higher in the air?" Some nearly toddling infant, born almost in the water, maybap washed ashore—balancing himself on the mooring pile of the pier or seated contentedly on the main truck of some mast, to which elevation he has laboriously "shinned" by the tarry shrouds, is most likely the critic.

But the start is made; be careful and not get sideward of the beacon; go the other side. Ten feet apart eddies set in different directions. Any market woman coming across from Elliot or Kittery knows how they favor or disfavor, but they puzzle the stranger and sometimes confound the seaman, as has been seen. At the fish-pier near the bridge, Elliotwards, and far above "Adams'" on the opposite startingside, the "Swan" is turned head on from breasting the tide into the slack and comparatively still water, along Kittery Foreside shore, toward the Navy Yard Bridge, Pointwards.

"O'er the dear Piscataqua
Gayly is our light boat dancing;
Brightly on its crystal waves,
Lo! the morning sun is glancing.

From the rocky pass emerged,
Sinking cliffs and shelving beaches,
Far receding, usher us
To the loveliest of reaches.

Stretching wide, a beauteous lake
To the raptured eye is given;
Far beyond, the blue hills meet
In the clearer blue of heaven.

Rustic dwellings, clumps of trees,
Upland swells, and verdant meadows,
Lie around; and over all
Flit the summer lights and shadows."

Thus carols the river-worshipping muse of James Kennard, Jr., one of Portsmouth's poets of the past, in "A Sail on the Piscataqua," and the theme and the hour are in sympathy now.—Transcript.

Daily Chronicle.

FRIDAY, SEPTEMBER 14, 1877.

News and Notes.

St. Louis 3, Hartfords 2, Bostons happy.

The seamen of the German frigate Vineta had a fight with the authorities and citizens of Santos, Brazil, August 14th, in which one policeman was killed and three badly wounded, one seaman also being killed and many hurt.

Mr. Samuel Page, of Boston, has been working for nearly three years to induce the horse owners of that community to take the blinders off of the bridles. Mr. Page claims that a horse requires less to keep him, is healthier every way, can do more work, and is in much better condition when not forced to wear blinders. Some of the Boston horse railroad companies have accepted his view of the case, and find that nineteen horses without blinders will do the work of twenty horses with blinders. The reform will probably go on successfully.

E. C. Bassick, who has been twenty years a miner, beginning in Australia, has at last "struck it rich" out in Colorado. He calls his lode "the Maine," in honor of his native State. He has already got a handsome sum in hand, and talks about twenty-five to fifty millions already in sight in his mine.

A murder was committed in St. Louis seven years ago by Mike Ryan, who killed a man by the name of O'Brien. The wife of O'Brien has persistently watched for Ryan all of the time, and has at last been rewarded in finding the murderer of her husband. She discovered him among a gang of street sweepers, and had him arrested. The witnesses to the murder are all living, and there seems no doubt that Ryan will be hung.

The Board of Engineers began Wednesday examination of Elizabeth river, near Norfolk, with a view of erecting a fresh water basin there for the storage of iron-clads. It was thought last Spring that a good harbor and beach could be made for them at Port Royal or vicinity, but upon thorough investigation by Lieutenant-Commander Mintoyne by order of Secretary Thompson that place was found not feasible, and the action of salt water upon iron-clads being so detrimental to their usefulness, the Secretary has decided to take prompt action for their preservation. League Island is not available on account of freezing in winter.

Lowells 7, Manchesters. 0.

"Gath" calles Hayes a lady-like President.

Robert L. Espy, who murdered his wife on Rocky Hill, Conn., and had been sentenced to State prison for life, cut his throat with a small pocket knife. It is not known whether the wound is fatal.

Lame Deer's band of Indians have arrived at Camp Sheridan, which completes the surrender of all the hostile Sioux, clearing the Black Hills and Big Horn country, as Sitting Bull and party are in the British possessions. The number surrendering is between 300 and 400. About 175 of the band had previously arrived.

Hayes will probably "reune" as far down as the Gulf.

Senor Mata, the Diaz Minister here, says that there is no probability of any rupture between Mexico and the United States. He declares that his Government is using every means to suppress the border troubles and that a new treaty has been projected upon the subject, which Minister Foster at Mexico is now negotiating. The ultimate recognition of Diaz by our Government seems probable.

New Hampshire Items.

William Waugh and Ann Gorman, of Nashua, have been sent to State prison for two years, for concealing the birth of their illegitimate child.

A writer in the Boston Globe calls the Flume at Franconia "God's Own."

A bright little girl, two years of age, the daughter of Frank Bean, at Duncan Lake, two miles from Ossipee, fell into a pail of hot water a few days ago, and, after lingering in great agony until the following day, death relieved her of her sufferings.

A Boston Globe interviewer of Buzzell, the alleged instigator of the murder of Miss Hanson of Brookfield, who is confined in jail at Ossipee, says of the confession of Cook, who is lodged in the jail in Dover, that it is perhaps doubtful whether Buzzell could be convicted on the evidence of Cook's unsupported testimony, for at the previous trial it was this Cook who, as Buzzell's hired man, gave much important testimony tending to the acquittal of the accused. If now Cook's confession is truthful, he is a perjurer. There are, however, uncertain rumors that the confession implicates two or three others—Buzzell's wife and her brother, a man of standing in Brookfield—as aware of facts sufficient to establish the case, although these two last-named persons also testified extensively for the defendant at his former trial. Under these circumstances the case is one of unusual interest, and the more so because of the prominence for honor which most of the parties concerned formerly sustained in Brookfield. Buzzell owns a fine farm, not far from the village of Brookfield Corner, and has been engaged several times before the murder as collector of the town. At present his house and barn are models of neatness, and with blossoming plants at the windows and a generally tranquil air around, would never suggest a passer-by ignorant of the fact, that the master of them is awaiting trial for some of the gravest crimes known to his country's law.

Messrs. Little, Brown and Company, of Boston, have issued "part fifth of France and England in North America, a series of historical narratives by Francis Parkman." This work is entitled "Count Frontenac and New France under Louis XIV." Mr. Parkman, who has been studiously engaged during his literary life in collecting the materials for these volumes, has presented his preceding works in a very interesting manner, making them not only attractive to the reader of history but highly enjoyable by every lover of literature; and with each new work an increased interest developes. The next of the series promised is "Montcalm and the fall of New France." The book before us is well up in its many good qualities to the established standard of its predecessors by the same author.

In Scribner for October is a paper of anecdote and reminiscence of unusual interest entitled "A Yankee Tar and his Friends," which throws light on what Dickens and Landseer thought of the civil war in America. Early in the war Dickens writes as follows to Captain E. E. Morgan: "And you think the South will come back within the winter and spring? May I whisper at this distance from Fort Lafayette that I don't. I wish to God, in the interest of the whole human race, that the war were ended. But I don't see that end to it, no, nor anything like that end—with my best spectacles." And Landseer says: "As a good Welshman you will quite understand my hoping that the fighting may last in the new country as it did in the case of the Irish cats, and that when you come to tell the tails, I may be present. I trust that you will find a very honest group happy to shake hands with you."

Mr. Park Benjamin has contributed to St. Nicholas some humorous verses on the rise, progress and sad result of the passion of revenge, as is indulged by a young hippopotamus. The stanzas are to appear in the October number of the magazine, and are to be illustrated from designs furnished by the author. A comical episode of boy-life and a country watch-meeting on New Year's Eve is to be narrated by Sarah Winter Kellogg in the same number. The story is to be illustrated by Champney.

Labor Troubles.

In the mining regions, particularly at Wilkesbarre, the attitude of the miners is of a very threatening character. General Hancock is on the ground, and it is thought a permanent garrison of United States troops this winter will be necessary. There are reports of intimidation from the surrounding points and of outrages upon workingmen by so-called workingmen which cannot be too severely condemned. As long as the bad and turbulent element has control, which now appears to be the case, there can be no hope of peace and order in the mines. These lawless persons are the very worst enemies of the honest laborers.

On the Edge of Ruin.

About six o'clock one evening a young woman, carrying a babe about a year old, entered a car bound for West Philadelphia and dropped into a vacant seat beside a spruce-looking young man. As she was busy searching for a ticket the youngster, attracted by the glitter of the young man's watch chain, made a grab for it and fell over into his lap. The mother quickly reached for the child, and as she did so she noticed a heavy frown settle on the young man's brow, so with trembling voice she muttered an apology. Instead of receding the frown on his brow grew deeper, and rudely turning his back upon her he took a paper from his pocket and pretended to read. A few blocks further on, a tall, sharp-featured woman arose and left the car, the young man heaved a sigh of relief, folded up his paper, and turning to the discomfitted mother, he whispered: "Excuse me, madam, for behaving so cross, for that woman who just left the car lives next door to the young lady I call upon, and if I hadn't pretended to be very angry she would have kicked up a muss by telling my girl that she was sure I was married, for she saw me have my wife and baby with me in the cars. It was very rude, I know, but I hope you will excuse me when I tell you that the girl's father is worth $40,000, and I don't want anything to cause hard feelings between us."—Philadelphia Chronicle.

VISITING ODD FELLOWS.

At half-past 12 o'clock, Thursday, Mt. Sinai and Strawberry Bank Encampments, I. O. O. F., with the Portsmouth Cornet Band, all under the command of Capt. A. J. Sides and John H. Locke, marched to the depot to receive the visiting Encampment, the Bunker Hills of Charlestown. The visitors were accompanied by the Medford Band and arrived on the noon train; they were received with the customary military salute, after which they took up their line of march up Deer street to Bridge and down Congress street to Odd Fellows' Hall, where the formal reception exercises took place; after which the visitors were escorted to the Rockingham House for dinner. The Encampments as they marched down Congress street made a splendid appearance, and the military evolutions of the Bunker Hills were highly complimented by competent judges. At four o'clock P. M. they took carriages at the Rockingham House for a drive to Newcastle. In the evening a concert was given on Market square by the Medford Band; the concert attracted many people to the place, and gave all the hearers who know what good music is much pleasure. The programme was as follows:

1. Soldiers and Sailors Dedication March, Frederic.
2. Overture, "Martha," Flotow.
3. Selection, "I. Masnadieu," Verdi.
4. Concert Polka, "Village Bells," Strauss.
5. Selection, "Ye Olden Time,' Beyer.
6. Waltzer Journalistes, Strauss.
7. Quartette for Horns, with Chorus.
   a. Sweet and Low, } Barnby.
   b. Soldier's Farewell, } Kucken.
8. Concert Galop "Victoria," Ascher.

To-day the Bunker Hills go to Foss' beach, on a clam-bake, returning to this city at noon. At three o'clock P. M. the three Encampments will have a street parade.

PORTSMOUTH AND VICINITY.

Our Drawing Room.

The last steamboat excursion of the season comes off to-day, in the Appledore. Fare only 60 cents for the round trip; children half-price. See advertisement.

The game of base ball between the Granite States of this city and the Our Boys of Newmarket, on Thursday, was closely contested, resulting in a victory for the visitors by a score of fourteen to thirteen. The batting on both sides was very heavy, and the fielding fair; Rowe, the centre fielder of the Granite States, making the most brilliant play of the game, capturing five flies, none of which were easy ones. Cushig's play at first base was fine. The game was one of the best ever played here, and it was witnessed by some two hundred spectators.

About sixty persons went on Col. Butler's last excursion to the Shoals per steamer Appledore, on Thursday. The sea was smooth as a millpond, and much sweeter-smelling than any Portsmouth millpond, and the day was perfect, sun and wind being proportioned just right for comfort. The only exciting incident of the day was the frantic race of the man who visited White Island, and who delayed his return until the last moment—and a little later—to catch the Appledore before she started on her home trip; those of his friends who know how much he hates hard work sympathized deeply with him as he mopped his streaming face and yawed his boat all around the compass in desperate attempts to make her go quick through the water, and all the other passengers were glad when he got into the wharf. But they were not half so glad of it as he was.

It is estimated that there are fifteen hundred boats of various kinds on the shores and moorings from Fort Constitution to Dover Point.

Mackerel catchers are doing well off the harbor now, making from ten to forty dollars each a day. There were at least three hundred sail of vessels in sight of Whale's-back on Thursday.

The last guest of the season at the Hotel Wentworth, a lady, a native of Portsmouth, reluctantly took leave on Monday, with her children, of the beautiful region, for her home in Boston, expressing her intention to return with the earliest summer days of the coming year.

Capt. Moses B. Tower, of Boston, with two divers, arrived in this city Thursday evening, and will examine the bottom of the brig Clara J. Adams at low tide this forenoon, to ascertain the nature and extent of the injuries received by the vessel on the beacon ledge.

The only surviving member of John Brown's company of "Wide Awakes," 63 in number, who fought at Ossawatamie, resides in this city.

Dow says there are twenty-six brickyards on the Piscataqua and its branches.

Now let the "Manchesters" call down this way and see if they can "get away" with the "Granite States."

Schooner Western Star (of Boston), from Georgetown, D. C., for this city, was disabled and abandoned in a sinking condition Sept. 9, lat. 36 30, lon. 75 15. The crew, consisting of Capt. Crocker and six men, were rescued by steamer City of Dallas, from New York, and landed at Port Royal, S. C.; 11th. The Western Star registered 317 tons, and was built at Fairhaven, Mass., in 1860.

Bro. F. W. Miller is happy. The supply of Havana tobacco in New York has run short.

There will be an editorial invasion of Portsmouth from Great Falls by the 8:20 train this morning.

All three republican Senators are elected in York County.

Hon. John H. Burleigh, whom the republicans of the first Maine district twice honored by elevating to a Congressional seat, showed his gratitude by voting for the democratic candidate for Governor at the recent election.

On Wednesday Captain James Tobey, of Eliot, seventy-three years old, dug sixty bushels of potatoes and ate a lunch, within five hours.

A MARINE DISASTER.

Ship Triumphant (of Boston), Libbey, at San Francisco Sept. 3d, after a passage of 151 days from Liverpool, reports that she did not reach the NE trades until April 24th, and had them very light; after crossing the equator, had good SE trades to lat 18 south and fair runs to the lat of Rio; from off Rio encountered continued SW gales, and were twenty-six days working down to Cape Corrientes of the River Plate—a portion of the route usually made in a week; from thence had moderate fair winds to entrance of Straits le Maire, but the wind then freshened from south, and we had to go out around Staten Island. On the 24th of June, Cape Horn bearing north, distant twenty-four miles, the wind rapidly increased to a strong gale and continued blowing with great violence between WNW and SW until noon of June 29th. Night of June 28th while laying to on the port tack, ship under two lower topsails with the sheets eased off, wind SW with a high sea from SW and another from W, a heavy sea struck the ship forward, which carried away the martingale, sprung the bowsprit and foretopmast and topgallantmast. In the lee lurch which followed, the farrel band of the upper foretopsail yard broke off, losing the tub overboard, and the broken ironwork on the yard gouged out the mast and crippled it before we could get aloft to secure the yard with lashings. In the morning, found the deck and topside seams opened forward and about the channels, and the ship making considerable water. Also found the fore yard started in the centre scarf, and the ends dropped down; the lower fore and main topsail yards twisted around in their bands and badly scored and weakened; also the cheeks on fore and mainmasts sprung off from the masts, and the trestle trees racked and strained. The sails which had been set were strained out, while those which were furled were considerably injured by being frequently blown adrift from the gaskets during the night. Drifted about as best we could under main and mizzen sails—with moderate and westerly winds until the evening of July 3d, when having completed temporary repairs, made moderate sail forward and proceeded on our voyage—at the same time taking the first of an easterly wind which continued five days and ran the ship across 50 S in the Pacific. From 50 S in the Pacific have had no very bad weather. Took the SE trades in the Pacific on July 27, in lat 21 S, lon 110 45 W had them rather light, and from a direction considerably to the N of E. Took the NE trades in the North Pacific on Aug. 8, lat 10 17 N, lon 120 30 W; lost them Aug. 17, lat 28 23 N, lon 136 13 W; since then have had calms.

The ship America, Capt. Emerson, arrived at San Francisco on the 12th inst., having made the passage from New York in 112 days, one of the best of the season. She is of the same model as the Triumphant, and about the same size; both are owned by Messrs. Thayer & Lincoln.

Political.

William E. Smith was nominated for Governor by the republicans of Wisconsin, and President Hayes' policy approved.

The New York Democratic State Convention will meet Oct. 3d at Albany. The indications are that a new ticket will be selected.

The democrats of Massachusetts have nominated Ex-Gov. Gaston for Governor.

President Hayes really seems to doubt the feasibility of removing Naval officer Cornell of New York.

Stanley Matthews and Tom Ewing are to stump Ohio jointly, and will speak in opposition to each other from the same platform in at least four large cities. Garfield has challenged Pendleton to a similar tour, and the challenge will probably be accepted.

The Massachusetts prohibitionist at their convention at Worcester on Wednesday nominated Judge Robert C. Pitnam of New Bedford as their Gubernatorial candidate. The convention refused to endorse Hayes. Altogether it was a lively and spirited gathering.

We believe Gen. Banks is a republican this month.—Post.

The attempted reunion of Federal and Confederate soldiers at Marietta was a failure. A number of Confederate Generals were announced to take part in the proceedings, but none of them appeared, and the highest in rank of their side was a Major. The recent successes of the democratic party have made the rebel leaders reluctant to fraternize with their old enemies. They look forward to the time when it shall be a reproach to have fought with the Union army, and an honor to have fought with the rebels. The union of a solid south with the frauds and corruption of New York city, and its overflow into New Jersey and Connecticut, has carried one branch of Congress and threatens the other, and the rebels feel their old arrogance and their old contempt for the north, the viler portions of which they use, while despising the instruments of their political success. — Providence Journal.

Stanley Matthews, "the fool of the (Presidential) family," will be polished off in debate by Tom Ewing of Ohio next week. Next month, Ohio will sit down on him hard.

Returns from 389 towns give Connor 50,383, Williams 38,609, Munson 4998, scattering 747. The towns and plantations still to be heard from last year gave 4438 republican votes and 4401 democratic votes. The estimates are that the final official majority of Connor over Williams will slightly exceed 11,500.

General Butler has taken the stump in Ohio.

As the late Stanley Matthews used to remark—

The Pennsylvania Prohibition State Convention met Wednesday, September 12th, and nominated a State ticket, A. A. Winton for Supreme Judge, Samuel Cornett State Treasurer, and A. A. Barker Auditor General.

The women in Wyoming Territory cannot endure the associations of the ordinary voting places, and separate polls are to be provided for them, at which the judges will be women.

DOCTOR PIERCE'S

ALT. EXT. OF

CURES DISEASES OF THE THROAT, LUNGS, LIVER & BLOOD.

In the wonderful medicine to which the afflicted are above directed for relief, the discoverer believes he has combined as harmony more of Nature's sovereign curative properties, which God has instilled into the vegetable kingdom for healing the sick, than were ever before combined in one medicine. The evidence of this fact is found in the great variety of most obstinate diseases which it has been found to conquer. In the cure of Bronchitis, Severe Coughs, and the early stages of Consumption, it has astonished the medical faculty, and eminent physicians pronounce it the greatest medical discovery of the age. While it cures the severest Coughs, it strengthens the system and purifies the blood. By its great and thorough blood-purifying properties, it cures all Humors, from the worst Scrofula to a common Blotch, Pimple, or Eruption. Mercurial disease, Mineral Poisons, and their effects, are eradicated, and vigorous health and a sound constitution established. Erysipelas, Salt-rheum, Fever Sores, Scaly or Rough Skin, in short, all the numerous diseases caused by bad blood, are conquered by this powerful, purifying, and invigorating medicine.

If you feel dull, drowsy, debilitated, have sallow color of skin, pimples, yellow brown spots on face or body, frequent headache or dizziness, bad taste in mouth, internal heat or chills alternated with hot flashes, low spirits, and gloomy forebodings, irregular appetite, and tongue coated, you are suffering from Torpid Liver, or "Biliousness." In many cases of "Liver Complaint" only part of these symptoms are experienced. As a remedy for all such cases, Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery has no equal, as it effects perfect cures, leaving the liver strengthened and healthy.

Their effects abundantly show how much they excel other Pills. They are safe and pleasant to take, but powerful to cure. They purge out the foul humors of the blood; they stimulate the sluggish or disordered organs into action; and they impart health and tone to the whole being. They cure not only the every day complaints of every body, but formidable and dangerous diseases. Most skilful physicians, most eminent clergymen, and our best citizens, send certificates of cures performed, and of great benefits derived from these Pills. They are the safest and best physic for children, because mild as well as effectual. Being sugar coated, they are easy to take; and being purely vegetable, they are entirely harmless.

AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL,

For Diseases of the Throat and Lungs, such as Coughs, Colds, Whooping Cough, Bronchitis, Asthma and Consumption.

The few compositions, which have won the confidence of mankind and become household words, among not only one but many nations, must have extraordinary virtues. Perhaps no one ever secured so wide a reputation, or maintained it so long as

Ayer's Cherry Pectoral.

It has been known to the public about forty years, by a long continued series of marvellous cures, that have won for it a confidence in its virtues, never equalled by any other medicine. It still makes the most effectual cures of Coughs, Colds, Consumption, that can be made by medical skill. Indeed, the CHERRY PECTORAL has really robbed these dangerous diseases of their terrors, to a great extent, and given a feeling of immunity from their fatal effects, that is well founded if the remedy be taken in season. Every family should have it in their closet for the ready and prompt relief of its members. Sickness, suffering, and even life is saved by this timely protection. The prudent should not neglect it, and the wise will not. Keep it by you for the protection it affords by its timely use in sudden attacks.

Centaur Liniments.

One thing is now thoroughly established. Never since man suffered and human agencies alleviated pain has there been any thing which went so far as a pain annihilator and curative agent as the Centaur Liniments. These Liniments have within the past year cured more cases of Rheumatism, Neuralgia, Stiff Joints, Caked Breasts, Swellings, Poisonous Bites, Burns, Lame Animals, etc., etc., than all other remedies combined. As the name of Centaur implies half horse and half man, the Centaur Liniments are for man and beast. But not the same Liniment. The White Liniment is for man and the Yellow for horses and animals. Herein this Liniment differs from all other remedies, although some of the ingredients are alike in each. They contain the well-known Witch Hazel, Arnica, Carbolic, Rock Oil, Mentha and other powerful ingredients.

Wm. H. Hickox, Rector of St. John's E. Church, Wakefield, Clay Co., Kansas, writes: "Many years I have been suffering from a Weak Back, caused from a sprain more than 40 years ago. I have not found any thing to relieve me until I commenced the use of Centaur Liniment. I feel in my Christian duty to inform you that by its wonderful effects I am entirely relieved of pain. January 25d, 1876."

Messrs. J. McClure & Co., Druggists, Cincinnati, Ohio, say:

"Teamsters pronounce the Yellow Centaur Liniment superior to any thing they have ever used. We sell several dozen bottles per month, and the sale is steadily increasing."

Castoria.

Mothers may have rest and their babies may have health, if they will use Dr. Pitcher's Castoria for Wind Colic, Worms, Feverishness, Sour Mouth, Croup, or Stomach Complaints. It is entirely a vegetable preparation, and contains neither mineral, morphine, nor alcohol. It is as pleasant to take as honey, neither gags nor gripes, and is superior to any remedy in existence.

Dr. E. Dimoch, of Dupont, Ohio, says:

"I am using CASTORIA in my practice with the most signal benefits and happy results, and find it a perfect substitute for Castor Oil."

This is what every one says. Many nurses in New York use the CASTORIA. It is prepared by Messrs. J. B. ROSE & CO., SUCCESSORS to Samuel Pitcher, M. D. tnov1

The Centaur Liniments have created a revolution in remedies for Rheumatism, Strains, Swellings, Pains, Burns, Scalds, Stings, etc. The White Liniment is for the human family, and the Yellow Liniment is for horses. They are certain, handy and cheap.

MAGIC

CONDITION PILLS!

The Wonderful Remedy for Liver Complaint, Biliousness, Dyspepsia, Constipation, Neuralgia, Rheumatism, Headache, Kidney Complaint, Nervousness, Scrofula, Piles, and all diseases arising from a bad state of the Blood!

No medicine ever offered to the public has given such universal satisfaction as Dr. Quain's Magic Condition Pills. Their praises are on every tongue where their merits are known. They strike at once at the seat of disease and show their healing power almost immediately. Thousands of voluntary testimonials of their merits have been received by the agent, from those who have been cured by them, of which the following are samples:

Dyspepsia Four Years, Constipation and Inflammation of the Bowels Three Years, Confined to my Room Two Years, Pain so I Could not Sleep Without Morphine. One Package of Dr. Quain's Condition Pills Made Me Eat Well, Sleep Well and Free from Pain, after being given up by Physicians.

WEST LEBANON, ME., Feb. 22, 1

MR. THOMAS W. LANE:—I have been sick for 2 years with Dyspepsia, and for the past three years Constipation and Inflammation of the Bowels, have suffered all the pain I could endure and live, have been confined to my room for two years, and could not sleep nights without the use of morphine. I have been given up by physicians as past cure. I have taken one package of DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS, and they have done me more good than all the doctors I have had. I sleep well, I eat well and have no pain. They are all they are recommended to be. Please send me three packages, as two of my neighbors wish to try them. I enclose $1.50.

Your truly, JOHN W. LORD.

Another Letter from May. John W. Lord, one month later Wonderful Cures by Dr. Quain's Pills Effected on Him in Thirteen Days. First time Free from Pain for Three Years.

WEST LEBANON, ME., March 22, 1875.

MR. THOMAS W. LANE:—I commenced taking DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS February 9th, and wrote you February 22d of their wonderful effect. I have continued to improve ever since. My appetite is good, and I sleep as well as I ever did in my life. I am free from pain for the first time in three years. When I was taken sick four years ago, I weighed one hundred and eighty-six pounds; I now weigh one hundred and thirty, but, as I am gaining in strength, I have no doubt I shall regain my flesh this summer, by the use of the Pills. I shal continue taking them for some time to come.

Yours truly, JOHN W. LORD.

Dr. Quain's Pills the Remedy for Soldiers' Aches and Pains.

WEST LEBANON, ME., June 1, 1875.

MR. THOMAS W. LANE—Dear Sir:—I am now able to walk out every day, and am gaining in strength very fast, all of which I owe to you as agent for the best Pills in the world. I have taken no other medicine, and my improvement has been steady since first taking DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS. They have done everything for me, and I will say to you, advertise them direct to the soldiers, for they will certainly have cures of aches and pains caused from exposure and hardship on the field. Please send me by return mail another package.

JOHN W. LORD.

Rheumatism for Twenty Years Cured by One Package of Dr. Quain's Condition Pills—"The Best Medicine in the World."

EAST ANDOVER, N. H., Dec. 10, 1875.

MR. LANE—Dear Sir:—As I know the value of DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS and the good they have done me, I take pleasure in giving them praise; so I send you another testimonial. My father has been troubled with Rheumatism for twenty years or more, and has tried everything that could be bought of, but to no good. At times it would be so bad that he could not lift his hand to his head or do any work at all, especially in cold weather. About three ago I advised him to get some of these Pills. He believed nothing in them, but I gave him the last package I had of you, as I did not need them, and he has not been as free from the Rheumatic Complaint for years. No Rheumatism, no pain. What helped him? It was DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS, the best medicine in the world. There is nothing like them. I know it, for I have tried them, and they are all, yes, more than they are recommended to be. Give them a fair trial and you will say so. I write this because I know the goodness of them and wish others to know the same. Some may think I am telling a big story. But remember I am not giving them half the praise they ought to have.

Yours with respect, ED. F. PEVARE.

DAINGERFIELD, MORRIS CO., TEXAS, Nov. 15, '75.

MR. THOMAS W. LANE—Dear Sir:—I have been afflicted for near twelve years with Neuralgia in the face and head. I used a few doses of Pills from many physicians, and could only get partly relieved. I also tried many patent medicines with the same result. I have been cured by one box from most all the time for eight or ten winters, and have been traveling and visiting medical springs, and I still suffered most intensely. Physicians pronounced my case the worst and most stubborn that they had had anything to do with. One told me I could never get well; they all advised me to go South and spend the winter, and thought that was the only chance for me, and I was off to get my family to go to Florida, when through the kindness of Rev. H. M. Mathis, my attention was called to the advertisement of Dr. Quain's Magic Condition Pills. I immediately sent to you for a package. I have taken four doses and I am almost free from pain. The impression here seems to be that if your pills will cure me, they will cure anybody. I have five applications to send for the pills. Enclosed please find three dollars; send five packages to me and one to Mrs. Laura Sherrel Sulphur Springs, Hopkins county, Texas.

Yours truly, J. S. PATTON.

Liver Complaint, Nervousness, Dropsy and Headache.

LACONIA, N. H., Jan. 29, 1875.

THOS. W. LANE—Sir:—I have been troubled with Bad Blood, Liver Complaint, Nervousness, Dropsy and Headache. I have taken one package of DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS. They have done me more good than all the medicine I ever took; I have taken considerable medicine within the last five years. For the nerves I think there is nothing so good as those pills. I can recommend them to all who are similarly afflicted, they have done me so much good. I think they will recommend themselves wherever they go. I shall recommend those Pills to all who need them. Please send me two packages more, one for myself and one for a lady friend of mine. Many thanks to the inventor, agent and advertiser of those Pills.

PULMOCINE.

BUCHMAN'S PULMOCINE CORDIAL

Is the ultima thule o) Medical Discovery.

Among its many ingredients are Wild Cherry Bark, Squill Root, Liquorice Root, Blood root, &c. It is a Blood Purifier, gently stimulating. It increases expectoration and is diuretic. It is sudorific and alterative. It is a necessary family medicine. It is a Tonic and a powerful aid to the digestive organs. It is a gentle sedative, and relieves nervousness. It is aromatic and agreeable to the taste.

CLEAR YOUR THROAT!

Relieve Your Lungs.

PULMOCINE CORDIAL

Is a speedy and reliable Preventive and Remedy. Every Family should have a bottle at hand to check the sudden growth of all Pulmonary Diseases. For the Asthma, Coughs, Croups, Laryngitis, or inflammation of the larynx, Diphtheria, and all kindred Throat Diseases at all times prevalent, it is the ounce of Prevention. Children attacked with Whooping Cough or Croup should be immediately cared for. These painful attacks come with scarcely a moment's warning, when a physician may be out of immediate reach. A dose of PULMOCINE CORDIAL gives speedy relief, and the little ones are spared hours of pain and agony. As "a stitch in time saves nine," so does the possession of this Family Medicine prevent the spread of disease. Parents seeing their children gasping with pain, friends and relatives beholding each other in peril from suffocation by the choking pain in the throat, paralyzed with fear and not knowing the best course to pursue, are liable to apply the wrong remedial agents. There is no safety in delay, no time to waste in such cases. CONSUMPTION, that fearful scourge of the human race, lies at the door of all thus afflicted. BUCHMAN'S PULMOCINE CORDIAL arrests it (unless in its advanced stage at which time there is no local cure) relieves the pressing, suffocating feeling at the lungs, and patient's danger is past.

For Coughs,

Croup,

Diphtheria,

Asthma, etc.,

USE

Buchman's Pulmocine Cordial.

The Pulmocine Cordial is not a quack medicine, is not an experiment, is not composed of any ingredients "discovered" by "walking in pastures" in South America or anywhere else, nor by one who discovered a weed and thereby cured himself. Most of the ingredients are such as our best educated physicians daily use for the complaints specified in some form or other. The recipe is that perfected by one of New England's most learned and famous physicians, who used it entirely in his daily practice until his death. It is offered to the profession and to the public, absolutely pure and unadulterated.

And no person shall continue, keep or maintain any such existing pen for the keeping of any swine, slaughter-house, privy vault, or other unwholesome or offensive place, near either of said ponds, or to any flat or marsh adjoining the same. And no person shall throw or suffer to be thrown from his land into either of said ponds, or upon any of said flats or marshes, any dead, decaying, unwholesome or offensive animal or vegetable substances.

AYER'S SARSAPARILLA,

For Purifying the Blood.

This compound of the vegetable alteratives, Sarsaparilla, Dock, Stillingia, and Mandrake with the Iodides of Potash and Iron, makes a most effectual cure of a series of complaints which are very prevalent, and afflicting. It purifies the blood, purges out the lurking humors in the system, that undermine health and settle into troublesome disorders. Eruptions of the skin are the appearance on the surface of humors that should be expelled from the blood. Internal derangements are the determination of these same humors to some internal organ, or organs, whose action they derange, and whose substance they disease and destroy. AYER'S SARSAPARILLA expels these humors from the blood. When they are gone, the disorders they produce disappear, such as Ulcerations of the Liver, Stomach, Kidneys, Lungs, Eruptions and Eruptive Diseases of the Skin, St. Anthony's Fire, Boils or Erysipelas, Pimples, Pustules, Blotches, Boils, Tumors, Tetter and Salt Rheum, Scald Head, Female Weakness, Sterility, Leucorrhœa arising from internal ulceration and uterine disease, Dropsy, Dyspepsia, Emaciation and General Debility. With their departure health returns.

Tricks of Smugglers.

Chambers' Journal gives the following account of some of the curiosities of the British custom house museums:

The first thing which is pointed out to us is a ship's "fender," which, we remind our readers, is a block of wood with a rope attached, slung over the bows, to prevent the abrasion which might be caused by contact with another vessel. This particular fender was found to be hollow, and to contain several pounds of compressed tobacco. The officer who thought of looking for the soothing weed in such a receptacle must have been an extremely "cute" individual. But here is a still more extraordinary hiding place, and one which must have involved a journey aloft for its detection—a ship's block, the sheave or wheel of which is actually made of solid tobacco. Here is an ornamental pedestal which once adorned the corner of a captain's cabin, and would perhaps adorn it still, had it not been found gorged with contraband cigars. Another commander appears to have been a more moderate smoker, for he was content with only two pounds of cheroots, which were found inside a sham loaf on his breakfast-table. Here we have a number of cigars knotted singly on a string, like a tail of a kite; these were dropped between the inner and outer timbers of a ship's side; whilst holes drilled in the ends of an egg-box furnish lodging for several more.

A broomstick does not seem at first sight to offer much room for concealment, but here is one, which, accidentally broken, revealed a core of that rope-like commodity known to those who chew the weed as "pig-tail." Cakes of tobacco formed to fit into the sole of a boot show another ingenious mode of disposal. But the prize for inventive talent must certainly be awarded to the clever rascal who compressed snuff into slabs, and stamped them to exactly imitate the oil cakes on which cattle are fattened.

The stewardess of a Jersey steamer is the next delinquent who comes before our notice. On various occasions the petticoat has been found to be a useful auxiliary to the smuggler, and the one which was taken from this lady sufficiently proves the truth of our remark, for twenty-seven pounds of tobacco were hidden in its folds. Two more garments of the same nature contained, respectively, eighteen and twenty pounds of cigars; whilst another, with the help of a number of fish-bladders hanging from the waistband, was charged with several gallons of brandy. Bladders of cognac have also been found attached to a ship's keel, several feet under water. It is to be presumed that the discovery of these last was not made in the Thames, the water of that river not being celebrated for its transparency. Artificial lobster-pots, thrown overboard with corks attached, also afford favorable receptacles for various articles.

Another stewardess, in this case belonging to a Rotterdam boat did a little ostensible trading in pigeons. Here is the box in which they were caged, constructed with a false bottom, below which were hidden a few pounds of cavendish. It is a question whether birds ever before so well deserved to be called carrier pigeons. The journey to Rotterdam is but a short one, so that although this lady did not indulge in such wholesale doings as her sister of Jersey, she worked on the principle that "many a little makes a mickle."

Here is an apparently well-bound volume which a studious individual carried under his arm during the transaction of his daily business at one of the docks. It was found to be made of glass, moulded into the form of a book, and covered with leather. That it was a work of much spirit was proved from the fact that it was full of eau de vie. Another book is exhibited, the leaves of which are punched through with holes, from cover to cover, for the reception of watches.

Anecdote of a Russian Prince.

It is the fashion now to tell Russian stories and particularly stories about the Russian Princes that live habitually here in France. Two have just been published that are worth repeating. The Russian Princes in Paris are all men of large incomes, but pretty generally spendthrifts. One of them borrowed the some of 10,000 francs from a money lender, giving his note for the same. On the day it fell due the holder presented it for payment, and was told by the Prince that he had no money to waste in paying debts. At that moment a gentleman entered, and the Prince handed him 20,000 francs to meet the losses of the night before at the club. The Jew tore up his note of hand, and said when going out: "Now, Prince, there is nothing between us but a debt of honor." The Prince bowed and handed over the money without a word. The second begins in the same way, but when the Jew presented his note, the Prince flew into a passion, called him hard names, and drawing a revolver made him eat the note of hand. A few days later the Jew received his money with a thousand franc bill thrown in for interest. Shortly after the Jew received a letter from the Prince notifying him he was again in want of money, and telling him to present himself with 10,000 francs, and stamped paper on which to write his infernal notes of hand. The Jew came with the money. "Where is your paper for the note?" he said taking the money. "Here it is,

Prince," said the Jew, drawing a large cake of gingerbread from his pocket. The Prince laughed at the joke, and shortly afterward paid the debt with interest. —Paris Correspondence.

Shooting the Rapids.

A Boston Post letter writer thus describes the behavior of an ancient maiden while sailing down the St. Lawrence river a few days ago.

One of the damsels of a certain age gave a little exhibition, yesterday, as we were about to shoot the Long Sault Rapid, which was not down on the programme. She went out on the bow of the boat, took a long survey of the angry breakers just ahead, and then bolted aft with all her speed, to the astonishment of her friends, who were gathered outside to enjoy the shoot. Flinging herself upon one of the sofas at full length she buried her face in her handkerchief and cried, "I knew it, I knew it. What will become of us now? Ah, why did I come?" etc., etc. At this moment the boat made a terrible plunge over one of the ledges of rock which form the rapids, where the waves run between fifteen and twenty feet in height, dashing the boat about as if it had been an egg-shell. This brought matters to a crisis with the ancient maiden, and staggering to her feet she commenced to scream for her brother: "John, John, for heaven's sake come and help me." Another plunge of the boat and another scream from the affrighted spinster. She staggered to the window overlooking the after deck and looking out saw the big waves, the rocks and the breakers bubbling as if being churned to nothingness. The sight was to her appalling, and she turned away from it in utter despair. "Lost! lost!" cried she. John's appearance restored her. "There, John, don't you see our danger? And you standing there as cool as a cucumber. Oh, dear, dear. Just look out there and see the fate in store for us," moaned she. John looked and endeavored to console her. "Gone! gone!" was the only response. Then suddenly reviving she cried: "There, John, take my watch and chain, and pocket-book, too; and hold on to them tight, too. I know we are going to the bottom, and——" Another plunge and the spinster lay sprawling upon the floor. She had her "mad" up to the fortieth degree when she did get her feet, and she yelled to John, "Get me a life-preserver, quick! Do you hear me? Don't stand there like a fool. Quick, now." Another plunge and she went over again, for in an unguarded instant she had left the protection of the post near her. "Quick, John; the preserver." John was quick, and in a twinkling had two of them strapped around her with the remark, "There, I've strapped 'em on below the hips, and you can use both hands and feet when worse comes to worse." The roughest portion of the rapids was passed, however, and the crowd began to gather about the screaming Dorcas. Their laughter drove her to the other extreme of madness, and resuming her feet she fled as rapidly as the preservers would allow her, and locking herself in her state-room moaned the afternoon away as rapid after rapid was run.

Apples.

Apples are considered more nutritious than potatoes—indeed, many go so far as to think that they contain more brain food than any other fruit or vegetable. However this may be, they certainly exert a healthful influence upon the whole system when eaten raw or cooked in the most simple manner. When compounded with butter, eggs and flour they are far less wholesome than when baked or steamed. Apples nicely baked and served with cream are a delicious dish, and an ingenious housekeeper can easily devise numerous ways of preparing them for the table. Many methods have been suggested for keeping apples in a good condition through the winter. One is to wrap each apple (as oranges and lemons are wrapped for importation) in paper; old newspapers will answer. Paper is not only impervious to air, but serves to keep the fruit at a uniform temperature. Another method of preserving apples is to put some dry, fine sand into each barrel and shake it down very gently; powdered plaster is sometimes used instead of sand. Another way is to put the apples in a dry sandy soil. A hole three or four feet deep should be dug, the fruit put in upon dry straw and covered with a layer of straw and dry earth. The earth should be raised above the general level of the ground, so as to shed rain. When thus protected, the apples are said to keep well until spring.

Burning a Faithless Wife at the Stake.

About three weeks ago an Indian known as Sam lost his squaw Mary, through the blandishments of an Indian named Jim, with whom she eloped, taking some of his household goods. The loss of these goods added much to the wrath of Sam, and he raised such a commotion among the Piute braves that they determined to teach the frail Mary, and, by her example, the rest of the women of the tribe, a lasting lesson. Jim tried to screen her from the gathering storm by hiding her, but they soon found her, and about fifty of the tribe, including Jim and several squaws, escorted her to the hills, just back of the Washoe lake, on Saturday evening last, and there, safe from Caucasian intrusion, they made a great pile of sage brush, and, after tying her firmly in the middle of it, set it on fire. Then they began a war dance around the scene of cremation, in which all joined but Jim, Sam being very fierce in his leaps and yells. The screams of Mary added to the zest of the dance. Jim, meantime, sat quietly by, and seemed an indifferent spectator. After the body of the unfortunate Mary had been reduced to ashes, Sam expressed his satisfaction, and they dispersed.—Reno Journal.

This Cut illustrates the Manner of Using

Dr. PIERCE'S

Fountain Nasal Injector,

OR

DOUCHE.

This instrument is especially designed for the perfect application of

DR. SAGE'S CATARRH REMEDY.

It is the only form of instrument yet invented with which fluid medicine can be carried high up and perfectly applied to all parts of the affected nasal passages, and the chambers or cavities communicating therewith, in which sores and ulcers frequently exist, and from which the catarrhal discharge generally proceeds. The want of success in treating Catarrh heretofore has arisen largely from the impossibility of applying remedies to these cavities and chambers by any of the ordinary methods. This obstacle in the way of effecting cures is entirely overcome by the invention of the Douche. Its use is pleasant and so simple that a child can understand it. Full and explicit directions accompany each instrument. When used with this instrument, Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy cures recent attacks of "Cold in the Head" by a few applications.

CATARRH

SYMPTOMS—Frequent headache, discharge falling into throat, sometimes profuse, watery, thick, mucous, purulent, offensive, etc. In others, a dryness, dry, watery, weak, or inflamed eyes, stopping up, or obstruction, of nasal passages, ringing in ears, deafness, hawking and coughing to clear throat, ulcerations, scabs from ulcers, voice altered, nasal twang, offensive breath, impaired or total deprivation of sense of smell and taste, confusion, mental depression, loss of appetite, indigestion, enlarged tonsils, tickling cough, etc. Only a few of these symptoms are likely to be present in any case at one time.

Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy, when used with Dr. Pierce's Nasal Douche, and accompanied with the constitutional treatment which is recommended in the pamphlet that wraps each bottle of the Remedy, is a perfect specific for this loathsome disease. It is mild and pleasant to use, containing no foreign or caustic drugs or poisons. The Catarrh Remedy is sold at 50 cents, Douche at 50 cents. By all Druggists.

VISITING ODD FELLOWS.

The Encampments went to Foss' Beach to the clam bake, Friday, leaving the Rockingham at 8 o'clock, A. M. The bake was a success, and was enjoyed by all. After amusing themselves with foot ball and in other ways, they returned to the city to prepare for the grand parade which took place in the afternoon, and which was a fine display; some buildings were decorated, and flags were hoisted in public places. In the evening the promenade concert and levee complimentary to the visiting Encampment was largely attended. The Grand March, in which there were 120 couples took place at 9 o'clock, and the dance was kept up until the small hours of the morning. Refreshments were served from ten until twelve o'clock.

To-day they make an excursion to the Shoals on steamer Appledore, returning in time to take the afternoon train for home.

THAT INVITATION.

The following correspondence fully explains the apparent discrepancy between the statements of the Light Artillery of this city and the Mayor of Portsmouth, England, in relation to the invitation extended by the latter to the company to visit old Portsmouth:

PORTSMOUTH, N. H., July 11th, 1877.

Hon. Geo. E. Kent; Dear Sir: At a meeting of the Portsmouth Artillery held Sept. 29th, 1876, your invitation to this organization to visit England was read by Capt. T. E. O. Marvin, then in command of this company, and a vote of thanks for this courtesy passed, and the proceedings of the meeting ordered to be published in the Portsmouth Journal of this city and copies of the same sent to your address. The company at that time having just returned from an extended tour to the American Exposition, deemed it inexpedient to then name the time when they would make the contemplated visit. At a recent meeting of the company (held June 28th) the action of last year was unanimously ratified, and the company voted to visit England and the Paris Exposition in July, '78. It is not our intention in visiting England to compete with the troops in Her Britannic Majesty's service, of whose fame we have read; neither have we the desire or expectation to impress the citizens of the mother country with our proficiency as American volunteer soldiers; our company being simply a perpetuation of a Portsmouth Artillery of a century ago,—famous not for military precision in all that makes soldiers, but for a glorious history. Our time abroad being limited, we shall simply pass through England, giving one day to Portsmouth; and let us say here, that the company desire no formal public display or courtesies be tendered them, as they only intend calling on your Honor to express their gratitude for the interest you have manifested in the organization, and on the present Mayor as the ruler over the people of the Mother Portsmouth. We should not have alluded to this but for the unfortunate rumor telegraphed abroad that the company had received and accepted an invitation from the present Mayor of Portsmouth, England, and which he so promptly and properly denied. We shall esteem it a great favor if you will convey to him the compliments of the Portsmouth Artillery, and our regrets for this unfortunate occurrence, hoping that you will favor us with your correspondence that we may further acquaint you with our plans, we remain very respectfully,

Your Obedient Servants,

Wm. O. Sides, Jos. R. Curtis, D. J. Spinney, John S. Treat, John C. Lewis, Justin D. French, John Turner, S. J. Slany, Com. of Arrangements for Portsmouth Artillery.

STUBBINGTON LODGE, PORTSEA, Aug. 28.

Wm. O. Sides, Esq.; Dear Sir: I am in receipt of your letter relative to the proposed visit of the City of Portsmouth Artillery Company to their mother town. I am delighted to hear that you have resolved in so doing. I assure you it will afford me unbounded pleasure to receive you and give you a right hearty welcome. * * * I really have never anticipated such a pleasing event; it will be a source of immense gratification not only to myself but to my follow-townsmen. When your intended visit is made fully known, my impression is that so enthusiastic will the leading citizens become, that I shall scarcely be permitted to entertain you privately (my intention being to do so) but be requested to allow it to be made a public reception; whatever course may be adopted hereafter, all I can say is, "Come," and you may rely upon receiving such a recognition as the event deserves. Kindly let me know more fully your arrangements; the number likely to attend, the time you can give to Portsmouth, (one day will not suffice,) time of your arrival, and if you appear in uniform—which I hope to see worn, as I had a little to do with your adopting the same.

Although you do not desire any public demonstration, permit me to say we could not allow you to depart from old Portsmouth without it. My desire and present intention is to invite all to a dejeuner, and our local volunteer officers to meet you, also the Mayor and a few of my personal friends. You therefore should arrange the second day here.

When your letter reached me I could not conjecture how the present Mayor know of any invitation, but the whole matter was explained by the agent to Reuter's Telegraph office. The mistake arose by imagining I was still in office. I conveyed your message to him and your apology for the mistake; kindly thank your committee and the corps generally for the kind expressions used toward me. Hoping to have the pleasure next year of personally thanking them for the compliments, and trusting all may be spared to meet on that occasion,

I am, dear sir, yours truly,

GEO. E. KENT.

MUNICIPAL AFFAIRS.

The Board of Mayor and Aldermen had a special meeting on Friday evening, at which the special committee on the sanitary condition of the mill-ponds made a report, which was accepted.

Moved, that the city hire the South Mill-pond for one week. The motion did not prevail.

The committee on claims reported on claim of C. D. Hanscom, recommending that it be paid. The report was accepted.

Notice was received that if the claim of Alvin Emery was not paid before Saturday at noon, suit would be commenced.

Petition of Wm. Conn that the North Mill-pond and shop of A. T. Walker be deemed nuisances was accepted.

Application of Josiah T. Morrison for sidewalk corner of State and Cabot streets was granted.

Petition of E. G. Pierce and others for a drain across Islington street to Rock street, was referred to committee on drains to report.

Petition of Wm. C. Newton relative to the chimney of Ward's distillery was referred to committee on gas lights.

Committee on drains reported that the drain between Cabot street and Jones' Brewery would last another year. Report adopted.

F. W. Miller appeared before the board and declined the proposition made by the Board at last meeting for acceptance of Union street, and offered to take $150 just as the street stands, and will finish it with material there in the best manner for $75; if not accepted would commence a suit next day.

Voted, that Mr. Miller be allowed $225 to finish Union street to the satisfaction of the committee on streets, and deed it to the city.

Samuel Taylor was appointed a special police office without pay, to attend temperance meetings.

Adjourned.

PERILS OF NAVIGATION.

There is a great deal of complaint made by people who are in the habit of visiting our city by water from the towns and villages bordering the river on either side, that they find it difficult and dangerous to effect a landing anywhere within the city limits, there being but one public landing for boats, and that at the extreme north end of the town, where vessels usually occupying and obstructing the dock, render it extremely hazardous to land, especially after dark, when there are lady passengers in the boat.

Many persons living across the river would willingly come to the city to patronize our store-keepers if they could get here with tolerable safety, but with toll houses commanding each end of our extensive water front and almost impassable barriers between, there is little fear that our merchants will ever be oppressed by an invading host of customers.

Neither are the inconvenience and danger of landing at our wharves the only discouragements which our river traffic has to labor under. If a bold boatman succeeds in scaling the slimy piles of a wharf and gains a foot-hold upon our "sacred soil" he dares not leave his boat unguarded for fear that the gamins who infest the place will borrow his craft, and he cannot take her along with him—there is an ordinance against obstructing the streets—nobody wants to drag a dory up Market street anyway, it is so narrow.

A gentleman came from Kittery the other day to get a doctor; when he returned with the doctor to the wharf, where he had tied his boat, he could see it far up the river with two boys in it enjoying an excursion. It happened that a boat bound for Eliot was just leaving the wharf; the gentleman took passage in her in pursuit of the freebooters; after an exciting chase he regained possession of his own and free-booted the pirates. Being in a hurry he did not take the trouble to bring the marauders back to their native shore, but left them exiles on the Eliot side of the river.

Friday an Irishman eloped with Mr. Jere Gunnison's dory, from Spring Hill. Jere got mad and organized a police expedition in search of the runaways; the pursuit was only partially successful; the dory was recaptured, but the enterprising emerald jumped ashore and escaped across lots. These two incidents are a sample of numerous occurences of the kind, all of which might be avoided if our city authorities would establish a few suitable landing places for our aquatic friends, who would visit us more frequently if they could escape the various perils they now have to encounter. By the way, what has become of our "Board of Trade;" couldn't they do something to open the river to long shore commerce, or have they exhausted their energies in blowing the fog horn, and draining the mill-ponds—in a hora? M**.

SUNDAY SERVICES.

At St. Mary's (Catholic) church, Children's Mass at 8:30, Solemn Mass at 10:30 A. M.; Sunday School at two o'clock, Vesper Service at three o'clock, P. M.

At St. John's (Episcopal) church, services at 10:30 A. M. and 7:30 P. M. every Sunday,—except the first Sunday in each month, when the Children's Choral Service and public catechising, commencing at four o'clock, is substituted for the usual one at 7:30; seats free at this service.

Services at the Middle Street Church tomorrow—morning and evening. Sabbath School at quarter before three. Dr. Alden will preach in the morning at half-past ten o'clock, and lecture in the evening at half-past seven o'clock. Subject of the lecture, "The Value of Knowledge."

There will be a meeting of the Reform Club at Mechanics' Hall, Sunday evening at half-past seven o'clock.

A very interesting service is expected at the Bow Mission next Sabbath afternoon; the time will be especially devoted to the interest of seamen. Rev. Mr. Hubbell is expected to speak on the "Merit of the Sailor in our National Commerce." And Rev. James Noyes on the "Moral Condition of Seamen." We give a cordial invitation to all interested in the welfare of seamen, especially to members of the Seamen's Aid, for whom seats will be reserved. Our service is appointed at a time when there is no other meeting of the kind in the city, as far as we know, and we trust the people will come to this very important service, for all ought to be interested in the condition of those men "that go down to the sea in ships, that do business on great waters." Come and bring your friends. COM.

PORTSMOUTH AND VICINITY.

We hope our citizens will appreciate the forthcoming bird's eye view of Portsmouth sufficiently to give encouragement to the publishers, because after so many failures to do justice to the subject in former attempts we are happy to note that at last an accurate and acceptable likeness of the city has been obtained. The lithograph (as are those of Dover, Great Falls, Rochester, and other towns and cities in this and other States,) is published by Stone & Roger of Boston; and from an examination of the prepared lithograph we think we shall not only have of this town a view that will be accurate but one that will please the eye of the present and former residents of the old city by the sea.

Messrs. John Stokell & Co. have made an assignment of their property to William H. Rollins, Esq.; a meeting of the creditors is called to assemble on Tuesday next at eleven o'clock in the forenoon.

For the U. S. Circuit Court, October 8th, William H. L. Brackett has been drawn as a grand juror and Charles Foss as a petit juror.

The examination of the brig Clara J. Adams by divers on Friday, revealed the fact that the keel of the vessel is broken about eight feet from the sternpost. There are no holes in her and she lies in about the same position as on the day when she went ashore.

The New Hampshire Missionary Society has voted to aid the church in Newington for the support of preaching, until the first of November, at the rate of $150 a year.

The "Appleton Oaksmith, slaver and pirate," as he was very properly termed in the CHRONICLE in connection with a "Confederate" flag presented by some English women to the pirate Semmes, is the son, I regret to state, of a late most worthy gentleman, well-known in his day in the literary world of New England and elsewhere. Not liking his name, thinking it, perhaps, too common, but borne by any number of excellent people, he had it changed to Oaksmith, for which all the Smiths should be greatly obliged to him. It will be about as much honor in after time to the donors of that flag—which should have borne upon it a death's-head and cross-bones—including among them one known as "Lady" de Houghton, as it would have been in their day to present a flag to the famous Capt. Kidd, or Gibbs, the pirate of a later time.

Yours, B.

Members of the Band of Hope are especially requested to be present Saturday afternoon. We are glad to announce that we expect one of the best music teachers in the city to teach the members in the art of singing. We are also making preparations to give an exhibition about the middle of October, and we trust the parents will send their children to this all important service. The Band of Hope is expecially designed to throw about the young the safety bond of touch not, taste not the intoxicating cup; also to train the children in good morals. We think this one of the most important branches of mission work in our city, and expect the hearty co-operation of all the friends of temperance and morality to help us.

—An engineer has a letter from a friend in Chili, South America, who runs a train through the Andes where the grades are 200 and 300 feet to the mile. The Chilian brakeman is described as a most recklessly indifferent critter devoid of all emotion. "Often," he writes, "have I been running down a grade at a rate that brought my heart to my mouth, and those Chilian galoots should be laying off in the dumps, smoking their paper cigars and regarding the scenery as calm and as cool as a canvas-covered ham. They didn't know the difference, forty miles an hour and embankment curves was all the same to them."

—It is really too bad when, in private theatricals, a man is picked out to play the hero, and just as he is thinking how he will hug and kiss the heroine, he finds that his wife has been picked out for heroine.

Ayer's Cathartic Pills

For all the Purposes of a Family Physic,

CURING

Costiveness, Jaundice, Dyspepsia, Indigestion, Dysentery, Foul Stomach and Breath, Headache, Erysipelas, Piles, Rheumatism, Eruptions and Skin Diseases, Biliousness, Liver Complaint, Dropsy, Tetter, Tumors and Salt Rheum, Worms, Gout, Neuralgia, as a Dinner Pill, and Purifying the Blood, are the most congenial purgative yet perfected. Their effects abundantly show how much they excel other Pills. They are safe and pleasant to take, but powerful to cure. They purge out the foul humors of the blood; they stimulate the sluggish or disordered organs into action; they impart health and tone to the whole living. They cure not only the every day complaints of every body, but formidable and dangerous diseases. Most skilful physicians, most eminent clergymen, and our best citizens, send certificates of cures performed, and of great benefit derived from these Pills. They are the safest and best physic for children, because mild as well as effectual. Being sugar coated, they are easy to take; and being purely vegetable, they are entirely harmless.

AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL,

For Diseases of the Throat and Lungs, such as Coughs, Colds, Whooping Cough, Bronchitis, Asthma and Consumption.

The few compositions, which have won the confidence of mankind and become household words, among not only one but many nations, must have extraordinary virtues. Perhaps no one ever secured so wide a reputation, or maintained it so long as

Ayer's Cherry Pectoral.

It has been known to the public about forty years, by a long continued series of marvellous cures, that have won for it a confidence in its virtues, never equalled by any other medicine. It still makes the most effectual cures of Coughs, Colds, Consumption, that can be made by medical skill. Indeed, the CHERRY PECTORAL has really robbed these dangerous diseases of their terrors, to a great extent, and given a feeling of immunity from their fatal effects, that is well founded if the remedy be taken in season. Every family should have it in their closet for the ready and prompt relief of its members. Sickness, suffering, and even life is saved by this timely protection. The prudent should not neglect it, and the wise will not. Keep it by you for the protection it affords by its timely use in sudden attacks.

How Five Cent Cigars are Made.

Among the most popular productions of American industry in these times is the five cent cigar. Comparatively few people are above smoking a five cent cigar, and most people are, therefore, interested in knowing something of its fearful and wonderful construction. According to the manufacturer of the five cent cigar it is a real Havana, except the wrapper, but an investigation has shown it to be anything else. Some of the stuff used as filling was collected in a barrel, and consisted of cigar stumps, cabbage leaves and brown paper, gathered in the streets. The system of boiling cabbage leaves with tobacco stems and the sumac leaves, making the whole "fine Havana tobacco," has been brought to a wonderful state of perfection; but it is said that even the superior kind of tobacco thus made is decidedly improved with valerian, ammonia and tonka bean. Hereafter, when you smoke a five cent cigar, you will know what is the matter with you.

Centaur Liniments.

One thing is now thoroughly established. Never since man suffered and human agencies alleviated pain has there been any thing which went so far as a pain annihilator and curative agent as the Centaur Liniments. These Liniments have within the past year cured more cases of Rheumatism, Neuralgia, Stiff joints, Cabed Breasts, Swellings, Poisonous Bites, Burns, Lame Animals, etc., etc., than all other remedies combined. As the name of Centaur implies half horse and half man, the Centaur Liniments are for man and beast. But not the same Liniment. The White Liniment is for man and the Yellow for horses and animals. Herein this Liniment differs from all other remedies, although some of the ingredients are alike in each. They contain the well-known Witch Hazel, Arnica, Carbolic, Rock Oil, Mentha and other powerful ingredients.

Wm. H. Hickcox, Rector of St. John's E. Church, Wakefield, Clay Co., Kansas, writes: "Many years I have been suffering from a Weak Back, caused from a sprain more than 40 years ago. I have not found any thing to relieve me until I commenced the use of Centaur Liniment. I feel it my Christian duty to inform you that by its wonderful effects I am entirely relieved of pain. January 25th, 1876."

Messrs. J. McClure & Co., Druggists, Cincinnati, Ohio, say:

"Teamsters pronounce the Yellow Centaur Liniment superior to any thing they have ever used. We sell several dozen bottles per month, and the sale is steadily increasing."

Castoria.

Mothers may have rest and their babies may have health, if they will use Dr. Pitcher's Castoria for Wind Colic, Worms, Feverishness, Sour Mouth, Croup, or Stomach Complaints. It is entirely a vegetable preparation, and contains neither mineral, morphine, nor alcohol. It is as pleasant to take as honey, neither gags nor gripes, and is superior to any remedy in existence.

Dr. E. Dimock, of Dupont, Ohio, says:

"I am using Castoria in my practice with the most signal benefits and happy results, and find it a perfect substitute for Castor Oil."

This is what every one says. Many nurses in New York use the Castoria. It is prepared by Messrs. J. B. Rose & Co., successors to Samuel Pitcher, M. D. (nov1

The Centaur Liniments have created a revolution in remedies for Rheumatism, Strains, Swellings, Pains, Burns, Scalds, Stings, etc. The White Liniment is for the human family, and the Yellow Liniment is for horses. They are certain, handy and cheap.

DR. QUAIN'S MAGIC CONDITION PILLS!

Is the ultima thule of Medical Discovery.

No medicine ever offered to the public has given such universal satisfaction as Dr. Quain's Magic Condition Pills. Their praises are on every tongue where their merits are known. They strike at once at the seat of disease and show their healing power almost immediately. Thousands of voluntary testimonials of their merits have been received by the agent, from those who have been cured by them, of which the following are samples:

Dyspepsia Four Years, Constipation and Inflammation of the Bowels Three Years, Confined to my Room two Years, Pain so I Could Not Sleep Without Morphine. One Package of Dr. Quain's Condition Pills Made Me Eat Well, Sleep Well and Free from Pain, after being given up by Physicians.

WEST LEBANON, ME., Feb. 22, 1

MR. THOMAS W. LANE:—I have been sick for 3 years with Dyspepsia, and for the past three years Constipation and Inflammation of the Bowels. I have suffered all the pain I could endure and live, have been confined to my room for two years, and could not sleep nights without the use of morphine. I have been given up by physicians as past cure. I have taken one package of DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS, and they have done me more good than all the doctors I have had. I sleep well, I eat well and have no pain. They are all they are recommended to be. Please send me three packages, as two of my neighbors wish to try them. I enclose $1.50.

Your truly, JOHN W. LORD.

Another Letter from May. John W. Lord, one month later Wonderful Cures by Dr. Quain's Pills Effected on Him in Thirteen Days. First time Free from Pain for Three Years.

WEST LEBANON, ME., March 22, 1875.

MR. THOMAS W. LANE:—I commenced taking DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS February 9th, and wrote you February 22d of their wonderful effect. I used them to improve ever since. My appetite is good, and I sleep as well as I ever did in my life. I am free from pain for the first time in three years. When I was taken sick four years ago, I weighed one hundred and eighty-six pounds; I now weigh one hundred and thirty, but, as I am gaining in strength, I have faith I shall regain my flesh this summer, by the use of the Pills. I shal continue taking them for some time to come.

Yours truly, JOHN W. LORD.

Dr. Quain's Pills the Remedy for Soldiers' Aches and Pains.

WEST LEBANON, ME., June 1, 1875.

MR. THOMAS W. LANE—Dear Sir:—I am now able to walk out every day, and am gaining in strength very fast, all of which is due to you as agent for the best Pills in the world. I have taken no other medicine, and my improvement has been steady since first taking DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS. They have done everything for me, and I will say to you, advertise them direct to the soldiers, for they will certainly cure them of aches and pains caused from exposure and hardship on the field. Please send me by return mail another package.

JOHN W. LORD.

Rheumatism for Twenty Years Cured by One Package of Dr. Quain's Condition Pills—"The Best Medicine in the World."

EAST ANDOVER, N. H., Dec. 10, 1875.

MR. LANE—Dear Sir:—As I know the value of DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS and the good they have done me, I take pleasure in giving them praise; so I send you another testimonial. My father has been troubled with Rheumatism for twenty years or more, and has tried everything that could be thought of, but to no good. At times it would be so bad that he could not lift his hand to his head or do any work at all, especially in cold weather. A friend time ago advised him to get some of these Pills. He believed nothing in them, but I gave him the last package I had of you, as I did not need them, and he has not been as free from the Rheumatic Complaint for years. As Rheumatism, he says, "has helped him?" It was DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS, the best medicine in the world. There is nothing like them. I know it, for I have tried them, and they are all, yes, more than they are recommended to be. Give them a trial and you will say so. I write this because I know the goodness of them and wish others to know the same. Some may think I am telling a big story. I am. But remember I am not giving them half the praise they ought to have.

Yours with respect, ED. F. PEVARE.

DAINGERFIELD, MORRIS CO., TEXAS, Nov. 15, '75.

MR. THOMAS W. LANE—Dear Sir:—I have been afflicted for near twelve years with Neuralgia in the face and neck. I tried all I do not know how many physicians, and could only get partly relieved. I also tried many patent medicines with the same result. I have been confined to my room most of the time for eight or ten winters, and have been travelling and visiting medical springs, and I still suffered most intensely. The physicians pronounced my case the worst and most stubborn that they had had anything to do with. One told me I could never get well; they all advised me to go South and spend the winter, and thought that was the only chance for me, and I was going to get ready to go to Florida, when through the kindness of Rev. H. M. Mathis, my attention was called to the advertisement of Dr. Quain's Magic Condition Pills. I immediately sent to you for a package. I have taken four doses and I am almost free from pain. The impression here seems to be that if your pills will cure me, they will cure anybody. I have five applications to send for the pills. Enclosed please find three dollars; send five packages to me and one to Mrs. Laura Sherrell Sulphur Springs, Hopkins county, Texas.

Yours truly, J. S. PATTON.

Liver Complaint, Nervousness, Dropsy and Headache.

LACONIA, N. H., Jan. 29, 1875.

THOS. W. LANE—Sir:—I have been troubled with Bad Blood, Liver Complaint, Nervousness, Dropsy and Headache. I have taken one package of DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS. They have done me more good than all the medicine I ever took; I have taken considerable medicine within the last five years. For the nerves I think there is nothing so good as those pills. I can recommend them to all who are similarly afflicted, they have done me so much good. I think they will recommend themselves wherever they go. I shall recommend those Pills all who need them. Please send me two packages more, one for myself and one for a lady friend of mine. Many thanks to the inventor, agent and advertiser of those Pills.

MRS P. L. ELLIOTT.

PULMOCINE.

BUCHMAN'S PULMOCINE CORDIAL

Is the ultima thule of Medical Discovery.

Among its many ingredients are Wild Cherry Bark, Squill Root, Liquorice Root, Blood root, &c. It is a Blood Purifier, gently stimulating. It increases expectoration and is diuretic. It is sudorific and alterative. It is a necessary family medicine. It is a Tonic and a powerful aid to the digestive organs. It is a gentle sedative, and relieves nervousness. It is aromatic and agreeable to the taste.

CLEAR YOUR THROAT!

Relieve Your Lungs.

or the terrible diseases engendered by the unsettling climate of New England!

PULMOCINE CORDIAL

is a speedy and reliable Preventive and Remedy. Every Family should have a bottle at hand to check the sudden growth of all Pulmonary Diseases. For the Asthma, Coughs, Croups, Laryngitis, or inflammation of the larynx, Diphtheria, and all kindred Throat Diseases at all times prevalent, it is the cunous of Prevention. Children attacked with Whooping Cough or Croup should be immediately cared for. These painful attacks come with scarcely a moment's warning, when a physician may be out of immediate each. A dose of PULMOCINE CORDIAL gives speedy elief, and the little ones are spared hours of pain and agony. As "a stitch in time saves nine," so does the possession of this Family Medicine prevent the spread of disease. Parents seeing their children gasping with pain, friends and relatives beholding each other in peril from suffocation by the choking pain in the throat, paralyzed with fear and not knowing the best course to pursue, are liable to apply the wrong remedial agents. There is no safety in delay, no time to waste in such cases. CONSUMPTION, that fearful scourge of the human race, lies at the door of all thus afflicted. BUCHMAN'S PULMOCINE CORDIAL arrests it (unless in its advanced stage at which time there is no local cure) relieves the pressing, suffocating feeling at the lungs, and patient's danger is past.

For Coughs,

Croup,

Diphtheria,

Asthma, etc.,

USE

Buchman's Pulmocine Cordail.

The Pulmocine Cordial is not a quack medicine, is not an experiment, is not composed of any ingredients "discovered" by "walking in pastures" in South America or anywhere else, nor by one who discovered a weed and thereby cured himself. Most of the ingredients are such as our best educated physicians daily use for the complaints specified in some form or other. The recipe is that perfected by one of New England's most learned and famous physicians, who used it entirely in his daily practice until his death. It is offered to the profession and to the public, absolutely pure and unadulterated.

AYER'S SARSAPARILLA,

For Purifying the Blood.

This compound of the vegetable alteratives, Sarsaparilla, Dock, Stillingia, and Mandrake with the Iodides of Potash and Iron, makes a most effectual cure of a series of complaints which are very prevalent and afflicting. It purifies the blood, purges out the lurking humors in the system, that undermine health and settle into troublesome disorders. Eruptions of the skin are the appearance on the surface of humors that should be expelled from the blood. Internal derangements are the determination of these same humors to some internal organ, or organs, whose action they derange, and who a substance they disease and destroy. AYER'S SARSAPARILLA expels these humors from the blood. When they are gone, the disorders they produce disappear, such as Ulcerations of the Liver, Stomach, Kidneys, Lungs, Eruptions and Dropsical Diseases of the Skin, St. Anthony's Fire, Rose or Erysipelas, Pimples, Pustules, Blotches, Boils, Tumors, Tetter and Salt Rheum, Scald Head, Female Weakness, Sterility, Leucorrhœa arising from internal ulceration and uterine diseases, Dropsy, Dyspepsia, Liver Complaint and General Debility. With their departure health returns.

Prohibition.

Readers of the last issue of the Dispatch were not a little interested in reading an article with the caption, "The Temperance Movement," and were amused especially at the sombre conclusions at which the editorial mind arrived after its retrospective view of the twenty years past when it asks.

"But frankly, we would ask the temperance men if they believe that the cause we all approve is in any way advanced by the prohibitory law? It reads well, it sounds well, it is right in principle, but do the twenty years of its existence in New Hampshire give any proof that it is a practical and judicious statute? Will some one explain."

In answer to this inquiry, which seems to have been made in all seriousness, we are led to the conclusion that this inquirer occupies about the egotistical position of the proud old citizen of Rome in its palmiest days, when he said, "All roads lead to Rome," and that an editorial friend is "viewing the landscape o'er" from Manchester heights, with its murky atmosphere, polluted with the clouds and mists and miasma which have arisen from the weak and futile efforts "oft repeated" to enforce the law in Manchester. All roads did not indeed "lead to Rome," and there is indeed a world outside of Manchester, morally speaking, as a friend will find if he will rise to a higher plane of observation, and he will find, too, in every village in New Hampshire evidences that this prohibitory law is not only a very beneficent measure, but a "practical and judicious statute" as well.

The trouble is not with the law, but is in the people themselves in all localities where this statute is in effect a nullity. Law, in our form of government, where the will of the majority is the rule of human action, is said to be the "hardening of public sentiment," and the law will be just what public sentiment is. Natural laws show that a "stream cannot rise higher than its source" of supply; so a law of any kind, whether it be in reference to this evil of liquor selling, or other evils afflicting society, such as larceny, murder, arson and others is no law at all, unless supported by an enlightened public sentiment, and this law should no more be styled a failure because men violate it, than should all the statutes of the State which by their penal clauses seek to prevent the commission of crime in its different forms, because they are violated. What good citizen, because men steal and thus violate the law with reference to larceny would pronounce the law a failure, and therefore demand its repeal, and thus make larceny lawful. Who, because evil men sometimes take the lives of their fellow men, would call the law which seeks to repress murder and protect the life of the citizen a failure, because murder is now and then committed; and so of all the laws which seek to protect life and property, and which the experience of society show to be absolutely necessary. A more enlarged and comprehensive view of the working of this law is necessary, if one would judge correctly, than that furnished by the dyspeptic and purposeless efforts of the authorities of our cities, where the rum power is the prime factor in the local political problem. In the country towns, where society may, in a certain sense be said to be in its primal purity, and which has not been cursed with the contaminating influences which infest society in the cities, where "vice, ignorance and wickedness most do congregate," and where the authorities do not see the necessity of pandering to the worst elements in society in order to gain and retain power, this law can be and is enforced and its observance demanded by an unerring and exacting public sentiment. Especially is this true since the great reform movement has called public attention to the terrible evils which follow in the train of unrestricted liquor selling and drinking.

Almost every village in New Hampshire in the higher moral tone which pervades society, and which is the natural fruitage of that long agitation which resulted in the enactment of this law, contains a conclusive answer to the question. The 125 reform clubs in New Hampshire with their 65,000 members made up of reformed men, the ladies, and the old reform workers, are an answer to the question, and the further potential fact, that no man of sense who places himself in the focus of the public gaze, dares advocate the repeal of this law is an unanswerable reply to the question propounded by our editorial friend. The politician with his finger ever upon the public pulse, and his ear to the public heart, is ever to be regarded as an indicator of public sentiment, and that politician has mistaken his calling in New Hampshire, who would risk now his political future in an attempt to repeal this law. Temperance men should stand by the law, and thus "Hold the Fort."—A. P. DAVIS, in Manchester Dispatch.

Disgraceful Scrimmage.

Captain Benjamin Sanborn, of Canterbury, a pensioner of the war of 1812-15, aged eighty-five, died Wednesday morning. Elbridge G. Chase was employed to dig his grave in the old burying ground at Canterbury Centre. While quietly proceeding with his job, assisted by his son Charles, George W. Whidden put in an appearance, followed by another man, whom he ordered to dig the grave, at the same time ordering Chase away, claiming that, as he had been duly elected sexton, no one else had a right to dig a grave. Chase, failing to see the matter in the same light, declined to comply with the order, when many loud words (including much profanity) were uttered. Then Whidden seized the elder Chase by the head and shoulder and threw him down a steep bank and made an assault upon him with a spade; the younger Chase coming to the rescue of his father the assailant finally withdrew in a somewhat damaged condition. The matter will probably be settled in court.

Sympathetic and Cordial.

President Hayes last week visited Senator Morton in his sick room, and the correspondent of the New York Times gives the following account of the interview:

"The President became at once deeply affected, and advancing to the bedside took the Senator's hand in his, and addressing him in affectionate terms stooped over and kissed him on the forehead. Mr. Morton addressed the President by name and spoke of his gratification at seeing him there. The President replied that not only had he been very anxious for the Senator's welfare during his illness, but he had found the feelling general throughout the country. Governor Morton said he had indeed been near death's door, but he now felt better, and believed he was on the way to recovery. 'I now expect,' said he, 'to take my seat in Congress in December next, and to warmly and earnestly support you in your Administration.' The President seemed deeply affected by this. Governor Morton continued speaking in a hopeful strain, referring to the condition of the country at large, and to the President's account of the cordial greetings he had received in his recent travels in New England, and the evidences of returning prosperity that he had seen. He listened with evident interest. The Senator grew so interested in the conversation and showed such signs of growing excitement that Dr. Thompson asked that the interview be brought to a close. 'Yes,' replied the President, 'it is better that I should go, and go at once.' And taking the Senator's hand he again kissed him and bowed himself out of the room. The interview lasted about fifteen minutes, and Dr. Thompson, from whom the above account is gathered, says it was extremely sympathetic and cordial. The President remarked subsequently that he had not expected to find the Senator looking so well. 'I feel,' said he, 'as though he will certainly recover and take his place in the Senate.' After the departure of the President's party Senator Morton fell into a quiet sleep, and it is believed that he will experience no ill effects from the interview."

Washington Correspondence.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Sept. 13th.

The reported determination of the President and his advisers to include Messrs. Arthur and Sharpe in the meed of punishment prescribed for such cases of insubordination as Mr. Cornell has been guilty of, is censured by not a few warm administration supporters, who regard it as evasive and inconsistent with reform, while declared opponents denounce it as cowardly and as another conspicuous instance where the Administration has not scrupled to go back on all its pretensions and to flagrantly transgress the rule of action prescribed for the guidance of subordinates on pain of dismissal, because of its disinclination to shoulder the responsibility of meeting and deciding upon its merits the case of a mutinous office holder whose social and political standing render him a formidable opponent.

Anticipations of another general strike, to be inaugurated by the middle of October, by the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers, have been revived here, and they have led to a feeling of great uneasiness among those most familiar with the inadequate means at the disposal of the government to struggle successfully with the lawlessness and rioting almost certain to follow. These fears appear predicated upon correspondence, made public, between Mr. Arthur, chief of the organization, and some of his influential subordinates. If decided upon it will be timed so as to occasion the most embarrassment and distress, as the vast crops of this most abundant year are already in process of movement to market, and the effect of a suspension of traffic over the trunk lines a month hence would more or less directly reach every man, woman and child in the United States, and many thousands elsewhere throughout the commercial world. The ice has been broken, and recurrence of the late disorders are a constant menace to vast interests—so vast and far reaching that Congress, willingly or reluctantly, will be forced to grapple with the question and find a remedy, or the present "hard times" will be aggravated many fold, and the hopeful revival of business, now so apparent as to be acknowledged by the most incorrigible grumblers and skeptics, will prove a mockery, leaving the darkness of the past four years more profound by contrast with the temporary relief.

Our Navigation Laws have long been a subject engaging the attention of thoughtful men in connection with the decline of American shipping interests; and they have been alluded to, favorably or otherwise, at every session of Congress since their enactment. The action of the National Board of Trade at Milwaukee in demanding their "immediate and total repeal" will aid to insure their exhaustive consideration early in the session. Against them it may be said that our interests have steadily declined under their operation, or at least have made no progress toward their ante-war magnitude. But insignificant as our merchant marine now is, too much money is invested to justify Congress in taking any hasty action in the premises; and a good deal of light, founded upon actual figures, will likely be shed upon this matter of such vital importance to the nation, before legislation is attempted.

Much sympathy was expressed here for the unfortunate Amy Fawcett at the time of her death from phthisis, as was said, in a New York tenement house of a disreputable character, and in extreme destitution. The revelation just made by the New York Herald, invests the matter with a tragic interest, it appearing that she died of injuries received at the hands of a drunken, dissolute brute, who, taking advantage of her uncontrollable taste for stimulants, plied her with them until she was no longer a voluntary agent, decoyed her into his foul den, established himself as her keeper, debauched, robbed and outraged her, and finally ended her sad history by beating and kicking her until insensible and then hurling her over the stair railing to the floor below, whence she was moved to her death bed. Her murderer is represented as a very Bill Sykes; and it is probably expecting too much of New York justice to suppose he will ever be brought to earthly account for this most foul murder.

The United States members of the Anglo-American Fisheries Commission are reported to have scored one in the unanimous vote against the Canadian claim for extra compensation for the use of their harbors for trans-shipping cargoes, and for obtaining bait, ice and other supplies, it being held and admitted that the profits of the trade thus established, were individually and materially of great value and amply compensated Dominion citizens for any disadvantages accruing. It is understood that the point so long in dispute as to whether the limitation of distance from shore to which our fishermen are restricted, was intended to follow the coast line or a line drawn from headland to headland, is the next one to be taken up and decided; and it is to be hoped that there will be no resort to chicanery or craft by either party to the treaty, to outwit and circumvent the other, but that the matter will be decided upon its equities and in a way that shall prove satisfactory to all reasonable men of both. Its final determination and settlement in such a spirit will remove a question from the province of dispute that has long threatened to rupture our friendly relations. KNOX.

The Eastern War.

Despatches on Friday from the seat of war on the Danube to London says: "On Wednesday the Turks attacked the Russian left at Plevna five times, and were unsuccessful each time. They afterward, however, made the sixth attack, and carried the position lost on Tuesday. A Russian official report admits the loss of the fortifications taken by General Scobeloff's division." Other despatches say: "Various accounts of the fighting around Plevna concur in showing that the Turks, up to five o'clock in the evening, repulsed the continued assaults along the whole line. The Czar had left the field when an aide-de-camp brought news that twelve fresh Russian battalions had carried the central salient redoubt and another redoubt, and thus retrieved the day. The London Times correspondent says the capture of the redoubts converts a bloody resulse into a final, and, perhaps, permanent success." Osman Pasha has telegraphed to Constantinople that two redoubts at Loftcha have been recaptured. A despatch from Constantinople says Suleiman Pasha has defeated the Russians in Northern Shipka.

News and Notes.

The Americans won the international rifle match at Creedmoor, beating the British team by 96 points.

The jury in the case of Hayden, the Derby Line, Vt., wife slayer, on Saturday brought in a verdict of guilty of murder in the first degree.

Miss Harriet Bentley, aged sixty, drowned herself at Rockland, Me., on Thursday night.

When a train on the Illinois Central Railroad arrived in Chicago, Wednesday evening, an officer arrested Catholic Priest Grogan, who had thrown from the car window two Bibles placed in racks by religious societies.

The New York Sun announces that Leonard I. Fuentas, a South American, recently smuggled into New York from Europe twenty-one full sets of vestments, to be worn by Catholic clergymen, which he has been endeavoring to sell in Fordham, Hoboken and Philadelphia. Three sets, sold to a Philadelphia clergyman for $800, have been returned and the money refunded. Several thousand dollars' worth of women's elaborately embroided underwear, said to be smuggled by the same party, have been seized. Fuentas is missing. Two custom-house officers were implicated, one of whom was removed; the other left the city.

The Ferry House, a hotel at the mouth of the Saco river, in former years a popular summer resort, was burned to the ground Thursday evening. It was owned and occupied by the heirs of the late Col. Thomas K. Lane. Insured for $3000. Defective chimney.

The report that Davis, the fugitive Weathersfield, Conn., prison official, is in Nova Scotia, raises the question whether he can be extradited under the existing treaty. This treaty provides for the delivery of persons charged with "murder, assault with intent to commit murder, piracy, arson, robbery, forgery or the utterance of forged paper," while Davis' crime was that of being accessory to murder.

The American House, Boston, is said to be the only transient Hotel in that city (kept on the American plan) having running water in every chamber.

New Hampshire Items.

The soldiers' monument at Dover was dedicated on Friday, and the ceremony was witnessed by a large crowd of people. The mills and places of business were closed in the afternoon. The procession was composed of all the civil and military companies of Dover and several from Rochester, Newmarket and other towns in the State. Music was furnished by four bands and a drum corps. Governor Prescott and staff were present as the guests of Colonel John Bracewell, who treated his guests and the distinguished citizens to a dinner. The oration was delivered by Rev. A. H. Quint of Dover, and an original poem was read by Rev. Leander S. Coan of Alton. Remarks were also made by Governor Prescott, Mayor Foye and others. The monument is situated in Pine Hill Cemetery, and was erected by the Grand Army of the Republic, of Dover, without direct aid from the citizens.

Varney's tannery buildings at Wolfeboro, which were destroyed by fire July 4, have been rebuilt and are in active operation.

The United States Pension Agency at Concord, embracing the States of Maine, New Hampshire and Vermont, employs fourteen clerks.

E. G PIERCE, JR., P. M.

A SMART OLD GENTLEMAN.

Mr. Editor: The statement in the CHRONICLE of the 14th inst. in relation to potato digging by Captain James Tobey, of Eliot, Maine, is so far from being correct that I deem it a matter of justice to have the facts of the case given. Capt. Tobey is one of the old and honored residents of Eliot, will be seventy-six years old on the 25th day of September, instant, and is a man of sterling qualities, honest, industrious, generous and kind,—a most worthy example for the young men of the town. Having by active industry acquired a sufficiency of this world's goods, he labors now in the evening of his life, not from necessity but because he delights in it; and takes great pride in the cultivation and improvement of his little farm on the bank of the Piscataqua. Stimulated by the thought that he still retained the vigor of his youth, he recently volunteered to dig potatoes one-half day for a neighbor of his, Mr. Samuel Dixon,—who, by the way, is one of the most active, enterprising young men of the town. The labor performed was between the hours of seven and twelve o'clock A. M., just five hours, and the potatoes were measured by Mr. Dixon (who has established a reputation of fair dealing among the State of Maine farmers) himself, and the result was sixty-eight and three-fourths bushels! If there is anything on record better than digging sixty-eight and three-fourths bushels of potatoes in five hours by a man seventy-six years old, it would be interesting to read. M.

THE VISITING ODD FELLOWS.

The members of Bunker Hill Encampment pronounced their trip to the Shoals on Saturday in steamer Appledore one of the pleasantest incidents of their visit, the weather being all that could be desired. There was a heavy fog outside the harbor in the morning, but it lifted about the time the boat started, enabling the passengers to get a fine view of the coast, and the runs out and back were greatly enjoyed. The inner man was cared for by the Laighton Brothers, and the visitors had several hours to spare for roaming about the island before returning to the city, and most of them improved the opportunity. Shortly before the steamer started on her return trip the excursionists were called together, and one of the most popular members of the Encampment was presented with something prescribed for him by Dr. Curtis, one of the veteran Odd Fellows of this city. In returning thanks for the honor paid him the recipient said it was the best prescription he ever heard of, and declared it the most symmetrical and delicately-tinted bologna he ever saw. The boat arrived back at her wharf shortly before five o'clock P. M.; and the visitors, after marching through the principal streets, proceeded to the depot under escort of the local committee of arrangements, and took the cars for their home.

The band brought by the Encampment (the Medford Band, Jos. C. Norton, Jr., Leader,) is a large one, and a superior one also. Some surprise has been expressed that the music on the occasion of the concert on Market squre, Thursday evening, was not more effective, considering the excellent performances of the band during the marches and on the steamboat trip. This is easily explained; the musicians were placed so low and were so crowded upon by the spectators at the concert that the sounds were deadened to such a degree as to detract largely from the effect, and the fine rendering of a choice programme did not give half the pleasure it would have done had a suitable band stand been provided. The next time a band gives a free (or paid for) concert out of doors in this city we hope they will have a fair chance to show what they can do.

"OUR DRAWING ROOM."

The above is the novel title of an entertainment to be given at Franklin Hall this and to-morrow evenings. In order that the scene may correspond with the title, a very cleverly-constructed arrangement is carried by the company, whereby the barest platform is converted into an elegant parlor, the walls hung with crimson satin and white lace curtains, and the enclosed space richly carpeted and supplied with handsome furniture. The elegance of the appointments is in keeping with the nature of the entertainment, which, we are assured, will be found unique and brilliant, while it does not contain even a suggestion that might offend the purest mind or the most delicate sensibility. This entertainment is free from any objections which even the most prudish may entertain against the stage, and the artists are not only first class professionals, but ladies and gentlemen of high social position. The programme comprises a two-character operetta; some well-selected vocal and instrumental music; a brief lecture on "Marriage," illustrated with four characteristic impersonations by the manager—Kate Aston; and a musical comedietta written especially for this company by Mr. Julian Magnus. The artists are, (in addition to Kate Aston,) Miss Cooper, soprano, Miss Blanche Galton, Mr. Knight Aston, who ranks in this country and England as one of the best tenors of English opera, Mr. Thomas Whiffin, who is favorably known as comedian, vocalist, and violinist, and Signor Vogri, a pianist of eminent European reputation. While entertainments of this class have long been among the most fashionable and popular in England, they are almost unknown here, but the eminence of the artists, the elegance of the surroundings, and the admirable programme, should secure a great success for "Our Drawing Room," and establish it as one of our most popular entertainments.

PORTSMOUTH AND VICINITY.

"The season" is over at the Shoals, the Oceanic having closed on the 8th inst. and the Appledore on the 15th. The floating breakwater at Appledore was towed in on the 12th, and the landing stage and bridge on Sunday. The season just finished has been the most successful one ever enjoyed by the Appledore, which has been famous for success even in the dullest of the past ten years. The steamer Major on Thursday made a trip from Star island, bringing in to this city horses, cows and other gear not needed on the island during the winter.

Miss Kate Claxton, the eminent actress, will appear as "Louise" in the play of "The Two Orphans" at Franklin Hall on Thursday evening. See advertisement.

Read L. Blumauer's ad. in another column of this morning's CHRONICLE, and look out for another in the same place to-morrow morning.

At the annual meeting of the New Hampshire Botanic Medical Society in Concord on Thursday, Dr. Adams Perry of this city was elected President for the ensuing year.

A strange dog, supposed to be rabid, on Friday evening bit two or three other dogs on Cabot street. Attempts were made to kill him, but he got away unharmed.

The old iron foundry on Mechanic street, long unused, is likely to be idle no great while longer, a Boston firm proposing soon to commence there the manufacture of iron pipe.

In a recent canvass of twelve towns in York county, Maine, Mr. E. B. Stilson of the American Bible Society found two hundred and forty-two Protestant families who had not a copy of the Scriptures in their homes.

Lieut. Whipple, U. S. M. C., is ordered to the U. S. S. Enterprise and leaves this morning to join her.

The Portsmouth Philharmonic Society meets for rehearsal each Tuesday evening at half-past seven, at Mercantile and Grange Hall.

A detachment of marines have been ordered from the navy yard to join the Marine corps at the Boston naval station to take part in the dedication ceremonies of the Soldiers' Monument at Boston to-day.

We are informed that Bunker Hill Encampment of Odd Fellows, in this city on a visit last week, have for seven years past always gone on their annual three days' excursion on the 13th, 14th and 15th days of September, not making an exception even when one of the days mentioned was Sunday; and they have never had a day's bad weather on one of their trips.

The suit of the Eastern Railroad Company against the Portsmouth, Great Falls & Conway Railroad, is to be entered at the October term of the United States Circuit Court for this District. The claim is for five hundred thousand dollars for money loaned, and for interest due from the P., G. F. & C. to the Eastern R. R. The bond holders of the P., G. F. & C. R. R. will probably defend the action.

The annual meeting of the stockholders of the Concord & Portsmouth Railroad will be held at Manchester, Thursday, Oct. 4th.

Scandal Denounced.

In a reporter's wanderings about town he heard a lady talking across the street to a neighbor, thus deliver herself on the subject of scandal: "Of all things I do hate in this world it's a scandalizing woman. Now, there's Mrs. Jingletongue, that everybody knows isn't a bit better than she'd ought to be, and whose two daughters cut up so shamefully that no decent woman ought to speak to them, and whose husband gets drunk, and they do say he owes for that grenadine she puts on so many airs in over her betters. If I were to say any mean things about people like she does I would pull my tongue out by the roots, the nasty, scandalizing, stuck up old cat."

—A noted scientist says that rattlesnakes can express anger, contempt, joyousness, and melancholy by a shake of the rattle. But the rattle never rings so joyously as when the other end is biting somebody.

—A noted miser who felt obliged to make a present to a lady, entered a crockery store for the purpose of making a purchase. Seeing a statuette broken into a dozen pieces, he asked the price. The salesman said it was worthless, but he could have it for the cost of packing in a box. He sent it to the lady with his card, congratulating himself that she would imagine that it became ruined while on its way home. He dropped in to see the effect. The tradesman had carefully wrapped each piece in a separate bit of paper.

—While the Emperors of Germany and Austria were visiting at Ischl, a young lady desired to present the former with a costly bouquet, but her courage failed her at the last moment, and she begged an officer in Prussian uniform to perform the office for her. He at once complied, gave the Emperor William the present, and returned to express His Majesty's thanks to the fair donor, who was rather surprised to see this Prussian officer then enter the Emperor's carriage and take a seat beside him. On asking who he was, she discovered that it was the Emperor of Austria in Prussian uniform.

—An English beauty who went to be photographed at a seaside resort, after taking her seat in the chair of torture was thus addressed by the insinuating operator: "Now, miss, you look at me as if I was your young man and you'd met me unexpected."

—"Far be it from us to doubt the word of a brother editor," says the La Crosse Sun; "we believe them all to be truthful men; but when the Durand Times says that the water is so low at the mouth of the Chippewa River that catfish have to employ mud-turtles to tow them over the bar, we feel as though the editor must be away, and some local minister filling his place."

—Mrs. Sherman, the General's wife, has written a letter, in which she expresses herself freely about "round dancing." She says her soul revolts against it, that very soon women of self-respect will blush at it, and that public opinion will eventually drive it out of society. She adds: "The advocates of this dance have had their own way long enough—absorbing all entertainments—sneering upon and ridiculing those who quietly decline to participate—openly and constantly insinuating of those who decline it that they are therefore evil-minded, etc., or are quoting impudently and insinuatingly their only weapon, 'Honi soit qui mal y pense,' and then throwing themselves in men's arms to prove their own purity of mind."

—About thirteen years ago, Mrs. Captain Wortley, a wealthy but childless woman, stopping temporarily in New York, got permission of her French laundress to take her little girl of four years to Long Branch, for a few days. With the child in her possession the covetous woman ran off to Europe, thence going to California, by way of Asia, where she settled. Now after years of vain search, the bereaved French mother has discovered her missing daughter, through the kind offices of Aimee, the actress, but the girl stubbornly refuses to acknowledge her. The woman she called mother died not long ago, after lavishing upon her and a boy, whom she had also stolen, all the luxuries and advantages that wealth could bestow. On her death-bed she confessed stealing the children and gave information of the girl's parentage, but died ere that of the boy's could be spoken.

Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Purgative Pellets

SIZE OF PELLETS

Or Sugar-Coated, Concentrated, Root and Herbal Juice, Anti-Bilious Granules. THE "LITTLE GIANT" CATHARTIC, or Medicine in Parvo Physic.

The novelty of modern Medical, Chemical, and Pharmaceutical Science. No use of any longer taking the large, repulsive, and nauseous pills, composed of cheap, crude, and bulky ingredients, when we can, by a careful application of chemical science, extract all the cathartic and other medicinal properties from the most valuable roots and herbs, and concentrate them into a minute Granule, scarcely larger than a mustard seed, that can be readily swallowed by those of the most sensitive stomachs and fastidious tastes. Each little Purgative Pellet represents, in a most concentrated form, as much cathartic power as is embodied in any of the large pills found for sale in drug-shops. From their wonderful cathartic power, in comparison to their size, people who have not tried them are apt to suppose that they are harsh or drastic in effect; but such is not at all the case, the different active medicinal principles of which they are composed being so harmonized and modified, one by the others, as to produce a most searching and thorough, yet gently and kindly operating, cathartic.

$500 Reward is hereby offered by the proprietor of these Pellets, to any chemist who, upon analysis, will find in them any calomel or other forms of mercury, mineral poison, or injurious drug.

Being entirely vegetable, no particular care is required while using them. They operate without disturbance to the constitution, diet, or occupation. For Jaundice, Headache, Constipation, Impure Blood, Pain in the Shoulders, Tightness of the Chest, Dizziness, Sour Eructations from the Stomach, Bad taste in the mouth, Bilious attacks, Pain in region of Kidneys, Internal Fever, Bloated feeling about Stomach, Rush of Blood to Head, High-colored Urine, Unsociability and Gloomy Forebodings, take Dr Pierce's Pleasant Purgative Pellets. In explanation of the remedial power of my Purgative Pellets over so great a variety of diseases, I wish to say that their action upon the animal economy is universal, not a gland or tissue escaping their sanative impress. Age does not impair the properties of these Pellets. They are sugar-coated and inclosed in glass bottles, their virtues being thereby preserved unimpaired for any length of time, in any climate, so that they are always fresh and reliable. This is not the case with those pills which are put up in cheap wooden or pasteboard boxes. Recollect that for all diseases where a Laxative, Alterative, or Purgative, is indicated, these little Pellets will give the most perfect satisfaction to all who use them.

They are sold by all Druggists at 25 cents a bottle.

Daily Chronicle.

—An agricultural fair—A pretty country girl.

—In court etiquette, a prisoner comes before a judge.

—A literary man who knows Joaquin Miller's early history, said to him: "Miller, there are half a dozen stories about you and where you came from; I should like to know what you really call the truth." The poet, who was swinging his legs on a table, looked up and replied: "Well, George, the fact is I've told so many lies about myself, I shouldn't want to confuse the record any further."

—Ex-President Grant has been presented with the freedom of the city of Edinburgh. The scene was very impressive. The Lord Provost said: "Hech lad, since ye thocht to coom across from tither side, juist coom in; we'll all be unco youckie to hear a blaud o' your gab. Gang your aint about the town, but mind ye, when ye get cheenge for a saxpence, it's coon slippit awa." The General's voice was so choked with emotion that the reporter could not catch his answer.

—The West Point Military Academy has long been a sort of semi-aristocratic school for supercilious young snobs who affect to look down upon the people who pay the taxes that feed, clothe, shelter and educate them. Since the social revolution effected by the civil war, a few colored boys of brains and merit have passed the physical and intellectual examinations necessary for admission to the academy. Cadet Smith was sneered at, and driven away. Cadet Flipper, under whose wooly head were good working brains, was endured and socially ostracised. Cadet Whittaker, now at West Point, is systematically snubbed by cadets and instructors, and cadet Minnie, who arrived Tuesday, received not even the recognition due to a well-bred dog. Surely one may ask on what meat have these our young Cæsars fed, that they have grown so great? "Niggers" help pay the taxes to maintain West Point; "niggers" have proved themselves to have as good brains as white boys, and yet these unrepublican snobs, most of whose grandparents were honest, hard-working mechanics, are willing to eat bread which "niggers" help to earn, while they scorn to associate in the slightest degree with colored boys, their intellectual compeers.—Boston Herald.

Centaur Liniments.

One thing is now thoroughly established. Never since man suffered and human agencies alleviated pain has there been any thing which went so far as a pain annihilator and curative agent as the Centaur Liniments. These Liniments have within the past year cured more cases of Rheumatism, Neuralgia, Stiff Joints, Caked Breasts, Swellings, Poisonous Bites, Burns, Lame Animals, etc., etc., than all other remedies combined. As the name of Centaur implies half horse and half man, the Centaur Liniments are for man and beast. But not the same Liniment. The White Liniment is for man and the Yellow for horses and animals. Herein this Liniment differs from all other remedies, although some of the ingredients are alike in each. They contain the well-known Witch Hazel, Arnica, Cantharides, Rock Oil, Mentha and other powerful ingredients.

Wm. H. Hickcox, Rector of St. John's E. Church, Wakefield, Clay Co., Kansas, writes: "Many years I have been suffering from a Weak Back, caused from a sprain more than 40 years ago. I have not found any thing to relieve me until I commenced the use of Centaur Liniment. I feel it my Christian duty to inform you that by its wonderful effects I am entirely relieved of pain. January 22d, 1876."

Messrs. J. McClure & Co., Druggists, Cincinnati, Ohio, say:

"Teamsters pronounce the Yellow Centaur Liniment superior to any thing they have ever used. We sell several dozen bottles per month, and the sale is steadily increasing."

These are only samples of thousands upon thousands of similar testimonials reaching us every month. All the Extracts, Embrocations, Salves and Ointments in existence are not doing one-tenth the good which is done by these admirable Centaur Liniments. For Frost-bites, Stings, Cuts, Itch, Salt Rheum, etc., there is nothing like the Centaur Liniment. White Wrapper. For Spavin, Ring-bone, Sweeney, Wind-Galls, Poll-evil, Scratches, etc., of horses, the Yellow Centaur Liniment is equally as good. They are certain in their effects; they are pleasant to use, they are handy and they are cheap. No family should be without Centaur Liniments. They are worth one hundred times their cost.

J. B. ROSE & CO., 46 DEY ST., NEW YORK.

Castoria.

Mothers may have rest and their babies may have health, if they will use Dr. Pitcher's Castoria for Wind Colic, Worms, Feverishness, Sour Mouth, Croup, or Stomach Complaints. It is entirely a vegetable preparation, and contains neither mineral, morphine, nor alcohol. It is as pleasant to take as honey, neither gags nor gripes, and is superior to any remedy in existence.

Dr. E. Dimoch, of Dupont, Ohio, says:

"I am using CASTORIA in my practice with the most signal benefits and happy results, and find it a perfect substitute for Castor Oil."

This is what every one says. Many nurses in New York use the CASTORIA. It is prepared by Messrs. J. B. ROSE & CO., successors to Samuel Pitcher, M. D. tnov1

The Centaur Liniments have created a revolution in remedies for Rheumatism, Strains, Swellings, Pains, Burns, Scalds, Stings, etc. The White Liniment is for the human family, and the Yellow Liniment is for horses. They are certain, handy and cheap.

Castoria is certain to operate. It does not nauseate or gripe like Castor Oil, but is pleasant to take, digests the food, regulates the bowels, cures wind colic, expels worms, and causes natural sleep. It is equally adapted to adults and infants. It contains neither Mineral, Morphine nor Alcohol. Children teething may have health, and mothers find rest, if they use Castoria. tnov1

They strike at once at the seat of disease and show their healing power almost immediately. Thousands of voluntary testimonials of their merits have been received by the agent, from those who have been cured by them, of which the following are samples:

WEST LEBANON, ME., Feb. 22, 1

MR. THOMAS W. LANE:—I have been sick for 5 years with Dyspepsia, and for the past three years Constipation and Inflammation of the Bowels, have suffered all the pain I could endure and live, have been confined to my room for two years, and could not sleep nights without the use of morphine. I have been given up by physicians as past cure. I have taken one package of DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS, and they have done me more good than all the doctors I have had. I sleep well, I eat well and have no pain. They are all they are recommended to be. Please send me three packages, as two of my neighbors wish to try them. I enclose $1.50.

Your truly, JOHN W. LORD.

Another Letter from May. John W. Lord, one month later Wonderful Cures by Dr. Quain's Pills Effected on Him in Thirteen Days. First time Free from Pain for Three Years.

WEST LEBANON, ME., March 22, 1875

MR. THOMAS W. LANE:—I commenced taking DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS February 8th, and wrote you February 22d of their wonderful effect. I have continued to improve ever since. My appetite is good, and I sleep as well as I ever did in my life. I am free from pain for the first time in three years. When I was taken sick four years ago, I weighed one hundred and eighty-six pounds; I now weigh one hundred and thirty, but, as I am gaining in strength, I have hope that I shall regain my flesh this summer, by the use of the Pills. I shal continue taking them for some time to come.

Yours truly, JOHN W. LORD.

Dr. Quain's Pills the Remedy for Soldiers' Aches and Pains.

WEST LEBANON, ME., June 1, 1875.

MR. THOMAS W. LANE—Dear Sir:—I am now able to walk out every day, and am gaining in strength very fast, all of which is due to you as agent for the best Pills in the world. I have taken no other medicine, and my improvement has been steady since first taking DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS. They have done everything for me, and I will say to you, advertise them direct to the soldiers, for they will certainly cure them of aches and pains caused from exposure and hardship on the field. Please send me by return mail another package.

JOHN W. LORD.

Rheumatism for Twenty Years Cured by One Package of Dr. Quain's Condition Pills—"The Best Medicine in the World."

EAST ANDOVER, N. H., Dec. 10, 1875.

MR. LANE—Dear Sir:—As I know the value of DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS and the good they have done me, I take great pleasure in giving them praise; so I send you another testimonial. My father has been troubled with Rheumatism for twenty years or more, and has tried everything that could be thought of, but to no good. At times it would be so bad that he could not lift his hand to his head, or do any work at all, especially in cold weather. A short time ago I advised him to get some of these Pills. He believed nothing in them, but I gave him the last package I had of you, as I did not need them, and he has not been as free from the Rheumatic Complaint for years. No Rheumatism, no pain. What helped him? It was DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS, the best medicine in the world. There is nothing like them. I know if, for I have tried them, and they are all, yes, more than they are recommended to be. Give them a fair trial and you will say so. I write this because I know the goodness of them and wish others to know the same. Some may think I am telling a big story. I am. But remember I am not giving them half the praise they ought to have.

Yours with respect, ED. F. PEVARE

DAINGERFIELD, MORRIS CO., TEXAS, Nov. 15, '75.

MR. THOMAS W. LANE—Dear Sir:—I have been afflicted for twelve years with Neuralgia in the face and head. I tried I do not know how many physicians, and could only get partly relieved. I also tried many patent medicines, with the same result. I have been confined to my room most all the time for eight or ten winters, and have been travelling and visiting watering places, and I still suffered most intensely. The physicians pronounced my case the worst and most stubborn that they had had anything to do with. One told me I could never get well; they all advised me to go South and spend the winter, and thought that was the only chance for me, and I was trying to get ready to go to Florida, when through the kindness of Rev. H. M. Smith, my attention was called to the advertisement of Dr. Quain's Magic Condition Pills. I immediately sent to you for a package. I have taken four doses and I am almost free from pain. The impression here seems to be that if your pills will cure me, they will cure anybody. I have five applications to send for the pills. Enclosed please find three dollars; send five packages to me and one to Mrs. Laura Sherrel, Sulphur Springs, Hopkins county, Texas.

Yours truly, J. S. PATTON

Liver Complaint, Nervousness, Dropsy and Headache.

LACONIA, N. H., Jan. 29, 1875.

THOS. W. LANE—Sir:—I have been troubled with Bad Blood, Liver Complaint, Nervousness, Dropsy and Headache. I have taken one package of DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS. They have done me more good than all the medicine I ever took; I have taken considerable medicine within the last five years. For the nerves I think there is nothing so good as those pills. I can recommend them to all who are similarly afflicted, they have done me so much good. I think they will recommend themselves wherever they go. I shall recommend those Pills to all who need them. Please send me two packages more, one for myself and one for a lady friend of mine. Many thanks to the inventor, agent and advertiser of those Pills.

PULMOCINE.

BUCHMAN'S PULMOCINE CORDIAL

Is the ultima thule of Medical Discovery.

Among its many ingredients are Wild Cherry Bark, Squill Root, Liquorice Root, Blood root, &c. It is a Blood Purifier, gently stimulating. It increases expectoration and is diuretic. It is sudorific and alterative. It is a necessary family medicine. It is a Tonic and a powerful aid to the digestive organs. It is a gentle sedative, and relieves nervousness. It is aromatic and agreeable to the taste.

CLEAR YOUR THROAT!

Relieve Your Lungs.

or the terrible diseases engendered by the lung-trying climate of New England!

PULMOCINE CORDIAL

is a speedy and reliable Preventive and Remedy. Every Family should have a bottle at hand to check the sudden growth of all Pulmonary Diseases. For the Asthma, Coughs, Croups, Laryngitis, or inflammation of the larynx, Diphtheria, and all kindred Throat Diseases at all times prevalent, it is the ounce of Prevention. Children attacked with Whooping Cough or Croup should be immediately cared for. These painful attacks come with scarcely a moment's warning, when a physician may be out of immediate each. A dose of PULMOCINE CORDIAL gives speedy relief, and the little ones are spared hours of pain and agony. As "a stitch in time saves nine," so does the possession of this Family Medicine prevent the spread of disease. Parents seeing their children gasping with pain, friends and relatives beholding each other in peril from suffocation by the choking pain in the throat, paralyzed with fear and not knowing the best course to pursue, are liable to apply the wrong remedial agents. There is no safety in delay, no time to waste in such cases. CONSUMPTION, that fearful scourge of the human race, lies at the door of all thus afflicted. BUCHMAN'S PULMOCINE CORDIAL arrests it (unless in its advanced stage at which time there is no local cure) relieves the pressing, suffocating feeling at the lungs, and patient's danger is past.

For Coughs,

Croup,

Diphtheria,

Asthma, etc.,

USE

Bachman's Pulmocine Cordial.

The Pulmocine Cordial is not a quack medicine, is not an experiment, is not composed of any ingredients "discovered" by "walking in pastures" in South America or anywhere else, nor by one who discovered a weed and thereby cured himself. Most of the ingredients are such as our best educated physicians daily use for the complaints specified in some form or other. The recipe is that perfected by one of New England's most learned and famous physicians, who used it entirely in his daily practice until his death. It is offered to the profession and to the public, absolutely pure and unadulterated.

CITY HEALTH REGULATIONS.

THE BOARD OF HEALTH OF THE CITY OF PORTSMOUTH call the attention of the public to the following sections of Chapter 10, of the Revised Ordinances, and invite all interested in the preservation of health in our city to aid them in the execution of their duty:

SEC. 3. All waste water of houses, yards, cellars, sinks, pumps, etc., shall be conveyed by their owners or occupiers to the common sewers, or to such places as the Health Officers may direct.

SEC. 4. No person shall be allowed to throw any vegetable or dead animal substance, or any other matter capable of producing infection, into any street, lane, alley or dock, or upon any wharf, but shall bury them or throw them into the river below low water mark.

SEC. 5. The contents of vaults and privies shall not be permitted to rise within one foot of the surface of the earth. And all owners and occupiers of buildings having such vaults or privies as may require it, shall cause them to be emptied within ten days from the promulgation of this ordinance, and in future on or before the first day of May in each year. And any such owner or occupier neglecting so to do, shall forfeit and pay for every such neglect a sum not less than three nor more than twenty dollars, and a like sum for every week's neglect after the time above specified.

SEC. 6. No vender of meat at the stalls shall be permitted to leave any stale meat, heads, feet or offal of any kind about their stalls or stores over night, or suffer them to be thrown into any street, lane or alley of the city. Nor shall any sellers of fish be permitted to throw any offal of fish into any street, lane or alley of the city, or upon any wharf, but shall either bury them or throw them into the river beyond low water mark.

SEC. 7. If any dead animal or decaying vegetable substance, or any other nuisance, shall be found in any part of the city, the owners or occupiers of the premises where such nuisance shall be found, shall cause the same to be removed within twenty-four hours after being notified so to do by one or more of the health officers.

SEC. 12. When any householder shall know that any person within his family is taken sick of the small pox, or any other disease dangerous to the public health, he shall immediately give notice thereof to the Health Officers.

SEC. 13. When any physician shall know that any person whom he is called to visit is infected with the small pox, or any other disease dangerous to the public health, such physician shall immediately give notice thereof to the Health Officers.

SEC. 14. If any such householder or physician shall refuse or neglect to give the notice required in the preceding sections, he shall for each refusal or neglect, forfeit the sum of twenty dollars, to be recovered by either of the Health Officers in the name of the city.

SEC. 15. The Health Officers may give written notice to the owner or occupier of any building, vessel or enclosure, to remove or destroy any nuisance or other thing deemed by them on examination, to be injurious to the public health, within a certain time limited therein; and in case such owner or occupier—the said notice having been given to him, or left at his usual place of abode—shall neglect to comply therewith, the said Health Officers may, by direction of the mayor and recommended by the city marshal, forcibly enter such building, vessel or enclosure, and cause said nuisance or other thing aforesaid to be removed or destroyed.

SEC. 21. No person shall erect, keep or continue, or permit to be erected, kept or continued, upon any premises owned by him, any pen for the feeding of swine, or privy, over either of the mill ponds in this city, or so placed that offensive substances therefrom shall be discharged or drained into either of said ponds or into any creek, or cove, or drain leading therein. And no person shall construct, keep or continue any drain leading from any pen for the keeping of any swine, slaughter-house, privy vault, or other unwholesome or offensive place, into either of said ponds, or to any flat or marsh adjoining the same. AYER'S SARSAPARILLA,
For Purifying the Blood.

This compound of the vegetable alteratives, Sarsaparilla, Dock, Stillingia, and Mandrake with the iodides of Potash and Iron, makes a most effectual cure of a series of complaints which are very prevalent and afflicting. It purifies the blood, purges out the lurking humors in the system, that undermine health and settle into troublesome disorders. Eruptions of the skin are the appearance on the surface of humors that should be expelled from the blood. Internal derangements are the determination of these same humors to some internal organ, or organs, whose action they derange, and whose substance they disease and destroy. AYER'S SARSAPARILLA expels these humors from the blood. When they are gone, the disorders they produce disappear, such as Ulcerations of the Throat, Stomach, Kidneys, Lungs, Eruptions and Eruptive Diseases of the Skin, St. Anthony's Fire, Tetter or Erysipelas, Pimples, Pustules, Blotches, Boils, Tumors, Tetter and Salt Rheum, Scald Head, Female Weakness, Sterility, Leucorrhœa arising from internal ulceration and uterine diseases, Dropsy, Dyspepsia, Emaciation and General Debility. With their departure health returns.

This standard article is compounded with the greatest care.

Its effects are as wonderful and satisfactory as ever.

It restores gray or faded hair to its youthful color. It removes all eruptions, itching and dandruff; and the scalp by its use becomes white and clean.

By its tonic properties it restores the capillary glands to their normal vigor, preventing baldness, and making the hair grow thick and strong.

As a dressing nothing has been found so effectual, or desirable.

Dr. A. A. Hayes, State Assayer of Massachusetts, says of it: "I consider it the best preparation for its intended purposes."

BUCKINGHAM'S DYE,
For the Whiskers.

This elegant preparation may be relied on to change the color of the beard from gray or any other undesirable shade, to brown or black, at discretion. It is easily applied, being one preparation, and quickly and effectually produces a permanent color which will neither rub nor wash off.

Mr. Davenport's Death.

The Spirit of the Times contains the following: "The details of Mr. Davenport's last illness, as communicated to us by a member of his immediate family circle, and which have not been published, are very curious. He was the victim of a quack doctor. It seems that about six weeks ago he first felt the symptoms of acute rheumatism, and, being in Boston, complained of them before a quack doctor, who persuaded him that he would easily effect his complete cure. He induced him to take fifty acid pills in rapid succession. In a few days after Mr. Davenport's return to his country house, Canton, he began to perceive that his stomach rejected all food. He sent for Dr. Dowling, who is his ordinary attendant, and the gentleman at once saw that the acid in the pills, acting on an enfeebled stomach and irritated blood, had in a short time irretrievably ruined the coating of the stomach, and that nothing could be done to save the eminent artist's life. He informed his family, and when Miss Davenport arrived, although the rest thought her father much better, her quick eye detected an awful and sinister change. Other physicians were called in—eight of them—but all gave the same sad answer. Mr. Davenport was kept alive by stimulants, and was quite aware of the approach of death. He prepared himself by prayer and resignation, and called his children around him and blessed them, and then bade each in turn a special adieu. His last words and looks were for his beloved wife, whom he always called 'mother.' Such is the truth concerning his death, and we are assured on the best of authority that it had not been for the fatal pill he would have been with us still."

A Fortiori.

The following story came from Spain: A Spanish sentinel one dark night was posted at the entrance of a fort outside of Malaga. About midnight he heard some one approaching, and gave the usual challenge, equivalent to our "Who comes there?" To his amazement the answer was, "Jesus of Nazareth!" He at once called the sergeant of the guard and reported the facts to him. The sergeant went forward, challenged the intruder in his turn, and received the same answer. Infuriated at what he considered was an attempt to trifle with him, he knocked the man down with his musket, and beat him severely. He then sent for a lantern to ascertain who it was. When the light came, he saw that it was a gentleman of high standing who lived in the neighborhood, but who was out of his mind. The sergeant, deeply regretting his hasty action, said to the man: "I am very sorry I hurt you; but hereafter when I challenge you, remember to give your own name." The poor victim replied, "I am not such a fool as to do that. If this is the kind of reception you give Jesus of Nazareth, you would have killed me outright if I had given my own name."—Harper's for October.

—Mr. Ralph Waldo Emerson addressed, twenty years ago, a literary society, during Commencement, at Middlebury, Vermont, and when he ended, the President called upon a clergyman to conclude the service with prayer. Then arose a Massachusetts minister, who stepped into the pulpit Mr. Emerson had just left and uttered a remarkable prayer, of which this was one sentence: "We beseech thee, O Lord, to deliver us from ever hearing any more such transcendental nonsense as we have just listened to from this sacred desk." After the benediction, Mr. Emerson asked his next neighbor the name of the officiating clergyman, and, when falteringly answered, with gentle simplicity remarked. "He seemed a very conscientious, plain-spoken man," and went on his peaceful way.

—The Texan who is accused of twenty odd murders owns up to one only, and says that he has had "no other troubles except with Yankees, mobs, and State police." Killing any of these does not count.

The Shooting Match.

The rifle contest at Creedmoor last week, which lasted two days and resulted in a sweeping victory for the American marksmen, was emphatically national. The British team was made up of men from England, Ireland and Scotland, and was intended to represent the British Empire, while the American team was distinctively American. The victories achieved last year by the American team abroad, and the consequent impetus they imparted to rifle practice in this country, cannot but be productive of good results in promoting the cultivation of a very useful and gentlemanly accomplishment. Last week's triumph will only, it is to be hoped, increase the ardor of our marksmen, for the British Rifle Association will not rest quietly under defeat, but will come over next year with increased determination to carry the Centennial trophy across the water. The two days' shooting of the two teams is the best on record, the Americans having scored 3334 points, and the British 3242—the Americans winning by ninety-six points. The following table shows the score at each range for each day's shooting:

FIRST DAY.

	800 yds.	900 yds.	1000 yds.	Total
Americans	568	547	540	1655
British	556	537	534	1627
American lead first day				28

SECOND DAY.

	800 yds.	900 yds.	1000 yds.	Total
Americans	578	554	550	1679
British	559	536	518	1613
American lead second day				66

Sir Henry Halford, captain of the British team, attributes the Americans' victory to the superiority of their weapons, the Americans using breech-loaders and the British using muzzle-loaders. This is the fourth long range victory for breech-loaders; and it will be noticed that the Americans won at each range on both days.

Insurance Company Wrecking.

Our Washington correspondent writes, under date of Sept. 14th, as follows:

A meeting was held last evening at the Board of Trade Rooms, this city, to perfect the organization of a "Policy Holders' Protective Union." The chairman stated that the purpose of the organization "is to protect policy holders against the rascalities of fraudulent companies; to break up the system of frauds practiced by some companies; and to uphold honest insurance represented by good companies." Some statements were made relative to the cunning methods of the insurance company wreckers well calculated to destroy the little confidence remaining in this form of investment. The system, it was said, had been made as intricate as possible, the more easily and effectually to trap the unwary. Under the loose statutes of some States a few sharpers could get a charter and fleece their victims with a minimum risk of punishment. The case of one company was instanced which was started upon a capital of $16,000, and in a little time the originators had control of $10,000,000 nominal assets. Even where those who form the company, owning and controlling the stocks, are honest, a wrecker buys a controlling interest, then circulates stories of the company's failure, and a pal enters proceedings in a Court of Bankruptcy. Nine-tenths of the policy holders, believing them worthless, fail to make the next annual payment, forfeiting, of course, their policies. The other tenth reinsure in some other company believed to be sound, and the stockholders, chuckling over their success, divide up the millions of assets. The Phœnix Company represented their capital stock as $100,000. Investigation showed but $16,000 paid in, the balance being represented by stockholders' notes; and the report of 1875 showed that these men, with an actual capital of only $16,000, controlled $10,000,000 worth of property. One, Goodman, arranged to buy more than half the stock. In a letter produced, Goodman asks his cousin Cassett for money to buy, intimating that there were literally millions in it. It was shown by testimony that the purchase was made, and Goodman had control of $10,000,000 worth of assets upon which to speculate. The speaker, having a $10,000 policy, sued out an injunction to prevent the sale. Furber, chief wrecker, and a poor school teacher five years before, was reputed as worth $10,000,000 at the time of the investigation, and was negotiating to purchase the Phœnix when the injunction was taken out. He also desired to buy the Charter Oak, and got Steadman, an aid, to represent it insolvent in order to beat down the price. After buying at $150,000, the company was again reported solvent, and the lucky Furber came into possession of $13,000,000 worth of assets by his finesse. Property he bought for a song was put up to about $6,000,000 as assets, to cheat fresh victims.

A Washington lawyer of standing in his profession, said perjury was the cheapest commodity in Washington, and intimated that anything could be proven in our Courts provided a few hundred dollars could be afforded in payment, and immunity from punishment could be guaranteed. He says the perjurer goes scot free; while the poor man who steals a loaf of bread that he hasn't the money to buy, to save himself and family from starvation, goes to the work-house. He made the startling announcement that the reputation of any man in the District could be sworn away by the judicious distribution of a few glasses of whiskey; and instances of cases coming under his observation seemed to confirm his statements.

Southern Repudiation.

Since public attention all over the North and West has been drawn to the action of several prominent Southern States in connection with their respective indebtedness, the prominent journals in the South are warning the people to move slowly on this subject. They class it as a dangerous issue for the South, in view of the fact that it is likely to assume such proportions as to consolidate majorities against them in the next Presidential election and cost them a thousand times more than the State debts in dispute. They claim that repudiation on the part of the South is the very worst issue upon which the the South can enter the next campaign. The following is an interesting statement regarding the Southern States' debt: Virginia, whose State debt in 1870 was $45,000,000, has reduced it to $30,000,000 by funding operations, and she now proposes to readjust it by a further reduction. Tennessee proposes to compromise her debt of $23,000,000 by paying $13,000,000. Georgia has wiped out $6,000,000 of her bonded debt on the ground of fraudulent issue. North Carolina has omitted for three years to levy or collect any taxes for her State debt, simply because her creditors refused to accept a compromise which she offered them. Alabama has compromised her debt of $27,000,000, reducing it practically to a few thousand dollars. South Carolina, after compromising her debt by a rejection of 16,000,000 and consolidating the balance at fifty cents on the dollar, now has under consideration the project of rejecting further a portion of the $6,000,000 left. The fear is repeatedly expressed that the people who thus deal with indebtedness of their own States may not be trusted to sustain the national debt.

The Eastern War.

The reports from the seat of war on the Danube indicate further reverses for the Russians, who are said to be preparing to fall back from Plevna upon Tirnova and Sistova. Osman Pasha's report to the 14th says that the Russians after taking three redoubts were forced to retreat in great disorder, losing 15,000 men and several guns. The grand Duke Nicholas officially states that the loss of the Russians was 12,800, including Roumanians. The Russians maintain Grivica, but their position in Shipka Pass is said to be critical.

News and Notes.

Bechler's division of Hayden's surveying party has arrived safely at Camp Stanbough, not having been scalped, as was feared.

Steamer Sylvan Dell ran down a row-boat containing five persons, in New York harbor, Sunday afternoon, and Mr. John Welch, aged 22, Frank Oliver, aged 60, and his daughter Cloda, aged 16, were drowned. The same afternoon and near the same place, steamer D. R. Martin ran down another boat, and Ellen Mack, aged 19, and Mary O'Neil, aged 20, were drowned, a man in the boat having both legs broken.

A despatch received at San Diego, Cal., from Camp Grant says Major Tupper and his command struck the Indians at Knight's ranche and killed forty. The troops are close on the trail of the Indians.

W. H. Hutchinson of Baltimore, and W. P. Junk, supposed to be from Altoona, counterfeiters, were arrested at Tyrone, Penn., Saturday. Hutchinson was shot dead while endeavoring to escape. Their counterfeit coin consisted of quarters, halves and trade dollars.

Probate Judge Elias Smith, of Salt Lake, Utah, having refused a Committee of the Grand Jury access to his books and papers, was ordered to appear before District Judge Shaeffer. Not appearing he was adjudged guilty of contempt. The Court fined him $500 and $50 for each day he kept the papers from the Grand Jury, and the costs. The Marshal was requested to arrest him upon further refusal. The Grand Jury were thereupon allowed access to the books and papers. It is supposed that the refusal was on account of wholesale divorce business.

An extraordinary bit of conscientiousness became apparent at Henderson, Ky., recently, when H. W. Lewis declined to qualify as Councilman, because, as he said, he used money to secure his election, and he was not aware till it was all over with that his oath of office would in any way allude to the delicate possibility of bribery. The only wonderful thing about this is that a man who would commit bribery to get office should hesitate to commit "official" perjury.

The old physicians used to insist upon the danger of plunging into the water for a swim when the system is heated and perspiration is free. At present the best English doctors, such as Fordyce, Currie, Parsons, and Sir Charles Blagdon, say that then is the very best possible time to take a bath.

The whaling schooner Charles Thompson, of Provincetown, arrived at New York from a cruise via Fernandina, Fla., reports that on the 3d Captain Leach was taken sick with yellow fever and died; on the 4th the second mate, and on the 6th the first mate were taken down with fever, leaving the vessel without a navigator. On the 8th the vessel fell in with a bark, the mate of which brought the Taompson to port.

Owing to the wearing away of the rock foundation, Smeaton's marvellous edifice, the famous Eddystone Lighthouse, on the coast of England, is doomed. The Trinity House have decided to take it down and erect another lighthouse in its stead.

Stanley has succeeded in crossing the African continent.

Two brothers named Mitchell, confined in the San Bernardino, Cal., jail, recently escaped by presenting a wooden revolver at the jailer's head while he sat at supper, and so terrifying him that he gave them the prison keys and suffered himself to be bound hand and foot. The revolver was whittled out of a pine stick, and stained walnut color. Sheet zinc was rolled up and fastened on to represent the cylinder and chambers.

The dedication of the Army and Navy Monument on Boston Common, Monday, was made the occasion of the most elaborate military display of late years. Boston was thronged with strangers. A stage in Blackstone square fell with some 800 people, and seven or eight were badly hurt, but fortunately no lives were lost.

POLICE COURT.

Monday, Sept. 17th.

John Crowley, a young fellow, was shown to have been drunk, but was placed on his good behavior.

John Sullivan, a boy—and not a very good boy, if half the stories told of him are true—was up for an assault on Reuben Rand, said assault consisting in his hitting the complainant in the head with a large ball of wet paper, alias a "spit-ball." Adjudged guilty, but let off on probatton.

Jeremiah Murphy and Michael Hurley—French boys, judging from their names—were convicted of malicious mischief in wrongfully appropriating James Linnehan's team to their own use for the purpose of taking a ride. Fined $1 each; costs, $6.90, divided between the culprits.

Kate Reed, who runs a drinking place on Morning street, near the Creek, was complained of for keeping the establishment open on Sunday. A strong array of brewery workmen and others, who were sitting on the front steps of the place or hanging around it on Sunday, and didn't see it open, were in court and testified what they didn't see; but Judge Batchelder seemed to place more reliance on what Assistant Marshal Cole and Officer White testified they did see, and adjudged the accused probably guilty, sentencing her to pay a fine of $10, costs $6.90. She appealed, and was ordered to give bonds in $50 for her appearance at the Supreme Court.

The committee in the interest of the Childrens' Grand Army Roll of Animal-Defenders and Bird-Protectors held a meeting September 12th to make arrangements for a public entertainment to be held in Franklin Hall about the middle of October. A dozen handsome and handsomely-framed pictures (the gift of a lady friend of the cause) were exhibited, and classed by the committee to to be awarded as prizes, as follows: six for the best essays (one prize for each essay) written by public school pupils under fourteen years of age; and six for the pupils under fourteen years of age securing the largest number of signers to the Grand Army Pledge. At the entertainment there will be select music, an original poem, and appropriate speaking, of which due notice will be given; the prizes will be awarded, and an award pledge will be given to every member. There are now over nine hundred members who have signed this pledge. The committee desire all who intend competing for the prizes offered for the best essays, to send in their letters at once to Box 858, Portsmouth Post-office.

SMASH-UP.

As the Conway train due in this city at 11:14 o'clock A. M., Monday, neared the Green street crossing, the fireman on the engine discovered a team (an ice-cart) crossing the track and immediately blew four distinct whistles; this was the first intimation the engineer had that anything was in the way, as he was looking out that the switches were all right, but he instantly reversed the engine and applied the air-brakes, but too late to prevent a collision. The ice-cart, which was drawn by two horses and occupied by the driver, Mr. Frank Garland, and the owner, Mr. Charles E. Hodgdon, was struck on the hinder end by the engine, whirled around and dragged along some forty feet until it came in contact with a freight car standing on another track, (the horses being dragged backward all that distance,) where it was smashed to a complete wreck, the train fortunately coming to a stop a few seconds after. When the cart struck, the forward part was thrown into the air, and Mr. Hodgdon went with it; and after the train stopped he was found with his head under the head of one of the horses and just in front of one of the car wheels. Mr. Garland was thrown under one of the cars, but almost miraculously escaped with a few bruises. One of the horses was found under the car and the other standing up beside it, neither of them being much injured. Mr. Hodgdon was seriously hurt about the head, and was taken to his home at Gravelly Ridge; he was delirious up to a late hour in the evening, and at that time Dr. Dearborn considered him in a critical condition. His escape and that of his companions from instant death was little short of miraculous.

To those who are aware of the number of trains, teams and pedestrians daily passing this crossing, it is a matter of surprise that more accidents do not happen there, and a source of indignation that reasonable precaution is not taken to prevent them. The sad death of Mr. Pillow, in February, 1874, cost the railroad a sum the interest of which would have gone far toward paying the wages of a flagman, the coroner's jury rendering a verdict that Mr. Pillow's death was caused by the carelessness of the corporation in not providing proper safeguards at this crossing. We were under the impression that the city authorities, after that accident, appointed a committee to confer with the railroad authorities relative to the stationing of a flagman there, but we can find no record of anything of the kind in the city books; and if there was any such conference it amounted to nothing, for this dangerous crossing is still without a flagman to warn people of approaching danger, and the accident on Monday, which might easily have cost two men their lives, was a natural result of this culpable carelessness.

PORTSMOUTH AND VICINITY.

It will be seen by our advertising columns that Mr. L. Blumauer has re-opened his dry goods store on Market street, where he has been in business for the past ten years. Mr. Blumauer, like many others, felt the depression in business and was obliged to succumb; but he has made an arrangement with his creditors to resume business, and now offers the entire stock in the store at bankrupt prices, and will sell it regardless of cost. He offers a special inducement to those who purchase twenty dollars' worth or more at one sale. So it seems we can get bargains without going out of Market street to look for the opportunity.

"Our Drawing Room" was thrown open to the public at Franklin Hall on Monday night. It is a new style of public entertainment for this vicinity, and the audience was only fair as to numbers, though the entertainment deserved a full house, the music, singing and character sketching all being excellent, and the fun funny without any approach to vulgarity. The Drawing Room will be opened again this evening at the same place.

The appearance of the Kate Claxton dramatic company at Franklin Hall is postponed from the time first announced, Sept. 20th, to Tuesday next, the 25th.

Four days is a fair average time for letters to reach Portsmouth from North Hampton station; while recently a letter from this city to Greenland depot was a week in reaching its destination, having been received after that time at the post-office in Greenland Centre.

A force of nineteen ship carpenters was "taken on" at the Navy Yard on Monday, for the purpose of tearing down the upper works of the Ticonderoga, preparatory to deciding as to her being repaired or broken up.

Mr. William Prior, formerly driver for Mr. Plaisted, starts an opposition "hourly" to-day.

The Weekly speaks of "the world's papers," (referring to papers whose editors are outside the Grange,) just as self-styled Christians refer to non-professors as "the world's people." Why, Frank! [Emphaticness on the "Frank!"]

Extensive repairs have been recently made to the large building on the corner of Vaughan and Deer streets, (numbered thirty-two on Deer street,) and the old gambrel-roofed house in its rear on Vaughan street, both buildings being owned by Mr. James Douglas. The first mentioned building was moved to its present position from Pleasant street about twenty-five years ago, having previously been removed from Water street to Pleasant, on which latter street it stood for many years. The size of the timbers and the decayed condition of those removed testified to the age of the house; but its timbers were not half so big nor nearly half so rotten as those of the house in the rear, which stands end-on the street. The whole end of the latter building was ripped out from the ground to the roof, revealing the inner consciousness of the housekeeping arrangements; and the comical view thus displayed, and the immensely heavy frame thus exposed, attracted much attention from those who passed by during the day the house was thus dismantled. Wood was cheap when that house was framed.

We are pleased to be able to say that Mr. Thomes H. Odion will not probably suffer any permanent injury to his sight from the effects of the blow he received on the night of the Veterans' reunion, while he was on his way home from Newcastle. It was at first feared he would lose the injured eye; and in consequence, now that all danger of that serious result is passed, he feels quite chipper about it, and cares nothing for the comical temporary change in his appearance consequent on his wearing his eyes under blue glass.

The United States District Court will be in session in this city this morning. A jury has been ordered in to try cases in Bankruptcy.

Mr. Andrew Wilson, a middle-aged man residing on South street, was found dead in his bed on Saturday morning. Heart disease was the cause. Mr. Wilson was senior member of the firm of A. Wilson & Co., manufacturers of hemp and flax hackles.

Rev. James DeNormandie is in rdceipt of a letter from Charles F. Folsom of the Massachusetts Board of Health, stating that on account of several pressing engagements he will be unable to come to this city to look after the sanitary condition of our millponds. He, however, will recommend to the Aldermanic committee several gentlemen, any one of whom will be most efficientin the matter, promising to accompany whoever may be chosen, and give a day to the subject "as a labor of love."

The bill of sale of the steamer Major passed on Saturday between her owner, John R. Poor, and Captain William Robinson and engineer William Gertin, of the steamer Appledore, and others. The Major will be employed the coming winter as a tug boat at Baltimore.

The Supreme Court at Dover comes in this forenoon, when the liquor sellers in that city will ascertain just how much they are indicted. The liquor dealers insist that they were offered absolution from indictment by the complainants in this case, if they would "come down" freely, but they declined to purchase peace at the price claimed. The Attorney General will be present this morning and take charge of the criminal docket. The other indictments announced last week, are numerous, while those for violation of the liquor law were kept sub rosa and are to be announced to-day.

The September term of the Supreme Judicial Court for the county of York begins at Alfred, Me., to-day.

Capt. Robert O. Patterson, late first pilot of the steamer Cambridge, has authorized a suit for $10,000 against the Bangor Commercial, for damages by an alleged libel printed in that paper of the 8th of June, in which it is charged that Capt. Patterson, by negligence and disobedience of orders, came near wrecking the Cambridge on Monhegan, on the morning of that day. Suits have also been commenced against the Portland Argus for $10,000, the Rockland Opinion for $5000 and the Rockland Gazette for $5000. These papers each published the article, or the substance of the article, that originally appeared in the Commercial.

Under authority of a law passed at the last session of the Legislature, the Governor has appointed the following gentlemen as a commission to revise the militia law: Ira Cross, Adjutant and Inspector-General, and William R. Patten, Judge Advocate, of Manchester; David M. Whitè, Colonel of the Second Regiment, Peterborough; Elbridge G. Pierce, Jr., Captain Second Troop Cavalry, Portsmouth, and Frank F. Davis, Captain Section A. Second New Hampshire Battery. The first two members of the commission are named by the act.

John Hubbard, formerly a resident of Windsor, recently removed to Claremont. His wife has spent the summer in Malone, N. Y., and last week returned to her new home. About 11 o'clock Saturday Mr. Hubbard left home with the intention of spending Sunday at Windsor. As he took leave of his wife she urged him to take a luncheon. She gave him a bag of cookies. When within a mile and a half of Windsor he ate his luncheon and immediately felt bad symptoms. Seeing a friend in a cornfield he determined to reach him, but had convulsions and was prostrated. Being taken to Windsor physicians were summoned, who found that the symptoms indicated poisoning by strychnine. Hubbard is now considered out of danger, and an investigation into the case is in progress.

The new horse railroad at Manchester is fully completed, and trial trips were made on Monday. It is said to be the only narrow gauge in New England, and works to entire satisfaction.

Some miscreant recently entered the pasture of Daniel P. Maxfield of Chichester, took one of a valuable pair of steer calves into a swamp near by and slaughtered it, and carried off the hind quarters.

Leo Gilman, of Rutland, Vt., after a vain attempt to procure a license for his marriage with Minnie Smith, daughter of a wealthy Shrewsbury farmer, the clerk refusing it because Miss Smith is only fourteen years old. Gilman then proceeded to forge a letter purporting to be the written consent of Minnie's mother, and obtained the license. The couple were then married, but before the night Mr. Smith got out a writ of habeas corpus, found the child and her husband hiding in a cellar and took them to court, and the case was continued for a week.

—"Going to the caucus, George?" "Ah, yaas," said the recent graduate; "it is the duty of every good citizen to attend the—ah—the caucei." And then he wondered what they were so outrageously tickled over.

WOMAN.

By an immense practice, extending through a period of years, having within that time treated many thousand cases of those diseases peculiar to woman, I have been enabled to perfect a most potent and agreeable medicine that meets the indications presented by that class of diseases with positive certainty and exactness.

To designate this natural specific compound, I have named it

Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription.

The term, however, is but a feeble expression of my high appreciation of its value. Not alone based upon my own personal observation. As a close observer, I have while witnessing its positive results in the few special diseases incident to the separate organism of woman, singled it out as the climax or crowning gem of my medical career. On its merits, as a positive, safe, and effectual remedy for this class of diseases, and one that will, at all times and under all circumstances, act kindly and in harmony with the laws which govern the female system, I am willing to stake my reputation as a physician. Nay, even more, so confident am I that it will not disappoint the most sanguine expectations of a single invalid lady who uses it for any of the ailments for which I recommend it, that I offer and sell it under A POSITIVE GUARANTEE. If a beneficial effect is not experienced by the time two-thirds of the contents of the bottle are used, I will, on return of the bottle, two-thirds of the medicine having been taken according to directions, and the case being one for which I recommend it, promptly refund the money paid for it. Had I not the most perfect confidence in its virtues, I could not offer it as I do under these conditions; but having witnessed its truly miraculous cures in thousands of cases, I feel warranted and perfectly safe in risking both my reputation and my money on its merits.

The following are among those diseases in which my Favorite Prescription has worked cures, as if by magic, and with a certainty never before attained by any medicine: Leucorrhœa, Excessive Flowing, Painful Monthly Periods, Suppressions when from unnatural causes, Irregularities, Weak Back, Prolapsus, or falling of the Uterus, Anteversion and Retroversion, Bearing Down Sensations, Internal Heat, Nervous Depression, Debility, Despondency, Threatened Miscarriage, Chronic Congestion, Inflammation and Ulceration of the Uterus, Impotency, Barrenness, or Sterility, Female Weakness, and very many other chronic diseases incident to woman not mentioned here. In all affections of this nature, my Favorite Prescription works cures—the marvel of the world. This medicine I do not extol as a cure-all, but it admirably fulfils a singleness of purpose, being a most perfect specific in all chronic diseases of the sexual system of woman. It will not disappoint, nor will it do harm, in any state or condition.

Those who desire further information on these subjects can obtain it in THE PEOPLE'S COMMON SENSE MEDICAL ADVISER, a book of over 900 pages, sent, post-paid, on receipt of $1.50. It treats minutely of those diseases peculiar to Females, and gives much valuable advice in regard to the management of those affections.

PROPOSALS.

NAVY DEPARTMENT,

Washington, D. C., August 21, 1877.

SEALED PROPOSALS to furnish Timber and other materials for the Navy for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1878, will be received at this Bureau until Tuesday, 12 o'clock M., the 25th of September next, at which time the bids will be opened.

The proposals must be addressed to the "Chief of the Bureau of Construction and Repair, Navy Department, Washington," and must be indorsed "Proposals for Timber, &c., for the Navy," that they may be distinguished from other Navy business letters.

To prevent confusion, and facilitate the opening of the bids, parties bidding for supplies at several yards will enclose their bids in separate envelopes for each yard, indorsed with the name of the yard for which the bid is made.

Printed schedules for such classes as parties deal in and intend to bid for, together with instructions to bidders, giving the forms of proposal, of guarantee, and of certificate of guarantors, with printed forms of offer, will be furnished to such persons as desire to bid, on application to the Commandants of the respective Navy Yards, and those of all the yards on application to the Bureau.

The Commandant of each Navy Yard, and the purchasing Paymaster for each Station, will have a copy of the schedule of the other yards, for examination only, in order that persons who intend to bid may judge whether it is desirable to make application for any of the classes of those yards.

The proposals must be for the whole of a class, but the Department reserves the right to reduce the whole class, should the interest of the Government require it, before the execution of the contract. All applications for information, or for the examination of samples, must be made to the Commandants of the respective yards.

Bids or orders will be received only from parties who are bona fide dealers in, or manufacturers of the articles they offer to furnish. The guarantors must be certified by the Collector of Internal Revenue for the district in which they reside.

The contract will be awarded to the person who makes the lowest bid and gives the guarantee required by law, the Navy Department, however, reserving the right to reject the lowest bid, or any which it may deem extortionate.

Under the provisions of section 3723 of the Revised Statutes, the Department will not accept the proposal or surety, has been a defaulter in any previous contract with the Navy Department will not be received.

Sureties in the full amount will be required to sign the contract, and their responsibility must be certified to the satisfaction of the Navy Department.

As additional security twenty per centum will be withheld from the amount of the bills until the contracts shall have been completed, and eighty per centum of the amount of each bill, approved in triplicate by the Commandants of the respective yards, will be paid by the Paymaster of the station designated in the contract, or, if none is specified, by the Paymaster of the station nearest the yard where the goods are delivered, within ten days after the warrant for the same shall have been passed by the Secretary of the Treasury.

The classes for this Bureau are numbered and designated as follows:

Centaur Liniments.

One thing is now thoroughly established. Never since man suffered and human agencies alleviated pain has there been any thing which went so far as a pain annihilator and curative agent as the Centaur Liniments. These Liniments have within the past year cured more cases of Rheumatism, Neuralgia, Stiff joints, Caked Breasts, Swellings, Poisonous Bites, Burns, Lame Animals, etc., etc., than all other remedies combined. As the name of Centaur implies half horse and half man, the Centaur Liniments are for man and beast. But not the same Liniment. The White Liniment is for man and the Yellow for horses and animals. Herein this Liniment differs from all other remedies, although some of the ingredients are alike in each. They contain the well-known Witch Hazel, Arnica, Carbolic, Rock Oil, Mentha and other powerful ingredients.

Wm. H. Hickcox, Rector of St. John's E. Church, Wakefield, (Jay Co., Kansas, writes: "Many years I have been suffering from a Weak Back, caused from a sprain more than 40 years ago. I have not found any thing to relieve me until I commenced the use of Centaur Liniment. I feel it my Christian duty to inform you that by its wonderful effects I am entirely relieved of pain. January 22d, 1874."

Messrs. J. McClure & Co., Druggists, Cincinnati, Ohio, say:

"Teamsters pronounce the Yellow Centaur Liniment superior to any thing they have ever used. We will several dozen bottles per month, and the sale is steadily increasing."

These are only samples of thousands upon thousands of similar testimonials reaching us every month. All the Extracts, Embrocations, Salves and Ointments in existence are not doing one-tenth the good which is done by these admirable Centaur Liniments. For Frost-bites, Stings, Cuts, Itch, Salt Rheum, etc., there is nothing like the Centaur Liniment, White Wrapper. For Spavin, Ring-bone, Sweeney, Wind-Galls, Poll-evil, Scratches, etc., on horses, the Yellow Centaur Liniment is equally as good. They are certain in their effects; they are pleasant to use, they are handy and they are cheap. No family should be without Centaur Liniments. They are worth one hundred times their cost.

Castoria.

Mothers may have rest and their babies may have health, if they will use Dr. Pitcher's Castoria for Wind Colic, Worms, Feverishness, Sour Mouth, Croup, or Stomach Complaints. It is entirely a vegetable preparation, and contains neither mineral, morphine, nor alcohol. It is as pleasant to take as honey, neither gags nor gripes, and is superior to any remedy in existence.

Dr. E. Dimoch, of Dupont, Ohio, says:

"I am using Castoria in my practice with the most signal benefits and happy results, and find it a perfect substitute for Castor Oil."

This is what every one says. Many nurses in New York use the Castoria. It is prepared by Messrs. J. B. Rose & Co., successors to Samuel Pitcher, M. D. tnov1

The Centaur Liniments have created a revolution in remedies for Rheumatism, Strains, Swellings, Pains, Burns, Scalds, Stings, etc. The White Liniment is for the human family, and the Yellow Liniment is for horses. They are certain, handy and cheap.

Castoria is certain to operate. It does not nauseate or gripe like Castor Oil, but is pleasant to take, digests the food, regulates the bowels, cures wind colic, expels worms, and causes natural sleep. It is equally adapted to adults and infants. It contains neither Mineral, Morphine nor Alcohol. Children teething may have health, and mothers find rest, if they use Castoria. tnov1

Mr. Thomas W. Lane:—I have been sick for 2 years with Dyspepsia, and for the past three years Constipation and Inflammation of the Bowels, have suffered all the pain I could endure and live, have been confined to my room for two years, and could not sleep nights without the use of morphine. I have been given up by physicians as past cure. I have taken one package of Dr. Quain's Condition Pills, and they have done me more good than all the doctors I have had. I sleep well, I eat well and have no pain. They are all they are recommended to be. Please send me three packages, as two of my neighbors wish to try them. I enclose $1.50.
Your truly, JOHN W. LORD.

Another Letter from May. John W. Lord, one month later Wonderful Cures by Dr. Quain's Pills Effected on Him in Thirteen Days. First time Free from Pain for Three Years.

West Lebanon, Me., March 22, 1875.

Mr. Thomas W. Lane:—I commenced taking Dr. Quain's Condition Pills February 3d, and wrote you February 22d of their wonderful effect. I have continued to improve ever since. My appetite is good, and I sleep as well as I ever did in my life. I am free from pain for the first time in three years. When I was taken sick four years ago, I weighed one hundred and eighty-six pounds; I now weigh one hundred and thirty, but, as I am gaining in strength, I have hopes that I shall regain my flesh this summer, by the use of the Pills. I shal continue taking them for some weeks to come.
Yours truly, JOHN W. LORD.

Dr. Quain's Pills the Remedy for Soldiers' Aches and Pains.

Mr. Thomas W. Lane—Dear Sir:—I am now able to walk every day, and am gaining in strength very fast, all of which is due to you as agent for the best Pills in the world. I have taken no other medicine, and my improvement has been steady since first taking Dr. Quain's Condition Pills. They have done everything for me, and I will say to you, advertise them direct to the soldiers, for they will certainly cure them of aches and pains caused from exposure and hardship on the field. Please send me by return mail another package.

Rheumatism for Twenty Years Cured by One Package of Dr. Quain's Condition Pills—"The Best Medicine in the World."

East Andover, N. H., Dec. 16, 1875.

Mr. Lane—Dear Sir:—As I know the value of Dr. Quain's Condition Pills and the good they have done me, it is a pleasure in giving testimony, so I send you another testimonial. My father has been troubled with Rheumatism for twenty years or more, and has tried everything that could be thought of, but to no good. At times it would be so bad that he could not lift his hand to his head or do any work at all, especially in cold weather. A short time ago I advised him to get some of these Pills. He believed nothing in them, but I gave him the last package I had of you, as I did not need them, and he has not been troubled free from the Rheumatic Complaint for years. No Rheumatism, no pain. What helped him? It was Dr. Quain's Condition Pills, the best medicine in the world. There is nothing like them. I know it, for I have tried them, and they are all, yes, more than they are recommended to be. Give them a fair trial and you will say so. I write this because I know the goodness of them and wish others to know the same. Some may think I am telling a big story. I am. But remember I am not giving them half the praise they ought to have.
Yours with respect, ED. F. PEVARE

Daingerfield, Morris Co., Texas, Nov. 15, '75.

Mr. Thomas W. Lane—Dear Sir:—I have been afflicted for near twelve years with Neuralgia in the face and head. I tried I do not know how many physicians, and could only get partly relieved. I also tried many patent medicines with the same result. I have been confined to my room most all the time for eight or ten winters, and have been travelling and visiting medical springs, and I still suffered most intensely. The physicians pronounced my case the worst and most stubborn that they had had anything to do with. One told me I could never get well; they all advised me to go South and spend the winter, and thought that was the only chance for me, and I was trying to get ready to go to Florida, when through the Bless of Rev. R. M. Mathis, my attention was called to the advertisement of Dr. Quain's Magic Condition Pills. I immediately sent to you for a package. I have taken four doses and I am almost free from pain. The impression here seems to be that if your pills will cure me, they will cure anybody. I have five applications to send for the pills. Enclosed please find three dollars; send five packages to me and one to Mrs. Laura Sherrel, Sulphur Springs, Hopkins county, Texas.
Yours truly, J. S. PATTON

Thos. W. Lane—Sir:—I have been troubled with Bad Blood, Liver Complaint, Nervousness, Dropsy and Headache. I have taken one package of Dr. Quain's Condition Pills. They have done me more good than all the medicine I ever took; I have taken considerable medicine within the last five years. For the nerves I think there is nothing so good as those pills. I can recommend them to all who are similarly afflicted, they have done me so much good. I think they will recommend themselves wherever they go. I shall recommend those Pills to all who need them. Please send me two packages more, one for myself and one for a lady friend of mine. Many thanks to the inventor, agent and advertiser of those Pills.

These painful attacks come with scarcely a moment's warning, when a physician may be out of immediate each. A dose of Pulmocine Cordial gives speedy relief, and the little ones are spared hours of pain and agony. As "a stitch in time saves nine," so does the possession of this Family Medicine prevent the spread of disease. Parents seeing their children gasping with pain, friends and relatives beholding each other in peril from suffocation by the choking pain in the throat, paralyzed with fear and notknowing the best course to pursue, are liable to apply the wrong remedial agents. There is no safety in delay, no time to waste in such cases. CONSUMPTION, that fearful scourge of the human race, lies at the door of all thus afflicted. Buchman's Pulmocine Cordial arrests it (unless in its advanced stage at which time there is no local cure) relieves the pressing, suffocating feeling at the lungs, and patient's danger is past.

For Coughs,
Croup,
Diphtheria,
Asthma, etc.,
USE
Buchman's Pulmocine Cordial.

The Pulmocine Cordial is not a quack medicine, is not an experiment, is not composed of any ingredients "discovered" by "walking in pastures" in South America or anywhere else, nor by one who discovered a weed and thereby cured himself. Most of the ingredients are such as our best educated physicians daily use for the complaints specified in some form or other. The recipe is that perfected by one of New England's most learned and famous physicians, who used it entirely in his daily practice until his death. It is offered to the profession and to the public, absolutely pure and unadulterated.

AYER'S SARSAPARILLA,

For Purifying the Blood.

This compound of the vegetable alteratives, Sarsaparilla, Dock, stillingia, and Mandrake with the iodides of Potash and Iron, makes a most effectual cure of a series of complaints which are very prevalent and afflicting. It purifies the blood, purges out the lurking humors in the system, that undermine health and settle into troublesome disorders. Eruptions of the skin are the appearance on the surface of humors that should be expelled from the blood. Internal derangements are the determination of these same humors to some internal organ, or organs, whose action they derange, and whose substance they disease and destroy. AYER'S SARSAPARILLA expels these humors from the blood. When they are gone, the disorders they produce disappear, such as Ulcerations of the Lungs, Stomach, Kidneys, Lungs, Eruptions and Eruptive Diseases of the Skin, St. Anthony's Fire, Rose or Erysipelas, Pimples, Pustules, Blotches, Boils, Tumors, Tetter and Salt Rheum, Scald Head, Female Weakness, Sterility, Leucorrhœa or whites, from internal ulceration and uterine diseases, Dropsy, Dyspepsia, Emaciation and General Debility. With their departure health returns.

Woodhull's Crazy Business Agent.

Victoria C. Woodhull has had many sins laid at her door, but if the following story is true she is a dangerous person to be abroad. Just prior to lecturing in Detroit last summer she was in Toronto and gave several very profitable lectures there. While there a young man named B. Knibb, a travelling and purchasing agent for the well known firm of Morgan & Sons, of Montreal, went to hear her lecture on "The Human Body the Temple of God." It was too much for poor Knibb, who never had heard such doctrine expounded before. He grew enthusiastic, and as soon as Vic's musical voice had died away with a blessing upon her audience, Knibb was upon the stage shaking her hand as heartily as though she was his long lost grandmother. Vic loves flattery, and she encouraged the young man in his wild and extravagant compliments. He applied for and received an appointment as her business manager, and immediately engaged her for a three years' tour in Europe. He then telegraphed to one of the Morgans for $1,000, although they owed him nothing. Somebody who had talked with Knibb telegraphed to Montreal that he was crazy, and the Morgans then requested him to go to Montreal. He went and was incarcerated in a lunatic asylum, where he played some curious pranks, always maintaining, however, that he was perfectly sane. When released at the end of a month and sent to rusticate with some relatives in Michigan, he stopped at Detroit, and frightened the reporters of the Free Press and the News, to whom he told his story, and exhibitted several curious antics. He offered to throw a News reporter from a window on the latter's hinting that perhaps his visitor was crazy. There seems little doubt that the reporter was right in his surmise, and that Victoria turned Knibb's head.

Pierce's Pleasant Purgative Pellets

SIZE OF PELLETS.

Or Sugar-Coated, Concentrated, Root and Herbal Juice, Anti-Bilious Granules. THE "LITTLE GIANT" CATHARTIC, or Multum in Parvo Physic.

The novelty of modern Medical, Chemical, and Pharmaceutical Science is, that instead of taking the large, repulsive, and nauseous pills, composed of cheap, crude, and bulky ingredients, when we can, by a careful application of chemical science, extract all the cathartic and other medicinal properties from the most valuable roots and herbs, and concentrate them into a minute Granule, scarcely larger than a mustard seed, that can be readily swallowed by those of the most sensitive stomachs and fastidious tastes. Each little Purgative Pellet represents, in a most concentrated form, as much cathartic power as is embodied in any of the large pills found for sale in drug-shops. From their wonderful cathartic power, in comparison to their size, people who have not tried them are apt to suppose that they are harsh or drastic in effect; but such is not at all the case, the different active medicinal principles of which they are composed being so harmonized and modified, one by the others, as to produce a most searching and thorough, yet gently and kindly operating, cathartic.

$500 Reward is hereby offered by the proprietor of these Pellets, to any chemist who, upon analysis, will find in them any calomel or other form of mercury, mineral poison, or injurious drug.

Being entirely vegetable, no particular care is required while using them. They operate without disturbance to the constitution, diet, or occupation. For Jaundice, Headache, Constipation, Impure Blood, Pain in the Shoulders, Tightness of the Chest, Dizziness, Sour Eructations from the Stomach, Bad taste in the mouth, Bilious attacks, Pain in region of Kidneys, Internal Fever, Bloated feeling about Stomach, Rush of Blood to Head, High-colored Urine, Insocinability and Gloomy Forebodings, take Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Purgative Pellets. In explanation of the remedial power of my Purgative Pellets over so great a variety of diseases, it is enough to say that their action upon the animal economy is universal, not a gland or tissue escaping their sanative impress. Age does not impair the properties of these Pellets. They are sugar-coated and unlike other pills, their virtues being thereby preserved unimpaired for any length of time, in any climate, so that they are always fresh and reliable. This is not the case with those pills which are put up in cheap wooden or pasteboard boxes. Recollect that for all diseases where a Laxative, Alterative, or Purgative, is indicated, these little Pellets will give the most perfect satisfaction to all who use them.

They are sold by all Druggists at 25 cents a bottle.

The Eastern War.

The Turks have taken Fort St. Nicholas, in the Shipka Pass, and the Russians have been driven out of the Pass.

The slaughter at Plevna was terrible. A London despatch says: "Details received here of the recapture by the Turks of the redoubts at Plevna show that it was one of the bloodiest struggles ever recorded, and was attended by frightful carnage. The proportion of officers killed was immense; only one commander of a regiment was left alive. General Skobeloff in his report says, 'I did my best; I could do no more. My regiment don't exist. I have no officers left.' Suleiman Pasha and Mehemet Ali are reported to have formed a junction of their forces and are pressing to attack the army of the Czarewitch at Biela. The Russians still hold Grivitca and are fortifying themselves. General Todleben is preparing winter fortifications at Matchin, Sistova and Nicopolis."

Maine Election.

The official returns from all but fourteen small towns and plantations in Maine have been received, and foot up as follows: Total vote, 101,451, the largest aggregate ever polled in an "off year," after a Presidential election. Connor has 53, 665; Williams, 41,835; Munson, greenback, 5188; scattering, 763; Connor's plurality over Williams, 11,830; Connor's majority over all, 5879.

Last Friday, at Essex Junction, Mass., a practical joke was played on one of the boy apple peddlers, which resulted in crippling him for life. The perpetrator of the joke was a passenger, who reached from the car window as the train was in motion and caught the boy by the hand. When released he fell under the car, the trucks passing over a foot and ankle, which had to be amputated to save the boy's life. The boy is a son of George Chase, switchman. The perpetrator of the "joke" has not yet made himself known.

It seems a little queer to read in the notices of the fight between the Kearsarge and Alabama, current in the papers since the death of the latter's commander, of "Admiral" Semmes and "Captain" Winslow. The regularly commissioned officer of the United States navy is only "captain," while the rebel pirate and wholesale chronometer thief is "admiral."

Thomas Britton stabbed a Mr. Mulligan and his wife at Manchester on Friday night. Britton, who is a brother of Mrs. Mulligan, boarded with them and was ordered to leave for being quarrelsome when in drink. After going to bed they were aroused by hearing some one breaking-in the front door, and on Mulligan's going out he was stabbed by Britton three times. Mrs. Mulligan then went out to assist her husband, when her brother made a savage assault on her and stabbed her three times. The brute escaped, and has not yet been captured.

Explosion in a Church.

Last Thursday afternoon between five and six o'clock the people of Plattsburgh were startled by a dull and heavy report, resembling a subterranean explosion; or, as described by some, the falling of the walls of a building. It was soon discovered that the First Presbyterian church was the scene of the disaster, and upon entering the basement it was found that all the windows were blown out, the furnaces shattered and the ceilings ruined. The first who entered the main audience room above found the atmosphere very hot and impregnated with gas, the carpets and cushions on fire in places, several of the memorial windows ruined, the three small arched windows over the organ completely shattered, and the heavy outside front door blown out into the street. The statement of Sexton Prindle is that he spent a portion of the day in the main audience room above sprinkling benzine from a common house or garden sprinkler upon the cushions and carpets according to directions given him, to kill the moths with which the carpets and upholstery were infested. He thinks that about two-thirds of a barrel of benzine were used in this manner. After finishing his work up stairs he went down into the lecture room and made his preparations to start a fire in the furnace in the southwest corner. He prepared kindlings and ignited a match when a shock came which threw him some fifteen feet and rendered him insensible for some time. In the light of this statement it is not difficult to trace the cause of the explosion. Some twenty or thirty gallons of benzine spread over a surface of 2500 feet would not be long in evaporating, filling 75,000 cubic feet of space in the audience room with a highly explosive gas. The gas is heavier than air, and naturally fills the room from the bottom, and as it does so, a considerable quantity leaks down around the furnace registers into the lecture room, and when the sexton touched it off with his match it exploded. The damage is variously estimated from $500 to $3000. The carpets and cushions are badly singed, the fans scorched, and the main walls have large cracks at the front corners of the audience room, although it is said these cracks were there before the explosion.—Plattsburgh, N. Y., Republican.

A New Source of Gold.

The San Francisco correspondent of the Baltimore Sun says: The auriferous black sands of the sea shore of Northern California have been described in the Sun, and lately we described a machine that was about being set up on the beach to test the practicability of profitably extracting the exceedingly fine gold dust from the sand. Every effort heretofore has been a failure. There is gold enough in those miles of ocean sand to pay the National debt, if this new process proves successful; therefore the report of this first practical test is of high national importance. The fine concentrators, after a month's run, gathered twenty tons of the sands, well cleansed of the lighter parts, which don't pay; so much that the concentrated tonnage realized $12,000, or $610 per ton. The cost of working was $1,300. New machines are being constructed, which at the same rate will yield $80,000 a month, at a cost of $4,000. Many attempts have for years past been made along one hundred miles of coast to work these shifting tidal sands without success. Now a rush of pre-emptors is expected to stake off claims on the shores of California and Oregon. The sands extend under the ocean far beyond low water. But every tide and every storm so shifts the paying points, that a claim rich to-day, may, to-morrow, be covered with barren sands. Nevertheless auriferous ocean sands may now be considered a new and permanent source of gold production, rivaling and probably excelling the great auriferous gravel deposits worked by hydraulic washing. In both, it is a question of cost in separating and gathering a small per cent. of gold dust from an immense body of sand or gravel.

A Baby by Express.

The Cincinnati Enquirer tells the following as a fact: "A lady in this city, having a fancy for the daughters of the sunny South, sent a description of the kind of a child she wanted to a foundling hospital in New Orleans. A day or two ago she received a reply that a child suiting her description had been found among the babies in the hospital, and that it was on its way to Cincinnati. Imagine her sensation yesterday morning when the messenger rung the bell and announced a package for Mrs. —, at the same time presenting a little girl of tender years with an express label tied to one arm. The package was duly receipted for and was gladly welcomed."

WOMAN.

By an immense practice, extending through a period of years, having within that time treated many thousand cases of those diseases peculiar to woman, I have been enabled to perfect a most potent and agreeable medicine that meets the indications presented by that class of diseases with positive certainty and exactness.

To designate this natural specific compound, I have named it

Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription.

The term, however, is but a feeble expression of my honest appreciation of its value, based upon my own personal observation. As a close observer, I have, while witnessing its positive results in the few special diseases incident to the separate organism of woman, singled it out as the chiefest or crowning gem of my medical career. On its merits, as a positive, safe, and effectual remedy for this class of diseases, and one that will, at all times and under all circumstances, act kindly and in harmony with the laws which governed female system, I am willing to stake my reputation as a physician. Nay, even more, so confident am I that it will not disappoint the most sanguine expectations of a single invalid lady who uses it for any of the ailments for which I recommend it, that I offer and sell it under A POSITIVE GUARANTEE. If a beneficial effect is not experienced by the time two-thirds of the contents of the bottle are used, I will, on return of the bottle, two-thirds of the medicine having been taken according to directions, and the case being one for which I recommend it, promptly refund the money paid for it. Had I not the most perfect confidence in its virtues, I could not offer it as I do under these conditions; but having witnessed its truly miraculous cures in thousands of cases, I feel warranted and perfectly safe in risking both my reputation and my money on its merits.

The following are among those diseases in which my Favorite Prescription has wonderful cures, as if by magic, and with a certainty never before attained by any medicine: Leucorrhea, Excessive Flowing, Painful Monthly Periods, Suppressions, when from unnatural causes, Irregularities, Weak Back, Prolapsus, or Falling of the Uterus, Anteversion and Retroversion, Bearing Down Sensations, Internal Heat, Nervous Depression, Debility, Despondency, Threatened Miscarriage, Climatic Congestion, Inflammation and Ulceration of the Uterus, Impotency, Barrenness, or Sterility, Female Weakness, and very many other chronic diseases incident to woman not mentioned here. In all affections of this nature, my Favorite Prescription works cures—the marvel of the world. This medicine is not put up as a cure-all, but it admirably fulfils a singleness of purpose, being a most perfect specific in all chronic diseases of the sexual system of woman. It will not disappoint, nor will it do harm, in any state or condition.

Those who desire further information on these subjects can obtain it in THE PEOPLE'S COMMON SENSE MEDICAL ADVISER, a book of 1008 pages, sent, post-paid, on receipt of $1.50. It treats minutely of those diseases peculiar to Females, and gives much valuable advice in regard to the management of those affections.

For Diseases of the Throat and Lungs, such as Coughs, Colds, Whooping Cough, Bronchitis, Asthma and Consumption.

The few compositions, which have won the confidence of mankind and become household words, must have extraordinary virtues. It still makes the most effectual cures of Coughs, Colds, Consumption, that can be made by medical skill. Indeed, the CHERRY PECTORAL has really robbed these dangerous diseases of their terrors, to a great extent, and given a feeling of security from their fatal effects, that is well founded if the remedy be taken in season. Every family should have it in their closet for the ready and prompt relief of its members, sickness, suffering, and even life is saved by this timely protection. The prudent should not neglect it, and the wise will not. Keep it by you for the protection it affords by its timely use in sudden attacks.

E. G PIERCE, JR., P. M.

A THIEVING EPIDEMIC.

Some time Sunday night the garden of A. F. Howard, Esq., at No. 56 Middle street, was entered by thieves and his musk-melon vines stripped of every melon.

On Monday night there was a most astonishing revival of the thieving industry in this city, at least four business places and two dwellings being plundered. The thieves entered the cellar of Mr. Edwin B. Prime's residence, No. 4 Dover street, through the window; they were unable to get into the house, the door to the cellar stairs being fastened, but they stole all the provisions they could lay hands on, carrying off also the dishes the victuals were in. The scoundrels also left other evidences of their filthy presence in the cellar.

At the house of Mr. Alexander L. Rand, No. 77 Islington street, an entrance was effected, also through the cellar window, and a quantity of food stolen; a pair of boots and other articles were taken from a room above to the cellar, but the thieves threw them into the garden.

Sheriff Kent was also called upon at the jail; possibly the fellows wanted to inspect their future (it is to be hoped) residence before taking up their quarters there. They got into the outer enclosure at about half-past eleven o'clock, but Col. Kent's dogs, Sancho and Pedro, set up a terrific outcry and made things so lively for the marauders that they left before the arrival of the people who were brought out by the alarm. [A notice in another column may be of interest to one of Col. Kent's visitors.]

Either the same gang of thieves or another one visited the business places of Elihu Dennett and C. Sullivan & Co., (both doing business in the store corner Bow and Penhallow streets,) Charles Robinson, and the Eldredge Brewing Company. At Mr. Dennett's they broke a square of glass, and reached in and threw back the catch of the window; from Mr. Dennett they stole about $11 and from Sullivan & Co. about $6; and valuable papers belonging to each, and a lot of lambs' tongues, were also taken.

The thieves entered the office of the Eldredge Brewing Company by way of Mr. Robinson's store. It is supposed they slipped into the store before it was closed for the night, and secreted themselves in a rye bin. After the door was locked they "went through the till," securing only about a dollar. They then made their way to the roof, (being easily tracked by the grains of rye that dropped from their clothes,) crawled along the roof to the scuttle of the Brewing Company's premises, opened the scuttle and went down to the office. Here they broke open a small trunk and stole about $70 belonging to De-Witt Clinton Commandery of Knights Templar; and they also got about a dollar in change, belonging to the Brewing Co., from the drawer.

WON'T OWN THEM.

A Newcastle man requests us to say that the young fellow who had the trouble with a member of the Rye band at the Veterans' reunion was not a "young Newcastle rough," as a Rye correspondent stated, but a Portsmouth street ranger, named Hennessey; and he (the Newcastle man) further asserts that the young scoundrels who pelted the teams on their way home were also some of Portsmouth's youthful candidates for State prison. Newcastle, he says, has some very undesirable residents, but doesn't claim quite so much embryo crime as was drifting about down there that day and evening.

HORSE-THIEF CAUGHT.

A horse belonging to Mayor Foye, of Dover, and a beach wagon and harness belonging to William Hurd of that city, were stolen last June by a man named Arthur Hodgdon. This Hodgdon had been for a long time engaged in peddling brushes in this vicinity, and getting tired of that business and wanting to raise some ready cash, he sold the team to Mr. Langdon Whidden, of Lafayette road, for $25, giving the name of John A. Atherson. Whidden afterwards sold the horse to Mr. Wm. Plaisted, and he was run on the "hourly" for a long time. On Monday last Marshal Entwistle received a letter from Dover, asking if such a team was here and giving a description of the thief; and in about an hour the Marshal and Assistant Marshal Gray had the man caged; he admitted the theft and gave information as to the whereabouts of the team. The team was recovered, and it and the thief taken to Dover on Tuesday.

POLICE COURT.

Tuesday, September 18th.

Morning Love: Edward Foley, George Young, John Gill, William Webb; all drunk; all $9.90; all Brentwood.

Jerry Murphy and Michael Hurley, the two boys on Monday sentenced to pay $4.45 each for stealing a team to take a ride in, went to jail Monday night in default of payment. On Tuesday morning, when they learned of the burglaries of the preceding night, one of them remarked: "It's mighty lucky we are in here, for if we were out we'd have been the first ones to be charged with this stealing." It is a pretty tough reputation that is improved by its possessor being in jail, as seems to have been the case with these boys.

"BLOW YE THE TRUMPET, BLOW!"

In December of last year the CHRONICLE commenced to "agitate" for the establishment of a suitable fog-signal at the entrance of this harbor, being earnestly requested to do so by a number of fishermen, particularly by Mr. John Hayes, then one of the crew of schooner Grace Choate, which vessel about that time came perilously near being lost on Odiorne's Point while running for the harbor in a heavy southeast gale and snow storm. The necessary data to work on were gladly furnished us by the fishermen, and it was an easy matter for any one who had ever been wet with salt water to demonstrate the necessity of a powerful fog-signal at this harbor. The other papers of the city followed suit; and during the following spring, when Hon. Frank Jones' re-election to Congress was pending, that gentleman got through an appropriation for the purchase of a Daboll fog-trumpet to be placed on Whale's-back. At the time the appropriation was made we ridiculed the idea that any practical benefit to seamen would result from it, as the sum devoted to the purpose was ludicrously disproportioned to the amount needed, being only sufficient to buy and set up a third-class fog horn, and making no provision for a building to set it up in; and we prophesied that the desired signal would not be furnished this year or from that appropriation. Our reason for this was that we knew it was absolutely impossible to put the fog-horn in the new tower at Whale's-back, and that the old tower was condemned as unsafe years ago, before the new one was built; but we were mistaken, for all that, for a few days ago we were down the river and saw the big trumpet pointing seaward from the top of the old tower. Curious to know if the old tower had become any more trustworthy than it used to be, we ran our boat alongside the stone steps and clambered up for a personal inspection. Our researches resulted in convincing us that there is something rotten in the state of the old tower,—and possibly in the board of lighthouse engineers; for if the old tower is safe now it certainly was ten years ago, when a hundred thousand dollars were expended for the new tower; and if it was extremely unsafe then (and we do not doubt that it was) it must be still more unsafe now, as nothing whatever has been done to strengthen it in the meantime. Yet the same engineers who ten years ago condemned the tower as unsafe, now approve it as being a suitable place for a man to stop in during heavy weather. If the building of the costly new tower was necessitated by the dilapidated condition of the old one, and was not a "job," then the putting of the fog-horn in the old tower is an outrage on humanity. When the old tower is washed away—and washed away it will be at some time, unless many thousands of dollars are laid out upon it in wholesale repairs—it will go on the top of high water; and at that time it would be impossible to pass from one tower to the other with a very heavy sea running, and yet that is the very time the fog-horn must be attended, for the worse the weather the more need of the warning signal. The sea acts with vastly greater power now on the old tower than it did before the new one was built, the two being connected by a high curtain of masonry, a shallow tunnel being thus formed into which the sea pitches with tremendous force. The condition of the masonry on the up-river side of the new tower shows how powerfully the sea hits it, the cement filling-in being gone and the massive blocks of stone loosened and some of them displaced; how much a man would be worth after being caught there by a sea while trying to make the crooked passage from one tower to the other in a dark night, can easily be reckoned up. The fact is that the old tower was unsafe before it was condemned, and is more unsafe now; the walls of the circular pier on which it stands are bulged out on the sea-face some four or five inches, most of the iron-work is so far gone with rust as to be worthless, and the heaviest timbers of the interior are almost entirely rotted away. The lighthouse engineers have no right to needlessly imperil the life of a lightkeeper, and the least they should do before winter sets in is to put up a suspension bridge from one tower to the other, high enough up to be passable at all times, so that the man who tends the trumpet can retreat to the safe tower during the worst of a storm. The old tower can only be made safe by being entirely rebuilt; it requires an outlay of at least ten thousand dollars to make even the new landing-place secure, and build a proper break-water on the sea-face of the curtain; but a suspension bridge between the two towers could be put up for a trifling sum, and would give the fog-horn tender at least a chance for his life in case the old rattletrap tower should be knocked over.

UNITED STATES COURTS.

The jury summoned in to appear before the United States Court on Tuesday received orders not to appear, as Mr. Copeland of Great Falls was unable to attend; and the cases brought by Hiram Abbott of Conway, assignee, against certain parties who had paid their debts to a bankrupt after his declaration of bankruptcy, were continued to the December term.

Before the Bankrupt Court, Charles E. Simpson of Newcastle was adjudged bankrupt, and a hearing was had on other matters of minor importance.

Before the Circuit Court, Albert S. Twichell of Gorham was appointed a Commissioner of the Circuit Court.

A hearing was had on Tuesday at the U. S. Court House in this city, before Hon. Charles H. Bartlett of Manchester, U. S. Commissioner, relative to the admission to bail of one Warren K. Walker, a locomotive engineer, who was arrested at Dover on Monday on a charge of obstructing the United States mails while engaged as a striking engineer on the Grand Trunk Railroad in Maine. No decision was announced by the Commissioner.

[Communicated.]

SUMMER PICNICING,

While freely enjoyed in many places elsewhere, would seem to be reduced to a science in Portsmouth. Many of the people of New York, who have no relatives to visit in more rural localities, and to whom it is not pecuniarily convenient to indulge in summer journeyings to the popular resorts of the season, take their needful recreation in jaunts, of a day's duration each, into the many beautiful regions, both on land and sea, to be found within short distances of the city. Very good times they have, but for a right down, thorough enjoyment of a picnic, Portsmouth, there is little doubt, bears off the palm; nor is it wanting in any number of retreats for such festivities in its beautiful suburbs.

A party of familiar friends, with invited guests and visitors from abroad, have greatly enjoyed many such occasions during the late summer and early autumn, and in a locality on private grounds most happily fitted by nature for such a purpose. Seasons of enjoyment they have been that will be remembered by those who shared in them on winter nights, when "household fires burn warm and bright," and while huge waves are breaking in thunder tones upon the beach, and the winds, joining in a grand anthem of nature, howl among the rocky retreats where they spent such happy hours in the summer solstice.

These seaside gatherings included those in every stage of life from childhood to middle age, and all found in them equal enjoyment. While the maturer in years would rest for chat beneath the shade of willows that overhung the beach, the surf rolling in upon the shore in the most musical of tones, following with the eye the various craft as they glided along the horizon, or listening to the roar of the sea as it dashed in foam over the rocky reefs in the far-off distance, others strayed away over the sandy beach, or gathered in little parties upon the rocks that line the shore. A favorite resort was a recess in the most picturesque of rocks, where a dozen could gather for chat, or listen at times while one would read to them; the young ladies that were industriously inclined employed meanwhile upon one or another of the species of fancy work, that is ever taking new forms, with which the younger of the gentler sex are wont to employ their leisure hours.

Most pleasant it was to look in upon these little gatherings in their various places of retreat, exchanging a word of chat, or sitting down for a rest among them; but always keeping in remembrance that where two are in most harmonious concord, a third, however welcome at other times, may be regarded as quite superfluous. Especially did it seem as if it might be so, though giving the most polite of welcomes to their visitor, when two, who now are far away, were found in the "Devil's Den," (as people will call it,) who doubtless were so absorbed in the book they were reading, as to forget the sumptuous repast beneath the willows, and had to be sent for when missed, and all the rest had appeased to the full their appetites.

A most agreeable addition was made to the party on an afternoon when a young officer of the Enterprise came in his boat with four young ladies, and very soon afterwards a curious little dwarf was discovered among the willows, who, under the direction of the lady who presented him for exhibition, sung a little song, repeated the somewhat familiar poem of "the boy" that "stood on the burning deck," made frequent bows, removing his hat each time, to the company, smoked a cigar, and danced several times upon the table on which he seemed to stand. A great puzzle it was to the laughing lookers-on how it chanced that while sunbrowned otherwise to the last degree, his hands, with which he removed his hat when bowing, twisted his moustache, wiped his face, and lighted his cigar, were of snowy whiteness. The mysterious little man was afterwards learned to have been composed of a gentleman of good height from a neighboring cottage, and one of the young ladies who came in the officer's boat.

More or less of the company coming by water, boating formed one of the recreations for those who fancied it; sailing away well out to sea, or skirting the "sea-girt isle" that year by year becomes more and more a summer resort; exciting oft surprise that until quite recent years it was so little appreciated for such a purpose.

Half a dozen of the young gentlemen engaged on one occasion in a tub-race, that, from their disasters in getting upset by the overturning of their tubs, or being upset by others, was as novel as amusing. The prize was a tasteful silver medal, furnished by the youthful members of the fair sex, which was presented to the winner in a little presentation speech by the presiding lady of the party, to which the modest hero of the hour "made a neat and pertinent reply," quoting the newspapers on like occasions.

A lady visitor from New York carried back with her most delightful memories of a Portsmouth picnic, an improvement as it was, she was happy in saying, upon anything else of the kind she had ever known elsewhere; and hoping to enjoy hereafter a like scene of pleasure in the same locality.

No one seemed more to enjoy these happy occasions than a noble horse, who, allowed by his master to have his picnic also, freed from bit and rein, roamed at will over hill and dale, cropped the greensward or rolled upon it to his heart's content; now and then from an elevation gazing off to sea, as if he, too, loved to look upon the foam-covered reef, and hear the breakers' roar. J. H. B.

PORTSMOUTH AND VICINITY.

Fire King Engine Co., No. One, of South Berwick, were on a trip down the harbor on Tuesday, and made a short stay in this city. Their engine is the old Piscataqua, No. Four, formerly owned by this city, and one of the best hand engines ever owned here.

The Kearsarge Flute and Drum Band has re-organized under the leadership of Mr. Abraham Kay, with fifteen members—all of the original members and two new ones. They propose to call upon some of our public spirited citizens for help to procure a bass drum, which they need and do not feel able to purchase themselves just at present.

The wife of Mr. N. Appolonio, City Registrar of Boston, was one of the persons injured by the fall of the stand in Blackstone square, Boston, on Monday. Her left leg was broken. Mrs. Appolonio is a native of this city.

On Monday evening, as a party of gentlemen from this city were riding near the new house of Mr. Josiah Grover on Sagamore road, a large stone was thrown with considerable force into the team by some one hidden near the road. The missile struck one of the company a severe blow. This is the third time parties have been assailed by stone throwers in that vicinity, and persons starting out for a drive in that direction will do well to put a well loaded shot-gun in the bottom of the wagon.

The ship Paul Jones is to be launched from the Raynes ship-yard on Monday next, at one o'clock P. M., if all goes well.

The fog-horn on Whale's-back was sounding all the afternoon, Tuesday. The engineers were trying it.

Brig. Gen. Clough was in town on Tuesday, as the guest of Major Urch. He was down river in the afternoon, and inspected Fort Constitution and the big guns.

Capt. Wm. H. Treadwell has arrived home from an extended tour in Europe.

Sheriff Kent hereby notifies the individual who left in his garden on Monday night that portion of his pants which usually wears out first, that if he will call he will be presented with the piece of cloth; or if he will send up the damaged breeches they will be repaired without charge. The prints of the dog's teeth do not show enough to condemn the cloth.

The new register of the steamer Major was issued by the custom house on Monday, the registered owners being William Robinson, Henry M. Clark, William W. Cotton, William R. Gerting, William H. Thompson, Henry Mason, Christopher E. Rymes, Oscar Laighton and Cedric Laighton.

The train from Boston due in this city at eight minutes past nine o'clock Monday evening, consisted of fifteen crowded passenger cars, drawn by two locomotives, and was an hour and a half behind time. When it started out of the depot to the eastward it had to back up three times before it could swing around the curve, but at the fourth trial got successfully by the hard place and went on its way rejoicing, but not very fast.

Centaur Liniments.

One thing is now thoroughly established. Never since man suffered and human agencies alleviated pain has there been any thing which went so far as a pain annihilator and curative agent as the Centaur Liniments. These Liniments have within the past year cured more cases of Rheumatism, Neuralgia, Stiff Joints, Caked Breasts, Swellings, Poisonous Bites, Burns, Lame Animals, etc., etc., than all other remedies combined. As the name of Centaur implies half horse and half man, the Centaur Liniments are for man and beast. But not the same Liniment. The White Liniment is for man and the Yellow for horses and animals. Herein this Liniment differs from all other remedies, although some of the ingredients are alike in each. They contain the well-known Witch Hazel, Arnica, Carbolic, Rock Oil, Mentha and other powerful ingredients.

Wm. H. Hickcox, Rector of St. John's E. Church, Wakefield, Clay Co., Kansas, writes: "Many years I have been suffering from a Weak Back, caused from a sprain more than 40 years ago. I have not found any thing to relieve me until I commenced the use of Centaur Liniment. I feel it my Christian duty to inform you that by its wonderful effects I am entirely relieved of pain. January 23d, 1876."

Messrs. J. McClure & Co., Druggists, Cincinnati, Ohio, say:

"Teamsters pronounce the Yellow Centaur Liniment superior to any thing they have ever used. We sell several dozen bottles per month, and the sale is steadily increasing."

These are only samples of thousands upon thousands of similar testimonials reaching us every month. All the Extracts, Embrocations, Salves and Ointments in existence are not doing one-tenth the good which is done by these admirable Centaur Liniments. For Frost-bites, Stings, Cuts, Itch, Salt Rheum, etc., there is nothing like the Centaur Liniment, White Wrapper. For Spavin, Ring-bone, Sweeney, Wind-Galls, Poll-evil, Scratches, etc., on horses, the Yellow Centaur Liniment is equally as good. They are certain in their effects; they are pleasant to use, they are handy and they are cheap. No family should be without Centaur Liniments. They are worth one hundred times their cost.

T. B. ROSE & CO., 46 DEY ST., NEW YORK.

Castoria.

Mothers may have rest and their babies may have health, if they will use Dr. Pitcher's Castoria for Wind Colic, Worms, Feverishness, Sour Mouth, Croup, or Stomach Complaint. It is entirely a vegetable preparation, and contains neither mineral, morphine, nor alcohol. It is as pleasant to take as honey, neither gags nor gripes, and is superior to any remedy in existence.

Dr. E. Dimoch, of Dupont, Ohio, says:

"I am using CASTORIA in my practice with the most signal benefits and happy results, and find it a perfect substitute for Castor Oil."

This is what every one says. Many nurses in New York use the CASTORIA. It is prepared by Messrs. J. B. ROSE & CO., successors to Samuel Pitcher, M. D. tnov1

The Centaur Liniments

have created a revolution in remedies for Rheumatism, Strains, Swellings, Pains, Burns, Scalds, Stings, etc. The White Liniment is for the human family, and the Yellow Liniment is for horses. They are certain, handy and cheap.

Castoria is certain to operate. It does not nauseate or gripe like Castor Oil, but is pleasant to take, digests the food, regulates the bowels, cures wind colic, expels worms, and causes natural sleep. It is equally adapted to adults and infants. It contains neither Mineral, Morphine nor Alcohol. Children teething may have health, and mothers find rest, if they use Castoria. tnov1

The Wonderful Remedy for Liver Complaint, Billiousness Dyspepsia, Constipation, Neuralgia, Rheumatism, Headache, Kidney Complaint, Nervousness, Scrofula, Piles, and all diseases arising from a bad state of the Blood!

No medicine ever offered to the public has given such universal satisfaction as Dr. Quain's Magic Condition Pills. Their praises are on every tongue where their merits are known. They strike at once at the seat of disease and show their healing power almost immediately. Thousands of voluntary testimonials of their merits have been received by the agent, from those who have been cured by them, of which the following are samples:

Dyspepsia Four Years, Constipation and Inflammation of the Bowels Three Years, Confined to my Room Two Years, Pain so I Could Not Sleep Without Morphine. One Package of Dr. Quain's Condition Pills Made Me Eat Well, Sleep Well and Free from Pain, after being given up by Physicians.

WEST LEBANON, ME., Feb. 22, 1

MR. THOMAS W. LANE:—I have been sick for 2 years with Dyspepsia, and for the past three years Constipation and Inflammation of the Bowels, have suffered all the pain I could endure and live, have been confined to my room for two years, and could not sleep nights without the use of morphine. I have been given up by physicians as past cure. I have taken one package of DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS, and they have done me more good than all the doctors I have had. I sleep well, I eat well and have no pain. They are all they are recommended to be. Please send me three packages, as two of my neighbors wish to try them. I enclose $1.50.

Your truly, JOHN W. LORD.

Another Letter from May. John W. Lord, one month later Wonderful Cures by Dr. Quain's Pills Effected on Him in Thirteen Days. First time Free from Pain for Three Years.

WEST LEBANON, ME., March 22, 1875.

MR. THOMAS W. LANE:—I commenced taking DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS February 8th, and wrote you February 22d of their wonderful effect. I have continued to improve ever since. My appetite is good, and I sleep as well as I ever did in my life. I am free from pain for the first time in three years. When I began to take your pills, I weighed one hundred and eighty-six pounds; I now weigh one hundred and thirty, but, as I am gaining in strength, I have faith I shall regain my flesh this summer, by the use of the Pills. I shal continue taking them for some time to come.

Yours truly, JOHN W. LORD.

Dr. Quain's Pills the Remedy for Soldiers' Aches and Pains.

WEST LEBANON, ME., June 1, 1875.

MR. THOMAS W. LANE—Dear Sir:—I am now able to walk every day, and am gaining in strength very fast, all of which is due to you as agent for the best Pills in the world. I have taken no other medicine, and my improvement has been steady since first taking DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS. They have done everything for me, and I will say to you, advertise them direct to the soldiers, for they will certainly cure them of aches and pains caused from exposure and hardship on the field. Please send me by return mail another package.

JOHN W. LORD.

Rheumatism for Twenty Years Cured by One Package of Dr. Quain's Condition Pills—"The Best Medicine in the World."

EAST ANDOVER, N. H., Dec. 10, 1875.

MR. LANE—Dear Sir:—As I know the value of DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS and the good they have done me, I take pleasure in giving testimony, and so I send you another testimonial. My father has been troubled with Rheumatism for twenty years or more, and has tried everything that could be thought of, but to no good. At times it would be so bad that he could not move his head or hand or do any work at all, especially in cold weather. A short time ago I advised him to get some of your Pills. He believed nothing in them, but I gave him the last package I had of you, as I did not need them, and he has not been a free from the Rheumatic Complaint for years. No Rheumatism, no pain. Whatshelped him? It was DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS, the best medicine in the world. There is nothing like them. I know it, for I have tried them, and they are all, yes, more than they are recommended to be. Give them a fair trial and you will say so. I write this because I know the goodness of them and wish others to know the same. Some may think I am telling a big story. I am. But remember I am not giving them a bad name because they ought to have.

Yours with respect, ED. F. PEVARE

DAINGERFIELD, MORRIS CO., TEXAS, Nov. 15, '75.

MR. THOMAS W. LANE—Dear Sir:—I have been afflicted for nearly twelve years with Neuralgia in the face and head. I tried i do not know how many physicians, and could only get partly relieved. I also tried many patent medicines with the same result. I have been confined to my room most all the time for eight or ten winters, and have been traveling and visiting medical springs, and I still suffered most intensely. The physicians pronounced my case the worst and most stubborn that they had had anything to do with. One told me I could never get well; they all advised me to go South and spend the winter, and thought that was the only chance for me, and I was trying to get ready to go to Florida, when through the kindness of Rev. E. M. Mathis my attention was called to the advertisement of Dr. Quain's Magic Condition Pills. I immediately sent to you for a package. I have taken four doses and I am almost free from pain. The impression here seems to be that if your pills will cure me, they will cure anybody. I have five applications to send for the pills. Enclosed please find three dollars; send five packages to me and one to Mrs. Laura Sherrel, Sulphur Springs, Hopkins county, Texas.

Yours truly, J. S. PATTON

Liver Complaint, Nervousness, Dropsy and Headache.

LACONIA, N. H., Jan. 29, 1875.

THOS. W. LANE—Sir:—I have been troubled with Bad Blood, Liver Complaint, Nervousness, Dropsy and Headache. I have taken one package of DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS. They have done me more good than all the medicine I ever took; I have taken considerable medicine within the last five years. For the nerves I think there is nothing so good as those pills. I can recommend them to all who are similarly afflicted, they have done me so much good. I think they will recommend themselves wherever they go. I shall recommend those Pills to all who need them. Please send me two packages more, one for myself and one for a lady friend of mine. Many thanks to the inventor, agent and advertiser of those Pills.

MRS. P. L. ELLIOTT.

I can recommend the above to all who need a good medicine.

PULMOCINE.

BUCHMAN'S PULMOCINE CORDIAL

Is the ultima thule of Medical Discovery.

Among its many ingredients are Wild Cherry Bark, Squill Root, Liquorice Root, Blood root, &c. It is a Blood Purifier, gently stimulating. It increases expectoration and is diuretic. It is sudorific and alterative. It is a powerful family medicine. It is a Tonic and a powerful aid to the digestive organs. It is a gentle sedative, and relieves nervousness. It is aromatic and agreeable to the taste.

CLEAR YOUR THROAT!

Relieve Your Lungs.

or the terrible diseases engendered by the lungs trying climate of New England!

PULMOCIDE CORDIAL

Is a speedy and reliable Preventive and Remedy. Every Family should have a bottle at hand to check the sudden growth of all Pulmonary Diseases. For the Asthma, Coughs, Croups, Laryngitis, or inflammation of the larynx, Diphtheria, and all kindred Throat Diseases at all times prevalent, it is the ounce of Prevention. Children attacked with Whooping Cough or Croup should be immediately cared for. These painful attacks come with scarcely a moment's warning, when a physician may be out of immediate each. A dose of PULMOCINE CORDIAL gives speedy relief, and the little ones are spared hours of pain and agony. As "a stitch in time saves nine," so does the possession of this Family Medicine prevent the spread of disease. Parents seeing their children gasping with pain, friends and relatives beholding each other in peril from suffocation by the choking pain in the throat, paralyzed with fear and not knowing the best course to pursue, are liable to apply the wrong remedial agents. There is no safety in delay, no time to waste in such cases. CONSUMPTION, that fearful scourge of the human race, lies at the door of all thus afflicted. BUCHMAN'S PULMOCINE CORDIAL arrests it (unless in its advanced stage at which time there is no local cure) relieves the pressing, suffocating feeling at the lungs, and patient's danger is past.

For Coughs,

Croup,

Diphtheria,

Asthma, etc.,

USE

Buchman's Pulmocine Cordial.

The Pulmocine Cordial is not a quack medicine, is not an experiment, is not composed of any ingredients "discovered" by "walking in pastures" in South America or anywhere else, nor by one who discovered a weed and thereby cured himself. Most of the ingredients are such as our best educated physicians daily use for the complaints specified in some form or other. The recipe is that perfected by one of New England's most learned and famous physicians, who used it entirely in his daily practice until his death. It is offered to the profession and to the public, absolutely pure and unadulterated.

AYER'S SARSAPARILLA,

For Purifying the Blood.

This compound of the vegetable alteratives, Sarsaparilla, Dock, Stillingia, and Mandrake with the Iodides of Potash and Iron, makes a most effectual cure of a series of complaints which are very prevalent and afflicting. It purifies the blood, purges out the lurking humors in the system, that undermine health and settle into troublesome disorders. Eruptions of the skin are the appearance on the surface of humors that should be expelled from the blood. Internal derangements are the determination of these same humors to some internal organ, or organs, whose action they derange, and whose substance they disease and destroy. AYER'S SARSAPARILLA expels these humors from the blood. When they are gone, the disorders they produce disappear, such as Ulcerations of the Throat, Stomach, Kidneys, Lungs, Eruptions and Eruptive Diseases of the Skin, St. Anthony's Fire, Rose or Erysipelas, Pimples, Pustules, Blotches, Boils, Tumors, Tetter and Salt Rheum, Scald Head, Female Weakness, Sterility, Leucorrhœa arising from internal ulceration and uterine disease, Dropsy, Dyspepsia, Emaciation and General Debility. With their departure health returns.

The Ceremony of Giving the Royal Assent.

The clerk on the right hand of the table before the woolsack in the House of Lords takes up a bill, and turning round so as to face the Royal Commissioners bows low, the clerk at the other side performing at the same time precisely the same gesture, as if the two were connected by an axle and turned by a single cog-wheel. The clerk on the right, who is known as the clerk of Parliament, reads the title of the bill, and then faces to the left. The clerk of the crown on the other hand faces to the right, and bowing thus brought face to face, the clerk of the crown chants "La reyne le veult!" Then some one in charge, possibly the resident engineer, gives another turn to the invisible wheel, the clerk of Parliament and the clerk of the crown simultaneously turn toward the five figures, and bow down almost to their boots. The clerk of Parliament takes up another bill and reads the title, after which he turns and bows again, the clerk of the crown bowing at the same time. Then they turn and face each other as before and once more there rings through the chamber the solemn lugubrious chant, "La reyne le veult!" Fancy this going on without intermission or variation for the space of a quarter of an hour, add to it an aspect of settled melancholy on the face of the clerk of the crown, and an ever deepening sadness in his monotonous chant, "La reyne le veult!" and some excuse may be found for the ladies, who, to the number of sixteen, were before the ceremony was over, reduced to a state of exhaustion through uncontrollable laughter, which it was felt desirable should be, like Grand Court's Smile, inward.—London Mayfair.

Autumn Leaves.

Press the leaves carefully between newspapers, taking care to avoid lapping one over another. The next day take out the leaves and dry the papers. Put the leaves again in press, and the next day repeat the drying process. This should be done three or four times, until all the moisture is extracted from the leaves. This is troublesome, but the result will be brilliant. If the face of each leaf, after the first pressing, is brushed over with sulphuric acid, diluted one-half with water, the color will be still brighter. Do not wax or varnish the leaves, as it gives them an unnatural gloss. They can be made into sprays or garlands by means of the fine wire which florists use, twisted around their stems.

—The following story is told about Aristarchi Bey, the Turkish Ambassador in Berlin, who married the daughter of a Prussian general: The General was not blessed with much wealth, but with many marriageable daughters. One day the Turkish Ambassador called upon him and asked if he might hope to become the General's son-in-law. "With pleasure," replied General Bonin, delighted; "How many do you want?" Aristarchi, seeing that the General took him for a Mussulman, replied with some trepidation that he was a Christian, and wanted only one. "What a nuisance!" grumbled the General; "Well, take whichever you like!"

Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Purgative Pellets

SIZE OF PELLETS.

Or Sugar-Coated, Concentrated, Root and Herbal Anti-Bilious Granules. THE "LITTLE GIANT" CATHARTIC, or Multum in Parvo Physic.

The novelty of modern Medical, Chemical, and Pharmaceutical Science, by use of any longer taking the large, repulsive, and nauseous pills, composed of cheap, crude, and bulky ingredients, when we can, by a careful application of chemical science, extract all the cathartic and other medicinal properties from the most valuable roots and herbs, and concentrate them into a minute granule, scarcely larger than a mustard seed, that can be readily swallowed by those of the most sensitive stomachs and fastidious tastes. Each little Purgative Pellet represents, in a most concentrated form, as much cathartic power as is embodied in any of the large pills found for sale in drug-shops. From their wonderful catharic power, in comparison to their size, people who have not tried them are apt to suppose that they are harsh or drastic in effect; but such is not at all the case, the different active medicinal principles of which they are composed being so harmonized and modified, one by the others, as to produce a most searching and thorough, yet gently and kindly operating, cathartic.

$500 Reward is hereby offered by the proprietor of these Pellets, to any chemist who, upon analysis, will find in them any calomel or other forms of mercury, mineral poison, or injurious drug.

Being entirely vegetable, no particular care is required while using them. They operate without disturbance to the constitution, diet, or occupation. For Jaundice, Headache, Constipation, Impure Blood, Pain in the Shoulders, Tightness of the Chest, Dizziness, Sour Eructations from the Stomach, Bad taste in the mouth, Bilious attacks, Pain in region of kidneys, Internal Fever, Bloated feeling about Stomach, Rush of Blood to Head, High-colored Urine, Unsociability and Gloomy Forebodings, take Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Purgative Pellets. In explanation of the remedial power of these Purgative Pellets over so great a variety of diseases, it will be to say that their action upon the animal economy is universal, and in most cases they cause a complete change in their sanative impress. Age does not impair the properties of these Pellets. They are sugar-coated and inclosed in glass bottles, their virtues being thereby preserved unimpaired for any length of time, in any climate, so that they are always fresh and reliable. This is not the case with those pills which are put up in cheap wooden or pasteboard boxes. Recollect that for all diseases where a Laxative, Alterative, or Purgative, is indicated, these little Pellets will give the most perfect satisfaction to all who use them.

They are sold by all Druggists at 25 cents a bottle.

THURSDAY, SEPTEMBER 20, 1877.

The Eastern War.

The Turkish report of the capture of the Shipka Pass turns out to be false. The Turks themselves acknowledge that they do not hold fort St. Nicholas, but claim to have taken it and hold it for six hours; on the contrary, the Russian Gen. Radetsky's official account of the fighting does not admit that the fort was ever occupied by the Turks. He says: "After five days' bombardment the Turks, at three o'clock in the morning, made a sudden attack on the fort. The attack subsequently extended along the whole line, and was repulsed with enormous loss to the Turks after a desperate fight which lasted nine hours."

The reported evacuation of Ardahan, in Asia Minor, is officially contradicted.

The Grand Duke Nicholas allows no pilfering by the troops under his command. Any offender detected is tried by court martial and shot. So strictly is the order obeyed that General Zotoff himself had to do without chickens for some days because the Bulgarians refused to sell him a fowl for his private table.

Among the the New Hampshire veterans in the Boston procession was seen the towering form of Private Dickey, who served all through the rebellion as a color-bearer. He stands six feet seven and one-half inches in his stockings.

Mary D. Stearns, daughter of Ex-Gov. Stearns, was married at Concord on Wednesday to Gen. John R. Brooke, U. S. A., of Pottstown, Penn.

The grand jury at Dover on Tuesday brought in true bills against forty-four persons, of Dover, Great Falls, Farmington, Rollinsford and other places, for selling liquor or keeping it for sale, from one to seven indictments against each.

Deputy U. S. Marshal Joseph P. Morse of this city arrested at Dover on Monday, under a United States warrant, Warren H. Walker, and on Tuesday, at Exeter, Benjamin Whittier, charged with obstructing United States mails while engaged as striking engineers on the Boston and Maine railroad on Feb. 12, 1877. A hearing was held before Commissioner Woodman of Dover on Tuesday, the parties pleading not guilty. They were bound over in the sum of $2,000 each to appear at the U. S. Circuit court at Portland October 24.

News and Notes.

On Tuesday the Boston base ball club was beaten by the Manchesters by a score of four to one; the Rhode Islands beat the Chicagos the same day, four to one.

John W. Young, Brigham's son, proposes to follow in his illustrious papa's footsteps in the matrimonial line. He wants to marry a girl named Julia Cobb, 18 years old, but her father opposes it. Young's last-married wife has left him.

Twelve thousand operatives in the cotton mills of Bolton, England, and its vicinity, have struck against a reduction of wages.

The net result of Stanley's three years' journey across the African continent, is the verification of the opinion that the great river Lualaba, in the interior, is identical with the great river Congo, on the Atlantic. It had been ascertained before, that the bed of the Lualaba was lower than the bed of the Nile, and this discovery made it reasonably certain that the waters of the Lualaba must find an outlet through the Congo. Stanley has verified this presumption.

A boy who suddenly finds himself with both his legs broken, struggling for his life in deep water, and who yet has the manliness to think of and save a helpless girl who had trusted herself in his care, is a boy who should not be lost sight of. That is what William J. Hamilton did on Sunday evening; and some rich and philanthropic New Yorker should make it his business to keep an eye on the brave lad and see that he has a fair chance in the world.—New York Sun.

August Belmont's daughter Frederica was married to Samuel S. Howland on the 18th inst. The affair was simply gorgeous.

There was a public reception at Faneuil Hall in honor of Gen. McClellan, Wednesday.

Joshua M. Sears, heir to the "Sears estate" in Boston, and Miss Sarah C. Choate, were married in Cambridge on the 18th inst.

The public generally are somewhat interested in the reported challenge of "Bob" Ingersoll to the "evangelicals" to prove that either Thomas Paine or Voltaire recanted the doctrines they advocated in their lifetime, or exhibited remorse for the same on their death beds. The New York Observer is said to have accepted the wager of battle, and Mr. Ingersoll has, according to the Graphic, promptly deposited $1000 in bank to be forfeited in case the Observer succeed in convincing the tribunal—one member to be chosen by Ingersoll, one by Dr. Prime, and the third by the two—of the correctness of its position. Ninety days to be allowed the Observer to collect the evidence, ninety to Ingersoll after it is submitted, then thirty more days to the affirmative to procure rebutting evidence. Then will follow the arguments before the tribunal, whose decision is to be final to both disputants.

Advices from New York make it more than probable that many of the politicians of that city and State even wish that the old "Boss" were dead, tongue tied, or deaf and dumb, and couldn't master the art of communicating his knowledge by any of the methods known to the latter unfortunate class; and we can almost hear the curses and maledictions upon the officious meddler who nabbed him just as continental Europe opened its sheltering arms to the fugitive; on the ship that brought him home, and on the untoward combination of circumstances that at last induced him to open his mouth, like a very Pandora's box, to blast and blacken reputations, heretofore only under suspicious or wholly spotless. The Boss is talking, now.

Schooner Jonas Smith, from Boston for Savannah, has been seen by a pilot boat under circumstances leading to a suspicion that her negro crew has mutinied and taken possession of the vessel. The revenue cutter Colfax has been out looking for the schooner, but did not find her.

The crew of an unknown American vessel have been killed by natives near Cape Prince of Wales.

The East-bound passenger train which passed Cheyenne, on the U. P. R. R., at 3 P. M., Tuesday, was stopped and robbed by thirteen men the same night, at Big Springs, Nebraska, 160 miles from Cheyenne.

The Republican State Convention of Massachusetts met at Worcester on Wednesday. George F. Hoar was chosen President. Alexander H. Rice received 478 votes out of 901, on an informal ballot.

The First American Cutler.

One of Naugatuck's oldest and most respected citizens, Lyman Bradley, is dead. He was the ostensible founder of a now extensive branch of American industry, having made the first pocket cutlery manufactured on this side of the Atlantic. This is a positive fact, and the building, or rather shed, under whose roof the first pocket knife made in the United States was hammered out still stands. Lyman Bradley was born May 25, 1798, and was consequently nearly eighty years old at the time of his death. He was born in what is now called Middlebury, but was then the town of Waterbury. As soon as he reached the years of understanding he went from his native town and learned the cutlery business, and soon after removed to this town, where he formed the idea of commencing the manufacture of pocket cutlery. In order to make this idea practicable it was necessary that he should import some mechanics from England, as Yankee ingenuity had not yet captured that branch of mechanism. He advertised in a Sheffield paper for some cutlers, paid their fair to this country and set them at work. The enterprise was a success from the beginning, though some of Mr. Bradley's friends advised him against going into the enterprise, arguing that he could not sell a knife in the United States which had not the Sheffield stamp on it.—Waterbury, Conn., American.

Mrs. Grant and Nellie.

The Long Branch correspondent of the Chicago Times writes that paper as follows: An old servant of the Grants attended my room at the Ocean Hotel. "People may say what they will about President Grant, but just ask the helps what they think of Mrs. Grant and Miss Nellie, and they'll every one say that they never had no such mistress before. I never did see Mrs. Grant lose her temper. And as for Miss Nellie, she was the sweetest child that ever breathed. Why, when she first come to Washington she wore a short dress and round combs. She never was fretful and impudent to them as was beneath her—never. After she got older, she always sent for me to see her before the receptions and parties. I used to say, 'Miss Nellie, you look like an angel, that's true.' 'Now, Sarah, you don't mean it, I know,' she'd say, just as innocent like; she never was stiff and stuck up. After the big wedding, and when everybody was congratulating her, and before she went away, she come and said good-by, and gave me her picture, and says now don't forget me, Sarah. Right down here at Long Branch in that very house, her little baby was born. 'La, Miss Nellie,' I said, 'you ain't more than a baby yourself; you ought to be playing with doll babies by right.' She was a proud little mother. When the nurse would be out dragging the boy up and down the lawn people would stop and look at his fine clothes—and I must say he had a wardrobe ekel to a prince. The last time I saw Miss Nellie she looked real old, but she had just the same pleasant ways. We'll never find any one like Mrs. Grant and Miss Nellie—them good times is all gone by. Mrs. Grant wasn't a pretty-faced woman, but her husband and children set a heap by her, and I don't believe she had one enemy in the world."

—A Kentucky girl was given the premium for horsemanship at a town fair. An admirer threw her a bouquet, whereupon her horse shied and the prize horse woman sat down on the ground.

—John F. Lewis, a colored man living near Elmira, N. Y., stopped, at the imminent peril of his own life, a runaway team, and so saved Mrs. C. J. Langdon, her child and nurse, who were returning from a visit to "Mark Twain." The rescued lady's husband gave him $1000, the holder of a $400 mortgage on his farm canceled it, another gentleman gave him $25, and "Mark Twain" gave him $50 and a complete set of his works.

—As a sample of the fictitious value which is sometimes attached to things utterly worthless, it is interesting to note that a magistrate in Middlesex, England, has just declined an offer of $4,500 for his collection of foreign postage stamps. An extensive collection of 17,000 varieties was sold in London recently for $4,000, which is believed to be the highest price that such a collection has ever fetched in England. In France, however, the mania has reached a higher pitch, for there an exceptionally complete collection was sold privately for $15,000.

—A St. Louis policeman, attempting to arrest a man for cruelty to his mule, incautiously came in the rear of the animal, and the ungrateful brute, with characteristic promptness, struck out from behind with his foot, and so disabled the policeman that he will be confined to his bed for a month.

—"Why don't I go into the country?" said the tramp, gazing with scorn at his heartless interrogator—"why, ain't it harvest time? Them farmers are just mean and small-souled enough to ax a man to work for his victuals. Do you suppose I want to have the back of my neck all blistered up, and my hands stuck full of thistles, and like as not get mashed in a threshing machine? And besides, I never could eat fried pork and hot biscuit all the time. It ain't healthy."

—A German editor who recently crossed the Atlantic, made certain scientific observations on board the steamer. A bottle of champagne was let down into the deep, and when it was pulled up it contained nothing but sea-water, although the cork was still embedded in the neck of the bottle, with the fastenings unbroken. The philosopher at once explained that the pressure forced the sea-water in through the pores in the cork and drove out the light, sparkling champagne.

—Archie Gordon, a Revolutionary soldier, who has numerous descendants living in Oxford, N. C., was the father of twenty-seven sons by his wife, Caroline Gordon, seven of whom were born during twenty-four months. At the Whig Convention, which assembled at Raleigh in 1840, old Archie was escorted through the streets in a four-horse carriage, with a flag floating over it, bearing the inscription, "Archie Gordon, the Whig father of twenty-seven Whig sons." All his descendants, and they are numerous, vote the Democratic ticket.

AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL,

For Diseases of the Throat and Lungs, such as Coughs, Colds, Whooping Cough, Bronchitis, Asthma and Consumption.

The few compositions, which have won the confidence of mankind and become household words, among not only one but many nations, must have extraordinary virtues. Perhaps no one ever secured so wide a reputation, or maintained it so long as

Ayer's Cherry Pectoral.

It has been known to the public about forty years, by a long continued series of marvellous cures, that have won for it a confidence in its virtues, never equalled by any other medicine. It still makes the most effectual cures of Coughs, Colds, Consumption, that can be made by medical skill. Indeed, the CHERRY PECTORAL has really robbed these dangerous diseases of their terrors, to a great extent, and given a feeling of immunity from fatal effects, that is well founded if the remedy be taken in season. Every family should have it in their closet for the ready and prompt relief of its members. Sickness, suffering, and even life is saved by this timely protection. The prudent should not neglect it, and the wise will not. Keep it by you for the protection it affords by its timely use in sudden attacks.

WOMAN.

By an immense practice, extending through a period of years, having within that time treated many thousand cases of those diseases peculiar to woman, I have been enabled to perfect a most potent and agreeable medicine that meets the indications presented by the diseases with positive certainty and exactness.

To make this natural specific compound, I have named it

Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription.

The term, however, is but a feeble expression of my high appreciation of its value, based upon my own personal observation. As a close observer, I have, while witnessing its curative results in the few special diseases incident to the separate organism of woman, singled it out as the climax or crowning gem of my medical career. On its merits, as a positive, safe, and effectual remedy for this class of diseases, and one that will, at all times and under all circumstances, act kindly with the delicate organism, the laws which govern the female system, I am willing to stake my reputation as a physician. Nay, even more, so confident am I that it will not disappoint the most sanguine expectations of a single invalid lady who uses it for any of its ailments for which I recommend it, that I offer and sell it under A POSITIVE GUARANTEE. If a beneficial effect is not experienced by the time two-thirds of the contents of the bottle are used, I will, on return of the bottle, two-thirds of the medicine having been taken according to directions, and the case being one for which I recommend it, promptly refund the money paid for it. Had I not the most perfect confidence in its virtues, I could not offer it as I do under these conditions; but having witnessed its truly miraculous cures in thousands of cases, I feel warranted and perfectly safe in risking both my reputation and my money on its merits.

The following are among those diseases in which my Favorite Prescription has worked cures, as it by magic, and with a certainty never before attained by any medicine: Leucorrhœa, Excessive Flowing, Painful Monthly Periods, Suppressions when from unnatural causes, Irregularities, Weak Back, Prolapsus, or Falling of the Uterus, Anteversion and Retroversion, Bearing Down Sensations, Internal Heat, Nervous Depression, Debility, Despondency, Threatened Miscarriage, Chronic Congestion, Inflammation and Ulceration of the Uterus, Impotency, Barrenness, or Sterility, Female Weakness, and very many other chronic diseases incident to women not mentioned here. In all affections of this nature, my Favorite Prescription works cures—the marvel of the world. This medicine I do not extol as a cure-all, but it admirably fulfils a singleness of purpose, being a most perfect cure for all chronic diseases of the sexual system of woman. It will not disappoint, nor will it do harm, in any state or condition.

Those who desire further information on these subjects can obtain it in Dr. Pierce's COMMON SENSE MEDICAL ADVISER, a book of over 900 pages, sent, post-paid, on receipt of $1.50. It treats minutely of those diseases peculiar to Females, and gives much valuable advice in regard to the management of those affections.

THE KEARSARGE MILL.

It is always gratifying to us to notice any evidence of prosperity on the part of any legitimate business or branch of industry anywhere, but especially in our city; hence we take particular pleasure in noting the extensive additions to and improvements in the machinery of the Kearsarge Mill, made during the recent shut-down. Since the present management took charge of the mill, improvements in machinery and buildings have been steadily going on. The most important recent addition is the new engine —a high-pressure Corliss—put in this season. This engine has a twenty-inch cylinder, and a stroke of five feet; does the dressing, and also the heating of the building. The old engine, that did all the work up to the time the new one was started a week or so ago, has been altered from a high-pressure to a condensing engine; it has a twenty-six inch cylinder and a stroke of six feet. The two engines are now running four hundred horse-power, and when all the new machinery is working will run four hundred and fifty, with one hundred horse-power still in reserve.

The card room has been reorganized; seventy new cards, of Foss & Peavey's make, have been put in, largely increasing the working capacity of the room, the new machines turning off eighty pounds a day where the old ones only turned off forty-five. A new lapper has been added, which does the same amount of work as the old one with less attendance. The capacity of the spinning room has been increased, twenty-six new frames having been put in; and seventy new looms have been placed in the weave room. Eighty feet of length has been added to the cloth room, and improvements made which greatly facilitate work in that department. A new floor has been laid in the card room, and a great many minor improvements and additions made, all which add to the efficiency of the working departments.

The capacity of the mill has been increased about sixteen per cent.; last year it turned out 85,000 yards per week; when the new machinery gets in operation the week's work will amount to over 100,000 yards. The cloth manufactured is satteens, which is used for making corsets and linings, and the product of the Kearsarge Mill stands as high in the market as any similar fabric. The managers propose to take up the manufacture of silesias as soon as the arrangements are completed, which will be before long.

The management of the Kearsarge Mill have aimed to pay their help all they could and make the mill a paying concern; and the wages of the operatives the past year averaged within five per cent. as much as in 1869. Under the present control the pecuniary condition of the corporation has steadily improved, while the efficiency of the mill has as steadily advanced. The agent, Robert B. Adams, Esq., who has been connected with the establishment for eight years past, first as foreman of the machine shop, and later as agent, he having taken the latter position when Mr. Thompson left it to become agent of one of the factories in Manchester, is thoroughly competent to fill the important position he holds; the treasurer, William H. Thompson, Esq., has the entire confidence of the corporation and the public; and they and the able corps of assistants are earnestly interested in making the establishment profitable to the stockholders, which for the good of the city if for no other reason we hope it will always be.

As a closing paragraph we will say a few words about the veteran clerk of the company, Ammi R. H. Fernald, Esq., who has been clerk since August 12th, 1845, and in all that time has missed but one pay-roll. The mill was built in 1845-46; and early in the former year Mr. Fernald, with Jerry S. Young, Calvin Brown and Thomas Clapham, staked out the ground on which the building now stands, Mr. Fernald having been connected with the enterprise ever since. Few men can boast such a record for long-continued, faithful and intelligent service as our respected townsman, the proprietors' clerk of Kearsarge Mill.

LANDING-STAGE WANTED.

Mr. Editor:—I read in the CHRONICLE recently a communication concerning the "Perils of Navigation" on the Piscataqua, in which the writer said there is but one public landing place for boats within the city limits, and that at the extreme north end of the town. There used to be one—and a great convenience it was—at the foot of Daniel street, close by the landing of the navy yard ferry boat. It did not cost the city much, as the stage itself was but the old tank which was thrown aside by the naval authorities when the new navy yard landing stage was fitted up, and was "borrowed" by the city—never to be returned or paid for, of course. Piles were fitted with iron travellers to hold the tank in place and allow it to rise and fall with the tide, and a bridge and brow were built; and the landing stage thus economically procured was almost always in use by boats from across the river, or owned on this side. But the old tank was old, and rotten, and finally it commenced to sink; and a committee of the Board of Aldermen was authorized to haul it up and fix it. The committee did haul it up, and never put it down again, reporting (I believe) that it was too far gone to be made tight. If that committee had known enough to have filled the old tank full of cord wood or slabs, at an expense to the city of perhaps twenty or thirty dollars, and then put it back again and let it fill with water if it wanted to, we should have had a good landing place there for years yet; for the top would have floated a foot above the water, which is amply sufficient for a boat landing, though it might not do to accommodate a steamboat. I don't know if the old tank is still in the land of the living; but the piles and footbridge are still in their places at the foot of Daniel street, and three good-sized logs with planks bolted across them would make a stage which would furnish a needed accommodation at a very small expense. Why cannot the city do this much for the convenience of BOATS?

POLICE COURT.

Wednesday, Sept. 19th.

Jeremiah Murphy (not the Jeremiah Murphy who went to jail Monday evening in default of payment of $4.45 fine and costs for stealing a ride, but his father,) was arraigned for drunkenness. The evidence showed that the charge was only too true, and old Jerry was ordered to hand over $9.90, (he might as well have been ordered to pay the National debt,) failing to do which he was sent up. Old Jerry and young Jerry, old Jerry's son, are both provided for now.

David Barry and Andrew Callahan, two boys, were arraigned for stealing a ride in Mr. Jere Gunnison's boat. The owner of the boat not being present, the case was continued to Thursday morning.

AT THE FAIR.

The Manchester correspondent of the Boston Globe, writing of the State Fair, says: "Frank Jones' eight yoke of mammoth working oxen are the admiration of every farmer on the ground. Their weight is as follows; One yoke, seven years old, 6180 pounds; one yoke, five years old, 4660; one, four years old, 4200; one, six years old, 4200; one, six years old, 3920; one, six years old, 3700; one, four years old, 3760; and one four years old, 4010; total, 34,630 pounds."

Other entries from Portsmouth are as follows:

Frank Jones, one pair matched horses; one gelding, five years old; one gelding, three years old.

Frank W. Hilton, pair matched horses, Gipsey and Bessie, five and six years old.

BOARD OF INSTRUCTION.

The Board had a session on Wednesday evening; present, the Mayor, Mrs. Knight, Mrs. Wilson, and Messrs. Shannon, Sherburne, Pender, DeNormandie, May, Hacket, Goodrich and Wendell.

The subject of a teacher at the Franklin School was discussed, and it was voted that the secretary give notice of a competitive examination to be held at half-past two o'clock on Saturday, the 29th inst. The petitioners for the appointment of Mr. C. A. Shannon were granted leave to withdraw.

Further report from the committee on rules was presented by Mr. DeNormandie.

The names of committee upon the different grades of schools were reported, and the members therein designated were chosen.

The subject of compensation of teacher of Lafayette School was referred to the subcommittee of Ward No. Three.

The remaining portion of the report of the committee on rules was laid on the table.

Adjourned for two weeks.

PORTSMOUTH AND VICINITY.

The injury to Mrs. N. Appolonio, who was one of the sufferers by the breakdown in Blackstone square, Boston, on the 17th inst., was severe; both bones of the leg were broken below the knee, and split, and she had to wait some hours before a surgeon could be obtained to set the bones. The wife of Mr. Henry Fernald, a Portsmouth boy who has been employed in the money order department of the Boston post-office for some years, was also hurt, but not so badly as many others.

Steamer Major, Capt. Robinson, made an excursion from Merrimack to the Shoals and this city, Wednesday. The excursionists were accompanied by the Merrimack Band.

Assistant Postmaster J. Wentworth Ayers is taking his summer vacation.

Chief Engineer Wm. H. Shock, U. S. N., Chief of the Bureau of Steam Engineering, and the Chief of the Bureau of Medicine and Surgery, visited the navy yard on official duty, Wednesday, and received the regulation salute.

It is said by Col. Kent's neighbors that it was not the row made by his dogs that scared the intending thieves out of his garden on the night of the 17th, but the appalling apparition of a big man, apparently about seven feet high and dressed in a single long white garment, jumping around over flower beds and bushes. According to the neighbors the appearance was fierce to behold.

The Street Commissioner has done a good job in relaying the cross-walk at the entrance of Locke's stable on Congress street, where was heretofore an uncomfortable walk over cobble stones, which are now replaced by an improved pavement.

The Times of Wednesday evening says: "Ship Jean Ingelow, Capt. Tanton, arrived at Batavia, Japan, on the 13th inst." This capsizing of astronomy and geography will have to be stopped, or we shall find our relations with foreign powers seriously compromised. Shifting the "vernal equinox" into September might not do much harm, but the Dutch government will be sure to raise a row about this moving of Batavia from Java up to Japan.

The Portsmouth City Guards have elected First Lieutenant James E. Ford, Captain, and Orderly Sergeant Alonzo F. Burnham, First Lieutenant.

At Dover on Tuesday, before Register in Bankruptcy Sawyer, E. B. West, Esq., of this city was chosen assignee of the estate of George E. Hanson, bankrupt.

Mr. Charles W. Adams, General Passenger Agent of the Chicago & Erie Railroad, with headquarters at Chicago, arrived at his home in this city on Wednesday, for a brief visit.

—A Meriden school district has "struck." The committee having insisted on retaining an unpopular teacher, all the families in the district have withdrawn their children and the school ma'am goes daily to the school house and stays there all alone, so as to draw her wages.

Prince Hassan and His Gloves.

We have from a correspondent a curious bit of information about the young Commander-in-Chief of the Egyptian contingent on the Danube. Though but twenty-four years old, Prince Hassan, son of the Khedive, is an experienced soldier, and has already had his share of haps and mishaps. The young Prince received his military education at Woolwich and Berlin, after which he occupied the office of Minister of War to his father. During the late war with Abyssinia he was seriously wounded and made prisoner. Although treated with great consideration, King John, 'to punish him," as he expressed it, "for fighting against Christians," ordered that a large cross should be tattooed on the back of each of the Prince's hands. This was done, and when his wounds were healed the young officer was released and returned to Cairo. Arrived at home, Prince Hassan consulted the best European as well as native physicians and chemists, and Copt soothsayers, promising a large sum to any one who should rid him of these mementoes of the Abyssinian King. Advice was freely offered and experiments tried; the Prince underwent much suffering, but all in vain—the Christian crosses were indelible. In despair he finally resorted to a Dervish for advice and the holy man communicated a remedy which at least had the merit of being undeniably efficacious. "Chop off both thy hands," he said to the Prince, "better live without hands than wear forever these signs of the infidel giaours!" But Hassan relished it but little, and so remains to this day tattoed with the hateful symbols. This is why no one ever sees him without gloves. —N. Y. World.

—A well-known barrister, having won a suit, the opposing party was so much enraged that he declared that whenever he met his legal adversary he would pitch into him. They encountered each other at an oyster counter. The gentleman addressed him, "Mr. ——, is there a cause so bad, or an individual so infamous, that your services cannot be obtained?" "I cannot say," replied the barrister, swallowing another oyster; and then stooping over, he asked, in an under-tone that everybody could hear, "What have you been doing?"

Centaur Liniments.

One thing is now thoroughly established. Never since man suffered and human agencies alleviated pain has there been any thing which went so far as a pain annihilator and curative agent as the Centaur Liniments. These Liniments have within the past year cured more cases of Rheumatism, Neuralgia, Stiff-joints, Caked Breasts, Swellings, Poisonous Bites, Burns, Lame Animals, etc., etc., than all other remedies combined. As the name of Centaur implies half horse and half man, the Centaur Liniments are for man and beast. But not the same Liniment. The White Liniment is for man and the Yellow for horses and animals. Herein this Liniment differs from all other remedies, although some of the ingredients are alike in each. They contain the well-known Witch Hazel, Arnica, Carbolic, Rock Oil, Mentha and other powerful ingredients.

Wm. H. Hickcox, Rector of St. John's E. Church, Wakefield, Clay Co., Kansas, writes: "Many years I have been suffering from a Weak Back, caused from a sprain more than 40 years ago. I have not found any thing to relieve me until I commenced the use of Centaur Liniment. I feel it my Christian duty to inform you that by its wonderful effects I am entirely relieved of pain. January 25d, 1876."

Messrs. J. McClure & Co., Druggists, Cincinnati, Ohio, say:

"Teamsters pronounce the Yellow Centaur Liniment superior to any thing they have ever used. We sell several dozen bottles per month, and the sale is steadily increasing."

These are only samples of thousands upon thousands of similar testimonials reaching us every month. All the Extracts, Embrocations, Salves and Ointments in existence are not doing one-tenth the good which is done by these admirable Centaur Liniments. For Frost-bites, Stings, Cuts, Itch, Salt Rheum, etc., there is nothing like the Centaur Liniment, White Wrapper. For Spavin, Ring-bone, Sweeney, Wind-Galls, Poll-evil, Scratches, etc., on horses, the Yellow Centaur Liniment is equally as good. They are certain in their effects; they are pleasant to use, they are handy and they are cheap. No family should be without Centaur Liniments. They are worth one hundred times their cost.

J. B. ROSE & CO., 46 DEY ST., NEW YORK.

Castoria.

Mothers may have rest and their babies may have health, if they will use Dr. Pitcher's Castoria for Wind Colic, Worms, Feverishness, Sour Mouth, Croup, or Stomach Complaints. It is entirely a vegetable preparation, and contains neither mineral, morphine, nor alcohol. It is as pleasant to take as honey, neither gags nor gripes, and is superior to any remedy in existence.

Dr. E. Dimoch, of Dupont, Ohio, says:

"I am using CASTORIA in my practice with the most signal benefits and happy results, and find it a perfect substitute for Castor Oil."

This is what every one says. Many nurses in New York use the CASTORIA. It is prepared by Messrs. J. B. ROSE & CO., successors to Samuel Pitcher, M. D. tnov1

The Centaur Liniments have created a revolution in remedies for Rheumatism, Strains, Swellings, Pains, Burns, Scalds, Stings, etc. The White Liniment is for the human family, and the Yellow Liniment is for horses. They are certain, handy and cheap.

Castoria is certain to operate. It does not nauseate or gripe like Castor Oil, but is pleasant to take, digests the food, regulates the bowels, cures wind colic, expels worms, and causes natural sleep. It is equally adapted to adults and infants. It contains neither Mineral, Morphine nor Alcohol. Children teething may have health, and mothers find rest, if they use Castoria. tnov1

Rheumatism for Twenty Years Cured by One Package of Dr. Quain's Condition Pills—"The Best Medicine in the World."

EAST ANDOVER, N. H., Dec. 10, 1875.

MR. LANE—Dear Sir:—As I know the value of DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS and the good they have done me, I take pleasure in giving you an agent for the so I send you another testimonial. My father has been troubled with Rheumatism for twenty years or more, and has tried everything that could be thought of, but to no good. At times it would be so bad that he could not lift his hand to his head or do any work at all, especially in cold weather. A short time ago I advised him to get some of these Pills. He believed nothing in them, but I gave him the last package I had of you, as I did not need them, and he has not been an free from the Rheumatic Complaint for years. No Rheumatism, no pain. What helped him? It was DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS, the best medicine in the world. There is nothing like them. I know it, for I have tried them, and they are as you say, better than any other medicine I know. Give them a fair trial and you will say so. I write this because I know the goodness of them and wish others to know the same. Some may think I am telling a big story. I am. But remember I am not giving them big to get some of them for myself.

Yours with respect, ED. F. PEVARE

DAINGERFIELD, MORRIS CO., TEXAS, Nov. 15, '75.

MR. THOMAS W. LANE—Dear Sir:—I have been afflicted for near twelve years with Neuralgia in the face and head. I tried I do not know how many physicians, but could only get partial relief. I also tried many patent medicines with the same result. I have been confined to my room most all the time for two or three winters, and have been traveling and visiting medical springs, and I still suffered most intensely. The physicians pronounced my case the worst and most stubborn that they had had anything to do with. One told me I could never get well; they all advised me to go South and spend the winter, and thought that was the only chance for me, and I was trying to get ready to go to Florida, when through the kindness of Rev. H. M. Mathis, my attention was called to the advertisement of Dr. Quain's Magic Condition Pills. I immediately sent to you for a package. I have taken four doses and I am almost free from pain. The impression here seems to be that if your pills will cure me, they will cure anybody. I have five applications to send for the pills. Enclosed please find three dollars; send five packages to me and one to Mrs. Laura Sherrel, Sulphur Springs, Hopkins county, Texas.

Yours truly, J. S. PATTON

THOS. W. LANE—Sir:—I have been troubled with Bad Blood, Liver Complaint, Nervousness, Dropsy and Headache. I have taken one package of DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS. They have done me more good than all the medicine I ever took; I have taken considerable medicine within the last five years. For the nerves I think there is nothing so good as those pills. I can recommend them to all who are similarly afflicted, they have done me so much good. I think they will recommend themselves wherever they go. I shall recommend those Pills to all who need them. Please send me two packages more, one for myself and one for a lady friend of mine. Many thanks to the inventor, agent and advertiser of those Pills.

PULMOCINE.

BUCHMAN'S PULMOCINE CORDIAL

Is the ultima thule of Medical Discovery.

Among its many ingredients are Wild Cherry Bark, Squill Root, Liquorice Root, Blood root, &c. It is a Blood Purifier, gently stimulating. It increases expectoration and is diuretic. It is sudorific and alterative. It is a necessary family medicine. It is a Tonic and a powerful aid to the digestive organs. It is a gentle sedative, and relieves nervousness. It is aromatic and agreeable to the taste.

CLEAR YOUR THROAT!

Relieve Your Lungs.

PULMOCINE CORDIAL

Is a speedy and reliable Preventive and Remedy. Every Family should have a bottle at hand to check the sudden growth of all Pulmonary Diseases. For the Asthma, Coughs, Croups, Laryngitis, or inflammation of the larynx, Diphtheria, and all kindred Throat Diseases at all times prevalent, it is the ounce of Prevention. Children attacked with Whooping Cough or Croup should be immediately cared for. These painful attacks come with scarcely a moment's warning, when a physician may be out of immediate each. A dose of PULMOCINE CORDIAL gives speedy elief, and the little ones are spared hours of pain and agony. As "a stitch in time saves nine," so does the possession of this Family Medicine prevent the spread of disease. Parents seeing their children gasping with pain, friends and relatives beholding each other in peril from suffocation by the choking pain in the throat, paralyzed with fear and not knowing the best course to pursue, are liable to apply the wrong remedial agents. There is no safety in delay, no time to waste in such cases. CONSUMPTION, that fearful scourge of the human race, lies at the door of all this afflicted. BUCHMAN'S PULMOCINE CORDIAL arrests it (unless in its advanced stage at which time there is no local cure) relieves the pressing, suffocating feeling at the lungs, and patient's danger is past.

For Coughs,

Croup,

Diphtheria,

Asthma, etc.,

USE

Buchman's Pulmocine Cordial.

The Pulmocine Cordial is not a quack medicine, is not an experiment, is not composed of any ingredients "discovered" by "walking in pastures" in South America or anywhere else, nor by one who discovered a weed and thereby cured himself. Most of the ingredients are such as our best educated physicians daily use for the complaints specified in some form or other. The recipe is that perfected by one of New England's most learned and famous physicians, who used it entirely in his daily practice until his death. It is offered to the profession and to the public, absolutely pure and unadulterated.

SEC. 3. All waste water or houses, yards, cellars, sinks, pumps, etc., shall be conveyed by their owners or occupiers to the common sewers, or to such places as the Health Officers may direct.

SEC. 4. No person shall be allowed to throw any vegetable or dead animal substance, or any other matter capable of producing infection, into any street, lane, alley or dock, or upon any wharf, but shall bury them or throw them into the river below low water mark.

And all owners and occupiers of buildings having such vaults or privies as may require it, shall cause them to be emptied within ten days from the promulgation of this ordinance, and in future on or before the first day of May in each year. And any such owner or occupier neglecting so to do, shall forfeit and pay for every such neglect a sum not less than three nor more than twenty dollars, and a like sum for every week's neglect after the time above specified.

SEC. 6. No vender of meat at the stalls shall be permitted to leave any offal in such stalls, or in any premises where such nuisance shall be found, shall cause the same to be removed within twenty-four hours after being notified so to do by one or more of the health officers.

SEC. 15. The Health Officers may give written notice to the owner or occupier of any building, vessel or enclosure, to remove or destroy any nuisance or other thing deemed by them on examination, to be injurious to the public health, within a certain time limited therein; and in case such owner or occupier—the said notice having been given to him, or left at his usual place of abode—shall neglect to comply therewith, the said Health Officers may, by direction of the mayor and accompanied by the city marshal, forcibly enter such building, vessel or enclosure, and cause said nuisance or other thing aforesaid to be removed or destroyed.

SEC. 21. AYER'S SARSAPARILLA,
For Purifying the Blood.

HOPE

This compound of the vegetable alteratives, Sarsaparilla, Dock, Stillingia, and Mandrake with the Iodides of Potash and Iron, makes a most effectual cure of a series of complaints which are very prevalent and afflicting. It purifies the blood, purges out the lurking humors in the system, that undermine health and settle into troublesome disorders. Eruptions of the skin are the appearance on the surface of humors that should be expelled from the blood. Internal derangements are the determination of these same humors to some internal organ, or organ, whose action they derange, and whe e substance they disease and destroy. AYER'S SARSAPARILLA expels these humors from the blood. When they are gone, the disorders they produce disappear, such as Ulcerations of the Liver, Stomach, Kidneys, Lungs, Eruptions and Eruptive Diseases of the Skin, St. Anthony's Fire, Rose or Erysipelas, Pimples, Pustules, Blotches, Boils, Tumors, Tetter and Salt Rheum, Scald Head, Female Weakness, Sterility, Leucorrhœa arising from internal ulceration and uterine diseases, Dropsy, Dyspepsia, Consumption and General Debility. With their departure health returns.

The Bennett Medal.

In 1869 the late James Gordon Bennett, recognizing the services of the firemen at the burning of his house, sent a check for $1500 to the commissioners, to be used in the purchase of a medal for the most meritorious member of the department each year. Five hundred dollars were spent in the purchase of a die, and the interest of the remainder is annually applied to the purchase of a gold medal. A roll of honor is kept at department headquarters, recording all noteworthy actions of the men, and the one who has especially distinguished himself for bravery is chosen as recipient of the medal, at the annual parade. Ten medals have already been awarded, the first to M. D. Tompkins, foreman of an engine company, who, at the risk of his own life, saved a woman from the second story of a building, and the second to B. A. Gicquel, who rescued two women and two children. Charles L. Lelly received one for the heroism he displayed at a fire on the northeast corner of Division and Forsyth streets. The flames were burning fiercely on the first floor, but Kelly climbed up the shutters to the second floor, and thence carefully lowered three persons to the ground. He also saved the lives of others, who were paralyzed by terror, in directing them to a stairway, and in leading them down. Ambrose L. Austin was at a fire and saw a woman striving to climb the basement steps; the flames steadily repulsed her, but Austin dashed through them and carried her out. Thomas Henry, another medalist, rescued eight persons from the second story of a burning building. Thomas Hutchinson was told that some persons were in a burning tenement house on Baxter street. He made his way up the exterior to the second story, rear, and found a boy hanging from the third-story platform of the fire-escape. He told the boy to drop, and that he would catch him. The boy obeyed, and was snatched by Hutchinson as he fell through the air. William H. Nash was awarded a medal for saving the lives of two children at No. 223 Division street, and William Mitchell was awarded another for rescuing a man from a pit of flame at No. 78 Pearl street. James Horn rescued six persons from No. 351 Rivington street, and Henry Schuck, at great personal risk, fought his way through a furnace to save an infant. There is not one among these instances of bravery that, if given in greater detail, would not read like romance, but the romance is reality of a very good sort—Harper's for October.

A Curious Case of Infatuation.

Jennie June, writing from Brooklyn to the Baltimore American, says:

It is generally supposed that when beautiful young women marry elderly men they do it simply and solely as a matter of business—so much young flesh and blood for so much money, and there is little sympathy for either side if the bargain does not turn out as good as was expected. A young lady of Brooklyn has recently, however, reversed all the traditions in this respect. She is an only child and the apple of her parents' eyes. She is extremely pretty and petite, with a rose leaf complexion, a plump yet delicate form, and a profusion of golden brown hair. She has been educated at home exclusively and seen but little of the world, except one year spent abroad. This trip was projected in order to get rid of an attachment which, to her parents' horror, she had formed for a man of nearly sixty years old, who was in the habit of visiting her father occasionally, but who took advantage of the privilege accorded to his age, and of a still somewhat fine and even distinguished personal appearance, to make passionate love to the daughter. He is a very poor man, so poor that his board and washing bills are always in arrears, and he is overwhelmed with debts for personal indulgences for which he never thinks of paying. All this has no effect on the girl. She insisted upon having him; and the parents, really knowing but little of him, after a hard contest finally gave a conditional consent, their daughter to first accompany her mother abroad for a year, and if she, on her return, desired to marry her elderly lover, they would no more oppose it, but pay his debts and give him a home at their house, for they have abundant means, and the daughter has every advantage that wealth could bestow. A few months ago the mother and daughter returned from Europe, the daughter still determined on an alliance so repulsive to her family that the thought had made her mother's hair turn gray. But, in the meantime, her father had made himself acquainted with some previous passages in the man's career, and as soon as possible after her arrival placed them strongly before her. The man was proved to be a thoroughly unprincipled old scamp, the father of an illegitimate child, whose mother he had refused to marry—the boy, now fifteen years of age, supported and kept at school by his mother's daily labor. He had even been compelled to leave one place where he lived to escape lynching, and left everywhere in debt. The father with tears told his daughter he could not let her marry such a man, and that her death would be almost preferable. He pictured her ten or fifteen years from this time, in the flower of womanhood (she is not yet nineteen,) with a husband decrepit and helpless, whom she could not even respect. But it was all of no avail. She insisted that he had been abused, wronged, and said it was the one desire of her life to be able to comfort his remaining years, and smooth his pathway to the grave. There seems to me something radically wrong and morbid about a case like this, and I think her parents would be justified in taking strong measures to save their daughter from her self-imposed fate. If they do not, she will certainly blame them some time for their failure to rescue her from her situation; and should she even die, as she threatens, her death would be easier borne than the long, horrible sacrifice to which she wishes to consign herself.

FRIDAY, SEPTEMBER 21, 1877.

The Last Train Robbery.

The particulars of the robbery of a train on the Union Pacific Railroad at Big Springs, Nebraska, on the night of the 18th, are given as follows: As the eastward bound express pulled up at the station, and the express messenger opened the door to deliver for the station, about half a dozen masked men forced their way into the express car and with drawn revolvers compelled express messenger Miller to unlock the safe, containing about $60,000, mostly gold coin, with which they escaped. The party consisted of about twelve or thirteen men, some of whom held the messenger while the rest went into the telegraph office and made the operator destroy his instruments to prevent his reporting the occurrence. The robbers then mounted their horses and started north. The train got started as soon as possible and reported the robbery from the next station. A large force was at once organized and started in pursuit of the robbers. The country north of the scene of the robbery is open and barren, forming the largest portion of the great plains. After the robbery parties were ordered out on horseback from Julesburg, Ogallala and North Platte. Superintendent Davis telegraphed the Sheriffs at Denver and Deadwood, offering $5000 reward for the capture of the thieves and $5000 for the recovery of the money. Shortly after the robbery Conductor Strong's freight train reached Big Springs, and the engine was detached and sent on to Ogallala, whence he forwarded the account of the affair. The passenger engine, the fires of which had been wet down by the robbers, was fired up and the train proceeded eastward. The following is the conductor's report: "There were from twelve to fifteen masked men. They had the agent captured, a red light for orders, and the telegraph instrument cut out. When I went on the platform to obtain orders, two men with a revolver in each hand told me to throw up my hands. They already had the engineer, fireman and express messenger captured. They got $65,000 in coin and $469 in currency. They only went through the passengers on the first-class coaches, when freight No. 10 came along and frightened them off. They got $1300 in cash, four gold watches, and a ticket to Chicago from the passengers. Miller, the express messenger, was bruised about the head, but not seriously. They made the agent knock at the express car door, causing it to be opened. The express safe, with a combination lock, is safe with its contents. A man named Morris lost a gold watch, a ticket and $480 in money. I went back flagging No. 10. They sent a guard with me part way, and then put the fire out in the passenger engine."

MacMahon's Manifesto.

The manifesto of MacMahon was published in the French official journal on the 18th, and is so threatening in tone as to unfavorably affect the European bourses. He says the radicals have forgotten his share of authority; the people do not believe he wishes to overthrow the Republic; the constitution has been entrusted to his guardianship and he will make it respected. If the elections are unfavorable he will not obey the mandates of the demagogues, but will remain to defend with the support of the Senate the interests of the conservatives. He says that for the last four years he has maintained the peace and personal confidence with which he is honored by foreign sovereigns. This enables him to render France's relations with all powers more cordial. He points out how France has prospered, and says that the deputies, throwing off the leadership of moderate men, at length forgot the share of authority belonging to him, and which he could not allow to be diminished without involving the honor of his name before the people of France, and in history. In the exercise of his right he dissolved the Chamber. His Government will designate among candidates those who are authorized to make use of his name. Elections favorable to his policy will facilitate the regular conduct of the existing Government. Hostile elections would aggravate the conflict between public powers as well as impede the course of business and maintain agitation.

News and Notes.

The body of John Maloney, who was drowned off Wood Island, near Biddeford Pool, some weeks ago, was picked up on Tuesday of last week by Capt. Norwood, keeper of the Wood island light.

The Warren Avenue Baptist Church, of Boston, is to have a year to recede from its heterodox position concerning open communion, failing to do which in that time it will be church-mauled by the Boston North Baptist Association. The Association met in Winchester, Mass., on Wednesday, and the letter of the offending church to the Association, which was read in the meeting, was published before its delivery in the Boston Journal of the same morning. Rev. Dr. Pentecost stated that the editor of the Journal solemnly promised not to have the letter published until after it had been read.

We do not think it consistent with the dignity of the republican convention to have all its committees published before it assembles, and we approve still less the act of one of the Boston papers in printing this morning an abstract of Senator Hoar's address before it was delivered. It is as impolitic for newspapers to enter into this kind of rivalry, as to vie with each other in cutting down their advertising rates—Worcester Gazette.

The English iron-clad "Shannon," the first vessel of a new class, tried to make a six hours' steaming trial at Plymouth a few days ago, but her bearings became so overheated that she had to be stopped. After a week she was still in such shape that three stoppages for cooling had to be made in one hour. Then it was discovered that her bowsprit was out of place, so that for ramming purposes she would be useless; also, that she was so overmasted and that such mistakes had been made in calculating her displacement that she drew twenty-three inches more than had been expected and allowed for. At the same time the "Flamingo" set out from Plymouth for Malta, and during her brief voyage displayed faults so multitudinous and multifarious that Admiral Rice declared that unless she was put into better shape in a fortnight he would order her home as useless. It is reassuring after all this to learn that the English naval authorities are not disheartened, for a London paper says of the discouraging "Shannon" that "probably she will make one or two more preliminary trials to discover more exactly her imperfections."

Political.

The Massachusetts republicans in State convention assembled, on Wednesday renominated Gov. Rice and Lieut. Gov. Knight, Sec. of State Peirce and Att'y Gen. Train. "The policy" was endorsed, as were also the civil service reform measures of the administration.

The New Jersey democrats on Wednesday nominated Gen. McClellan for Governor. The nomination is a strong one.

The Boston Post has already decided that Rice will be defeated by Gaston, and has set "the best republican leaders" in this State to "trembling over its effect upon the coming New Hampshire campaign." We think we have seen something like this in the columns of the Post a good many times before.

An American Stage-Coach.

Since a trip on the top of a stage-coach has become so deservedly popular with New Yorkers, a great deal of attention has been drawn to the subject of staging for pleasure, and there seems to be but one objection to the system so admirably carried out by Colonel Kane and the coaching club.

This objection arises from the fact that everything pertaining to these stages is strictly in the English fashion. The stage itself is an English vehicle; the driver is as much like an English stage-coach-driver as it is possible to make him; the guard blows his horn as Britishly as he can; the horses, which are English in their appointments, are changed in the English fashion, while the driver and the passengers, like Englishmen, get down to take a glass of English ale; the stage is whirled up to the tavern in regular English style, and, indeed, there is scarcely any difference between one of these New York coaches and an English stage.

Now, to a truly American mind, there is something distasteful in all this. If stage-coaches are to be run for the amusement and diversion of our people, why not have some of them based on an American model?

It may be well enough to give the people of our large cities an idea of how staging is, or was, carried on in England; but would it not be as well to show them how it is conducted in the far West, where there is a system of coaching which is distinctively American?

It would not be difficult, in the vicinity of New York, to make arrangements for running a line of stage-coaches strictly on the American plan. Any of the partly opened streets in the upper portion of the island would do for a starting-place, and a rough bridge, in imitation of those in use in the unsettled portion of the South-west, might be thrown over Spuyten Duyvil creek. The route could then be laid out along some of the least frequented country roads, and some of the low-lying places might be filled in with corduroy.

Then one of our Western stage-coaches, with six mules at full gallop, and a driver who was accustomed to guide them with the lines in his teeth and a rifle in his hands, would tear along the road, with all the clatter and bang and wild excitement that you could get on a road down near the Mexican border. The mules would be of the kind that no driver could stop between stations, and if he could keep them in the road it would be all that would be expected of him.

At certain points there would be armed men, ambushed by the road-side, whose duty it would be to fire at the stage as it passed, and as each of the passengers would be required to carry a rifle, very pretty sport could be had by peppering the bushes as the stage dashed along.

At other points, the stage would be stopped, and each passenger carefully robbed by highwaymen. This part of the exercises might be made very effective. The valuables taken could be returned on application to the stage office, or they could be kept as perquisites by the obliging attendants.

Sometimes the services of Indians or Mexicans might be obtained, and an attack on the stage by a small party of either of these would give variety to the proceedings.

Refreshments, such as are found at the stations on the prairie roads, would be furnished at the stopping-places, and many persons be thus afforded opportunities, which they could not otherwise obtain, of eating the crust off an immense lump of dough, hastily baked over a hot fire, and put on again after the departure of each coach, to be recrusted for the next load of passengers. Some pork and beans, and hot fried cakes, could also be served, if thought necessary.

Miners could be hired to play cards in the coaches, and all the cards, knives, and revolvers necessary could be furnished by the company.

By careful attention to these and other details, a line of coaches might be established, which should represent, with accuracy and fidelity, some of the characteristic methods of travel in our own country. And it is scarcely necessary to say that this would be a great educational boon to people like the citizens of New York, who will soon begin to believe that there are no stage-coaches excepting those modeled and run upon the English plan.—Scribner's "Bric-a-Brac."

Hall's Vegetable Sicilian Hair Renewer has for many years occupied an honorable place in the toilet of American women, and has also attained popularity in foreign countries. This is because it does PERFORM what it promises. Its warmest friends are those who have used it longest, and those who sound its praise the loudest are those who from actual experience and personal trial have demonstrated that by its use gray hair is restored to its natural color and dry, harsh, and wiry hair is made soft and lustrous, a thing of beauty, and a matter of joy and pride to the wearer.—Sun-Solier and Democrat, Corinth, Miss.

AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL,

For Diseases of the Throat and Lungs, such as Coughs, Colds, Whooping Cough, Bronchitis, Asthma and Consumption.

The few compositions which have won the confidence of mankind and become household words, among not only one but many nations, must have extraordinary virtues. Perhaps no one ever secured so wide a reputation, or maintained it so long as

Ayer's Cherry Pectoral.

It has been known to the public about forty years, by a long continued series of marvelous cures, that have won for it a confidence in its virtues, never equalled by any other medicine. It still makes the most effectual cures of Coughs, Colds, Consumption, that can be made by medical skill. Indeed, the CHERRY PECTORAL has mostly robbed these dangerous diseases of their terrors, to a great extent, and given a feeling of immunity from these dire effects, that is well founded if the remedy be taken in season. Every family should have it in their closet for the ready and prompt relief of its numbers. Sickness, suffering, and even life is saved by this timely protection. The prudent should not neglect it, and the wise will not. Keep it by you for the protection it affords by its timely use in sudden attacks.

WILLIAM H. HACKETT, Clerk.

Portsmouth, Sept. 8, 1877.

WOMAN.

By an immense practice, extending through a period of years, having within that time treated many thousand cases of the diseases peculiar to woman, I have been enabled to perfect a most potent and remedic medicine, which meets the indications presented by that class of diseases with positive certainty and exactness.

To introduce this natural specific compound, I have named it

Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription.

The term, however, is but a feeble expression of my high appreciation of its value, based upon my own personal observation, as a close observer, I have, while witnessing its positive results in the few special diseases incident to the separate organism of woman, regarded it out as the climax or crowning gem of my medical career. Its virtues, as a positive, safe, and effectual remedy for this class of diseases, and one that will, at all times and under all circumstances, act kindly with and in unison with the laws which govern the female system, I am willing to make my reputation as a physician. Nay, even more, so confident am I that it will not disappoint the most sanguine expectations of a single invalid lady who uses it, for any of the ailments for which I recommend it, that I offer and sell it under A POSITIVE GUARANTEE. If a beneficial effect is not experienced by the time two-thirds of the contents of the bottle are used, I will, on return of the bottle, two-thirds of the medicine having been taken according to directions, and the cash being one for which I recommend it, promptly refund the money paid for it. Had I not the most perfect confidence in its virtues, I could not offer it as I do under these conditions; but having witnessed its truly miraculous cures in thousands of cases, I feel warranted and perfectly safe in risking both my reputation and my money on its merits.

The following are among those diseases in which my Favorite Prescription has worked cures, as it by magic, and will a certainty never before attained by any medicine: Leucorrhœa, Excessive Flowing, Painful Monthly Periods, Suppressions when from unnatural causes, Irregularities, Weak Back, Prolapsus, or falling of the Uterus, Anteversion and Retroversion, Bearing Down Sensations, Internal Heat, Nervous Depression, Debility, Hysteria, Despondency, Threatened Miscarriage, Chronic Congestion, Inflammation and Ulceration of the Uterus, Impotency, Barrenness, or Sterility, Female Weakness, and very many other chronic diseases incident to women not mentioned here. In all affections of this nature, my Favorite Prescription works cures—the marvel of the world. This medicine I do not claim as a cure-all, but it admirably fulfills a singleness of purpose, being a most perfect remedy in all chronic diseases of the sexual system of woman. It will not disappoint, nor will it do harm, in any state or condition.

Those who desire further information on these subjects can obtain my WORLD'S DISPENSARY COMMON SENSE MEDICAL ADVISER, a book of over 900 pages, sent, post-paid, on receipt of $1.50. It treats minutely of those diseases peculiar to Females, and gives much valuable advice in regard to the management of their affections.

POLICE COURT.

Thursday, Sept. 20th.

Andrew Callahan and David Barry were before the court, on a continued case, for unlawfully taking possession of a boat belonging to Mr. Jere. Gunnison. They acknowledged going away with the boat, knowing they had no right so to do, but each blamed the other for being the leader in the rascality. Judge Batchelder decided the charge proved, and sentenced Barry to pay a fine of $5 and Callahan $3, the costs, amounting to $11.51, being divided between them. In default of payment Barry was sent to Brentwood, and Callahan was lodged in jail. The reason Callahan was not sent up country with Barry is that he is wanted at the approaching term of the Supreme Court to answer to an indictment for stealing a quantity of lead pipe; this indictment was found against him some time ago, but the culprit was let off on probation, and the indictment was to have been dismissed at the coming term if no other complaint was made against him in the meantime; but he has been "up" for truancy, assaulting another boy, and stealing a boat, since the indictment was suspended over him, and now he will be tried for the more serious offence.

James Haddock and Oliver Amazeen were charged with unlawfully taking possession of a team belonging to Mr. Stoddard, hired of him by Josiah Frost, and going off for a ride with the same against the peace and dignity of the State and the statute in such case made and provided. That they took the team as charged was proved, but Frost not appearing it could not be shown that the team was taken without his consent, and the defendants were discharged.

Oliver Amazeen was then arraigned for being drunk, pleaded guilty, and the Judge made some brief remarks about $9.90.

BOARD OF INSTRUCTION.

At the Board's meeting on Wednesday evening, sub-committees for the different grades of schools were elected, as follows:

Primary schools—Mrs. Knight, Messrs. Goodrich and Pender;

Intermediate schools—Mrs. Wilson, Dr. May and Dr. Sherburne;

Grammar schools—Messrs. Hutchinson, Gardner and Shannon;

Suburban schools—Messrs. Hackett, Wendell and Hutchinson.

AT THE FAIR.

In addition to the entries at the State Fair by Portsmouth people already published, we find the following in the Mirror:

Charles H. Hayes, one herd Ayrshires, consisting of bull and five cows; two bulls; three cows; two heifers; turnips, carrots, beets, onions, sweet corn, and five varieties of apples.

Mrs. S. E. Pearson, two hand bouquets, one table bouquet, decorations on two vases.

Mrs. L. Seavey, everlasting flowers, wreath cross basket.

Mrs. Louise Seavey, embroidery mats, crotchet cloud, wrought ottoman, embroidered shawl bag.

Mrs. Frank W. Miller, twenty-two vases canned fruit, six vases jellies.

Mrs. E. P. Seavey, two tidies, two rugs.

Mrs. Eliza Garrett, two blankets, silk patchwork quilt.

Charles Hayes & Son scooped numerous premiums, as follows: On Ayrshire stock—1st prize on herd, 2d on 3-year bull, 1st on bull-calf, 2d on 4-year cow, 1st on 3-year cow, 1st on 2-year cow, 1st and 2d on 1-year cow, 1st on heifer calf. On fruit—1st premium for best plate Hubbardston apples, 2d premium for best five varieties. On vegetables—special premium for show of Burbank's seedling potatoes.

Frank Jones took first prize on matched horses, and 1st on colts of one, two, three and four years. His magnificent ox-team was only entered for exhibition, but will receive a special award (a medal, we believe) as the best team ever shown in the State, owned by one man.

Col. Hilton's pair of matched horses were not so heavy as some of their competitors, but are so finely matched and such splendid drivers that a special premium was awarded them.

Mrs. Garrett received 1st premium for an Afghan.

Mrs. M. R. Haley took four second premiums.

[The above list is very incomplete, but it is all we could procure last evening.]

THE LANDING STAGE.

Mr. Editor:—In his appeal to the city authorities to make a decent landing place for small boats at the foot of Daniel street, where there used to be one, your correspondent "Boats" does not give all the reasons that he might in its favor. One of these reasons is that a landing there would always have the benefit of the navy-yard-landing light up to a reasonably late hour at night; another is that in bad weather there is a convenient ferry house in which women and children, and men too, can take refuge, or rest while waiting for their boats—for though the ferry house is exclusively the property of the general government, yet no objection was ever made by the navy yard authorities, so far as I ever heard, to any well behaved person making reasonable use of its advantages; and still another reason is that there is a watchful and efficient special police officer always on duty there during the day, and often in the evening. True, Mr. Anderson is paid by the general government and not by the city; but his presence would do much to stop the great and growing nuisance of boat stealing by the swarms of "dock-rat" boys, that has become so great an annoyance to parties coming from across the river in boats, if the boats were fastened to a public landing under his eye. The amount of traffic that was accommodated by the city landing there during the brief period of its existence, is a strong argument in favor of another one being provided; and almost any day ten or a dozen boats can be seen tied to the navy yard landing, where they have no business to be, because the city furnishes them with no place where they can rightfully be tied. Do, please, dear City Fathers, lay out a little "contingent" on a public landing place for boats at the foot of Daniel street. ROWLOCKS.

MUNICIPAL AFFAIRS.

In Board of Mayor and Aldermen, Thursday evening:

The City Clerk being absent, Wm. C. Ham was chosen clerk pro tem.

David C. Urch was appointed special police without pay, at Newcastle bridge.

Wm. W. Cotton complained of the drain corner of Cabot and Islington streets. Referred to committee on drains.

Notice was received that Alvin H. Emery had commenced suit against the city.

George H. Perkins claimed compensation for loss of a horse valued at $150, injured on Banfield road last January, and since died. Referred to committee on claims.

Notice was received that Frank Jones and others have petitioned the Supreme Court for a new highway on Christian Shore.

Petition of Abraham Kay for use of Elm street ward room, for drum corps, received; leave to withdraw granted.

The resolution of the Board to pay claim of Mr. Hanscom, was vetoed by the Mayor. The following is the veto message:

Gentlemen: I return to this Board the bill of C. Dwight Hanscom without signing. The reason for so doing is that I have investigated the matter and find that the highway where the damage is alleged to have occurred was in good condition; several hundred vehicles passed over the crossing that day. People by reckless driving can no doubt break their carriages or their necks in any street in this city; and I am of the opinion that no member of this Board, or citizen, would think of allowing any such claim as the one here presented to the city, if made against them personally; and I think the guardians of the city should be as watchful of the city's money as they would of their own. I had an application this week requesting the city to pay 75 cts. for a jug of molasses that was spilled in a person's wagon by jolting in riding over a road in this city. If this Board deems it proper to pay such trivial claims, doubtless applications for damages will be numerous enough to supply you with plenty of business. J. H. BROUGHTON, Mayor.

Voted to pay A. K. Brown & Co. $250 on account, and that they be requested to appear before the Board at the next meeting, and make a statement of their account.

Committee on gas lights reported that the chimney of Ward's distillery is a nuisance; that he has been requested to raise it and put wire screens on it, but refuses to comply.

Voted that petition for naptha lights on Islington street be granted, provided the petitioners furnish posts and lanterns, the city to locate them.

Voted that the piggery of John Stokell & Co. be declared a nuisance, and that the assignee be notified to remove the same forthwith.

City Marshal's report was accepted.

Robert E. Rich was elected inspector of Petroleum, vice Wm. C. Ham, declined.

The Mayor and Ald. Hadley and Yeaton were appointed a committee to see what can be done to insure safety at the railroad crossings.

Under suspension of the rules, a vote was passed notifying the Eastern Railroad in New Hampshire to secure the Green street crossing with a gate.

Ald. Coffin requested that John Turner, supernumerary policeman, be stationed between Frenchman's lane and the Eastern Railroad round-house.

In Convention, Surveyors of Highways were elected as follows:

George Murray, District One;
Thomas Wiggin, District Two;
Charles H. Hayes, District Three;
Samuel H. Whidden, District Four;
John C. Marden, District Five;
William P. Israel, District Six.

PORTSMOUTH AND VICINITY.

—Mr. Richards, master mechanic of the Boston & Providence Railroad, has built a platform freight car, the sills of which are four old thirty-foot rails, which weighs 16,200 pounds. It carries a load of coal of 34,630 pounds. The car is a novelty to railroad men.

—David Home observed that all the devout persons he had ever met with were melancholy. On this Bishop Horne remarked, this might very probably be; for, in the first place, it is most likely that he saw very few, his friends and acquaintances being of another sort; and secondly, the sight of him would make a devout man look melancholy at any time.

—A party were enjoying the evening breeze on board a yacht. "The wind has made my moustache taste quite salt," remarked a young man who had been for some time occupied in biting the hair that fell over his upper lip. "I know it," innocently said a pretty girl. And she wondered why all her friends laughed. "People are so childish," she remarked.

—A lady at a summer resort, whose unruly children annoy everybody in the hotel, recently said to a noted teacher, sitting near her at the table, "Professor, do you believe in the use of the rod, in the management of children?" The professor then glared at her annoying children, and grimly replied: "Sometimes, madam; but there are cases when I should prefer the revolver!"

Centaur Liniments.

One thing is now thoroughly established. Never since man suffered and human agencies alleviated pain has there been any thing which went so far as a pain annihilator and curative agent as the Centaur Liniments. These Liniments have within the past year cured more cases of Rheumatism, Neuralgia, Stiff Joints, Caked Breasts, Swellings, Poisonous Bites, Burns, Lame Animals, etc., etc., than all other remedies combined. As the name of Centaur implies half horse and half man, the Centaur Liniments are for man and beast. But not the same Liniment. The White Liniment is for man and the Yellow for horses and animals. Herein this Liniment differs from all other remedies, although some of the ingredients are alike in each. They contain the well-known Witch Hazel, Arnica, Carbolic, Rock Oil, Mentha and other powerful ingredients.

Wm. H. Hickcox, Rector of St. John's E. Church, Wakefield, Clay Co., Kansas, writes: "Many years I have been suffering from a Weak Back, caused from a sprain more than 40 years ago. I have not found any thing to relieve me until I commenced the use of Centaur Liniment. I feel it my Christian duty to inform you that by its wonderful effects I am entirely relieved of pain. January 23d, 1876."

Messrs. J. McClure & Co., Druggists, Cincinnati, Ohio, say:

"Teamsters pronounce the Yellow Centaur Liniment superior to any thing they have ever used. We will several dozen bottles per month, and the sale is steadily increasing."

These are only samples of thousands upon thousands of similar testimonials reaching us every month. All the Extracts, Embrocations, Salves and Ointments in existence are not doing one-tenth the good which is done by these admirable Centaur Liniments. For Frost-bites, Stings, Cuts, Itch, Salt Rheum, etc., there is nothing like the Centaur Liniment. White Wrapper. For Spavin, Ring-bone, Sweeney, Wind-Galls, Poll-evil, Scratches, etc., on horses, the Yellow Centaur Liniment is equally as good. They are certain in their effects; they are pleasant to use, they are handy and they are cheap. No family should be without Centaur Liniments. They are worth one hundred times their cost.

J. B. ROSE & CO., 46 DEY ST., NEW YORK.

Castoria.

Mothers may have rest and their babies may have health, if they will use Dr. Pitcher's Castoria for Wind Colic, Worms, Feverishness, Sour Mouth, Croup, or Stomach Complaints. It is entirely a vegetable preparation, and contains neither mineral, morphine, nor alcohol. It is as pleasant to take as honey, neither gags nor gripes, and is superior to any remedy in existence.

Dr. E. Bunsch, of Dupont, Ohio, says:

"I am using CASTORIA in my practice with the most signal benefits and happy results, and find it a perfect substitute for Castor Oil."

This is what every one says. Many nurses in New York use the CASTORIA. It is prepared by Messrs. J. B. ROSE & CO., successors to Samuel Pitcher, M. D. tnov1

The Centaur Liniments have created a revolution in remedies for Rheumatism, Strains, Swellings, Pains, Burns, Scalds, Stings, etc. The White Liniment is for the human family, and the Yellow Liniment is for horses. They are certain, handy and cheap.

CONDITION PILLS!

The Wonderful Remedy for Liver Complaint, Biliousness Dyspepsia, Constipation, Neuralgia, Rheumatism, Headache, Kidney Complaint, Nervousness, Scrofula, Piles, and all diseases arising from a bad state of the Blood!

Is the ultima thule of Medical Discovery.

No medicine ever offered to the public has given such universal satisfaction as Dr. Quain's Magic Condition Pills. Their praises are on every tongue where their merits are known. They strike at once at the seat of disease and show their healing power almost immediately. Thousands of voluntary testimonials of their merits have been received by the agent, from those who have been cured by them, of which the following are samples:

Dyspepsia Four Years, Constipation and Inflammation of the Bowels Three Years, Confined to my Room Two Years, Pain so I Could Not Sleep Without Morphine, One Package of Dr. Quain's Condition Pills Made Me Eat Well, Sleep Well and Free from Pain, after being given up by Physicians.

WEST LEBANON, ME., Feb. 22, 1

MR. THOMAS W. LANE:—I have been sick for 2 years with Dyspepsia, and for the past three year I was troubled with Inflammation of the Bowels. I have suffered all the pain I could endure and live. I have been confined to my room for two years, and could not sleep nights without the use of morphine. I have been given up by physicians as past cure. I have taken one package of DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS, and they have done me more good than all the doctors I have had. I sleep well, I eat well and have no pain. They are all they are recommended to be. Please send me three packages, as two of my neighbors wish to try them. I enclose $1.50.

Your truly, JOHN W. LORD.

Another Letter from May, John W. Lord, one month later Wonderful Cures by Dr. Quain's Pills Effected on Him in Thirteen Days. First time Free from Pain for Three Years.

WEST LEBANON, ME., March 22, 1875.

MR. THOMAS W. LANE:—I commenced taking DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS February 8th, and would you February 23d of their wonderful effect. I have continued to improve ever since. My appetite is good, and I sleep as well as I ever did in my life. I am free from pain for the first time in three years. When I commenced I was sick four years ago, I weighed one hundred and eighty-six pounds; I now weigh one hundred and thirty, but, as I am gaining in strength, I shall fill out. I shall regain my flesh this summer, by the use of the Pills. I shal continue taking them for some time to come.

Yours truly, JOHN W. LORD.

Dr. Quain's Pills the Remedy for Soldiers' Aches and Pains.

WEST LEBANON, ME., June 1, 1875.

MR. THOMAS W. LANE—Dear Sir:—I am now able to walk out every day, and am gaining in strength very fast, all of which is due to you as agent for the best Pills in the world. I have taken no other medicine, and my improvement has been steady since first taking DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS. They have done everything for me, and I will say to you, advertise them direct to the soldiers, for they will certainly cure them of aches and pains caused from exposure and hardship on the field. Please send me by return mail another package.

JOHN W. LORD.

Rheumatism for Twenty Years Cured by One Package of Dr. Quain's Condition Pills—"The Best Medicine in the World."

EAST ANDOVER, N. H., Dec. 16, 1875.

MR. LANE—Dear Sir:—As I know the value of DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS and the good they have done me, I feel it my duty to give testimony, that so I send you another testimonial. My father has been troubled with Rheumatism for twenty years or more, and has tried everything that could be thought of, but to no good. At times it would be so bad that he could not lift his hand to his head or do any work at all, especially in cold weather. A short time ago I advised him to get some of these Pills. He believed nothing in them. But I gave him the last package I had of you, as I did not need them, and he has not been a free from the Rheumatic Complaint for years. No Rheumatism, no pain. What helped him? It was DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS, the best medicine in the world. There is nothing like them. I know it, for I have tried them, and they are all, yes, more than they are recommended to be. Give them a fair trial and you will say so. I write this because I know the goodness of them and wish others to know the same. Some may think I am telling a big story. I am. But remember I am not giving them half the praise they ought to have.

Yours with respect, ED. F. PEVARE

DAINGERFIELD, MORRIS CO., TEXAS, Nov. 15, '75.

MR. THOMAS W. LANE—Dear Sir:—I have been afflicted for near twelve years with Neuralgia in the face and head. I tried a lot of medicine, many physicians, and could only get partly relieved. I also tried many patent medicines, but with the same result. I have been confined to my room most all the time for eight or ten winters, and have been travveling and visiting medical springs, and I still suffered most intensely. The physicians pronounced my case the worst and most stubborn that they had had anything to do with. One told me I could never get well; they all advised me to go South and spend the winter, and thought that was the only chance for me, and I was trying to get ready to go to Florida, when through the kindness of Rev. H. M. Mathis, my attention was called to the advertisement of Dr. Quain's Magic Condition Pills. I immediately sent to you for a package. I have taken four doses and I am almost free from pain. The impression here seems to be that if your pills will cure me, they will cure anybody. I have five applications to send for the pills. Enclosed please find three dollars; send five packages to me and one to Mrs. Laura Sherrel, Sulphur Springs, Hopkins county, Texas.

Yours truly, J. S. PATTON

Liver Complaint, Nervousness, Dropsy and Headache.

LACONIA, N. H., Jan. 29, 1875.

THOS. W. LANE—Sir:—I have been troubled with Bad Blood, Liver Complaint, Nervousness, Dropsy and Headache. I have taken one package of DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS. They have done me more good than all the medicine I ever took; I have taken considerable medicine within the last five years. For the nerves I think there is nothing so good as those pills. I can recommend them to all who are similarly afflicted, they have done me so much good. I think they will recommend themselves wherever they go. I shall recommend those Pills to all who need them. Please send me two packages more, one for myself and one for a lady friend of mine. Many thanks to the inventor, agent and advertiser of those Pills.

MRS. P. L. ELLIOTT.

PULMOCINE.

BUCHMAN'S PULMOCINE CORDIAL

is no new discovery. Twenty-three years ago it was used by one of New England's most famous physicians as the best Pulmonary Curative he could prescribe, after dozen years spent in experimenting with it before he was satisfied that the Materia Medica could add nothing in its favor.

CLEAR YOUR THROAT!

Relieve Your Lungs.

PULMOCINE CORDIAL

is a speedy and reliable Preventive and Remedy. Every Family should have a bottle at hand to check the sudden growth of all Pulmonary Diseases. For the Asthma, Coughs, Croups, Laryngitis, or inflammation of the larynx, Diphtheria, and all kindred Throat Diseases at all times prevalent, it is the ounce of Prevention. Children attacked with Whooping Cough or Croup should be immediately cared for. These painful attacks come with scarcely a moment's warning, when a physician may be out of immediate each. A dose of PULMOCINE CORDIAL gives speedy elief, and the little ones are spared hours of pain and agony. As "a stitch in time saves nine," so does the possession of this Family Medicine prevent the spread of disease. Parents seeing their children gasping with pain, friends and relatives beholding each other in peril from suffocation by the choking pain in the throat, paralyzed with fear and not knowing the best course to pursue, are liable to apply the wrong remedial agents. There is no safety in delay, no time to waste in such cases. CONSUMPTION, that fearful scourge of the human race, lies at the door of all thus afflicted. BUCHMAN'S PULMOCINE CORDIAL arrests it (unless in its advanced stage at which time there is no local cure) relieves the pressing, suffocating feeling at the lungs, and patient's danger is past.

For Coughs,

Croup,

Diphtheria,

Asthma, etc.,

USE

Buchman's Pulmocine Cordial.

The Pulmocine Cordial is not a quack medicine, is not an experiment, is not composed of any ingredients "discovered" by "walking in pastures" in South America or anywhere else, nor by one who discovered a weed and thereby cured himself. Most of the ingredients are such as our best educated physicians daily use for the complaints specified in some form or other. The recipe is that perfected by one of New England's most learned and famous physicians, who used it entirely in his daily practice until his death. Its is offered to the profession and to the public, absolutely pure and unadulterated.

AYER'S SARSAPARILLA,

For Purifying the Blood.

This compound of the vegetable alteratives, Sarsaparilla, Dock, Stillingia, and Mandrake with the iodides of Potash and Iron, makes a most effectual cure of a series of complaints which are very prevalent and afflicting. It purifies the blood, purges out the lurking humors in the system, that undermine health and settle into troublesome disorders. Eruptions of the skin are the appearance on the surface of humors that should be expelled from the blood. Internal derangements are the determination of these same humors to some internal organ, or organs, whose action they derange, and who a subsance they diseased, and disorder. AYER'S SARSAPARILLA expels these humors from the blood. When they are gone, the disorders they produce disappear, such as Ulcerations of the Liver, Stomach, Kidneys, Lungs, Eruptions and Eruptive Diseases of the Skin, St. Anthony's Fire, Rose or Erysipelas, Pimples, Pustules, Blotches, Boils, Tumors, Tetter and Salt Rheum, Scald Head, Female Weakness, Sterility, Leucorrhœa arising from internal ulceration and uterine disease, Dropsy, Dyspepsia, Emaciation and General Debility. With their departure health returns.

A Season of Horror.

The following account of the loss of schooner J. C. Van Name, of Fairhaven, Mass., which took place on Friday, August 3d, is from the narrative of Capt. Hardy, who commanded the lost vessel.

The Van Name was from New York, bound for Baracoa, coal laden, and having on board a crew of seven men and three passengers. Up to the morning of August 2d, the trip had been prosperous and all were in good spirits. During the night a heavy wind arose and the sea began to make until before morning tremendous waves were running. Through the night the rain fell also. The sea occasionally broke over the schooner, but the hatches were battened down, and no damage was done. At about five o'clock, Friday morning, the catastrophe occurred. It may be well to state something concerning the persons on board the schooner. Of the crew none except Captain Hardy and the steward were over twenty years of age. The Captain is about forty years of age, and has had a wide experience as a sailor. The passengers were Matilda Assurus, aged twelve, Freddie Assurus, aged nine, and a man, name unknown. The crew were unusually good young men, being temperate, averse to profanity and good workers.

When the dawn came under sullen clouds, with driving rain pelting the vessel and the men, that terrible Friday morning, the vessel was riding bravely. Great waves loomed up behind and all around, but there was in the mind of none on board a thought of danger. All were on deck except the girl, who, it was thought, was in the after cabin. The vessel was hove-to, to ride out the gale with the peak of the mainsail up. Everything else was stowed snug. At a quarter past four o'clock the vessel was tight and clear of water. At about five o'clock came the great waves which caused the wreck. As usual the middle wave of the three was the largest. It may be interesting to know that such waves always come in threes. When the first wave struck there was then little idea of danger, but with the second the vessel keeled over on one side, the cargo having shifted, and the third wave made a clean breach. All this had come so quick that there was hardly chance for thought. Before the calamity had been consummated, however, Captain Hardy had time to tell the steward to run for the girl. The steward was never seen afterward by any one except the first mate. In six minutes from the time the wave struck she had sunk and carried down with her the girl and Captain Hardy, who had grasped the back stay. How far he sank the captain does not know. When he came to the surface he grasped something, which proved to be an oar. With this he rose to the top of a great wave, but finding that it would not sustain him, and not being able to swim, he resigned himself to death, shouting out a farewell to the mate who was afloat not far away clinging to a piece of joist. Sinking again the captain came up once more, and grasping about without aim but in a frantic struggle for life, he caught hold of another piece of joist which luckily sustained him so that his head was out of water. Here he saw the boy drown. He was the best swimmer on the vessel, but although he had succeeded in getting two pieces of wood to float him, every huge wave that "combed" broke over his head, and he was suffocated and drowned.

With the vessel had gone down about everything. The boat, which was lashed, was carried down. All that appeared to offer rescue to the crew, who were in the water, were pieces of joist which had been on deck and which having floated away, were tossed wildly about. By little less than a miracle, of sixteen pieces which had floated off, eight had been secured. Of these it was necessary to make a raft. The mate had two pieces. Each piece was twenty-four feet long, but only a few inches wide, so that when finally they were got together a raft hardly three feet wide was formed. To get the joists together was a task of great difficulty, but when they were once gathered they were lashed together with the garments of which the sailors divested themselves. By the time the captain was reached he was numb, and as he says, "felt as if I had taken ether, and I didn't care whether I lived or died, hardly."

Beside the raft the sole property of the seven persons gathered, was an oar which had drifted from the boat. The buoyancy of the raft was not enough to keep them above water, and each had to hold on while partially under water while remaining on his hands and knees. If a condition so horrible has been imagined, an almost unimaginable horror was added now. Almost as soon as the raft was completed there appeared in the vicinity a number of sharks, which appeared to be hungry and ferocious, and all were large. Throughout the rest of the time spent on the raft they were constant attendants. Sometimes three or four large ones would be by the raft, and they would smell of the sailors, who were compelled to remain recumbent to avoid sinking their frail support. If the sea monsters had not been withheld by some unaccountable influence they would probably have gone on the raft, which would have ended all hope. This they could easily have done, as they floated on a level with the helpless sailors. Luckily some of the men had sheath knives, and when the sharks came up against them they used these knives to put out the monsters' eyes. Still the sharks lingered. By times while on the raft, to add to their discomfort, it rained in gusts, and throughout Friday and Friday night, which latter season was horrible, the waves continued to run heavily and the waters constantly washed over the men. It was cold and the lack of clothing was a great want. Of food there was none, and drink was obtained only by spreading a handkerchief which was soaked with the rain.

The terrible Friday night experienced is beyond description. There laid the sharks eager for their prey; and the men, growing weaker but holding on with the desperation of despair, drifted, without a star in sight, the clouds being thick and black, and with rain and waves drenching and chilling them. They could not sleep, for that was sure death. An almost utter silence reigned as far as speech was concerned. About all had lost hope and the night was like a pall. Not a sail had been seen during the preceding day and the morning seemed ages away. The thought of a vessel passing in the night was added to other horrible fancies. The mate talked some on religious subjects, but few others had much to say, and their talk was confined to their condition.

A fear that should they see a vessel they might not be seen, was realized the next day, Saturday. To attract attention, one of the sailors managed to fasten the oar upright, and to attach to this his shirt. According to the captain, none had expected to see day, however. In seven days previous to the wreck only one vessel had been seen. Saturday morning a steamer hove in sight, but there came up a thick squall, and the raft was evidently unseen. All the sailors shouted, but the steamer when next seen had passed by. There was a wonderful eloquence of despair in the act of the owner of the shirt which had served as a flag. Without a word he managed to get to his feet and taking down the garment put it on and then laid down again.

There was another disappointment in the shape of a sail which passed by during the day out of hailing distance. It was also discovered that the raft was breaking up, the fastenings becoming loosened, and the sharks forbade any attempt at repairs. After thirty-six hours time thus imprisoned the schooner Minnie Rippelier, Captain Henry L. Benton, for Aspinwall from Philadelphia, was sighted. She was on the wind, and her course brought her near the raft. The flag of distress had been placed again in position. The signal, however, seemed to be unseen. From the raft a man could be seen to climb the rigging and scan the water with a glass. This was an officer, who afterward told the rescued men that all he could see was a lot of heads. The schooner made no signals. All the men shouted with desperation, but although rescue was possible they all deemed it doubtful. One man who had the best eyes was appointed to watch, "although"—said the captain—"they all thought they had the best eyes."

Rescue was at hand, however, although there was peril in the method adopted. A [illegible] rope to the raft, which was seized. Had the raft separated, which calamity was feared, the sharks, which were watchful, were ready for a dash. As it was, in their eagerness to get off, the raft was sunk farther until the plan of getting off one at a time was adopted. Once aboard the Rippelier they were taken to Aspinwall. Captain Hardy has arrived home. "You have no idea of our feelings," he says, "when that steamer moved away." The sharks made only one attempt at an attack, and then one shark snapped at a sailor's foot, which was missed, however. The captain is well, but says: "In looking back it makes me shiver; I can hardly believe it."

Daily Chronicle.

SATURDAY, SEPTEMBER 22, 1877.

New York Letter of Fashion.

NEW YORK, Sept. 19.

A humorous writer says, "If you want to do well in the music business, have a top note." My verdict is, "If you want to do well in the fashion business; i. e., if you wish to be fashionable—wear beads." Have them on your bonnet, shower them on your costume; wear them peeping forth from beneath your dress, bestrew them plentifully on your stockings, and even on your shoes. The beads just mentioned are bronzed or made to glitter with metallic effect; the latter style being the clair de lune jet of which we shall see and hear a good deal before the expiration of the winter. Bronze will be the leading color. 'Tis going to be bronze, bronze, bronze,—in silks, dress goods, millinery, and I know not what. Now, "why is this?" one asks, and I answer, for several reasons. Firstly, because the various bronze shades harmonize so well with the different yellows now so fashionable. Then again, bronze is a handsome color, and affords a variety from brown, on which the changes have been rung so everlastingly that despite its many advantages, we have grown somewhat tired of it. Running the gauntlet of colors over, we find that bronze is more generally suitable than blue, green, plum or grey, and therefore while we shall see all the above hues patronized, yet bronze will be the color.

DRESS MATERIALS.

Is it a result of women's rights, that dress materials look rough enough to suit so many Amazons going to war? Be that as it may, it is a fact that they do. Yet the vanity of the sex comes out in the bright intermingling of color which are apparent—gay dashes or dottings—maybe both—of red, blue, or yellow, scattered broadcast and at random over the goods, as one would sow wheat in a field. The ground work may be plain, or again it may be wrought into mosaic figures, but regularity of design is thus set at naught and counteracted. New silks also are devised in similar fashion, and both come under the heading of bourette goods. But should some doubting soul exclaim, "You have just said that bronze is the leading color," I reply so I have, and so I do now. Let me explain: Bourette goods, being so rough, need an offset, and here comes in your bronze; effective in plainly woven woolens and silks which will appear as parts of combination costumes. Standard materials are among the first importations, and as for general wear nothing is so desirable as black, we find that special attention is paid to the better class of black goods. In cashmeres, the Grand Opera brand is preferred by purchasers of discrimination, and in mohairs the Beaver brand is excellent, being silk finished and a fast black, while the stable brand of Turkish brilliantine possesses the highest degree of brilliancy and is the most beautiful black lustre goods ever imported.

MILLINERY.

We are rushing after satin and plush with the avidity of a widower "along in years" who seeks to fascinate a girl of sixteen. Velvet is classed as thoroughly respectable, but who wants to dress "respectably?" We want something stylish—something which is new, and which will cause Mrs. A— over the way to look at us and feel jealous. In millinery especially sparkles the clair de lune jet. Tis everywhere—placed on plain foundations, bristling on aigrettes, hanging on petals, bestrewn on leaves, glistening on moss, peeping forth on braids, gleaming on buckles, and giving out changing hues with every change of light. Shapes are various, with square or slightly pointed crowns, and narrow brims and foliage is massed in heavy moutures, occasionally lightened by flowers.

COSTUMES.

Princess polonaises lead, but close fitting basques and overskirts are not discarded; again we find the princess dress all in one. One of the handsomest designs in the last named style is the "Davenport" dress, having the front draped across, quite low down, and a plaited train inserted about midway down the back, producing a fan-like effect. The "Czarina" polonaise is also novel and distinguished, being a unique design in which the waist, both back and front, is partially shirred and confined in a deep yoke. The "Camille" basque is a distingue design, tight fitting, with the trimming arranged to simulate a vest, and the neck cut low and shawl shaped. The "Juanita" overskirt is irregular in arrangement, and very stylish, the front being disposed on the right in deep, diagonal folds, while the left side is plain and lapping over the right at the belt. The closely clinging drapery at present fashionable, demands a support for the dress other than that afforded by the ordinary underskirt, and hence we find different kinds of tournoures designed which combine both elegance and comfort. Perfection has been reached in the "Queen," which besides being very stylish shaped, possesses a durability and [illegible] with a gossamer lightness never before equalled. It is entirely new, made without pockets, clasps, buttons, or other metallic device, and the tapes are sewed to the wires by a lockstitch sewing machine of novel construction, made especially for this purpose. One will be sent post paid, on receipt of $1.50, by J. L. Colby & Co., 425 Broome street.

LUCY CARTER.

Serves Them Right.

The "Mother of Presidents" is beginning to find out that continued bleating about "honah, sah," is not enough to keep good the reputation and credit of a swindler. Virginia wants a temporary loan of $200,000. But there has been and is now so much repudiation talk in the Old Dominion that the authorities find the credit of the State so shaky that neither the Richmond banks nor the Northern banks that have been applied to, are inclined to make any further loans that may be subjected to arbitrary "adjustment."

Political.

The Maryland republicans in State convention, Thursday, endorsed the policy all through.

This is the way Secretary Key's New England speeches affect a Texas editor: "We spit him out! We spurn and loathe the crop-eared craven, the foul, unclean buzzard, who pollutes the eagle's eyrie."

It is expected that assessments in the name of requests will be made upon the Ohio clerks in the Interior Department, as they are being made on clerks of the same State in the Treasury.

E. R. Hoyt, of New York, the new Indian Commissioner, is the President of the United States Dairy Company, which is engaged in the manufacture and exportation of the product known as oleomargarine, or butter from tallow. Now Mr. Hoyt may be a very proper man for Commissioner, and may know all about the duties, but we cannot help feeling that we have already had too much oleomargarine in our dealings with Indian affairs. It is time for the dawn of an era of honesty, genuineness, good faith.—Providence Journal.

The house of Nehemiah L. Meserve in Freedom, was burned on the 9th, with $115 in money. Loss $1000; insured $500. The barn of Henry Eldridge was burned on the same evening.

The Universalist State Convention meets in Claremont, Oct. 2d, 3d and 4th, and promises to be of more than usual interest. Among the speakers advertised we notice, Revs. E. M. Grant of Portsmouth, H. A. Philbrick of Pawtucket, R. I., H. M. Harris of Brattleboro, Vt., James Gaston of Nashua, J. H. Little of East Jaffrey, W. W. Hayward of Keene, E. L. Conger of Concord, and others. Rev. L. F. McKinney of Manchester will preside. The Claremont parish will welcome and entertain the convention. The Northern road will sell excursion tickets to Concord, from Nashua, Manchester, Portsmouth, Newmarket Junction and Epping at reduced rates.

—"The Dance of Death" is the title of a small volume by William Hermanu, published in San Francisco. It is a well meant attempt to write down the waltz and all other varieties of "round dances."

The chances are against your getting a prize of $100,000 or $50,000 or $25,000 in the next drawing of the Louisiana State Lottery Company, but some one will, and there is a strong possibility that you may win. The best way to test the question satisfactorily is to write to M. A. Dauphin, P. O. Box 692, New Orleans, La., for tickets or information. The management of the Company is attested by the leading bankers and business men of New Orleans to be of a high-toned, responsible character.

PERSONAL.—NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN that all officers and soldiers wounded, ruptured, or injured (however slightly) in the late rebellion, can obtain a pension by addressing G. KESSLER, attorney for claimants, No. 4 New Chambers Street, New York. tfeb16'78 —To adopt that familiar proverb to suit these times it should read, "Truth is more of a stranger than fiction."

—If there is anything Miss Stepper is proud of, it is her little foot. When the shopman kept on bringing her boots at least seven sizes too large, she observed, "I wanted a boot for a lady, not a boot for a coach."

—The old proverb, "The more haste the worse speed" was never better exemplified than in the case of Nelson Sheldon, of Sheffield, Mass., who was committed to jail in Pittsfield three weeks ago for an assault. He had only two months to serve, and in fact his friends had raised money to pay his fine and costs, and he would have been released the next day. However, his impatience was so great that he escaped in the forenoon, and was recaptured at night as he was entering his home. The result of his escape is, that he will remain in prison until January for trial in the superior court for breaking jail; and, besides this, the officers when searching his house for him, after his escape, came across a lot of property which had been stolen from several places, and complaints for larceny will issue against him for his original offence. So his premature excursion involved him in trouble which will end in his imprisonment for a year or more.

Portsmouth, Sept. 8, 1877.

Or Sugar-Coated, Concentrated, Root and Herbal Juice, Anti-Bilious Granules. THE "LITTLE GIANT" CATHARTIC, or Medicine in Parvo Physic.

The Wonder of modern Medical, Chemical, and Pharmaceutical Science. No use of any longer taking the large, repulsive, and nauseous pills, composed of clump, root, and bulky ingredients, when we can, by a careful application of chemical science, extract all the cathartic and other medicinal properties from the most valuable roots and herbs, and concentrate them into a minute Granule, scarcely larger than a good mustard seed, that can be readily swallowed by those of the most sensitive stomachs and fastidious tastes. Each little Purgative Pellet represents, in a most concentrated form, as much cathartic power as is embodied in any of the large pills found for sale in drug-shops. From their wonderful cathartic power, in comparison to their size, people who have not tried them are apt to suppose that they are harsh or drastic in effect: but such is not at all the case, the different active medicinal principles of which they are composed being so harmonized and modified, one by the others, as to produce a most searching and thorough, yet gently and kindly operating, cathartic.

$500 Reward is hereby offered by the proprietor of these Pellets, to any chemist who, upon analysis, will find in them any colonel or other forms of mercury, mineral poison, or injurious drug.

Being entirely vegetable, no particular care is required while using them. They operate without disturbance of the constitution, diet, or occupation. For Jnundice, Headache, Constipation, Impure Blood, Pain in the Shoulders, Tightness of the Chest, Dizziness, Sour Eructations from the Stomach, Bad taste in the mouth, Bilious attacks, Pain in region of Kidneys, Internal Fever, Bloated feeling about Stomach, Rush of Blood to Head, High-colored Urine, Unsociability and Gloomy Forebodings, take Dr Pierce's Pleasant Purgative Pellets. In explanation of the remedial power of my Purgative Pellets over so great a variety of diseases, I wish to say that their action upon the animal economy is universal, not a gland or tissue escaping their sanative impress. Age does not impair the properties of these Pellets. They are sugar-coated and inclosed in glass bottles, their virtues being thereby preserved unimpaired for any length of time, in any climate, so that they are always fresh and reliable. This is not the case with those pills which are put up in cheap wooden or pasteboard boxes. Recollect that for all diseases where a Laxative, Alterative, or Purgative, is indicated, these little Pellets will give the most perfect satisfaction to all who use them.

They are sold by all Druggists at 25 cents a bottle.

HABEAS CORPUS.

A hearing was had before Judge Foster of the Supreme Court at Dover, on Friday, upon a writ of habeas corpus issued upon the petition of George W. Twombly of this city, who claims the custody of his minor child, held by his wife, from whom he has separated. The application is resisted on the ground that Twombly is an improper person to have the custody of the infant, who is of tender years. The parties had a difficulty about the custody of the child recently, and Twombly and his wife's father were before the Police Court on mutual charges of assault; Twombly went to his father-in-law's house, where his wife now lives, to demand the child, and a fracas ensued. Both parties were bound over to answer at the Supreme Court.

The evidence was but partly heard Friday, and the hearing will be resumed on Monday.

Hatch for the petitioner; Harriman for defendant.

FATAL ACCIDENT.

The Conway train for this city on Friday evening at about nine o'clock (the train being behind time) when at Butler's crossing in Kittery ran into a team which was trying to cross the track. The man who was driving the team was instantly killed, his skull being crushed in; he was caught up by the cow-catcher and carried some distance, until the train was stopped and his body taken on board. The corpse was brought to this city and placed in the station house, subject to the order of Coroner Wentworth, of Kittery. The horse escaped unharmed, but the wagon was destroyed. The unfortunate man left this city about an hour before the accident, it is said in an intoxicated condition; and we are informed that the flagman at the crossing vainly tried to prevent him from going upon the track. The deceased, whose name was Tomlinson, resided at Cape Neddick.

PORTSMOUTH AND VICINITY.

Messrs. Morse & Ilsley will sell to-day at their office, by auction, ten shares in the Concord Railroad and twenty-four shares in the Mechanics & Traders' Bank. See advertisement.

The Boston Post of Friday says: "The new ship Paul Jones, the finest vessel ever built at Portsmouth, is to be launched next Monday at twelve, noon." The Paul Jones is a very fine ship, but to say she is "the finest vessel ever built at Portsmouth" is a ridiculous extravagance of language. Nothing in the shape of an inferior vessel has been built here within our recollection, and some of the magnificent ships constructed by the late George Raynes (on the spot where the Paul Jones has been put together) and by other builders, of New Hampshire pasture oak and southern hard pine fastened together with copper, are still afloat and in good condition, after twenty or thirty years' hard service.

Three of the schooners belonging to the fishing fleet of Valentine Doane, Jr., have been hauled into their winter quarters below Newcastle bridge.

Mr. George Bilbruck and wife, of this city, arrived home on the 17th inst. from an extended tour in Europe.

The shore mackerel fishermen which have been cruising for the last week or more between Boon Island and the Isle of Shoals, have averaged better catches than they had previously made this season. The fish are going to the southward, as is usual at this time of year, and are very shy. The seiners have not as a general thing done much, and in fact no vessels have landed any large fares. The fishermen say there are plenty of fish on the coast, but from some reason there seems to be a lack of success in taking them. A large number of the men, unless there is an unusually large catch this Fall, will not have enough to carry them through the Winter; and the owners of the vessels would have been better off financially if they had let them lie at the wharves. The Bay fishermen have not done anything during the Summer, and some of them are in hopes to retrieve their bad fortune by staying there for the "Fall spurt."

Some days ago Mr. Stephen Marden, farmer, residing near the Plains, set fire to a pile of brush which he had gathered on his premises. The dry state of the ground, together with the sudden springing up of the wind, caused the flames to spread beyond control, and getting into his peat land the fire has raged lively there for about two weeks. It has already extended over about an acre and reached a depth of from three to four feet. Strenuous efforts to stop its progress have been unavailing, and only a good drenching rain will now be effectual.—Times.

The annual meeting of the New Hampshire branch of the Women's Board of Mission will be held in this city on Thursday, October 11th, at the North church chapel on Middle street; exercises at 10:30 A. M. and 2 P. M. Mrs. Bizzell of India is expected to be present.

News and Notes.

Samuel Cushing of Kennebunkport, Me., while out gunning Wednesday, accidentally shot himself in the right leg, which was amputated.

The French liberal papers talk very plainly to the "clerical" President, MacMahon, about his manifesto. The Journal des Debats points out that there have been other rulers of France who said they wouldn't quit power anyhow, yet who did quit in a hurry, for all that. The Siecle asks what France has done that MacMahon should treat her as a conquered country. The Rappel says that it is generally children, not great nations, who are intimidated by threats.

British steamship Rowland, with 60,000 bushels of wheat on board, has been wrecked off the Canadian coast. All hands saved.

One of the aldermen of Meriden, Conn., has been fined $40 for selling rum on Sunday evening to a selectman of the town who is also a constable.

The equinoxial storm—or a heavy cyclone which they take to be the line gale—has done immense damage along the Gulf coast. In Galveston, Texas, twenty small schooners were capsized, the town was flooded, bridges carried away, and damage to the amount of $130,000 done. The Warrior river, in Alabama, rose sixty feet.

In a recent decision it is held by the Treasury Department that when a vessel properly registered as owned by American citizens is found derelict at sea and condemned for the benefit of the salvers in a foreign country and there sold to American citizens, an American register can issue to the purchasers if they can produce a proper bill of sale.

Baltimore society is still agitated over the splendor of the wedding of Miss Florence Patterson, daughter of the late George Patterson, a nephew of Mme. Bonaparte, and James Carroll, son of the late Charles Carroll of Baltimore. The bride has been a belle for several seasons, and is the sole heiress to an estate valued at $500,000.

The Columbia (Tenn.) Sentinel tells of a man named Jo. Tomlinson who, while wrestling with the angel of mercy for the forgiveness of his sins at the mourner's bench at Hurricane Switch camp-meeting, became so conscious-stricken that he confessed the commission of a horrible murder in May county, several years ago.

Sargent, who claims to have invented the time lock, has had his claim confirmed and letters patent issued to him. The patent is estimated to be worth a million at least.

The Pope grows weaker, says the London Times. He does not rise until seven o'clock; he says mass, but can no longer stand to do so, and he sleeps much during the day. The Times adds that he "has also become somewhat difficult to manage in matters which would be conducive to his health. His physicians consider that during this hot weather the little bed-room he has always occupied was much too close, and by their directions his common, narrow iron camp bedstead was removed to a larger and more airy apartment, but after spending two nights there he insisted upon returning to his own little room he had been so long accustomed to. In his eating, also, plain as his fare is and always has been, he cannot be pursuaded to diet himself; he will eat indigestible things and take a great deal more green salad than is thought good for him. This combined with the impossibility of his taking any exercise tells much against him."

Hiram Cranston, for many years landlord of the New York Hotel in New York city, died on the 17th inst. His hotel was for twenty years the New York headquarters of southern men; and Cranston was an unmitigated secession copperhead, all through the rebellion and ever since.

A Richmond, Ky., correspondent of the Courier-Journal, writes under date of Sept. 20th as follows: "A year since Jasper Waumpin shot John Burnam at Kingston, Madison county, wounding him. Waumpin was indicted and his trial was set for to-day, but the case was not reached. This evening the parties met in the street in Richmond, each accompanied by friends, when firing began. Jasper Waumpin, John Burnam, Chris. Ballard and William A. Cornelison were killed. The survivors were arrested.

Steamer Great Republic, the largest river steamer in the West, was burned at St. Louis Wednesday night; loss $150,000. Steamer Carondelet, another large boat, was damaged $40,000.

"Never better than now," is the report of all who have stopped this season at that excellent hotel, the American House; situated on a wide street, convenient to business and places of amusement, fitted and furnished with every modern improvement and kept in splendid style by an experienced landlord, it would be difficult to find a better type of the American hotel.—Boston Commercial Bulletin.

A furious snow storm prevailed on Mt. Washington, Friday, the thermometer standing at 35 deg. above zero.

Daily Chronicle.

—A goat is a good milker, but a better butter.

—An eminent philologist, when asked what "modus operandi" meant, he replied: "It is Latin for 'how the old thing works.'"

—It takes a peck of oats, and hay to match, to keep an ordinary horse at work; but a single piece of mince pie will make a night-mare lively.

—Of the acts of cowardice, the meanest is that which leads one to abandon a good cause because it is weak and join a bad cause because it is strong.

—Guy'nor (to prodigal clerk coming in late:) "Half past ten, Mr. Rawkins!" Clerk (pulling out his watch): "Right you are, sir, to the tick." Guy'nor gasps.

—An old school doctor is dying, and the attending clergyman is urging him to prepare for heaven. "It will be bright, beautiful and peaceful there. You long to go, don't you?" Patient—"Ye-e-es; but I dunno; do they admit homœopaths?"

—When he was a young man he rushed into a burning building and gallantly dragged her out by the hair of her head. They were married the next winter, and now she rushes in and drags him out by the hair of his head whenever she feels like it. Such is true love.

—A novel decoration was worn the other day by a recruit in the Austrian service. When passing muster the sergeant asked what order he was wearing. The recruit blushed deeply, and stammered, "The medal which was given to our cow at the late agricultural exhibition."

—A lively evening's enjoyment—A man was nearly drowned in San Francisco the other evening, rescued, placed in a carriage to be taken home; carriage runs off an embankment twenty feet high; is mashed to pieces; another carriage procured, and that is stopped by highwaymen before getting home.

—It is said that unmilitary men imagine that soldiers are always fighting. One of the duke of Marlborough's generals dining with the Lord Mayor, an Alderman who sat next to him said, "Sir, yours must be a very laborious profession." "No," replied the General; "we fight about four hours in the morning, and two or three after dinner, and then we have all the rest of the day to ourselves."

Centaur Liniments.

One thing is now thoroughly established. Never since man suffered and human agencies alleviated pain has there been any thing which went so far as a pain annihilator and curative agent as the Centaur Liniments. These Liniments have within the past year cured more cases of Rheumatism, Neuralgia, Stiff joints, Caked Breasts, Swellings, Poisonous Bites, Burns, Lame Animals, etc., etc., than all other remedies combined. As the name of Centaur implies half horse and half man, the Centaur Liniments are for man and beast. But not the same Liniment. The White Liniment is for man and the Yellow for horses and animals. Herein this Liniment differs from all other remedies, although some of the ingredients are alike in each. They contain the well-known Witch Hazel, Arnica, Carbolic, Rock Oil, Mentha and other powerful ingredients.

Wm. H. Hickcox, Rector of St. John's E. Church, Wakefield, Clay Co., Kansas, writes: "Many years I have been suffering from a Weak Back, caused from a sprain more than 40 years ago. I have not found any thing to relieve me until I commenced the use of Centaur Liniment. I feel it my Christian duty to inform you that by its wonderful effects I am entirely relieved of pain. January 22d, 1876."

Messrs. J. McClure & Co., Druggists, Cincinnati, Ohio, say:

"Teamsters pronounce the Yellow Centaur Liniment superior to any thing they have ever used. We sell several dozen bottles per month, and the sale is steadily increasing."

These are on'y samples of thousands upon thousands of similar testimonials reaching us every month. All the Extracts, Embrocations, Salves and Ointments in existence are not doing one-tenth the good which is done by these admirable Centaur Liniments. For Frostbites, Stings, Cuts, Itch, Salt Rheum, etc., there is nothing like the Centaur Liniment. White Wrapper. For Spavin, Ring-bone, Sweeney, Wind-Galls, Poll-evil, Scratches, etc., on horses, the Yellow Centaur Liniment is equally as good. They are certain in their effects; they are pleasant to use, they are hardly and they are cheap. No family should be without Centaur Liniments. They are worth one hundred times their cost.

J. B. ROSE & CO., 46 DEY ST., NEW YORK.

Castoria.

Mothers may have rest and their babies may have health, if they will use Dr. Pitcher's Castoria for Wind Colic, Worms, Feverishness, Sour Stomach, Croup, or Stomach Complaints. It is entirely a vegetable preparation, and contains neither mineral, morphine, nor alcohol. It is as pleasant to take as honey, neither gags nor gripes, and is superior to any remedy in existence.

Dr. E. Dimock, of Dupont, Ohio, says:

"I am using CASTORIA in my practice with the most signal benefits and happy results, and find it a perfect substitute for Castor Oil."

This is what every one says. Many nurses in New York use the CASTORIA. It is prepared by Messrs. J. B. ROSE & Co., successors to Samuel Pitcher, M. D. (nov1

The Centaur Liniments have created a revolution in remedies for Rheumatism, Strains, Swellings, Pains, Burns, Scalds, Stings, etc. The White Liniment is for the human family, and the Yellow Liniment is for horses. They are certain, handy and cheap.

DR. QUAIN'S

CONDITION PILLS!

The Wonderful Remedy for Liver Complaint, Biliousness, Dyspepsia, Constipation, Neuralgia, Rheumatism, Headache, Kidney Complaint, Nervousness, Scrofula, Piles, and all diseases arising from a bad state of the Blood!

Is the ultima thule of Medical Discovery.

No medicine ever offered to the public has given such universal satisfaction as Dr. Quain's Magic Condition Pills. Their praises are on every tongue where their merits are known. They strike at once at the seat of disease and show their healing power almost immediately. Thousands of voluntary testimonials of their merits have been received by the agent, from those who have been cured by them, of which the following are samples:

Dyspepsia Four Years, Constipation and Inflammation of the Bowels Three Years, Confined to my Room Two Years, Pain so I Could Not Sleep Without Morphine. One Package of Dr. Quain's Condition Pills Made Me Eat Well, Sleep Well and Free from Pain, after being given up by Physicians.

WEST LEBANON, ME., Feb. 22, 1

MR. THOMAS W. LANE:—I have been sick for years with Dyspepsia, and for the past three years Constipation and Inflammation of the Bowels, have suffered all the pain I could endure and live, have been confined to my room for two years, and could not sleep nights without the use of morphine. I have been given up by physicians as past cure. I have taken one package of DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS, and they have done me more good than all the doctors I have had. I sleep well, I eat well and have no pain. They are all they are recommended to be. Please send me three packages, as two of my neighbors wish to try them. I enclose $1.50.
Your truly, JOHN W. LORD.

Another Letter from May. John W. Lord, one month later Wonderful Cures by Dr. Quain's Pills Effected on Him in Thirteen Days. First time Free from Pain for Three Years.

WEST LEBANON, ME., March 22, 1875.

MR. THOMAS W. LANE:—I commenced taking Dr. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS February 9th, and from you February 23d of their wonderful effect. I have continued to improve ever since. My appetite is good, and I sleep as well as I ever did in my life. I am free from pain for the first time in three years. When I was taken sick four years ago, I weighed one hundred and eighty-six pounds; I now weigh one hundred and thirty, but, as I am gaining in strength, I have faith I shall regain my flesh this summer, by the use of the Pills. I shal continue taking them for some time to come.
Yours truly, JOHN W. LORD.

Dr. Quain's Pills the Remedy for Soldiers' Aches and Pains.

WEST LEBANON, ME., June 1, 1875.

MR. THOMAS W. LANE—Dear Sir:—I am now able to walk out every day, and am gaining in strength very fast, all of which is due to you as agent for the best Pills in the world. I have taken no other medicine, and my improvement has been steady since first taking DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS. They have done everything for me, and I will say to you, advertise them direct to the soldiers, for they will certainly cure them of aches and pains caused from exposure and hardship on the field. Please send me by return mail another package.
JOHN W. LORD.

Rheumatism for Twenty Years Cured by One Package of Dr. Quain's Condition Pills—"The Best Medicine in the World."

EAST ANDOVER, N. H., Dec. 16, 1875.

MR. LANE—Dear Sir:—As I know the value of DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS and the good they have done me, I feel it a great pleasure to inform you, so I send you another testimonial. My father has been troubled with Rheumatism for twenty years or more, and has tried everything that could be bought of, but to no good. At times it would be so bad that he could not lift his hand to his head, or do any work at all, especially in cold weather. A short time ago I advised him to get some of these Pills. He believed nothing in them, but I gave him the last package I had of you, as I did not need them, and he has not been so free from the Rheumatic Complaint for years. No Rheumatism, no pain. What helped him? It was DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS, the best medicine in the world. There is nothing like them. I know it, for I have tried them, and they are all, you, after them they are recommended to be. Give them a fair trial and you will say so. I write this because I know the goodness of them and wish others to know the same. Some may think I am telling a big story I am. But remember I am not giving them half the praise they ought to have.
Yours with respect, ED. F. PEVARE

DAINGERFIELD, MORRIS CO., TEXAS, Nov. 15, '75.

MR. THOMAS W. LANE—Dear Sir:—I have been afflicted for twelve years with Neuralgia in the face and neck. I tried I do not know how many physicians, and could only get partly relieved. I also tried many patent medicines with the same result. I have been confined to my room most all the time during the winters, and have been traveling and visiting medical springs, and I still suffered most intensely. The physicians pronounced my case the worst and most stubborn that they had had anything to do with. One told me I could never get well; they all advised me to go South and spend the winter, and thought that was the only chance for me, and I was trying to get ready to go to Florida, when through the kindness of Rev. H. M. Mathis, my attention was called to the advertisement of Dr. Quain's Magic Condition Pills. I immediately sent to you for a package. I have taken four doses and I am almost free from pain. The impression here seems to be that if your pills will cure me, they will cure anybody. I have five applications to send for the pills. Enclosed please find three dollars; send five packages to me and one to Mrs. Laura Sherrod, Sulphur Springs, Hopkins county, Texas.
Yours truly, J. S. PATTON

Liver Complaint, Nervousness, Dropsy and Headache.

LACONIA, N. H., Jan. 29, 1875.

THOS. W. LANE—Sir:—I have been troubled with Bad Blood, Liver Complaint, Nervousness, Dropsy and Headache. I have taken one package of DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS. They have done me more good than all the medicine I ever took; I have taken considerable medicine within the last five years. For the nerves I think there is nothing so good as those pills. I can recommend them to all who are similarly afflicted, they have done me so much good. I think they will recommend themselves wherever they go. I shall recommend those Pills to all who need them. Please send me two packages more, one for myself and one for a lady friend of mine. Many thanks to the inventor, agent and advertiser of those Pills.
MRS. P. L. ELLIOTT.

PULMOCINE.

BUCHMAN'S PULMOCINE CORDIAL

Is the ultima thule of Medical Discovery.

Among its many ingredients are Wild Cherry Bark, Squill Root, Liquorice Root, Blood root, &c. It is a Blood Purifier, gently stimulating. It increases expectoration and is diuretic. It is sudorific and alterative. It is a necessary family medicine. It is a Tonic and a powerful aid to the digestive organs. It is a gentle sedative, and relieves nervousness. It is aromatic and agreeable to the taste.

CLEAR YOUR THROAT!

Relieve Your Lungs.

PULMOCINE CORDIAL

is a speedy and reliable Preventive and Remedy. Every Family should have a bottle at hand to check the sudden growth of all Pulmonary Diseases. For the Asthma, Coughs, Croups, Laryngitis, or inflammation of the larynx, Diphtheria, and all kindred Throat Diseases at all times prevalent, it is the ounce of Prevention. Children attacked with Whooping Cough or Croup should be immediately cared for. These painful attacks come with scarcely a moment's warning, when a physician may be out of immediate each. A dose of PULMOCINE CORDIAL gives speedy relief, and the little ones are spared hours of pain and agony. As "a stitch in time saves nine," so does the possession of this Family Medicine prevent the spread of disease. Parents seeing their children gasping with pain, friends and relatives beholding each other in peril from suffocation by the choking pain in the throat, paralyzed with fear and not knowing the best course to pursue, are liable to apply the wrong remedial agents. There is no safety in delay, no time to waste in such cases. CONSUMPTION, that fearful scourge of the human race, lies at the door of all this afflicted. BUCHMAN'S PULMOCINE CORDIAL arrests it (unless in its advanced stage at which time there is no local cure) relieves the pressing, suffocating feeling at the lungs, and patient's danger is past.

For Coughs,

Croup,

Diphtheria,

Asthma, etc.,

USE

Buchman's Pulmocine Cordial.

The Pulmocine Cordial is not a quack medicine, is not an experiment, is not composed of any ingredients "discovered" by "walking in pastures" in South America or anywhere else, nor by one who discovered a weed and thereby cured himself. Most of the ingredients are such as our best educated physicians daily use for the complaints specified in some form or other. The recipe is that perfected by one of New England's most learned and famous physicians, who used it entirely in his daily practice until his death. His is offered to the profession and to the public, absolutely pure and unadulterated.

THE BOARD OF HEALTH OF THE CITY OF PORTSMOUTH call the attention of the public to the following sections of Chapter 10, of the Revised Ordinances, and invite all interested in the preservation of health in our city to aid them in the execution of their duty:

SEC. 3. All waste water or houses, yards, cellars, sinks, pumps, etc., shall be conveyed by their owners or occupiers to the common sewers, or to such places as the Health Officers may direct.

SEC. 4. No person shall be allowed to throw any vegetable or dead animal substance, or any other matter capable of producing infection, into any street, lane, alley or dock, or upon any wharf, but shall bury them or throw them into the river below low water mark.

SEC. 5. The contents of vaults and privies shall not be permitted to rise within one foot of the surface of the earth. And all owners and occupiers of buildings having such vaults or privies as may require it, shall cause them to be emptied within ten days from the promulgation of this ordinance, and in future on or before the first day of May in each year. And any such owner or occupier neglecting so to do, shall forfeit and pay for every such neglect a sum not less than three nor more than twenty dollars, and a like sum for every week's neglect after the time above specified.

SEC. 6. No vendor of meat at the stalls shall be permitted to leave any stale meat, heads, feet or offal of any kind about their stalls or stores over night, or suffer them to be thrown into any street, lane or alley of the city. Nor shall any sellers of fish be permitted to throw any offal of fish into any street, lane or alley of the city, or upon any wharf, but shall either bury them or throw them into the river beyond low water marks.

SEC. 7. If any dead animal or decaying vegetable substance, or any other nuisance, shall be found in any part of the city, the owner or occupiers of the premises where such nuisance shall be found, shall cause the same to be removed within twenty four hours after being notified so to do by one or more of the health officers.

SEC. 12. When any householder shall know that any person within his family is taken sick of the small pox, or any other disease dangerous to the public health, he shall immediately give notice thereof to the Health Officers.

SEC. 13. When any physician shall know that any person whom he is called to visit is infected with the small pox, or any other disease dangerous to the public health, such physician shall immediately give notice thereof to the Health Officers.

SEC. 14. If any such householder or physician shall refuse or neglect to give the notice required in the preceding sections, he shall for each refusal or neglect, forfeit the sum of twenty dollars, to be recovered by either of the Health Officers in the name of the city.

SEC. 15. The Health Officers may give written notice to the owner or occupier of any building, vessel or enclosure, to remove or destroy any nuisance or other thing deemed by them on examination, to be injurious to the public health, within a certain time limited therein; and in case such owner or occupier—the said notice having been given to him, or left at his usual place of abode—shall neglect to comply therewith, the said Health Officers may, by direction of the mayor and aldermen, cause the city marshal, forcibly enter such building, vessel or enclosure, and cause said nuisance or other thing aforesaid to be removed or destroyed.

And no person shall construct, keep or continue any drain leading from any pen for the keeping of any swine, slaughter house, privy vault, or other unwholesome or offensive place, into either of said ponds, or to any flat or marsh adjoining the same. AYER'S SARSAPARILLA,

For Purifying the Blood.

This compound of the vegetable alteratives, Sarsaparilla, Dock, Stillingia, and Mandrake with the Iodides of Potash and Iron, makes a most effectual cure of a series of complaints which are very prevalent and afflicting. It purifies the blood, purges out the lurking humors in the system, that undermine health and settle into troublesome disorders. Eruptions of the skin are the appearance on the surface of humors that should be expelled from the blood. Internal derangements are the determination of these same humors to some internal organ, or organs, whose action they derange, and who so substance they disease and destroy. AYER'S SARSAPARILLA expels these humors from the blood. When they are gone, the disorders they produce disappear, such as Ulcerations of the Liver, Stomach, Kidneys, Lungs, Eruptions and Eruptive Diseases of the Skin, St. Anthony's Fire, Rose or Erysipelas, Pimples, Pustules, Blotches, Boils, Tumors, Tetter and Salt Rheum, Scald Head, Female Weakness, Sterility, Leucorrhœa arising from internal ulceration and uterine disease, Dropsy, Dyspepsia, Emaciation and General Debility. With their departure health returns.

Mr. Aldrich and "Tom Bailey."

The critic of the Chicago Inter-Ocean is hearty and reminiscent in his notice of "Tom Bailey," as follows:

Among recent American works of fiction there are no books which we take up with a greater feeling of pleasurable anticipation than those of Thomas Bailey Aldrich. They possess a graceful sort of bonhomie, added to a delightful sense of ease and languor, an evident command of all the requirements of art, and a thorough acquaintance with literature of all ages and kinds. Above all, they are in full sympathy with the pathos and the humor of life. In the writing of short, brilliant bits of local coloring we do not think Mr. Aldrich has an equal. His art is superior in our opinion to that of Harte, because he chooses subjects of more familiar yet less prominent characteristics. Mr. Harte's miners and gamblers attract our attention from their very strangeness; were the descriptions of an inferior character we should still care to read about them. It takes a more subtle and delicate appreciation of critical requirements to place before us every-day people whom we seem to have known about as well as the author. In the story before us we find Mr. Aldrich at his best. We can recall no more delicious bit of boy painting in the language. There is not a strained or exaggerated thought in the book. If the hero—which seems probable—is T. B. A. himself, the boy indeed was father to the man. We have all been boys, more or less, in our day—fat boys, lean boys, patchy boys, spirly boys, boys with warts, and boys with tufts of hair sticking away up on our prominent bumps, like the peak upon the brow of Peveril. This allusion to Peveril demands some little explanation. In the brightest days of the Scottish bar, when Walter Scott had gained his baronetcy, and the floors of the Parliament House were trod by wits and poets, a young advocate, called Patrick Roberson, afterwards a judge, had begun to attract attention by his inimitable drollery. He was very fat, and Sir Walter Scott was remarkable among his fellows for an upper story in his fine old head, and a tuft of hair which followed the bent of its own inclination. One day when a knot of advocates, among whom was Pat Robertson, were standing cracking jokes before the meeting of the court, Sir Walter Scott approached. "Here," said Pat, "comes Peveril with his peak;" "and there," retorted the bard of Abbotsford, "stands Peter with his painch." To return to the boys—Some of us have stuttered during our school days, others lisped, not a few have played truant, and perpetrated all conceivable kinds of mischief. Few, we hope, have been sneaks or shirks or petty pilferers. Mr. Aldrich recalls it all, almost bringing the tears to our middle-aged optics. We dislike owning up to the soft impeachment, but we were a fat boy. If any one of our readers happens to have been a fat boy he will know how to sympathize with our tenderest recollections. A fat boy has to suffer untold agonies of which a skinny boy has not the ghost of a notion. He is called "puddin-head" by the skinnies, "fatty," "choppy," "plumper," "mushy," and many other figurative nick-names. How our feelings boil when we recall one skinny boy with a yawning abyss between his jacket and irreconcilables. How many hours of anguish has that boy caused us, and how we have wished that we were a skinny, and could punch the head off him. If there were too little "boiled duff" to go around at dinner, that boy—the wretch used to eat enough for a dozen—would sing out, "don't give any to fatty, he'll be sure to burst." If a spent ball wanted to hit any one it was sure to—but no! there are sorrows which even our dearest friends must not share. We have enjoyed the adventures of Tom Bailey almost as well as any boy could possibly do. Mr. Aldrich's art is too fine, his humor too bright, to escape the approval even of a jaded imagination. Tom Bailey does no more than any other boy could do, always excepting a fat boy who would never dream of running away, or firing off the "old sogers" of Rivermouth, but the author tells his adventures, longings and aspirations in a way which places Tom very much at the head of his class for charming frankness and irresistible comicality. We cannot conceive of a funnier boy than Harry Blake, who has an eccentric passion for carving his name on everything, who never lets a captured turtle slip through his fingers without leaving his mark engraved on its shell. "I have no doubt," says Tom Bailey, "that there are at this moment fat ancient turtles wandering about that gummy woodland with H. B. neatly cut on their venerable backs." We feel, like Thackery, an irresistible desire to present Charley Marden, Binny Wallace, Pepper Whitcomb, Harry Blake and Fred Langdon with a guinea apiece. Perhaps it is just as well that they are not here, for alas! we haven't got the guinea. And we should dearly like to invite the captain and Sailor Ben to dinner, and yet the one is dead and the other is too old to travel. Ah, well! the intention is good, anyway. If the reader fails to be fired with a similar impulse he must have been either a skinny boy or a boy who never had any money to buy taffy with on Saturday nights. But we must leave Tom Bailey to tell his own story, a story infinitely more amusing than Robinson Crusoe, the Swiss Family Robinson or Masterman Ready. We think Tom Bailey beats Tom Brown hollow, either at Eton or Oxford, and that is about the highest compliment we can pay him.

Daily Chronicle.

MONDAY, SEPTEMBER 24, 1877.

The Eastern War.

A Constantinople despatch, dated ten o'clock Friday night, says a great battle was fought at Biela that day, lasting from nine in the morning to seven in the evening, resulting in a terrible defeat for the Russians, of whom 4000 were killed and 8000 wounded.

The Montenegrins have captured Belekia, taking three Krupp guns with it. They have also gained undisputed possession of the Duga Pass, and the Prince has changed his headquarters to Nicsics. The bombardment of Gatchko is threatened, and a state of siege is proclaimed in Trebigne.

The Crops.

The present year has proved one of unexampled prosperity to the New Hampshire farmers. All the crops except that of apples have been very abundant, while the yields of wheat and corn have increased to an unprecedented extent. Since Gov. Hartman in 1868 called the attention of the farmers to the possibilities of the State as a grain producing section, the number of acres devoted to it has rapidly increased, and the wheat crop this year is double that of a decade ago. The average yield this year is fifteen or twenty bushels to the acre. The corn crop is the greatest gathered for the past twenty years, and is unusually heavy, yielding fifty to one hundred bushels of ears to the acre. The hay crop is good, and is well supplemented by a heavy second growth of straw and corn fodder. Potatoes have survived the rapacity of the Colorado beetle, but the later varieties show symptoms of the rot. Stock raising and wool growing were never more successful, and dairy products are as good as the best. The pastures are looking green and fresh, promising an abundance of Fall feed, and consequently ensuring rich dairy products and thrifty store and beef cattle. The Board of Agriculture are working vigorously to stimulate the farmers to activity, and will hold about thirty meetings the coming season, beginning at the Agricultural College, October 23 and 24.

A Savage Wretch.

William Appleton, an old man and an inmate of the Sailor's Home at Wollaston, Mass., was brutally murdered near the depot in that town on Thursday, being found with one bullet hole through his head and another through his body, either of which would have proved fatal. The poor old man was evidently murdered from sheer wantonness, as he had no money, and was a quiet old soul with no enemies in the world so far as is known.

On Friday one Michael Murphy was arrested in Hingham for attempting to murder Mr. Albert Lincoln. Murphy, it seems, on the Wednesday previous had some trouble with the driver of an ice-cart, named Fred C. Blair, who kicked Murphy off his team on which he was trying to steal a ride. On Thursday Murphy went to Boston, filled himself with rum, and bought a revolver with the avowed purpose of killing Blair. Returning to Hingham he called at Mr. Lincoln's house (where Blair formerly lived) and asked Mrs. Lincoln for a match, following this request with abusive language, when Mr. Lincoln appeared and drove the ruffian away. Murphy then fired twice at Mr. Lincoln, one bullet hitting him in the arm, but Mr. Lincoln grappled him and held him until an officer arrived and took the scoundrel to the lockup. While drunk Murphy acknowledged murdering Appleton, but when he became sober next morning he denied all about it. The wretch will probably be used to stretch a piece of hemp rope.

News and Notes.

The whaling barque A. Houghton, of New Bedford, was wrecked on a rock in Hudson's Bay on the 12th of June last. Her crew, thirty-one in number, were all saved.

The docks and basins of Liverpool cover over two hundred acres.

Congress will be asked at the approaching session to change the law relating to the retirement of army officers who are unfit for active duty on account of age or disability. The law limits the retired list of the army to three hundred, while in the navy there is no limit whatever. Army officers who are disabled for active duty are compelled to remain in active service until death creates a vacancy on the retired list before they can be retired.

Ex-Attorney General Williams has brought a suit against McKee of St. Louis whisky ring fame, alleging that he was employed by McKee to obtain for him a pardon of his sentence of imprisonment, and that he was to receive a fee of $2,500. He was successful in securing the pardon, but McKee has refused to pay more than $2,000, and Williams now sues for the remainder.

Steamer Diego, from New York for Liverpool September 1st, was burned at sea on the 8th. She was breaking in two when abandoned. Crew saved.

Thirty houses and stores in Keyport, N. J., were burned Friday night; loss $500,000. The fire was started by the explosion of a kerosene lamp in a butcher shop. Two hotels and a church were destroyed.

Mark Twain writes a letter to the Hartford Courant, accounting for the strange actions of the schooner Jonas Smith, seen with a negro crew on board and supposed to have been captured by mutineers. He says she is an old hulk, condemned and sold at Bermuda, and bought by a lot of negroes, who started in her on a pleasure cruise to New York four or five months ago; she was spoken by the steamship Bermuda, on which Mr. Clemens was a passenger, on the 25th of May, and furnished with provisions. She is an old rattletrap, and how she has kept afloat ever since, drifting about on the ocean, is a wonder.

Nicholas Fish, recently secretary of the United States legation at Berlin, has come home from Europe until the middle of October, when he will return, to assume the position of Minister to Switzerland.

The rice crop on the lower coast of Louisiana was damaged probably thirty per cent. by gales last week, and much other harm was done, notably in St. John Baptist parish. New Orleans, too, suffered.

The centennial of the first battle of Bemis Heights, where Burgoyne received a fatal check in 1777, was celebrated by a gathering of over 20,000 people on the battlefield near Saratoga, N. Y., where the remains of the American entrenchments laid out by Kosciusko, and behind which Learned's and Poor's brigades fought, are yet visible.

The N. H. Scythe and Axe Co., at Littleton, are selling large invoices of their productions in Maine, this year, orders from that section being more numerous than ever before.

The Mount Washington railway has been completed to the summit a little more than eight years, and during that time it has carried sixty thousand passengers.

Should Senator Spencer decide to remain in the Black Hills this winter, Senator Wadleigh of this State would be acting chairman of the military committee.

The Carroll County Five Cents Savings Bank, of Wolfeboro, has suspended payment. The amount of deposits is about $450,000, and it is claimed that the assets will more than pay all liabilities.

Edward T. Wight, of Contoocook, the young man who was found under the railroad bridge at Concord last January, terribly injured, and who charged a Concord rough named Barney Murphy with having assaulted him, has been taken to the poor farm of his county, having never recovered from his hurts sufficiently to support himself.

At the State Fair on Thursday afternoon, an amusing contest was put upon the track, in which a three-year old Jersey bull, in harness, was driven once around the track against Charles M. Mitchell of Manchester and Parker Brown of Bow. The men were to walk five miles in 40 minutes. In the first mile, near the homestretch, Mitchell cast a shoe, and the bull came in second, amid great applause. Brown completed the five miles in 39m. 41s. In the meantime, Norman Taylor, 49 years old, from Plymouth, Vt., accomplished the feat of running five miles in 28m., 26s. Taylor made the first mile in 5m., 27s., and the second in 5m., 15s. At the conclusion of these sports the fair was closed.

Newell C. Ladd, a prominent piano dealer of Concord, died suddenly of heart disease Saturday afternoon.

Political.

The democratic party is constitutionally opposed to "reviving the issues of the war," and yet its representatives in New Jersey have reanimated the very deadest of war issues. The resuscitation of General McClellan has already projected the spirit of Abraham Lincoln into the canvass, and the campaign orators are hunting up the old speeches which were used to fire the republican heart in '64, when these two men stood out as incarnations of the contending principles which were locked in a life and death struggle. The democrats, too, are turning over the musty vindications of their chieftain's military career, and will once more attempt to prove that the war was a failure. Oratory which has been laid away for thirteen years is apt to be a trifle stale, but it is not difficult to predict which dish of cold victuals will be the more unpalatable.—Tribune.

The Enquirer says "Old Bill Allen is the kind of a Gatling gun that is needed in Ohio just now." As if that old smoothbore blunderbuss could do anything for the party, if it was brought out and had the cobwebs brushed off it. What the democracy wants is to get its repeaters out of the penitentiary.—Toledo Blade.

Another Improvement in Railroading.

For some time past it has been generally understood that a line of magnificent Pullman Hotel cars was soon to be placed on the Chicago and North-Western road, to run between Council Bluffs and Chicago; and we are pleased to announce that all the arrangements have been perfected, and that the cars have already been placed on the road. The managers of the company have determined to omit nothing which will add to the convenience, safety and comfort of the travelling public who favor them with their patronage; and further, that they will not be eclipsed in this direction by any other railroad in the world. Hence these cars, constructed by the Pullman Palace Car Company especially for the Pioneer Line, are the finest ever built.

These Hotel cars leave Council Bluffs on the Atlantic Express, and run through to Chicago each day in the afternoon. On the east-bound train, dinner, supper and breakfast will be served. The west-bound Hotel cars leave Chicago on the California Express each day in the forenoon. On this train, supper, breakfast and dinner will be served. Thus passengers bound in either direction are enabled to have all their meals en route, and yet not leave their palatial travelling parlor. The only objection that has ever been raised against the use of Hotel cars has been connected with the odors of the kitchen. As we said before, this, in these cars, has been entirely obviated; no person, no matter how particular he or she may be, will have cause to make any objections on this score. In the Dining car you merely get your meals, and as soon as you are through eating you are shoved out, and started for the coaches or sleeper, so as to make room for other travellers who desire your place. While in these Hotel cars your berth is secured through, and you own it absolutely for the length of your trip, and it is your own for lounging, sitting, sleeping and eating purposes, as much as your own seat in your own house. As it is not generally known, Dining cars are never run over the entire length of any route; they are taken on and set off the train at stated times; while these Hotel cars are made a part of the train, and run through in the same way as the regular sleeping car. The North Western Company have their road nearly all laid with steel rail, and the bed ballasted in the best possible manner; hence these elegant palaces, with their sixteen wheels, will ride as easy and with as little noise and oscillation as can be expected in railway travel. In these and other improvements the people of Council Bluffs feel interested, and will join with the towns along the line in congratulating the progressive and liberal management of this great corporation.—Council Bluffs Nonpareil.

—A London journal tells the following story: At a Washington tea party, where General Butler was recently a guest, the hostess, glancing over the table, perceived his cup unturnished with an important implement, of which he was supposed to appreciate the value. "Why, General Butler," she exclaimed, in a little womanly flutter of consternation, "haven't you a spoon?" "No, indeed, madam!" quickly responded the General, springing from his seat and slapping his pockets one after the other, "upon my word, madam; if you don't believe me, madam, you may search me." The applause which greeted this spontaneous sally may be more easily imagined than described.

A LOT OF FORTY ACRES, more or less, of Pasturage and Woodland, situated in Newington, being a portion of the homestead farm of the late John Fabyan. This lot is mostly covered with a heavy growth of PINE and OAK, the latter suitable for ship timber. It is also well watered, and affords an abundance of feed in the driest seasons; some portions are suitable for tillage. For further information apply to

S. D. FABYAN, on the premises.

DOCTOR PIERCE'S

THROAT, LUNGS, LIVER & BLOOD

In the wonderful medicine to which the afflicted are above directed for relief, the discoverer believes he has combined in harmony more of Nature's sovereign curative properties, which God has instilled into the vegetable kingdom for healing the sick, than were ever before combined in one medicine. The evidence of the fact is found in the great variety of most obstinate diseases which it has been found to conquer. In the cure of Bronchitis, Severe Coughs, and the early stages of Consumption, it has astonished the medical faculty, and eminent physicians pronounce it the greatest medical discovery of the age. While it cures the severest Coughs, it strengthens the system and purifies the blood. By its great and thorough blood-purifying properties, it cures all Humors, from the worst Scrofula to a common Blotch, Pimple, or Eruption. Mercurial disease, Mineral Poisons, and their effects, are eradicated, and vigorous health and a sound constitution established. Erysipelas, Salt-rheum, Fever Sores, Scaly or Rough Skin, in short, all the numerous diseases caused by bad blood, are conquered by this powerful, purifying, and invigorating medicine.

If you feel dull, drowsy, debilitated, have sallow color of skin, or yellowish brown spots on face or body, frequent headache or dizziness, bad taste in mouth, internal heat or chills alternated with hot flashes, low spirits, and gloomy forebodings, irregular appetite, and tongue coated, you are suffering from Torpid Liver, or "Biliousness." In more modern phrase, "Liver Complaint" only part of these symptoms are experienced. As a remedy for all such cases, Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery has no equal, as it effects perfect cures, leaving the liver strong and healthy.

SOLD BY DRUGGISTS AT $1 PER BOTTLE.

NAVAL MATTERS.

Ensign William Winder is ordered to hold himself in readiness for sea service on being detached from the torpedo station at Newport, R. I.

Boatswain Andrew Milne is detached from the practise ship Constellation and placed on waiting orders.

The U. S. S. Ticonderoga was hauled under the sheers at the navy yard on Friday and had her boilers taken out; and on Saturday she was put in the dry dock.

The Pensacola has been receiving a thorough survey at San Francisco, to see in what condition she is, and it is intimated (although the board of survey have not reported) that she is likely to be put out of commission, the repairs needed being very extensive. The Pensacola is commanded by Capt. John Irwin, and is the flag-ship of Rear-Admiral Alexander Murray, commanding the North Pacific squadron.

Last week the chief of the bureau of medicine and surgery was at the navy yard here, and was of course saluted. We wanted to make an item about it, and did so, but didn't know who the chief of the bureau was, and no one we enquired of could tell us. We therefore copy from the Army and Navy Journal the following list of heads of bureaus of the Navy Department: Yards and docks, Rear-Admiral Jno. C. Howell; navigation, Commodore Daniel Ammen; equipment and recruiting, Commodore R. W. Shufeldt; ordnance, Capt. William N. Jeffers; medicine and surgery, Surgeon-General William Grier; provisions and clothing, Paymaster-General James H. Watmough; steam engineering, William H. Shock; construction and repair, Chief Constructor John W. Easby.

The Washington Nation talks as follows about a naval officer well and favorably known in this city: Lieut. Thomas M. Gardner, U. S. N., who is quartered at the Imperial, and who was so long in command of the Speedwell, takes his station every night at a window of the main entrance of the hotel, and makes believe that he is looking out of a pilot house window watching the coast lights. A good story is told of him that coming out of Boston harbor some years ago he ran the Speedwell aground on a sand spit, but on his arrival at the Kittery navy yard failed to report the circumstance as required by the regulations. The commanding officer got wind of the case and sent for the Lieutenant, and demanded an explanation of his failure to report, and got it as follows: "Why! that? Why, that was no grounding or running ashore. You see, Commodore, she was all over barnacles and weeds, and I put her on the sands to clean her bottom off. I'll bet she's as clean now as if she'd been in dock a month." That was the last of the case.

PORTSMOUTH AND VICINITY.

The agent who is canvassing the city for subscribers for Ruger & Stoner's splendid bird's-eye view of Portsmouth, had secured a few over one hundred subscriptions up to Saturday evening. The hard times no doubt deter many from subscribing who would otherwise be glad to do so, but still so meritorious a work as this view should find at least three hundred takers in this city, for it is not only a work of art but is wondrously truthful, and the price is set at a very reasonable figure.

The steamer Major, Capt. Robinson, made an excursion from this city to the Shoals on Saturday.

Coroner Wentworth, of Kittery, after investigating the facts in regard to the accident at Butler's crossing which caused the death of Tomlinson, deemed an inquest unnecessary, and exonorated the railroad from all blame.

Lieut. G. Frank Towle, of the 19th U. S. Infantry, has recently been transferred from Fort Dodge, Kansas, to Fort Elliott, Texas. Fort Elliott is about two hundred miles from any railroad, and used to be a cantonment, but has recently been made into a military post. It takes a letter from eleven days to two weeks to come from there to this city.

Olivet Commandery of Knights Templar, of Lynn, Mass., John Shaw, 2d, Eminent Commander, accompanied by the Lynn Brass Band, will visit this city on Thursday, and stop at the Rockingham House.

Work in the old Drake iron foundry on Mechanic street will commence to-day. Mr. Thad E. Stevens, of the firm of d'Este & Co., of Boston, arrived in town with seven experienced workmen on Saturday. The first iron will be melted to-morrow.

Col. Charles G. Pickering, of Cleveland, Ohio, is on a visit to his friends in this city, after an absence of three years.

That talented and eminently successful actress, Kate Claxton, whose name is as familiar as a household word in the various cities where she has appeared, and even to a great extent elsewhere, will appear at Franklin Hall to-morrow evening, on which occasion our citizens will have an opportunity to see her in her unparalleled role of the blind girl, in that intensely interesting play, "The Two Orphans." She has sustained this most difficult part hundreds of nights, before thousands of people, and on each occasion has received warm words of praise and commendation from spectators. The press, also, all over the country, has tendered Miss Claxton the most flattering tributes. She is supported by a company selected by herself; and as it is seldom an actress of her reputation visits this city, she will probably be greeted by a full house. Seats can now be secured at Preston's.

Mr. James Christie, Deputy Sergeant at Arms of the United States Senate, was in town on Saturday.

The ship Paul Jones is to be launched from the Raynes shipyard at noon to-day.

A new dry goods firm, entirely of Portsmouth men, has just been opened in Erie, Pennsylvania, consisting of Mr. Wm. B. Trask, of the formerly well-known establishment in this city of "Trask & Tidd," and Mr. Charles Prescott, late with Jordan, Marsh & Co., of Boston, the style of the new firm being "Trask & Prescott."

One of the questions of debate which exercised the Convention of Young Men's Christian Associations at Concord on Friday was, "How can the non-church-goers of our State be reached?" A few of them, who steal their reading off door-steps in the morning before our subscribers take in their papers, can be reached through the columns of the CHRONICLE; others, perhaps, by a postal card.

SEABROOK LETTER.

SOUTH SEABROOK, Sept. 21st.

A lady, a former resident of Newburyport and now visiting there, has presented Rev. Wm. A. Rand $185 as the basis of a fund for a parsonage. The question of a permanent home for the minister has been long under discussion, but the limited means of those most interested has prevented the advance of the undertaking,—the only place available for a parsonage being rooms upstairs in the house of Mrs. Betsey B. Eaton. As a consequence of the above gift, work will be immediately commenced on a cellar on a lot east of the church; the work will be done by volunteers, as in the case of the meeting house cellar. The building will go forward only as funds are secured, the pastor feeling sure that for a house for the minister, as in the case of the church, "The Lord will provide." The New Hampshire Home Missionary Society continue their aid of $300 to the church here, this year.

The new two-storied school-house is to be commenced right away, to be finished by the last of October. The old building is to be sold. The new one is to be put just back of the site of the old one. The school-house lot is to be enlarged sufficiently to furnish ample play ground.

The Atlantic Cornet Band furnished music for the Salisbury Beach gathering.

Two lady graduates of the Portsmouth High School are now teaching in Seabrook; Miss Emily A. Tomlinson in the new school-house on the new road, and Miss Odiorne in the new school-house in the Boyd District.

South Seabrook has lost five children within a few weeks by summer complaint.

ENO.

A MIRAGE.

"H. H.," writing from the Shoals to the Providence Journal, under date of September 10th, after describing the heavy sea which had then recently rolled in on the rocky shores, goes on as follows:

"But my object in writing is to tantalize those who have run away too soon; and especially the worthy president of the National Academy of Design, who had the good fortune to see and enjoy the mighty uproar of the waters, but who left just an hour too soon after all. For within that hour we have been favored with a sight which would have been to his trained perceptions a joy forever. The piazza of the Appledore House fronts the west, and the declining sun threw its beams along the vast corridor so gently and lovingly that the few guests loitered the afternoon away in that pleasant spot. Happening to look westward I was mystified by the strange appearance of the opposite shore. The more I looked, the more I was bewildered. Everybody here who wants anything, or who wants to know anything, starts for one of the Brothers Cheverble, who keep the hotel. So I made for the office. 'Laighton! Laighton!' I said. 'Come out here. Either the west coast is bewitched or I am. Look yonder. The Boar's Head is broken off, and is drifting up to Appledore, water-logged!' To which outburst of amazement, C., the imperturbable, simply responded, 'Mirage.' That was enough to one who had feebly aspired through a long life of usefulness for such a sight. A few bounds took me to No. 128; a few more, opera glass in hand, to the pavilion overlooking famous Smutty Nose. I am not well up in mirages, but I did not suppose they extended around the horizon. In this case, however, wherever sky touched sea or land, there was the same magical transformation. Where Boar's Head should have been, and over Hampton and Rye, there were unaccustomed mountains and huge lines of arches stretching away like the Roman Aqueducts on the Campagna. The houses along the shore from Straw's Point to Portsmouth, appeared more like the ruins of Paestum and Philæ than the architecture of modern times. Portsmouth, in the golden mist, was distorted into a group of minarets and towers. The inverted dwellings on the Maine coast are square and even at the top as at the base, and, elevated to twice their height, frowned like castles. But prettiest and most interesting of all was the spectacle far out at sea. The stately twin towers of Thatcher's Woe, which I had never distinguished from this point before, shot up into the air, doubling their immense stature. Sweeping around to the far east, girt about by a dreamy radiance such as only Gifford can paint, there were ten phantom ships suspended in the air. Seen through the glass there were in two or three instances the real vessel and two apparitions visible. Sometimes the inverted reflection only was visible, and in some cases the top of the mainsail seemed to rise out of the water and depend from the inverted image. The western sun occasionally breaking through a thin veil of clouds would now and then light up the sails of the spectral fleet so vividly that I could tell by the varying light when the course was changed. The illusion continued for an hour or more, and must have constituted, I think, as fine an exhibition of mirage as was ever witnessed."

—"Clothes cleaned and repaired in the rear," is a Salem sign.

—Corkscrews have sunk more people than cork jackets have ever saved.

—Professional drill-master: "Nonsense, sir; all you want is a little 'setting up' drill. You've a magnificent chest, only it's a trifle too low down!"

—A husband who only opposed his wife's ill humor by silence was told by a friend that he "was afraid of his wife." "It is not she I am afraid of," replied the husband; "it's the noise."

—The number of pieces required to finish a camel's hair shawl is from five hundred to five thousand. Often twenty men have worked daily for twenty years in order to finish a first-class camel's hair shawl, the highest average of wages being four cents per day to the most skillful worker.

—Indulgent husband (to dear little wife, who has bought some new curls): "But, my darling, you will never be able to wear them—they are flaming red!" Dear little wife: "I know I can't wear them, darling, I only bought them because they were so very cheap." Indulgent husband: "Humph!"

—Louis the Fourteenth of France, playing at backgammon, had a doubtful throw; a dispute arose and the courtiers remained silent. The Count de Grammont came in that instant. "Decide the master," said the King to him. "Sire," said the count, "your Majesty is in the wrong." "How so," replied the King; "can you decide without knowing the question?" "Yes," said the count, "because had the matter been doubtful all the gentlemen would have given it for your Majesty!"

Daily Chronicle.

—A girl in Orange county, New York, has had three step-mothers and two step-fathers. The only fun this extraordinary orphan experiences is eating wedding cake.

—Naming horse cars after noted men has its disadvantages. A prohibitory man in Boston was shocked to hear the remark that "Gov. Talbot had just gone up Columbus Avenue chock full."

—When the Communists in Paris mobbed the residence of Thiers they carried away his bronzes and curiosities, which were sold to dealers. The police subsequently seized, wherever they found them, articles bearing the private mark of Thiers, which he caused to be engraved or stamped upon his articles of vertu. Judge of his surprise to find many ornaments brought to him bearing this mark which he had never owned. The dealers had counterfeited the mark and preferred to be robbed rather than confess the trick.

—Mr. James T. Fields relates of an aged Bostonian, a very piquant little story. The venerable gentleman had never read Shakespeare's plays, and was advised to do so during the winter then approaching. In the spring the giver of the advice asked if he had read any of the plays. Yes, he had read them all. "Do you like them?" ventured G., feeling his way anxiously to an opinonion. "Like them!" replied the old man, with effusive ardor; "that is not the word, sir! They are glorious, sir, far beyond my expectation! There are not twenty men in Boston, sir, who could have written those plays!"

—A woman out in Polk county becoming converted to the doctrines of Dr. Mary Walker, took advantage of her husband's absence to array herself in his clothes. She put on the coat first, and, ignoring the buttons, pinned it up from the chin down. Then she put on the vest, back in front, and toilsomely buttoned it up behind. That was about three o'clock in the afternoon. At about half past six her husband found her seated on the side of the bed in a disordered room, weeping, her hair down, face red, eyes inflamed, and her whole mental being convulsed with fretful excitement, impatience, and anger. She held his Sunday pantaloons in her hands, and all those three mortal hours she had been trying to put them on over her head.—Buffalo Commercial.

Centaur Liniments.

One thing is now thoroughly established. Never since man suffered and human agencies alleviated pain has there been any thing which went so far as a pain annihilator and curative agent as the Centaur Liniments. These Liniments have within the past year cured more cases of Rheumatism, Neuralgia, Stiff joints, Caked Breasts, Swellings, Poisonous Bites, Burns, Lame Animals, etc., etc., than all other remedies combined. As the name of Centaur implies half horse and half man, the Centaur Liniments are for man and beast. But not the same Liniment. The White Liniment is for man and the Yellow for horses and animals. Herein this Liniment differs from all other remedies, although some of the ingredients are alike in each. They contain the well-known Witch Hazel, Arnica, Carbolic, Rock Oil, Mentha and other powerful ingredients.

Wm. H. Hickox, Rector of St. John's R. Church, Wakefield, Clay Co., Kansas, writes: "Many years I have been suffering from a Weak Back, caused from a sprain more than 40 years ago. I have not found any thing to relieve me until I commenced the use of Centaur Liniment. I feel it my Christian duty to inform you that by its wonderful effects I am entirely relieved of pain. January 22d, 1876."

Messrs. J. McClure & Co., Druggists, Cincinnati, Ohio, say:

"Teamsters pronounce the Yellow Centaur Liniment superior to any thing they have ever used. We sell several dozen bottles per month, and the sale is readily increasing."

These are only samples of thousands upon thousands of similar testimonials reaching us every month. All the Extracts, Embrocations, Salves and Liniments in existence are not doing one-tenth the good which is done by these admirable Centaur Liniments. For Frost-bites, Stings, Cuts, Itch, Salt Rheum, etc., there is nothing like the Centaur Liniment, White Wrapper. For Spavin, Ring-bone, Sweeney, Wind-Galls, Poll-evil, Scratches, etc., on horses, the Yellow Centaur Liniment is equally as good. They are certain in their effects; they are pleasant to use, they are handy and they are cheap. No family should be without Centaur Liniments. They are worth one hundred times their cost.

J. B. ROSE & CO., 46 DEY ST., NEW YORK.

Castoria.

Mothers may have rest and their babies may have health, if they will use Dr. Pitcher's Castoria for Wind Colic, Worms, Feverishness, Sour Mouth, Croup, or Stomach Complaints. It is entirely a vegetable preparation, and contains neither mineral, morphine, nor alcohol. It is as pleasant to take as honey, neither gags nor gripes, and is superior to any remedy in existence.

Dr. E. Dimoch, of Dupont, Ohio, says:

"I am using CASTORIA in my practice with the most signal benefits and happy results, and find it a perfect substitute for Castor Oil."

This is what every one says. Many nurses in New York use the CASTORIA. It is prepared by Messrs. J. B. ROSE & CO., successors to Samuel Pitcher, M. D. (nov1)

The Centaur Liniments have created a revolution in remedies for Rheumatism, Strains, Swellings, Pains, Burns, Scalds, Stings, etc. The White Liniment is for the human family, and the Yellow Liniment is for horses. They are certain, handy and cheap.

MAGIC

CONDITION PILLS!

The Wonderful Remedy for Liver Complaint, Biliousness of Dyspepsia, Constipation, Neuralgia, Rheumatisms, Headache, Kidney Complaint, Nervousness, Scrofula, Piles, and all diseases arising from a bad state of the Blood!

No medicine ever offered to the public has given such universal satisfaction as Dr. Quain's Magic Condition Pills. Their praises are on every tongue where their merits are known. They strike at once at the seat of disease and show their healing power almost immediately. Thousands of voluntary testimonials of their merits have been received by the agent, from those who have been cured by them, of which the following are samples:

Dyspepsia Four Years, Constipation and Inflammation of the Bowels Three Years, Confined to my Room Two Years, Pain so I Could Not Stem Without Morphine. One Package of Dr. Quain's Condition Pills Made Me Eat Well, Sleep Well and Free from Pain, after being given up by Physicians.

WEST LEBANON, ME., Feb. 22, 1875.

MR. THOMAS W. LANE:—I have been sick for 7½ years with Dyspepsia, and for the past three yeas Constipation and Inflammation of the Bowels, have suffered all the pain I could endure and live, have been confined to my room for two years, and could not sleep nights without the use of morphine. I have been given up by physicians as past cure. I have taken one package of DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS, and they have done me more good than all the doctors I have had. I sleep well, I eat well and have no pain. They are all they are recommended to be. Please send me three packages, as two of my neighbors wish to try them. I enclose $1.50.

Your truly, JOHN W. LORD.

Another Letter from May. John W. Lord, one month later Wonderful Cures by Dr. Quain's Pills Effected on Him in Thirteen Days. First time Free from Pain for Three Years.

WEST LEBANON, ME., March 22, 1875.

MR. THOMAS W. LANE:—I commenced taking DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS February 9th, and wrote you February 22d of their wonderful effect. I have continued to improve ever since. My appetite is good, and I sleep as well as I ever did in my life. I am free from pain for the first time in three years. When I was taken a sick four years ago, I weighed one hundred and eighty-six pounds; I now weigh one hundred and thirty, and, as I am gaining in strength, I have faith I shall regain my flesh this summer, by the use of the Pills. I shal continue taking them for some time to come.

Yours truly, JOHN W. LORD.

Dr. Quain's Pills the Remedy for Soldiers' Aches and Pains.

WEST LEBANON, ME., June 1, 1875.

MR. THOMAS W. LANE—Dear Sir:—I am now able to walk out every day, and am gaining in strength very fast, all of which is due to you as agent for the best Pills in the world. I have taken no other medicine, and my improvement has been steady since first taking DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS. They have done everything for me, and I will say to you, advertise them direct to the soldiers, for they will certainly cure them of aches and pains caused from exposure and hardship on the field. Please send me by return mail another package.

JOHN W. LORD.

Rheumatism for Twenty Years Cured by One Package of Dr. Quain's Condition Pills—"The Best Medicine in the World."

EAST ANDOVER, N. H., Dec. 10, 1875.

MR. LANE—Dear Sir:—As I know the value of DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS and the good they have done me, I take pleasure in giving my testimony so I send you another testimonial. My father has been troubled with Rheumatism for twenty years or more, and has tried everything that could be thought of, but to no good. At times it would be so bad that he could not lift his hand to his head or do any work at all, especially in cold weather. A short time ago I advised him to try one of these Pills. He believed nothing in them, but I gave him the last package I had of you, as I did not need them, and he has not been a day free from the Rheumatic Complaint for years. No Rheumatism, no pain. What helped him? It was DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS, the best medicine in the world. There is nothing like them. I know it, for I have tried them, and they are all, yea, more than they are recommended to be. Give them a fair trial and you will say so. I write this because I know the goodness of them and wish others to know the same. Some may think I am telling a big story. I am. But remember I am not giving them half the praise they ought to have.

Yours with respect, ED. F. PEVARE

DAINGERFIELD, MORRIS CO., TEXAS, Nov. 15, '75.

MR. THOMAS W. LANE—Dear Sir:—I have been afflicted for near twelve years with Neuralgia in the face and head. I tried I do not know how many physicians, and could only get partly relieved. I also tried many patent medicines with the same result. I have been confined to my room most all the time for eight or ten months, and have been traveling and visiting medical springs, and I still suffered most intensely. The physicians pronounced my case the worst and most stubborn that they had had anything to do with. One told me I could never get well; they all advised me to go South and spend the winter, and thought that was the only chance for me, and I was trying to get ready to go to Florida, when through the kindness of Rev. H. M. Mabie, my attention was called to the advertisement of Dr. Quain's Magic Condition Pills. I immediately sent to you for a package. I have taken four doses and I am almost free from pain. The impression here seems to be that if you pills will cure me, they will cure anybody. I have five applications to send for the pills. Enclosed please find three dollars; send five packages to me and one to Mrs. Laura Sherrer, Sulphur Springs, Hopkins county, Texas.

Yours truly, J. S. PATTON

Liver Complaint, Nervousness, Dropsy and Headache.

LACONIA, N. H., Jan. 29, 1875.

THOS. W. LANE—Sir:—I have been troubled with Bad Blood, Liver Complaint, Nervousness, Dropsy and Headache. I have taken one package of DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS. They have done me more good than all the medicine I ever took; I have taken considerable medicine within the last five years. For the nerves I think there is nothing so good as those pills. I can recommend them to all who are similarly afflicted, they have done me so much good. I think they will recommend themselves wherever they go. I shall recommend those Pills to all who need them. Please send me two packages more, one for myself and one for a lady friend of mine. Many thanks to the inventor, agent and advertiser of those Pills.

PULMOCINE.

BUCHMAN'S PULMOCINE CORDIAL

Is the ultima thule of Medical Discovery.

Among its many ingredients are Wild Cherry Bark, Squill Root, Liquorice Root, Blood root, &c. It is a Blood Purifier, gently stimulating. It increases expectoration and is diuretic. It is sudorific and alterative. It is a necessary family medicine. It is a Tonic and a powerful aid to the digestive organs. It is a gentle sedative, and relieves nervousness. It is aromatic and agreeable to the taste.

CLEAR YOUR THROAT!

Relieve Your Lungs.

or the terrible diseases engendered by the lungs trying climate of New England

PULMOCINE CORDIAL

Is a speedy and reliable Preventive and Remedy. Every Family should have a bottle at hand to check the sudden growth of all Pulmonary Diseases. For the Asthma, Coughs, Croups, Laryngitis, or inflammation of the larynx, Diphtheria, and all kindred Throat Diseases at all times prevalent, it is the ounce of Prevention. Children attacked with Whooping Cough or Croup should be immediately cared for. These painful attacks come with scarcely a moment's warning, when a physician may be out of immediate each. A dose of PULMOCINE CORDIAL gives speedy relief, and the little ones are spared hours of pain and agony. As "a stitch in time saves nine," so does the possession of this Family Medicine prevent the spread of disease. Parents seeing their children gasping with pain, friends and relatives beholding each other in peril from suffocation by the choking pain in the throat, paralyzed with fear and not knowing the best course to pursue, are liable to apply the wrong remedial agents. There is no safety in delay, no time to waste in such cases. CONSUMPTION, that fearful scourge of the human race, lies at the door of all this afflicted. BUCHMAN'S PULMOCINE CORDIAL arrests it (unless in its advanced stage at which time there is no local cure) relieves the pressing, suffocating feeling at the lungs, and patient's danger is past.

For Coughs,

Croup,

Diphtheria,

Asthma, etc.,

USE

Bachman's Pulmocine Cordial.

The Pulmocine Cordial is not a quack medicine, is not an experiment, is not composed of any ingredients "discovered" by "walking in pastures" in South America or anywhere else, nor by one who discovered a weed and thereby cured himself. Most of the ingredients are such as our best educated physicians daily use for the complaints specified in some form or other. The recipe is that perfected by one of New England's most learned and famous physicians, who used it entirely in his daily practice until his death. Its offered to the profession and to the public, absolutely pure and unadulterated.

"Inventors cannot employ a person more trustworthy or more capable of securing for them an early and favorable consideration at the Patent Office."

EDMUND BURKE,

Late Commissioner of Patents.

BOSTON, October 19, 1870.

R. H. EDDY, Esq.—Dear Sir: You procured for me, in 1840, my first patent. Since then you have acted for and advised me in hundreds of cases, and procured many patents, reissues and extensions. I have occasionally employed the best agencies in New York, Philadelphia and Washington, but I still give you almost the whole of my business, in your line, and advise others to employ you.

Yours truly, GEORGE DRAPER.

AYER'S SARSAPARILLA,

For Purifying the Blood.

This compound of the vegetable alteratives, Sarsaparilla, Dock, Stillingia, and Mandrake with the Iodides of Potash and Iron, makes a most effectual cure of a series of complaints which are very prevalent and afflicting. It purifies the blood, purges out the lurking humors in the system, that undermine health and settle into troublesome disorders. Eruptions of the skin are the appearance on the surface of humors that should be expelled from the blood. Internal derangements are the determination of these same humors to some internal organ, or organs, whose action they derange, and whose substance they disease and destroy. AYER'S SARSAPARILLA expels these humors from the blood. When they are gone, the disorders they produce disappear, such as Ulcerations of the Liver, Stomach, Kidneys, Lungs, Eruptions and Eruptive Diseases of the Skin, St. Anony's Fire, Rose or Erysipelas, Pimples, Pustules, Blotches, Boils, Tumors, Tetter and Salt Rheum, Scald Head, Female Weakness, Sterility, Leucharrhœa arising from external ulceration and uterine disease, Dropsy, Dyspepsia, Emaciation and General Debility. With their departure health returns.

Lafayette's Departure from America.

Fifty-two years ago Lafayette terminated his visit in America. He came to see the country his fortune and life's blood had done so much to liberate, and his welcome, which was a year's continued ovation, was an honor to the nation and an unexpected testimonial of the place he held in the affections of the people. Many of his comrades in arms had passed away, a younger generation greeted him, but the feeling of gratitute had become no less intense because forty years had elapsed since his work had been accomplished. It will not be out of place to recall a few incidents connected with that visit, but more especially with his departure. His private secretary gives the following in his notes on the visit of Lafayette to America:

"The night was now too far advanced to get under sail and Commodore Morris waited until next day to weigh anchor. It was the 8th of December we entered the Chesapeake under full sail, traversing the center of a brilliant rainbow, one of whose limbs appeared to rest on the Maryland shore, and the other on that of Virginia. Thus the same sign that appeared in the heavens on the day on which Lafayette landed on American soil, also appeared when he left it, as if nature had reserved to herself the erection of the first and the last of the numerous triumphal arches dedicated to him during his extraordinary journey."

Then the writer adds this foot note: "The day of our arrival at Staten Island, whilst the general was receiving the congratulations of the people, from the balcony of the vice-president's house, a rainbow, one of whose limbs enveloped and tinged Fort Lafayette with a thousand colors, appeared; the multitude, struck with the beauty and opportuneness of this circumstance, exclaimed, that heaven was in unison with America in celebrating the happy arrival of the friend of the country."

Another reminiscence mentioned by this biographer is the following: "The government of the United States has no theoretical school for her naval officers, but each national vessel, when going on service, receives a certain number of midshipmen and this forms a practical school at little expense as to money, and attended with the happiest results. When it was rumored that the Brandywine was destined to conduct Lafayette back to France, all those parents who intended their children for the navy, were ambitious to obtain them a berth on board this frigate, and the president found himself beset with petitions from all parts of the Union. Not being able to satisfy them all, but at the same time wishing to amalgamate, as much as possible, private interests with public good, he decided that each State should be represented by a midshipman, and hence the Brandywine had on board twenty-four instead of eight or ten as is usual in vessels of her size. It was gratifying to the general, thus to find himself surrounded by these young representatives of the republics he had visited with so much pleasure, not only as their presence recalled spots he loved, but also as some of them, being sons of old revolutionary soldiers, gave him an opportunity of speaking of his former companions in arms, and the young men on their part, proud of the mission they were engaged in, endeavored to render themselves worthy of it, by strict attention to study, and the performance of their duties. The paternal friendship testified towards them by the general, during the voyage, so completely gained their affection, that they could not separate from him without shedding tears. They begged that he would permit them to offer him a durable mark of their filial attachment, that would also recall to his mind the days passed with them on board the Brandywine. This present, which was received by Lafayette a short time after his arrival at Paris, is a silver urn, of an antique form and beautifully engraved. It rests on a base of the same metal, three of the faces of which are ornamented with exquisite sculptures, representing the capitol at Washington, the visit of Lafayette to the tomb of Washington, and the arrival of the Brandywine at Havre. On the fourth face is inscribed, in relief, the offering of the young midshipmen to their paternal friend."

Some Swell Western Ranchmen.

During my trip hereabouts I have visited the ranches of several New York, Boston and Philadelphia boys who have left homes of luxury to become ranchmen, and who are making money rapidly in growing cattle and sheep. Among those who have exchanged the comforts of the East for this life of adventure and excitement are Professor Clarence King; Charles Motley, a nephew of the dead historian; L. C. Briggs, son of Richard Briggs, the Boston merchant; Wilbur Raymond, who graduated from Wesleyan University, class of 1874; Galusha A. Grow, Jr.; a nephew of Sidney Dillon, and many others whose names I might mention. Clarence King says the only true way to live in this world is to raise stock on the Laramie Plains during summer months and spend your winters alternately in New York, London and Paris. There is a fascination about this wild, roving, adventurous, independent life of a ranchman, which I can readily understand captivates young men of birth and education, especially when there is money in the business. "When I am my own master, am not tied down, and can make five times as much money as I could at any business in Pennsylvania, it is not surprising," said Mr. Grow to me, "that I enjoy this life." Many of the ranch-houses a few miles away from here are made of old worn-out rail ties which when new were cut in the Medicine Bow and other neighboring ranges of mountains, and floated down in the Laramie and other streams to the railroad track.—Cheyenne Letter.

Washington Correspondence.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Sept. 21st.

If one half that reaches us from leading cities North and West, and from the South to a less extent, is true, we have every reason to take heart over a real and, apparently, permanent revival of business and restoration of public confidence. The rebound in New York, according to the statement of all its papers, and the testimony of those who have prolonged their visits there since last July, is something almost, if not quite, unprecedented in the commercial history of this country. Two months ago her streets were comparatively deserted and silent; much of her shipping had been partially dismantled and laid up; thousands of her workmen had been idle for months, and were looking forward to the advent of cold weather with a sullen apathy or feeling of despair; her merchants were everywhere despondent, and there was a universal apprehension of riots and mob violence by her tens of thousands of enforced idlers, when stress of weather should drive in from the open country and reinforce them, the army of tramps plying their vocation in the rural districts. But we are told now that her streets are well nigh impassable from the crowd of vehicles of every description pressed into service; the pavements are represented as piled up with every conceivable commodity and kind of merchandize, awaiting removal for shipment or storage in cellars, shops or in the vast wholesale establishments; purchasers overrun her hotels; her wharves are again assuming their ante-panic appearance, as they existed prior to September 1873, and in place of despondency and gloom there has come to be the old-time-bustle, activity and cheerfulness. Baltimore is so near that it has been easy to verify the reported improvement in her business; and I am happy to be able to corroborate the general testimony to that effect, by conclusions drawn from actual inspection, although not an expert in any branch. The change has been more gradual though none the less real than in New York and some other of our vast distributing ports, perhaps. The improvement has been felt even in Washington, though destitute of commerce, having but a few manufactories and only a local trade.

Our "Labor Exchange" is progressing and it is hoped it will soon be in permanent and successful operation. Correspondence has been opened with distant sections in the South and West with a view to induce emigration of our surplus population; and many farmers, needing laborers, in the contiguous counties of Maryland and Virginia, have been encouraged to come here for them. We can spare a few thousand whose presence here as loafers is a constant menace, but whose labors can be turned to profitable account in the country, and we shall be glad to miss them. Street begging and professional vagrancy were never before so general, not even in contraband times.

The city is beginning to fill up with pioneers from the army that winters here. Houses are being made attractive by the carpenter and painter and there is quite a demand for them and for rooms already. Political matters on the surface are very quiet and will probably undergo little change before the President's return. But it is understood that the different aspirants for the desirable places in the House and Senate have their friends here; and there is no doubt a good deal of plotting and counter-plotting going on already, day and night, at the hotels. Occasionally an old face familiar here for many winters and instinctively associated with some sort of a job, or a raid on Uncle Samuel's funds, is seen, and we hear that the army of lobbyists are to be strongly represented the coming winter. It is rumored that a compromise has been agreed to by the terms of which Collector Arthur is to retain his present position, and Senator Conkling's other friends, or the most of them, left undisturbed.

Although we are constantly assured that Diaz is really anxious to remove all cause of misunderstanding between the two governments, yet the resignation of Generals Canales and Trevino, on the ground that they cannot retain their local popularity and at the same time execute the provisions of the extradition treaty is regarded as very significant of the feeling of hostility existing against us among the majority of the Mexican people; and if Diaz succeeds in carrying out his conciliation programme towards us it will be against the protest of a large majority of his countrymen.

The most important points divulged in the trial of ex-Assistant Secretary Sawyer, yesterday, were that when the claim first came before Mahan from the Secretary, it was endorsed as a matter undergoing investigation; but the papers were removed by Haines, who returned them with the endorsement erased, and again endorsed in Sawyer's hand-writing in such a way as led to its approval. From testimony of a colored employe in the Commissioner of Customs' office it appeared that all the parties interested were extremely anxious to keep the whole business secret. It has an ugly look for the defendants; and a verdict of guilty at the conclusion of the trial would, I apprehend, surprise very few. How have the mighty fallen! The vicissitudes that have marked Mr. Sawyer's career have been marked indeed. Only a few years ago a Senator; then Assistant Secretary of the Treasury; a few months after his retirement he appears in the records of our police courts, and now in the criminal court.

KNOX.

Tweed's Talk.

The democratic leaders of New York are a queer lot; just now John Kelly is Boss of the Tammany wing, while "Hon." John Morrissey, who was almost as much trusted by Tilden as "Gobbie" was during the Presidential campaign, is the anti-Tammany leader. Now Tammany rules New York city, and the democratic party of the State, and doesn't mean to yield the lead to anybody; so the Tammany Aldermen have been ordered to "investigate" the old Tammany Boss, Tweed, the object being to show from his evidence that the democrats who now oppose Tammany—John Morrissey in particular—were fearfully corrupt at the time they and Tweed ran Tammany. On a recent examination the Boss explained the Tammany method of rolling up democratic majorities, as follows:

Q. Well, in case you wanted a particular man elected over another?

A. Well, we should count the ballots in bulk, or, without counting them, announce the results in bulk, or change the totals from one to the other, as the case might be.

Q. Then the ballots cast made no difference as to the result?

A. The ballots made no results—the counters made the result.

Q. Will you please state if you ever gave any directions to anybody in the First ward during any time that you were connected with city politics, the intention of which was to induce anybody to falsify the ballot?

A. I say I can answer "Yes" to that, and to every ward in the city—the whole twenty-two wards.

That, of course, is no news; it was as well known when Tilden and Tweed stole the State of New York for Hoffman and Seymour as it was when the democrats of Tweed's district (after the New York Times had demonstrated that he and Oakey Hall and Connolly and Sweeney were wholesale thieves) gave him 10,000 majority for the State Senate; but how Tammany is to be strengthened now by this confession of Tammany's tactics a few years ago, is hard to discern.

The old Boss also goes for John Morrissey, asserting that it is a matter of record that Morrissey was indicted in Troy in December, 1848, for assault with intent to kill; indicted for burglary and assault and battery in April, 1849, and sentenced to jail for sixty days; indicted for burglary in June of the same year; convicted of breach of the peace in Albany and sentenced to pay a fine of $50 and serve a term in the Albany penitentiary at hard labor in case of nonpayment, July 15, 1851, and served nine months in the penitentiary, serving out this term; in 1857 he was indicted in New York for assaulting T. H. Bulmer with a dangerous weapon with intent to kill him; he was also indicted for a felonious assault on W. P. Conway with intent to kill, and another upon J. F. Dagget; and in addition to having thus thrice attempted to place the brand of murderer upon his forehead, he has been a professional prize-fighter, a gambler, a proprietor of the lowest dens in New York, the resort of thieves and men of the basest character.

The Utica Herald, an anti-Tammany paper, is disgusted with this attack on the Honorable John, and says:

No parallel exists for the license allowed by the committee to Tweed to arraign John Morrissey. It is a device of personal politics, degrading even to the managers of Tammany. It destroys all confidence in the committee. John Morrissey has made statements to a newspaper against John Kelley and Tweed, but these were in no sense in evidence. The committee had no right to permit Tweed to answer them from the witness stand. But in doing so, it only gave another proof that it is not seeking to get at the truth about Tweed's crimes, but it is conducting a partisan inquisition to destroy those who have revolted against the dictation of Tammany Hall.

The Tribune comments on the ludicrous spectacle of Boss Tweed and John Morrissey endeavoring to damage each other's reputations, as follows:

John Kelly is a unique party leader. No other man under the sun would have conceived the idea of strengthening his party by getting up a free fight between that party's two most notorious members. For the first time in political warfare a campaign has been opened with a grand mud-slinging contest between an ex-thief and ex-prize-fighter, and the man who has started the disturbance has the grotesque idea that in some way or other it is going to increase the popularity of the organization to which the combatants belong. It is not strange that Mr. Tilden prefers to remain at a safe distance till the excitement is over.

The Wollaston Murder.

Michael Murphy, the Wollaston murderer, had a preliminary examination in the District Court at Quincy on Saturday. The principal witnesses against him were George R. Turner and Demerick Marble, who guarded Murphy after he was arrested for attempting to murder Mr. Lincoln; and the important part of their evidence was that which related to Murphy's admissions. They remained with the prisoner until the constable came, nearly three-quarters of an hour. The voluntary statement which the prisoner then made to them was that he went to Boston in the morning and bought a revolver and cartridges with the intention of shooting Mr. Fred. Blair of Hingham, an ice man. He left State street, Boston, at ten o'clock, and stopped at a place on Lincoln street, where he bought a pint of rum for fifty cents. He then walked out to Wollaston Foundry, where he stopped, and, knowing some of the men, shared his rum with them. Then he walked along the track and past the station. Coming across an old man he asked him for fifty cents, and when the old man refused he fired at him twice. At the second fire the man threw up his arms and fell to the ground. Murphy then put the pistol to his ear and fired again. A little later he saw a lady and was tempted to shoot her, but let her pass. Both witnesses were of the opinion that Murphy was intoxicated when arrested, though he was able to walk straight.

George W. Griffin, station agent at Wollaston, testified to the strange man passing the station soon after four o'clock in the afternoon, Appleton following him; hearing three shots without paying any attention to them; being informed that a man had been killed; going to the place indicated; finding the body and giving the alarm.

Dr. Faxon, Superintendent of the Sailors' Home, testified to the length of time deceased had been in the Home, etc., the time being twelve years.

Mrs. Lydia Williams, the lady whom Murphy, according to his statement, had been tempted to shoot after killing Appleton, testified to meeting Murphy in the road near the place where the murder was committed, with a pistol in his hand. She heard no shots. At this point Judge Bumpus said that the evidence already presented by the Government was sufficient to warrant him in holding the prisoner for the action of the Grand Jury. State Detectives Allen and Smith, in working up the case, have secured nearly thirty witnesses, whose evidence will be overwhelming. One of the witnesses, it is said, will testify to seeing Murphy reloading his pistol in Hingham. After the adjournment of the court the prisoner was taken to the County Jail in Dedham.

The Eastern War.

The accounts sent from the Danubian battle grounds on Saturday gave the Turks important victories at Biela, with "4000 Russians killed and 8000 wounded;" but Sunday's telegrams say: "Five or six different attacks were made by the Turks, from one to three battalions each, and all unsupported. The attacks failed. The loss to the Turks was very heavy. A number of killed and wounded can be seen lying on the open ground over which the combatants passed. The Russians maintain their position, which consists of a series of formidable trenches. There has also been some fighting at Kudickler by divisions of Ahmet Erjoub's corps, and at Verbatza by two battalions detached by Mehemet Ali, but the Turks were unsuccessful at these places also. The whole action has been totally different from what it should have been. A feint has been turned into an attack, and the real attack has not been carried out."

A Russian official despatch says; "The Turks renewed the bombardment of Schipka Pass position on Friday from fourteen mortars. At one o'clock in the afternoon they began an assault on the right flank, but were repulsed. They then attacked the left and centre and were likewise repulsed. The fighting lasted until night."

Horrible accounts of Turkish atrocities in Roumelia are given. Executions and transportations are depopulating the country. In the town of Carlova, which formerly had a population of 20,000, not a grown man is left alive, and only about 5000 women and children, who pick up a precarious subsistence among the ruins, and are subjected to the most brutal outrages by the Turkish irregulars.

Disastrous Fire at Washington, D. C.

Fire caught on the roof of the Patent Office at Washington at half-past eleven o'clock Monday forenoon, and before it was got under control damaged the building to amount of $300,000 or $400,000. No lives were lost, but an immense amount of models were destroyed, and there is no way of estimating their value. Important records belonging to the Land Office and Indian Office were burned. Fire engines were sent from Baltimore to help extinguish the flames.

This Cut Illustrates the Manner of Using

DR. PIERCE'S

Fountain Nasal Injector,

OR

DOUCHE.

This instrument is especially designed for the perfect application of

DR. SAGE'S CATARRH REMEDY.

It is the only form of instrument yet invented which can be used painlessly in the head high up and perfectly applied to all parts of the affected nasal passage, and the chambers or cavities communicating therewith, in which sores and ulcers frequently exist, and from which the catarrhal discharge generally proceeds. The want of success in treating Catarrh heretofore has arisen largely from the impossibility of applying remedies to these cavities and chambers by any of the ordinary methods. This obstacle in the way of effecting cures is entirely overcome by the invention of the Douche. Its use is pleasant and so simple that a child can understand it. Full and explicit directions accompany each instrument. When used with this instrument, Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy cures recent attacks of "Cold in the Head" by a few applications.

CATARRH

SYMPTOMS—Frequent headache, discharge falling into throat, sometimes profuse, watery, thick mucus, purulent, offensive, etc. In others, a dryness, dry, watery, weak, or inflamed eyes, stopping up, or obstruction, of nasal passages, ringing in ears, deafness, hawking and coughing to clear throat, ulcerations, scabs from ulcers, voice altered, nasal twang, offensive breath, impaired or total deprivation of sense of smell and taste, dizziness, mental depression, loss of appetite, indigestion, enlarged tonsils, tickling cough, etc. Only a few of these symptoms are likely to be present in any case at one time.

Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy, when used with Dr. Pierce's Nasal Douche, and accompanied with the constitutional treatment which is recommended in the pamphlet that wraps each bottle of the Remedy, is a perfect specific for this loathsome disease. It is mild and pleasant to use, contains no strong or caustic drugs or poisons. The Catarrh Remedy is sold at 50 cents, Douche at 50 cents, by all Druggists.

The annual meeting of this corporation was held in the Common Council Room on Monday forenoon, Hon. Frank Jones, President of the corporation, presiding.

The Clerk read the call for the meeting.

The President reported the financial condition of the corporation, and the report was voted to be accepted.

Messrs. Foye and Horton, of Dover, and Chas. W. Broughton, Albert R. Hatch, Oliver Wyatt, And'w H. Young, and Charles H. Sawyer had each received 6386 votes. Messrs. Jones, Marcy, Broughton, Hatch, Wyatt, Young and Sawyer were thereupon declared elected Directors for the ensuing year.

Ex-Mayor Horton addressed the meeting, giving certain cogent reasons for the construction of a station house on Washington street in the city of Dover, urging its great accommodation to residents on that side of the river, its economy, on the score of its being attended by the switchman at that place, and that the law compelled a slow passage of trains over the crossing at the point named. He gave his suggestions, but offered no motion. The meeting then dissolved.

The Board of Directors subsequently re-elected the officers of last year, viz.: Hon. Frank Jones, President, George L. Treadwell, Esq., Treasurer, and Col. William H. Hackett, Clerk.

THE PAUL JONES.

The launch of the new ship Paul Jones from the Raynes ship-yard took place at a quarter before one o'clock on Monday, and was witnessed by a large number of people, who were glad of so good an excuse to meet together and sun themselves on such a magnificent day. Noble's island, the bridge and the ship-yard, and other points from which a good view of the launch could be obtained, and the ship herself, were liberally populated. The launch was a fine one, the beautiful ship—for she is most decidedly a beauty—gliding off smoothly, and bringing up at the proper time and place without any mishap. She will go under the navy yard sheers to have her masts stepped, we understand, and will then be brought alongside one of the city wharves to be fitted for sea.

THE BOW MISSION.

The second anniversary of the Bow Mission was celebrated by a special service in Mechanics' Hall on Sunday afternoon, the hall (as usual at the Bow Mission services) being filled with an interested and appreciative audience. After the opening services Mr. William A. Loyne, the volunteer missionary, gave a brief history of the Mission—its establishment, and the extension and growth of its influence. The Mission has done a good work in the past, and its friends confidently hope its usefulness will continue increasing. Rev. John A. Goss, of the Christian church, made an excellent address in the interest of the work, of which he was one of the earliest friends and promoters. Mention having been made of the promotion of Dr. E. B. Goodall, the organist and musical director of the Mission services, to the leadership at the old North Church, and of Miss Davis to be organist at the stone church, Mr. Goss expressed the opinion that if he had been more attentive to the Mission he also might have been promoted. Elder J. A. Libby, of West Poland, Me., who was supplying the Hanover street chapel for the day, gave a very excellent talk in reference to the mission of the Savior. There was also a judicious selection of pieces for singing, which has always been a prominent feature of the Mission services. Altogether the anniversary celebration was very interesting, and the Mission starts on its third year with renewed hope of progress in the right direction.

THE PUBLIC LIBRARY.

Rumney is to have a public library. Contributions of money and books are made almost universally by citizens. The library will be free and in full operation the coming winter.

The foregoing, which we clip from the Concord Patriot, sets us to wondering when the Portsmouth public library is to be opened, or if there is ever to be one here. We are sure there was some talk about one some years ago; Frank Jones gave $600, conditionally, as a start; John H. Miller gave $50, and possibly others contributed; but for a good while past we have heard nothing of the matter, and presume the moth and rust must have broken through and stolen the whole concern. Some one awhile ago in one of the papers suggested that a public library would be of no more real benefit to this city than a fifth wheel to a coach, and in support of this view cited the meagre patronage of the excellent collection of the Mercantile Library Association, membership in which institution costs but a trifle. From present indications we should say that writer need not fear that Portsmouth will soon be oppressed with a public library; Kittery has one, and the call for its books is large and constantly increasing; but that was established by a generous bequest, which Portsmouth is evidently waiting for but has not yet received.

CHEAP EXCURSION.

These pleasant autumn days are particularly tempting to the in-door worker, and there is no time of the year more favorable to the enjoyment of a season of rest than the last of September or the first of October. Among the attractions offered this week, that of an excursion to the White Mountains must take the precedence. The Eastern Railroad offers to carry passengers on Thursday next from this city to the White Mountains and back for the extremely low fare of $2.50. A special train will leave the Eastern Railroad station at a quarter past seven o'clock in the morning, and arrive at Fabyan's at noon. The return train, on that day, leaves Fabyan's at four o'clock P. M., altho' the excursionist can have the privilege, if he chooses, of stopping over until the following Monday, as the tickets will be good to return until and including that day. It will be seen that this affords an opportunity to witness all the grandeur of the autumnal scenery at the mountains at a price within the reach of nearly every one. Those who do not wish to remain over night can, by taking a lunch along with them, confine their expenses to the mere cost of the fare for the round trip, $2.50. This is, indeed, a rare chance.

PORTSMOUTH AND VICINITY.

The Portland Advertiser, commenting on the presentation by the Kate Claxton company of the "Two Orphans," says "it required good courage for any company to present to the Portland public a play so familiar, and which had been so admirably placed upon the stage and so well acted" as by companies mentioned, and adds: "the play nevertheless was so well presented that it elicited the hearty applause of the very large and fashionable audience assembled last evening, a fact that speaks highly in behalf of the performance. As a whole it was presented with more elaboration of detail than ever before. The waits between the acts were brief, and the seven acts were concluded a few minutes after eleven o'clock." Many tickets have already been sold for this evening's entertainment.

Don't waste the aqueduct water, for it is getting scarce; there is plenty of it for use, but none to waste. The wells in Newington, Rye and Kittery are getting very low, and we presume the same is true of all the other towns in this vicinity, as the rains have served all pretty much alike, by keeping away from all.

The following persons have been drawn from Ward Four to serve at the United States Court which convenes at Exeter on October 8th: Samuel G. Hooper, grand juror, and Jeremiah D. Goodrich, petit juror.

Hall's Vegetable Sicilian Hair Renewer has for many years occupied an honorable place in the toilet of American women, and has also attained popularity in foreign countries. This is because it does PERFORM what it promises. Its warmest friends are those who have used it longest, and those who sound its praise the loudest are those who from actual experience and personal trial have demonstrated that by its use gray hair is restored to its natural color and dry, harsh, and wiry hair is made soft and lustrous, a thing of beauty, and a matter of joy and pride to the wearer.—Sub-Soiler and Democrat, Corinth, Miss.

Daily Chronicle.

Wonders of the Deep.

In her scientific cruise of three years and a half, the Challenger steamed and sailed 68,930 miles, crossing both the Atlantic and Pacific—the former several times. The deepest soundings were 4575 fathoms in the Pacific, between the Admiralty Islands and Japan, and in the Atlantic 3870 fathoms, 90 miles north of the island of St. Thomas, in the West Indies. Many curious crabs were brought home. One very odd specimen, which came to the surface only at night, is described as having a head which is nearly all eye, and a body so transparent as to render visible all the nerves, muscles and internal organs; while another more lobster-like creature had no eyes at all. Near Amsterdam Island, in the South Indian Ocean, the ship encountered a belt of gigantic seaweed, in which single plants are said to attain a length of a thousand feet, and a thickness equal to that of a man's body. A gale of snow to which the vessel was exposed in the Antarctic ocean consisted of exquisite star-like crystals which burned the skin as if they were red-hot. The history of the expedition abounds with similar unique experiences.

—A burglar can make no explanation of his presence that will satisfy a bull-dog.

—Mr. Erskine, of Angus, had a valet named Gabriel, whose impertinence was intolerable. One day, as Mr. Erskine was at dinner, Gabriel called something which he had said, "a great lee." "Well," said the laird, rising from the table, "this will do no longer, Gabriel—we must part at last." "Hout, tout, laird," replied Gabriel, pressing his master again into his chair, "whaur wad yer honor be better than in your ain house?" not conceiving the possibility of his being the moving party.

—He invited her to lunch, and she, being a beautiful young lady, went. She read the bill of fare behind her sweet little fan, and whispered in zephyr accents, "Woodcock on toast." At this announcement it flashed upon his mind that his assets were but seventy-five cents. Something must be done. "Cornelia, do you know what a woodcock is?" he asked. "No, Mr. Sprinks," she answered. "Well, then, my dear," said he, "it is as big as a halibut." "Oh, goodness gracious!" exclaimed the charming Cornelia; "then bring me some pork and beans." Sprinks winked at the waiter.

Castoria.

Mothers may have rest and their babies may have health, if they will use Dr. Pitcher's Castoria for Wind Colic, Worms, Feverishness, Sour Mouth, Croup, or Stomach Complaints. It is entirely a vegetable preparation, and contains neither mineral, morphine, nor alcohol. It is as pleasant to take as honey; neither gaze nor gripes, and is superior to any remedy in existence.

Dr. E. Dimoch, of Dupont, Ohio, says:

"I am using CASTORIA in my practice with the most signal benefits and happy results, and find it a perfect substitute for Castor Oil."

This is what every one says. Many nurses in New York use the CASTORIA. It is prepared by Messrs. J. R. ROSE & CO., successors to Samuel Pitcher, M. D. 1nov1

AYER'S SARSAPARILLA,
For Purifying the Blood.

This compound of the vegetable alteratives, Sarsaparilla, Dock, Stillingia, and Mandrake with the Iodides of Potash and Iron, makes a most effectual cure of a series of complaints which are very prevalent and afflicting. It purifies the blood, purges out the lurking humors in the system, that undermine health and settle into troublesome disorders. Eruptions of the skin are the appearance on the surface of humors that should be expelled from the blood. Internal derangements are the determination of these same humors to some internal organ, or organs, whose action they derange, and whose substance they disease and destroy. AYER'S SARSAPARILLA expels these humors from the blood. When they are gone, the disorders they produce disappear, such as Ulcerations of the Liver, Stomach, Kidneys, Lungs, Eruptions and Eruptive Diseases of the Skin, St. Anthony's Fire, Rose or Erysipelas, Pimples, Pustules, Blotches, Boils, Tumors, Tetter and Salt Rheum, Scald Head, Female Weakness, Sterility, Leucchorrhea arising from internal ulceration and uterine diseases, Dropsy, Dyspepsia, Emaciation and General Debility. With their departure health returns.

BY UNCLE JOSEPH.

When New Hampshire was separated from Massachusetts in 1680, there was constituted an executive council of nine, the first of which was President. The President was Hon. John Cutt of Portsmouth. Two of the Council were of Portsmouth, one of Dover, two of Hampton, one of Newcastle, and one of Exeter. This last was John Gilman. He is frequently named as "Councillor Gilman." He held the office three years. He was a member of the Council in the Presidency of Cutt, Waldron and the troublous times of Cranfield.

Of the Gilman family, noted in Exeter and other places in this country for more than two hundred years, Edward was the immigrant, came over to Hingham, Mass., in 1638. He came to Exeter in 1647. This was but nine years after the town was settled. He erected mills at the falls. These might have been the first in the town, and mills have been there ever since. The present factory is near.

Councillor John Gilman was his son, and was born in Hingham, England, Jan. 10, 1624, came over with his father, and to Exeter, and with an elder brother, Edward, engaged in the mill business. In 1653, Edward went to England for mill gearing, that could not be obtained here, and was lost at sea. Their father was advanced in years and the entire management of affairs devolved on John.

Mr. Gilman was chosen one of the selectmen of Exeter in 1652 and was in the office several years following. Public spirited, active and enterprising, he became one of the leading men of the town. As a councillor it is presumed he was a man of good judgment, sagacity and wisdom. As to politics, loyalty to the king, Charles II., was the main thing. How far the Council was in sympathy with the arbitrary Cranfield does not appear.

Mr. Gilman's wife was Elizabeth Shapleigh, probably of Kittery, Me., and they had six children. He died July 24, 1708, aged 84 years.

I do not know where Councillor Gilman resided in Exeter. The first settlements were in the vicinity of the present jail. Probably it was not long before some settled near the falls and mills. It is a tradition that he built the house lately occupied by Mr. Manly Darling, now the American House. Of that old house more will be said in the next number.

The Gilman family in Exeter has been prominent. Some of its members have occupied high places of trust; and the blood of the family flows in the veins of the Folsoms and Dudleys with whom there were intermarriages, and members of these last have risen to usefulness and fame.

—Corn balls—husking parties.

—He was showing his watch to his nephew, who was about six years old. He pointed to the face of the dial and said, "Why, there is another little watch!" "That is called the second-hand." He tossed his head contemptuously, and walked off, saying, "I wouldn't own a second-hand watch." He had heard of second-hand watches, and thought this was one of them.

DOCTOR PIERCE'S ALTERATIVE OR
Golden Medical Discovery

COPES DISEASES OF THE THROAT, LUNGS, LIVER & BLOOD.

In the wonderful medicine to which the attested are above directed for relief, the discoverer believes he has combined in harmony more of Nature's sovereign curative properties, which God has instilled into the vegetable kingdom for healing the sick, than were ever before combined in one medicine. The evidence of this fact is found in the great variety of most obstinate diseases which it has been found to conquer. In the cure of Bronchitis, Severe Coughs, and the early stages of Consumption, it has astonished the medical faculty, and eminent physicians pronounce it the greatest medical discovery of the age. While it cures the severest Coughs, it strengthens the system and purifies the blood. By its great and thorough blood-purifying properties, it cures all Humors, from the worst Scrofula to a common Blotch, Pimple, or Eruption. Mercurial disease, Mineral Poisons, and their effects, are eradicated, and vigorous health and a sound constitution established. Erysipelas, Salt-rheum, Fever Sores, Scaly or Rough Skin, in short, all the numerous diseases caused by bad blood, are conquered by this powerful, purifying, and invigorating medicine.

If you feel dull, drowsy, debilitated, have sallow color of skin, or yellowish brown spots on face or body, frequent headache or dizziness, bad taste in mouth, increased heat or chills alternated with hot flushes, low spirits, and gloomy forebodings, irregular appetite, and tongue coated, you are suffering from Torpid Liver, or "Biliousness." In nine cases of "Liver Complaint" only part of these symptoms are experienced. As a remedy for all such cases, Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery has no equal, as it effects perfect cures, leaving the liver strengthened and healthy.

WEDNESDAY, SEPTEMBER 26, 1877.

News and Notes.

There was a little riot in Milwaukee on Monday, occasioned by a big mob of roughs attempting to rescue a prisoner from the police. The police used their revolvers freely, wounding a number of the roughs and killing one. Twenty of the rioters were arrested.

On Monday, in Milford, Mass., a man named Maguire killed a man named Foley in a drunken row. The murderer escaped.

William H. Grace, an ex-official of the New York custom house, has been sent to the penitentiary for four months for an assault on Gen. George S. Sharpe, surveyor of the port, last July.

The "mysterious schooner" Jonas Smith has been picked up off Sapelo Sound without anchor or sails, and towed into Doboy, Georgia, by steamer Dictator. The crew are safe. One account previously given of her reported her as a Boston vessel, bound from that port for Savannah, and probably captured by a mutinous crew of negroes; another story, by "Mark Twain," was that she sailed from Bermuda five months ago for New York, and was an old condemned hulk.

Henry Spaulding of New York city sues the Pennsylvania Railroad company for $50,000. He alleges that, when travelling between Monmouth, N. J., and New York, and when between Newark and Elizabeth the conductor took his ticket at Jersey City and demanded thirty cents for his ride from Elizabeth. This Spaulding was willing to pay, but the conductor wrote a receipt for sixty-one cents, which Spaulding was unwilling to pay, and he was locked up in Jersey over night.

An immense cave has been discovered in Josephine county, Oregon. It has been found to be over five miles in extent, and the exploration is not yet completed. The stalactite formation overhead is said to be unique, being similar to that in other caves of which more is known. A party will shortly make a thorough investigation of the mammoth cavern.

It is the Catholic Columbian which says that "it is enough to make an American blush for his countrymen to read in our papers the praises of such men as Gambetta and Garibaldi."

Dr. Parsons, medical superintendent of the New York city lunatic asylum, says there is a very marked increase of insanity among women. During the past ten years the number of females committed to his asylum has increased at an average rate of more than ten per cent. per annum. All the patients admitted to the asylum last year—478 in number—were women, and of the whole number under treatment on the first of January only ten were males.

The Keeley motor is heard from again. Mr. Keeley has completed his contrivance so far as to offer to submit it to scientific tests, to be conducted by experts selected by the New York Herald. The offer has been accepted, the tests are to be made, and we shall soon know somebody's opinion about the motor. But what the anxious world is chiefly waiting for is to see it propel a heavy train from Philadelphia to New York, as was promised a long while ago.

After the big blow-up at Hell Gate last Fall, the public generally supposed there was little left to do, but that idea was and is far from the truth. The work of tunnelling Flood Rock is stopped for want of funds, but the business of removing the splintered rock continues. Single stones of sixteen tons weight are the trophies that the grappling machine is taking from the stream. In spite of the interested statements of old pilots to the contrary, we are assured that the destruction of Hog's Back Reef has improved navigation in the channel, and so of course added to the facilities for safe and extensive commerce.

An English swindler named Donnell was recently escorted into a New York gambling-house by a "capper" who mistook him for an English peer, and the result was that with a $1,000 counterfeit Donnell fleeced the faro-bank out of $12,000 in genuine greenbacks. It takes a thief to catch a thief.

A Wellesley College "freshwoman" writes to her home: "The Sophomore class presented each new comer with a bouquet, and last evening invited us to a reception." There's not much fun in that, compared with putting each new comer under the pump, or making her stand the cigars, or smashing her Gainsborough, or breaking her parasol, or rolling her down hill in a barrel. It is plain that co-education is the only way of initiating our young ladies into the more lively expressions of genuine college life.—Post.

"As the slow, rising tide of the moon-lit waters of Mobile bay was yesternorn moanfully beating her sandy shores, a life was fast ebbing out whose glorious career had been spent on that liquid plain which encircles the globe." That was the way the Mobile Register began its obituary notice of the hero of sixty chronometers and a defeat.

A strange accident happened recently on the Missouri river near where it is spanned by the bridge of the Union Pacific Railroad. A party of five persons, two men and three women, were caught on the river by a thunder storm, and one of the party, George Studge, was struck by lightning and instantly killed. The lightning struck him on the head, making two wounds, stripped the shirt from one of his arms, broke one blade of a knife in his pocket, and then went out through the bottom of the boat, making a hole through which the water entered rapidly; the gunwale of the boat was also broken. Mrs. Studge sprang from her seat, fell overboard backwards, and was not again seen. The other inmates of the boat were partially stunned, but finally drifted ashore, the boat being nearly filled with water before they landed.

A hurricane struck the Windward Islands of the West Indies on the 21st. It was expected to reach the Atlantic coast of the United States about the 26th.

The best time on record in the matrimonial race can be conceded to Anthony Keough and a Miss Rivers of Cohoes, N. Y. At three in the afternoon they met, became acquainted, and before nine in the evening were married. The bride is sixteen and the groom nineteen years of age.

An astounding fraud—if fraud can any longer be astounding—was brought to light in Philadelphia Saturday. The President of the West Philadelphia Railway Company resigned, confessing that he had made overissues of the stock of that company to the amount of over one million of dollars. He says the fraud has been going for seven years, and, notwithstanding the usual "high reputation for integrity" which he has enjoyed, he now refuses to divulge the names of his confederates in crime. The stock, which sold Friday for $150, fell to $60 upon the announcement of this robbery by the President. The name of the culprit is John S. Morton, and he is President also of the Permanent Exhibition Company.

Ship St. Mark, 1973 tons, was launched at Bath, Me., and ship Wandering Jew, of about 2000 tons, was launched at Rockport, Me.,—both on the 24th.

A Pugnacious Old Sailor.

The Turks find that they have waked up the wrong passenger, when they attempt to brow-beat a Yankee. The Troy Times tells how Admiral Worden sailed out of the harbor of Smyrna in Asia Minor, on the 24th of July. Turkish regulations require that during the period of war no vessel shall enter or leave a harbor between sunset and sunrise. The admiral got up anchor about half an hour before sunset, but owing to some unaccountable delay did not reach the fort at the entrance to the harbor until several minutes after the evening gun had been fired. He, however, proceeded directly on his course. The Turks signalled him to stop. The admiral paid no attention to their demands, when suddenly a gun was fired across the bow. As the Times' informant says, "This made the old man mad." The men were beaten to quarters, the starboard battery was manned, the guns run out and trained on the fort, and the decks of the Trenton cleared for action. This bold act of the admiral produced no little commotion among the Turks, but no further effort to molest him was made, and he proceeded down the coast to the next port. Two Turkish vessels were sent after him to demand an apology; but this Admiral Worden positively refused to give, and they returned to Smyrna. The fact of the matter was that the Turk was over zealous in maintaining the rules of the port. The admiral's vessel was well known, his preparations were all made, and he was under way before sunset, and to make a long story short, all the Turks in Asia couldn't stop him.

The Big Fire.

By the Patent Office fire in Washington 60,000 models were destroyed. It is said that an immense amount of litigation will grow out of the disaster, as the law in regard to specifications and models was not complied with until a few years past and many models cannot be replaced accurately. In the matter of reissue of patents destroyed one of the models is necessary, and will result in litigation, especially in a case relating to reapers, mowers and various agricultural implements, all of which were destroyed. Many of the models consumed can never be duplicated, and such as can be must be from the original patents granted and now in use. A great many historic relics of America's history were stored away in the south front of the model room and were saved. These included the original of the Declaration of Independence, Washington's commission as Commander-in-Chief of American armies, his treasure chest, uniform and sword. Among the models saved was one filed by Abraham Lincoln years ago for letters patent for an improved method for lifting vessels over shoals.

Masonic.

At the annual conclave of Grand Commandry of Knights Templar and appendant orders of the State of New Hampshire held at Concord, Tuesday, the following grand officers were duly elected and installed: Chauncy H. Greene, Littleton, R. E. Grand Commander; Joseph W. Hildreth, Concord, V. E. Dep. Grand Commander; Albert S. Wait, Newport, E. Grand Generalissimo; Benjamin T. Rackley, Dover, E. Grand Captain General; Joseph Kidder, Manchester, E. Grand Prelate; Nathan P. Hunt, Manchester, E. Grand Senior Warden; Thomas L. Ellis, Lancaster, E. Grand Junior Warden; Frank A. McKean, Nashua, E. Grand Treasurer; George P. Cleaves, Concord, E. Grand Recorder; Milton A. Taylor, Nashua, E. Grand Standard Bearer; Andrew Bunten, Manchester, E. Grand Sword Bearer; Washington Freeman, E. Grand Warder; Edward R. Kent, Lancaster, E. Grand Captain of the Guard.

New Hampshire Items.

The house and outbuildings of Mrs. N. M. Jameson, in East Weare, was burned by an incendiary fire on Sunday morning. Loss $2200; partly insured.

On Tuesday last, Mr. E. Chamberlain, with his dog team, attracted considerable attention in this village. Mr. Chamberlain, who is now fifty-five years of age, is a native of New Hampshire, and when not upon the road resides in Ashburnham, Mass. When about nine years of age a rheumatic fever deprived him of the use of his limbs, which have become paralyzed and much shrunken. Several years ago he conceived the idea of a dog team and secured a large St. Bernard dog, weighing 150 pounds, which for ten years did him faithful service. His present steed is a pure bred Newfoundland weighing 110 pounds and capable of drawing him fifteen or twenty miles a day. With "Bruno," the St. Bernard, even thirty miles have been spanned in a day. Ordinarily but short trips are made, long distances being travelled by rail. Mr. Chamberlain supports himself by selling pencils, photographs, notions, etc. He appears to be in excellent health, but with only the partial use of his left arm, he is most certainly worthy of the sympathy and patronage of all the communities he may choose to visit.—Peterboro' Transcript.

Eli Hamblett of Hudson recently picked fifteen hundred striped-back potato bugs, by actual count, from one hill of potatoes, and thinks there are hills that will yield a larger crop.

John C'Brien, a Hartford, Conn., tramp, for building a fire too near the railroad woodshed at Troy, was arrested and taken to Keene, tried and sentenced to jail.

The Nashua and Jackson Manufacturing Companies were obliged to suspend work at noon on Monday on account of low water in the Nashua river.

The premiums at the late New England Fair in the poultry department amounted to $344, of which sum almost $300 was taken by Mr. Haynes of Peterboro.

J. W. Fellows, a prominent and wealthy resident of Hopkinton Village, fell from the beams of his barn and was badly injured, on Monday.

The annual meeting of the Cocheco Manufacturing Company occurs to-day. The meetings of the Manchester Manufacturing Corporations is fixed for Wednesday, October 3d.

Political.

Ben Hill insists that the South should be represented on the next national ticket, and hints that the second place ought to be forced on a party by the name of Ben Hill.

General McClellan can scarcely be popular hereafter with the old line democrat. He says that he should have an army of forty thousand men in time of peace.

Judge James, the democratic candidate for Governor in Iowa proclaims himself "a democrat of the old fashioned sort, with no modern improvements," and that he would put the negroes back into slavery if he could have his way. There are a good many democrats who believe with the Iowa candidate, but do not express themselves so clearly.

The republican party has nothing to fear from its principles. Standing squarely by its own Administration, it will convince the country that it is still progressing, and that it means to support the methods adopted by the Administration, as far as they prove effective in vitalizing the principles of the party.—Syracuse Journal.

A correspondent of the New York Tribune, speaking of the demonstration at Atlanta, Ga., on the occasion of the President's visit, notes the fact that of three or four military companies that took part not one carried the "old flag." One had a painted blue banner on which the central device was a "rebel flag," surrounded by clouds and stars. The others had blue banners, but the central device is not described. The men wore red and white cockades, the colors of the Confederacy, and for some reason did not march under the flag of their country. This is what the correspondent says, and leaves people to draw inferences. Perhaps there is some explanation of this incident not yet made.

That old scoundrel, Boss Tweed, in his testimony last Friday, stated he paid money to Winslow, Brand, Harpening and others of the New York Senate, to vote for the passage of the city tax levy of 1870. The Senate Journal of the year shows that on the final passage of the bill the above-named gentlemen voted in the negative. Winslow and Harpening voted the same on the county bill. The old thief is evidently just as able-bodied a liar now as he was when he ruled the democratic party of the State of New York.

John S. Morton, the swindling President of Philadelphia Market Street Railway, is a great-grandson of John Morton, one of the signers of the Declaration of Independence, and was a prominent candidate for the democratic nomination for Governor of Pennsylvania. His reputation stood as high as a man's could stand, in Philadelphia and wherever he was known.

Gen. McClellan has accepted the democratic nomination for Governor of New Jersey.

In the democratic town of Anson, in Maine, a dozen river-drivers in the employ of a Boston concern and awaiting a rise of water, appeared at the polls and voted the democratic ticket. As they are not residents of the town and probably not of the State, a good many republicans who did not vote for the proposed amendment to the Constitution which makes the payment of a poll tax a pre-requisite to voting, now wish that they had done so. The same men attempted to vote in New Portland, but their votes were refused.

A Ball Player's Career.

A New York paper says: Mr. Thomas Barlow, of base-ball notoriety, who is now confined in the Tombs on a charge of petit larceny, tells a strange story of the manner in which he became addicted to the use of morphine. He says: "It was on the tenth of August, 1874, that there was a match game of base ball in Chicago between the White Stockings of that city and the Hartfords of Hartford, now of Brooklyn. I was catcher for the Hartfords, and Fisher was pitcher. He is a lightning pitcher, and very few could catch for him. On that occasion he delivered as wicked a ball as ever left his hands, and it went through my grasp like an express train, striking me with full force in the side. I fell insensible to the ground, but was quickly picked up, placed in a carriage, and driven to my hotel. The doctor who attended me gave a hypodermic injection of morphine, but I had rather died behind the bat than have had that first dose. My injury was only temporary, but from taking prescriptions of morphine during my illness, the habit grew on me, and I am now powerless in its grasp. My morphine pleasure has cost me eight dollars a day, at least. I was once catcher for the Mutuals, also for the Atlantics, but no one would think it to look at me now." Mr. Barlow said that a few days ago he was examining some pavement-displayed goods, when a clerk in the store accused him of attempting to steal a pair of socks, and caused his arrest. He knew not what defense to make, and the judges of the special sessions sent him to prison for ten days. His arrest, trial and conviction were like a dream, he said. He says there is no hope for him, and that he will continue taking the drug until it kills him.

Hare and Hounds.

The game is played chiefly by school-boys from ten to sixteen years old, though often boys who do not belong to the school are members of the "hunt," and very often, too, the little fellows are the best runners in the party.

The boys divide themselves into two parties, each having its "champion runner," and lots are drawn as to which of these runners shall be the "hare" in the first hunt of the season, afterward they go by turn.

The rest of the boys are the "hounds," and the other champion is the huntsman who marshals them to the "meet" (which is usually the school play-grounds,) gives the signal for the start, calls them off by a shrill whistle when they get on the wrong scent, and, in fact, is "master of the hounds," par excellence.

The "hare" is provided with a small, open satchel or pouch, slung across his shoulder, and filled with bits of white paper about an inch square—heavy paper that the wind will not carry away. It is the privilege of the small boys who are too little to take part in the hunt to prepare these bits of paper, and for a day or two before a "run" they have great fun in preparing "scent," as they call it.

The hare is also allowed five minutes "head start," and is allowed to choose his own course, but is obliged to scatter the bits of white paper at short intervals all along the way he goes, as they are his tracks for the hounds to follow. The five minutes given him he usually spends in seeking for some obscure place at which he leaves a little package of yellow or blue paper to denote the starting-point.

This may be some blocks away, or up a side street, or just around the corner; he has his choice, and a free opportunity to seek it, as the "hounds" go within doors till the five minutes are up. Then the huntsman cries "whoop! halloo!" and away they all bound hither and thither, seeking till they find the package of colored paper (which they are obliged to do before they can start;) the finder must cry "hark! forward!" then off they go, on the scent.

Sometimes so long a time is taken up in finding the starting-point that the hare makes famous headway, and can "double" on his followers—that is, retrace his way for a block or two on the other side of the street (leaving the bits of paper all along, of course,) go round a block, or, if they are in the country, he probably makes for the woods, goes in some distance, then turns back, perhaps, till he finds some leafy tree, up which he climbs and hides himself till the "hounds" have gone by; anything to put them off the track.

When the hare has gone far enough, and wishes to return, especial care must be taken, as, if he is seen, the hounds can rush after him, "cross lots," and woe betide him if he is caught! He is no longer champion, but has to give up his badge to the fortunate "catcher," and cannot even be one of the hounds till he has paid a certain forfeit demanded by rule—usually something good to eat.

If the hare gets successfully home to the play-ground, the opposite party has to "stand treat;" so you may imagine how hard each side strives to win. It is a capital game when really played according to rules, and English boys think the rules half the sport. It has been played for several generations,—an old game,—not only in England, but wherever English boys have gone, or English games are known.—St. Nicholas for Oct.

Hall's Vegetable Sicilian Hair Renewer has for many years occupied an honorable place in the toilet of American women, and has also attained popularity in foreign countries. This is because it does PERFORM what it promises. Its warmest friends are those who have used it longest, and those who sound its praise the loudest are those who from actual experience and personal trial have demonstrated that by its use gray hair is restored to its natural color and dry, harsh, and wiry hair is made soft and lustrous, a thing of beauty, and a matter of joy and pride to the wearer.—Sub-Soiler and Democrat, Corinth, Miss.

PORTSMOUTH AND VICINITY.

Mr. Edwin H. Leslie has reopened the bread store on Church street formerly kept by Mr. Cyrus Plumer, in the same line of business.

Morse & Ilsley will sell by auction at noon to-day, at their office, some very desirable bank and railroad stock. See advertisement.

The rush at Blumauer's since he reopened seems to indicate that the ladies are satisfied that the place to buy dry goods in hard times is at No. 21 Market street.

The Paul Jones laid quietly inside the Nobles' Island bridge for twenty-four hours after being launched. On Tuesday she was warped through the draw, towed over to the navy yard and placed under the sheers to be masted. The beauty of her model attracts general attention.

Gunner Andrew Harman is detached from the Navy Yard, and ordered to take charge of the yard magazine. Gunner Eugene Mack is ordered to the navy yard.

The evidence in the habeas corpus case of Twombly vs. Woods (involving the custody of a minor child) was concluded on Monday before the Supreme Court at Dover, a large number of witnesses having been examined. The case is to be argued to-day before Judge Foster.

Steamer Major, Capt. Robinson, makes an excursion trip to Newburyport and up the Merrimack river to-day, leaving steamboat wharf at ten o'clock. The steamer will touch at Newburyport, and then run up the river to Salisbury and Amesbury; returning, will reach this city about 6:30 P. M. The trip up the river is a beautiful one, and the sea has been very smooth for some days past; and the fare for the round trip being only one dollaar, a large number of excursionists will probably avail themselves of this chance for a visit to our neighboring seaport.

General Passenger Agent B. F. Patrick, who was formerly connected with the Chicago, Burlington & Quincy Railroad, has been appointed General Passenger Agent of the Eastern Railroad. It is understood that the appointment of a General Passenger Agent is rendered necessary by the increase of outside business, that the offices of general ticket and general passenger agents have been combined, and that Mr. George Russell, who has filled the position of General Ticket Agent for the past twenty-three years, retires. Mr. Russell has been a faithful and efficient officer of the corporation, and in the performance of his duties has given entire satisfaction. The regret at his retirement will be equally felt by his associates and the general public by whom he is held in high esteem.—Traveller.

Schooner W. H. Y. Hackett, Jamieson master, came in on Monday with 23,000 lbs. of fresh cod and six bbls. mackerel. On her previous trip she brought in 14,000 lbs. of cod and four barrels of mackerel. Both catches were made on "the southeast," some ten or twelve miles seaward of the Isles of Shoals.

The probabilities predict that the equinoctial is on its way, and that the unexceptional weather of the past week has been but a "weather breeder."

Ship Granite State has her sails bent and is to leave for New York some day this week.

From E. H. Winchester's beautiful field on Lafayette Road a bountiful second crop of hay has been cut and secured in excellent order.

Capt. Shillaber's building on Court street, which he permits the county to occupy for court purposes, has been shingled.

FREE LECTURE.

Rev. Dr. J. H. McCarty of New Orleans, Louisiana, is to deliver a lecture on "Our Country: its Glory and its Perils," on Friday evening at half-past seven o'clock, in the Methodist church; admission free. A voluntary contribution will be solicited at the close of the lecture to aid in the completion of the Soldiers and Sailors Monument at Chalmette National Cemetery near New Orleans, where nearly thirteen thousand Union soldiers are buried. The Grand Army Post at New Orleans in their printed circular say: "We appeal to New England first because so large a proportion of the dead who sleep at Chalmette are from that section of our country. We command Dr. McCarty to the public as an able and eloquent speaker,—one who thoroughly comprehends national questions, and, having resided for some time in New Orleans, the metropolis of the South, as the pastor of a Christian church, he will come before the public with information on national and Southern questions in particular, which cannot fail to be of great interest to all who may have the privilege of hearing him."

SAFE SHOOTING.

The Times a few days ago contained the following: "The latest case of absence of mind occurred the other day, when a couple of our most accomplished sportsmen were gunning. They reached the hunting grounds, many miles from here, without any mishap, and found game in abundance. But they didn't kill anyting,—they had left their ammunition at home." That was not a very wonderful thing, as Portsmouth shootists often go out without any ammunition. Mr. Nathaniel, a native of this city who formerly resided on the frontier of Texas, near the "Indian Nation," snatched his rifle one evening and went out with the rest of the men to repel an invasion of the Indians, who had come in and killed a woman, stolen a lot of horses and made themselves generally obnoxious. Word was soon brought that the marauders had retreated, and a mounted party was quickly organized to pursue them. A man who was on a horse, but had no rifle, suggested to Mr. Nathaniel to lend him his, and he (the horseman) would then join the pursuers. "All right—take it," said Mr. Nathaniel. The ranger took it, examined it, and exclaimed with evident astonishment, "Why, this rifle ain't loaded! Where's your ammunition?" "Ammunition! I haven't got any ammunition," was the answer received by the amazed frontiersman, who thereupon concluded that the rifle, when in Mr. Nathaniel's hands, was safer for his friends when empty than when half full of powder and lead, and quite as dangerous to the enemy. That was the only time Mr. Nathaniel ever shot an Indian—or anything else—in Texas.

JURORS.

The following named persons were on Tuesday evening drawn from Ward Two in this city:

William G. Billings, Grand Jury, and Oliver Stacy, Petit Jury, to serve at the U. S. Court at Exeter, Oct. 8th.

Charles C. Akerman, Grand Jury, and T. Salter Tredick, Henry H. Ladd, Charles W. Kimball and Matthew T. Betton, Petit Jurors, to serve at the Supreme Court in this city, Oct. 16th.

TEMPLARS' VISIT.

The Olivet Commandry, of Lynn, John Shaw Eminent Commander, accompanied by members of the Grand Commandry of Massachusetts and Rhode Island, with the Lynn Brass Band, will arrive in this city on Thursday afternoon at 5:38, and will be received at the depot by the DeWitt Clinton Commandry, with the Portsmouth Cornet Band; they will be escorted to the Rockingham House which will be their headquarters during their stay. In the evening the visiting Sir Knights will be given a reception at Congress Hall. Friday morning they will be taken down the harbor in steamer Major. Friday afternoon there will be a parade of both Commandries, at the close of which the visiting Sir Knights will be escorted to the depot. It is quite probable that the Newburyport Commandry will accompany the Lynn Commandry on its visit here.

Daily Chronicle.

Vaccination Parties.

The Paris Constitutionnel gravely tells, and the British Medical Journal owlishly repeats, the following yarn:

In America the fashionable amusement of the day is very original. The Yankees give themselves up in the most joyous spirit to the amusement of vaccination parties; they give soirees, and in lieu of providing for these reunions refreshments of the usual kind, they offer to the guests assorted varieties of vaccine matter. At a concert, for example, after the execution of each piece, doctors come at the call of the host and pass through the rooms instead of servants, who usually offer tempting dishes; and, in lieu of the words, "Sir, or madam, would you like an ice, or some punch, or some sandwiches?" they ask, "Would you like infant vaccination or cow vaccination?" and each one answers according to his fancy or to the degree of confidence he feels in each remedy. "Give me three children and five cows," one will say; "four cows and five children," another will say, limiting themselves always to the eight incisions which every good vaccination is held to require. Besides sources of vaccination, others are held at which the vaccinated meet to compare their arms and to ascertain the success of the operation. It is not unusual now in America, when a lady wishes to justify the preference which she feels for any gentleman, to express herself in these terms: "How can I help it? We have been vaccinated together."

—A widow in Baltimore put crape on the door. The crape remained there about a week before the landlord made bold to interrupt her grief, and when he entered he found nothing there but the house. Her grief was so intense that she had inadvertently removed all the furniture and forgotten to pay her rent.

—A well-dressed, lady-like looking woman entered a car the other day, with her little boy of about six years of age. On the conductor's coming to collect the fares, the lady handed her little son a half dollar, he being near the door. The little fellow examined the coin carefully, and then gave it to the conductor. Scarcely had the man returned the change than the youngster clapped his hands, and, looking at his mother, exclaimed, triumphantly, "Mamma, mamma, he has taken the bad half dollar!"

Centaur Liniments.

One thing is now thoroughly established. Never since man suffered and human agencies alleviated pain has there been an article which went so far as a pain annihilator and curative agent as the Centaur Liniments. These Liniments have within the past year cured more cases of Rheumatism, Neuralgia, Stiff joints, Caked Breasts, Swellings, Poisonous Bites, Burns, Lame Animals, etc., etc., than all other remedies combined. As the name of Centaur implies half horse and half man, the Centaur Liniments are for man and beast. But not the same Liniment. The White Liniment is for man and the Yellow for horses and animals. Herein this Liniment differs from all other remedies, although some of the ingredients are alike in each. They contain the well-known Which Hazel, Arnica, Starbolic, Rock Oil, Mentha and other powerful ingredients.

Wm. H. Hickcox, Rector of St. John's E. Church, Wakefield, Clay Co., Kansas, writes: "Many years I have been suffering from a Weak Back, caused from a sprain more than 40 years ago. I have not found any thing to relieve me until I commenced the use of Centaur Liniment. I feel it my Christian duty to inform you that by its wonderful effects I am entirely relieved of pain. January 23d, 1876."

Messrs. J. McClure & Co., Druggists, Cincinnati, Ohio, say:

"Teamsters pronounce the Yellow Centaur Liniment superior to any thing they have ever used. We sell several dozen bottles per month, and the sale is rapidly increasing."

These are only samples of thousands upon thousands of similar testimonials reaching us every month. All the Extracts, Embrocations, Salves and Ointments in existence are not doing one-tenth the good which is done by these admirable Centaur Liniments. For Frost-bites, Stings, Cuts, Itch, Salt Rheum, etc., there is nothing like the Centaur Liniment, White Wrapper. For Spavin, Ring-bone, Sweeney, Wind-Galls, Poll-evil, Scratches, etc., on horses, the Yellow Centaur Liniment is equally as good. They are certain in their effects; they are pleasant to use, they are handy and they are cheap. No family should be without Centaur Liniments. They are worth one hundred times their cost.

Castoria.

Mothers may have rest and their babies may have health, if they will use Dr. Pitcher's Castoria for Wind Colic, Worms, Feverishness, Sour Mouth, Croup, or Stomach Complaints. It is entirely a vegetable preparation, and contains neither mineral, morphine, nor alcohol. It is as pleasant to take as honey, neither gags nor gripes, and is superior to any remedy in existence.

Dr. E. Dimoch, of Dupont, Ohio, says:

"I am using CASTORIA in my practice with the most signal benefits and happy results, and find it a perfect substitute for Castor Oil."

This is what every one says. Many nurses in New York use the CASTORIA. It is prepared by Messrs. J. B. ROSE & CO., successors to Samuel Pitcher, M. D. (nov1

The Centaur Liniments have created a revolution in remedies for Rheumatism, Pains, Swellings, Pains, Burns, Scalds, Stings, &c. The White Liniment is for the human family, and the Yellow Liniment is for horses. They are certain, handy and cheap.

Castoria is certain to operate. It does not nauseate or gripe like Castor Oil, but is pleasant to take, digests the food, regulates the bowels, cures wind colic, expels worms, and causes natural sleep. It is equally adapted to adults and infants. It contains neither Mineral, Morphine nor Alcohol. Children teething may have health, and mothers find rest, if they use Castoria.) (nov1

No medicine ever offered to the public has given such universal satisfaction as Dr. Quain's Magic Condition Pills. Their praises are on every tongue where their merits are known. They strike at once at the seat of disease and show their healing power almost immediately. Thousands of voluntary testimonials of their merits have been received by the agent, from those who have been cured by them, of which the following are samples:

Dyspepsia Four Years, Constipation and Inflammation of the Bowels Three Years, Confined to my Room Two Years, Pain so I Could Not Sleep Without Morphine. One Package of Dr. Quain's Condition Pills Made Me Eat Well, Sleep Well and Free from Pain, after being given up by Physicians.

WEST LEBANON, ME., Feb. 22, 1

MR. THOMAS W. LANE:—I have been sick for 2 years with Dyspepsia, and for the past three years Constipation and Inflammation of the Bowels. have suffered all the pain I could endure and live. have been confined to my room for two years, and could not sleep nights without the use of morphine. I have been given up by physicians as past cure. I have taken one package of DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS, and they have done me more good than all the doctors I have had. I sleep well, I eat well and have no pain. They are all they are recommended to be. Please send me three packages, as two of my neighbors wish to try them. I enclose $1.50.

Your truly, JOHN W. LORD.

Another Letter from May. John W. Lord, one month later Wonderful Cures by Dr. Quain's Pills Effected on Him in Thirteen Days. First time Free from Pain for Three Years.

WEST LEBANON, ME., March 22, 1875.

MR. THOMAS W. LANE:—I commenced taking DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS February 9th, and wrote you February 22d of their wonderful effect. I have continued to improve ever since. My appetite is good, and I sleep as well as I ever did in my life. I am free from pain for the first time in three years. When I was taken sick four years ago, I weighed one hundred and eighty-six pounds; I now weigh one hundred and thirty, but, as I am gaining in strength, I feel as if I shall regain my flesh this summer, by the use of the Pills. I shal continue taking them for some time to come.

Yours truly, JOHN W. LORD.

Dr. Quain's Pills the Remedy for Soldiers' Aches and Pains.

WEST LEBANON, ME., June 1, 1875.

MR. THOMAS W. LANE—Dear Sir:—I am now able to walk out every day, and am gaining in strength very fast, all of which I owe to you as agent for the best Pills in the world. I have taken no other medicine, and my improvement has been steady since first taking DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS. They have done everything for me, and I will say to you, advertise them direct to the soldiers, for they will certainly cure them of aches and pains caused from exposure and hardship on the field. Please send me by return mail another package.

JOHN W. LORD.

Rheumatism for Twenty Years Cured by One Package of Dr. Quain's Condition Pills—"The Best Medicine in the World."

EAST ANDOVER, N. H., Dec. 10, 1875.

MR. LANE—Dear Sir:—As I know the value of DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS and the good they have done me, I take pleasure in giving them praise; so I send you another testimonial. My back has been troubled with Rheumatism for twenty years or more, and has tried everything that could be thought of, but to no good. At times it would be so bad that he could not lift his hand to his head or do any work at all, especially in cold weather. A short time ago I advised him to get some of these Pills. He believed nothing in them, but I gave him the last package I had of you, as I did not need them, and he has not been as free from the Rheumatic Complaint for years. He thoroughly believes in pain. What helped him? It was DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS, the best medicine in the world. There is nothing like them. I know it, for I have tried them, and they are all, yes, more than they are recommended to be. Give them a fair trial and you will say so. I write this because I know the goodness of them and wish others to know the same. Some may think I am telling a big story. I am. But remember I am not giving them half the praise they ought to have.

Yours with respect, ED. F. PEVARE

DAINGERFIELD, MORRIS CO., TEXAS, Nov. 15, '75.

MR. THOMAS W. LANE—Dear Sir:—I have been afflicted for near twelve years with Neuralgia in the face and head. I tried all the cures I know how many physicians, and could only get partly relieved. I also tried many patent medicines with the same result. I have been confined to my room more or less at the time for eight or ten winters, and have been traveling and visiting medical springs, and I still suffered most intensely. The physicians pronounced my case the worst and most stubborn that they had had anything to do with. One told me I could never get well; they all advised me to go South and spend the winter, and thought that was the only chance for me, and I was trying to get ready to go to Florida, when through the kindness of Rev. H. M. Mathis, my attention was called to the advertisement of Dr. Quain's Magic Condition Pills. I immediately sent to you for a package. I have taken four doses and I am almost free from pain. The impression here seems to be that if your pills will cure me, they will cure anybody. I have five applications to send for the pills. Enclosed please find three dollars; send five packages to me and one to Mrs. Laura Sherrel, Sulphur Springs, Hopkins county, Texas.

Yours truly, J. S. PATTON

Liver Complaint, Nervousness, Dropsy and Headache.

LAGONIA, N. H., Jan. 29, 1875.

THOS. W. LANE—Sir:—I have been troubled with Bad Blood, Liver Complaint, Nervousness, Dropsy and Headache. I have taken one package of DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS. They have done me more good than all the medicine I ever took; I have taken considerable medicine within the last five years. For the nerves I think there is nothing so good as those pills. I can recommend them to all who are similarly afflicted, they have done me so much good. I think they will recommend themselves wherever they go. I shall recommend those Pills to all who need them. Please send me two packages more, one for myself and one for a lady friend of mine. Many thanks to the inventor, agent and advertiser of those Pills.

MRS. P. L. ELLIOTT.

PULMOCINE.

BUCHMAN'S PULMOCINE CORDIAL

Is the ultima thule o Medical Discovery.

Among its many ingredients are Wild Cherry Bark, Squill Root, Liquorice Root, Blood root, &c. It is a Blood Purifier, gently stimulating. It increases expectoration and is diuretic. It is sudorific and alterative. It is a necessary family medicine. It is a Tonic and a powerful aid to the digestive organs. It is a gentle sedative, and relieves nervousness. It is aromatic and agreeable to the taste.

CLEAR YOUR THROAT!

Relieve Your Lungs.

For the terrible diseases engendered by the Impure trying climate of New England

PULMOCINE CORDIAL

is a speedy and reliable Preventive and Remedy. Every Family should have a bottle at hand to check the sudden growth of all Pulmonary Diseases. For the Asthma, Coughs, Croups, Laryngitis, or inflammation of the larynx, Diphtheria, and all kindred Throat Diseases at all times prevalent, it is the ounce of Prevention. Children attacked with Whooping Cough or Croup should be immediately cared for. These painful attacks come with scarcely a moment's warning, when a physician may be out of immediate each. A dose of PULMOCINE CORDIAL gives speedy relief, and the little ones are spared hours of pain and agony. As "a stitch in time saves nine," so does the possession of this Family Medicine prevent the spread of disease. Parents seeing their children gasping with pain, friends and relatives beholding each other in peril from suffocation by the choking pain in the throat, paralyzed with fear and not knowing the best course to pursue, are liable to apply the wrong remedial agents. There is no safety in delay, no time to waste in such cases. CONSUMPTION, that fearful scourge of the human race, lies at the door of all this afflicted. BUCHMAN'S PULMOCINE CORDIAL arrests it (unless in its advanced stage at which time there is no local cure) relieves the pressing, suffocating feeling at the lungs, and patient's danger is past.

For Coughs,

Croup,

Diphtheria,

Asthma, etc.,

USE

Buchman's Pulmocine Cordial.

The Pulmocine Cordial is not a quack medicine, is not an experiment, is not composed of any ingredients "discovered" by "walking in pastures" in South America or anywhere else, nor by one who discovered a weed and thereby cured himself. Most of the ingredients are such as our best educated physicians daily use for the complaints specified in some form or other. The recipe is that perfected by one of New England's most learned and famous physicians, who used it entirely in his daily practice until his death. It is offered to the profession and to the public, absolutely pure and unadulterated.

Nor shall any sellers of fish be permitted to throw any offal of fish into any street, lane or alley of the city, or upon any wharf, but shall either bury them or throw them into the river beyond low water mark.

SEC. 7. If any dead animal or decaying vegetable substance, or any other nuisance, shall be found in any part of the city, the owners or occupiers of the premises where such nuisance shall be found, shall cause the same to be removed within twenty-four hours after being notified so to do by one or more of the health officers.

SEC. 13. When any physician shall know that any person whom he is called to visit is infected with the small pox, or any other disease dangerous to the public health, such physician shall immediately give notice thereof to the Health Officers.

SEC. 14. If any such householder or physician shall refuse or neglect to give the notice required in the preceding sections, he shall for each refusal or neglect, forfeit the sum of twenty dollars, to be recovered by either of the Health Officers in the name of the city.

SEC. 16. The Health Officers may give written notice to the owner or occupier of any building, vessel or enclosure, to remove or destroy any nuisance or other thing deemed by them on examination, to be injurious to the public health, within a certain time limited therein; and in case such owner or occupier—the said notice having been given to him, or left at his usual place of abode—shall neglect to comply therewith, the said Health Officers may, by direction of the mayor and accompanied by the city marshal, forcibly enter such building, vessel or enclosure, and cause said nuisance or other thing aforesaid to be removed or destroyed.

SEC. 21. No person shall erect, keep or continue, or permit to be erected, kept or continued, upon any land occupied by him, any pen for the keeping of swine, or privy, over either of the mill ponds in this city, or so placed that offensive substances therefrom shall be discharged or drained into either of said ponds or into any creek, or cove, or drain leading thereto. And no person shall construct, keep or continue any drain leading from any pen or the keeping of any swine, slaughter-house, privy vault, or other unwholesome or offensive place, into either of said ponds, or to any flat or marsh adjoining the same. And no person shall throw or suffer to be thrown from his land into either of said ponds, or upon any of said flats or marshes, any dead, decaying, unwholesome or offensive animal or vegetable substances.

AYER'S SARSAPARILLA,

For Purifying the Blood.

This compound of the vegetable alteratives, Sarsaparilla, Dock, Stillingia, and Mandrake with the Iodides of Potash and Iron, makes a most efficient cure of a series of complaints which are very prevalent and afflicting. It purifies the blood, purges out the corrupting humors in the system, that unfitted in health and settle into troublesome disorders. Eruptions of the skin are the appearance on the surface of humors that should be expelled from the blood. Internal derangements are the determination of these same humors to some internal organ, or organs, whose action they derange, and whose substance they destroy. AYER'S SARSAPARILLA expels these humors from the blood. When they are gone, the disorders they produce disappear, such as Ulcerations of the Liver, Stomach, Kidneys, Lungs, Eruptions and Eruptive Diseases of the Skin, St. Anthony's Fire, Rose or Erysipelas, Pimples, Pustules, Blotches, Boils, Tumors, Tetter and Salt Rheum, Scald Head, Female Weakness, Sterility, Leucorrhœa arising from internal ulceration and uterine diseases, Dropsy, Dyspepsia, Rheumatism and General Debility. With their departure health returns.

Interrupted Table Talk.

The other evening Rev. Mr. Philacter sat down at the tea table with a very thoughtful air, and attended to the every want of his brood in a very abstracted manner. Presently he looked up at his wife and said—

"The Apostle Paul"—

"Got an awful lump on the head 'a afternoon," broke in the pastor's eldest son, "playing base ball. But flew out of the striker's hands when I was umpire, and cracked me right above the ear an' dropped me. Hurt? Golly!" and the lad shook his head in dismal but expressive pantomime as he tenderly rubbed a lump that looked like a billiard ball with hair on it.

The pastor gravely paused for the interruption, and resumed:

"The Apostle Paul"—

"Saw Mrs. O'Gheminie down at Greenbaum's this afternoon," said his eldest daughter, addressing her mother. "She had the same old everlasting black silk, made over with a vest of tilleul green silk, coat-tail basque pattern, overskirt made with diagonal folds in front, edged with deep fringe; yellow straw hat, with black velvet facing inside the brim, and pale blue flowers. She's going to Chicago."

The minister waited patiently, and then in tones just a shade louder than before, said—

"The Apostle Paul"—

"When in swimming last night with Henry and Ben, pop, and stepped on a clam shell," exclaimed his youngest son: "cut my feet so I can't wear my shoes; and, please, can't I stay home to-morrow?"

The pastor informed his son that he might stay away from the river, and then resumed his topic. He said—

"The Apostle Paul says"—

"My teacher is an awful liar," shouted the second son; "he says the world is as round as an orange, and it turns round all the time faster than a circus man can ride. I guess he hain't got much sense."

The mother lifted a warning finger to the boy and said, "Sh!" and the father resumed.

"The Apostle Paul says"—

"Don't bite off twice as much as you can chew," broke out the eldest son, reproving the assault of his little brother on a piece of cake. The pastor's face showed just a trifle of annoyance as he said in a very firm, decided tones

"The Apostle Paul says"—

"There's a fly in the butter!" shrieked the youngest hopeful of the family, and a general laugh followed. When silence was restored, the eldest daughter, with an air of curiosity, said—

"Well, but, pa, I really would like to know what the Apostle Paul said."

"Pass me the mustard," said the pastor, absently.

Then the committee rose and the Senate went into executive session and soon after adjourned.—Burlington Hawkeye.

—The Atkinson, Kan., Patriot tells this little romance: It will be remembered that when Barnum's show was here several years ago his treasurer took sick, and was left at the Massasoit House. He died there and was buried here, we believe. He was engaged to be married to a Miss Fish, a sister of Barnum's present treasurer. After his death it became necessary for Miss Fish to write several letters to Mr. Barnum in reference to her dead lover. Barnum admired the lady, because of her well-written letters, sought an acquaintance—an acquaintance which soon ripened into love, and to make a long story short, the then Miss Fish is now Mrs. P. T. Barnum. Barnum is twenty-seven years older than his wife.

The Revival of Trade.

From all quarters of the country come reports of a remarkable and unlooked for increase in business; our Washington correspondent in a late letter gave a roseate account of the briskness of trade in New York city and Baltimore, and stated that from letters received in Washington it is evident that business throughout the country is rapidly improving. On this subject the Providence Journal says:

"The reports of trade from the west and southwest are most promising. The cereals have proved most abundant. Corn, which is the only crop not yet fully made, is in almost the entire region in which it is an important consideration, beyond the influence of frost. There is no question that it will be a large crop. Those who are in the best position to know, have evidently the fullest confidence in the harvest. In Chicago, in Louisville, in Nashville, the merchants represent the fall trade as being beyond that of any late year, and beyond expectation. This is precisely in accordance with the natural and proper rules of trade. It is in the producing districts that the first impulse of business should be felt, because there it is based upon actual production of the necessaries of life. Wheat, corn, cotton, wool, these are the essentials. When these are produced, the producer is able to purchase, so far as he has a surplus, the luxuries of life. In this country, at any rate, the worker seeks for his family, if not for himself, the elegancies. When, therefore, the farmer sees his way to pay the interest on his mortgage and have a little something left, he will buy at the store that which is, in his region, "fashionable." How soon and how far this tide of expenditure will come east, at this juncture, is not now to be estimated. All that can be said is that this tide now promises to be more full than for a long time past."

New Jersey Nomination.

The Republican State Convention of New Jersey nominated Ex-Gov. William A. Newell for Governor, and mildly endorsed the President's southern policy.

News and Notes.

Instruction in the mixtic system is to be given in the grammar schools of Boston.

Owing to the exposure of the wholesale stealing of Morton, the President of the Permanent Exhibition Company of Philadelphia, it is feared the exhibition will be closed.

A train on the Illinois Central Railroad was thrown from the track on the night of Sept. 24th, and seven passengers were killed and many wounded. Masked men were seen by passengers from the car windows, as the moon was shining brightly, but after the accident they were not to be seen. It is supposed that they wrecked the train, intending to plunder the passengers, but were frightened away.

The failure of Rufus Hatch, the well-known New York stock-broker, is reported.

The President and party have arrived in Washington.

The Cambridgeport (Mass.) National Bank has been robbed of $30,000 in money and securities belonging to private parties, but nobody knows when or how it was done.

A telegram is said to have been received from Santo Domingo, saying that the ashes of Christopher Columbus were discovered there, with authentic proof of their genuineness. It is therefore supposed that the ashes of Columbus in the Havana Cathedral are those of his son Diego.

During the year just closed the United States sold 105,000,000 yards of cotton goods abroad, ten times more than was exported the year before.

A new and baffling disease has appeared among the horses of Morristown, N. J., and neighborhood. Several are dying daily at Madison. Veterinarians say it is a kind of diphtheria. None of those attacked recover. It is spreading fast.

The South Pass at the mouth of the Mississippi river has been deepened so that it is now available for all classes of vessels, and the largest craft go through now with only one tow boat.

Base ball—Bostons 6, Lowells 9; Cincinnatis 7, St. Louis 4; Louisvilles 3, Indianapolis 0.

The Patent Office officials now say that no papers of great importance were destroyed by the fire; and Commissioner Williams of the Land Office does not think he has lost a single paper, even of the most unimportant nature.

Hon. John L. Stevens, the newly-appointed Minister to Norway and Sweden, has left for Stockholm with his family.

There has been a heavy gale in the Bay of St. Lawrence, and several American fishing vessels are reported ashore.

The Boston base ball club beat the Hartfords on Wednesday, 14 to 3.

Zach Miller, eighty years old, has been arrested at East Brownfield, Me., for setting fire on the 25th to the barn of his nephew, John Miller, by which the latter lost $1000.

Fourteen thousand Manila cigars, brought to Boston by Capt. Taylor, of the British ship Fontency, and smuggled ashore by Capt. James L. Fowler, master of pilot boat No. 7, of Boston, have been seized. All engaged in the smuggling will be arrested, and the pilot boat seized and held as security.

Burglars have been operating in Amherst, and on the night of Sept. 24th somebody burgled a cow from Rev. Dr. Davis' barn.

The Eastern War.

A despatch from St. Petersburg says that a further levy has been made on the Russian Landwehr, and that fifty-two battalions are now proceeding to the front.

It is reported that at the council of Ministers, held Sept. 25th, at which the Grand Duke Constantine presided, a majority of the members favored peace negotiations, which report is probably bosh, for Russia cannot afford to make peace until she has gained some decided advantage over the Turks.

The losses of the Russian and Roumanian armies in the engagement at Plevna are placed at 25,000 in killed and wounded.

Political.

New Jersey was the only Northern State which voted for McClellan for President. He may be its next Governor.

Postmaster-General Key does not adapt his speeches to his audiences, but has repeated and justified his "erring brethren" remark, which brought him so much denunciation from the Southerners, in his own State of Tennessee. "What good did all our fighting do?" he asks, and adds: "If to lose all that you fought for, and to have that done that you did not wish done, was not a mistake and an error, I don't know what the meaning of those words is."

Kemper County, Miss., has taken the first step toward doing its duty in the case of the murderers of Judge Chisolm. Six indictments for murder and twenty-five for being accessory to murder have been found by the grand jury of that county, and it is said that most of them are directed against the participants in the outrage. They will be brought to trial, thought it is doubtful whether any convictions can be obtained. It will be some satisfaction if the county authorities do their duty and make a real effort to have justice done.

A Frightful Wreck.

The Panama Star and Herald contains the following particulars concerning the loss of the steamship Eten in the South Pacific Ocean, some weeks ago reported in brief, supplied by an officer of the Chilian war vessel Chacabuco, after visiting the scene of the wreck:

At 5 A. M., on the 15th of July, during the watch of the first officer, Mr. Thomas Ford, passengers and crew were suddenly awakened by the heavy shock experienced throughout the ship on her striking the rocks. They immediately abandoned their beds and rushed on deck, where within a few moments the scene of confusion became simply indescribable, everybody rushing heedlessly hither and thither in a state of utter desperation, some occupying the shrouds and others crowding toward the boats. The captain made fruitless efforts to restore and preserve order; at the same time proceeding to get out the boats. In spite of all that could be done, however, it was impossible to maintain discipline, the prevailing idea being "every one for himself," and each one seeking the best means of preserving his own life.

Fifty or sixty persons crowded into a lifeboat, but one of the davits giving way they were precipitated into the sea, where the majority of them at once perished miserably. Only seven of them succeeded in finding their way to the shore, where they were cast up completely exhausted and severely bruised by the buffeting they had experienced.

The rest sought refuge on a rock about three hundred metres distant from the shore, thinking it would afford them a place of safety until the arrival of succor, but where, alas! many of them found but a tomb. An eye-witness says it would be utterly impossible to depict the harrowing scenes which occurred on that rock, seventy or more unhappy wretches clinging to each other for mutual protection against the heavy sea constantly breaking over them, each successive wave threatening to sweep them bodily from their frail tenure.

It seemed as if it were in the power of Providence alone to snatch them from the arms of death. Unfortunately the elements were against them. The wind freshened, the sea increased in fury, and to crown their miseries a heavy rain began to fall, accompanied by intense cold, completely benumbing the faculties of those who had not been rendered insensible by the breakers. Each wave carried away two or three victims, and the position finally became so terrible that the boldest among the survivors preferred to face the fury of the sea than to remain longer exposed to a prolongation of their sufferings. Many perished in attempting to swim ashore, but some few fought their way inch by inch to the beach, where they were received by crowds who had hastened from the neighboring villas on hearing the news of the disaster.

On Tuesday, the third day of the wreck, there were about twenty persons still alive on the rocks. They had been there about fifty-five hours without rest or food, attenuated by exposure to the cold, the sea and the rain. About four or five o'clock in the evening an immense wave broke over them and they were all swept away.

One of the most melancholy incidents in connection with the fatal rock was the following: Among those who sought refuge there was a Mr. Bates of Coquimbo with his two young daughters. They were passengers from England by the steamer Valparazo, and at the port of that name had changed steamers. The young girls had been for ten years in England, receiving their education, and were returning, accompanied by their father, to the place where their mother was anxiously awaiting them after so long a separation. The sea swallowed them up one by one, and the youngest (a girl of sixteen) was compelled to witness the agonizing death of her father and sister, within a few yards of her, without having it in her power to render them the slightest assistance.

A Race Between a Horse and an Engine.

A communication from Norwalk, Ohio, to the Cleveland Herald, says: "Rather an exciting chase occurred yesterday between a horse and a train. As the afternoon excursion train was running from Huron, and when near Milan, a fine-looking horse appeared upon the track a short distance ahead. The engineer endeavored to whistle him off, but the steed, throwing up his head and tail, started up the track on a lively trot, the train keeping about four rods in the rear. If the engine slackened up, the horse would also. The fireman ran ahead of the engine, but the horse only kept out of his reach. The fireman re-entered his cab, and the pursuit was continued. Soon after, a boy, coming from the woods with a long pole, ran up to the horse, which kept the track notwithstanding. Apparently he became tired, and was constantly stumbling and catching his feet on the ties. The fireman got off again, and being aided by a man coming down the track, compelled the horse to turn out, but with a lively pace he ran around the man and got on the track again just ahead of the engine. At each success of the horse there arose shouts of laughter from the excursionists. The horse seemed to understand and the engineer keenly felt the defeat. After running about two miles a bridge was reached. The engineer slackened a little to give the horse a chance to get off. The horse stopped, looked at the trussing a moment, made a left face, ran down the bank, and crossed the ravine. The engineer, seeing his chance, pulled out lively. The chase was kept up about forty rods further. The horse kept up abreast of the engine for some distance, and finally, with a shake of his head, turned to the left, and was soon out of sight."

Flying Squirrels.

During my first year in college, however, I became the owner of three flying squirrels, and soon found that they could afford as much amusement and do as much mischief as a monkey; and, during the time that I owned them, we were never tired of watching them.

I kept them in the trap in which they were caught, a common wire rat-trap, with a door at each end. This I placed upon a bracket on the wall between the two windows of the room, so that they could reach it easily by running up the window curtains, and jumping from them to the cage. In a short time they became so tame that the cage was fastened open, and left so all the time, and every night, about day-break, they would run up the curtain, jump into the cage, and curl up under the cotton with which it was filled, and sleep all day, rolled up with their tails wrapped around their bodies and covering their heads, so that they looked like little round fur balls. If they were disturbed during the day they were very sluggish and inactive, and hunted out another dark corner as soon as they were allowed their liberty; and no one who has seen them only in the daytime can understand what active, wide awake, mischievous animals they are after dark.

Sometimes they chose very odd places to hide and sleep in, when they were driven out of their nest in the day-time. The pockets and sleeves of the clothes which hung in the wardrobe were favorite hiding-places, and the bed was another. They would crawl in between the pillow-case and the pillow, and sleep there all day, and sometimes I have found all three of them in bed with me when I awoke in the morning. They would climb up my coat-sleeve while I was studying, and go to sleep under my arm, and they were very angry if they were disturbed, although of course I could not sit still all day for their convenience.

About twilight every evening they would come out of their hiding place and play around the room, and were as wide awake all night as they had been sleepy all day. They were very fond of playing in my hair, and often the first notice I would receive that they were out for the evening would be their coming down with a flying leap from the top of the window plump upon my head, as I sat reading or talking. When I was engaged in study, such an interruption was rather startling at first, as they always awoke and came out of the cage together, so that, before the first had time to recover his balance after his leap, the second would alight in the same place, and while they were struggling with each other to gain a foothold the third would strike on top of them, and perhaps knock one or both of them off upon my collar or shoulders; but they usually jumped back on my head again, and for a minute or two I would have all three scuffling together in my hair. In a short time I learned to expect this visit about dark every evening, and I was very much pleased to see that they soon learned to know me, and always selected my head when there were visitors in the room. I never discovered that my visitors felt slighted by this neglect, or were at all sorry that their heads were not favored in the same way.

They were very fond of perching upon the picture nails, and climbing upon the cord, and would often carry a nut up and sit there and eat it, and then drop the empty shell behind the picture. They had one great feat which was very amusing. They would run up the side of the door-casing to the top, and then drop down to the door knob, and try to sit there; but as it was round and smooth they had great difficulty in clinging to it, and usually slipped off on the floor, one after the other, and raced back to the top of the door. To try it again. Occasionally one would almost proceed in gaining a seat upon the knob, but before he had time to get fairly balanced, another would drop down and strike him, and both would fall to the floor.

They would eat all kinds of nuts, but they seemed to be much fonder of insects, and were busy a great part of the evening catching the large moths and beetles which are so abundant in the early summer. They would hang by the claws of their hind paws to the lower edge of the sash of an open window, and watch for an insect to fly past them. If it were near enough to reach they would seize and eat it as they hung in the window. If it were not near enough for them to reach it in this way, they would sail out into the room after it, and in most cases catch it before alighting. Their large, projecting eyes, fitted for seeing in the night, and their power of sailing short distances through the air, fit them perfectly for the capture of insects; but nuts must furnish the larger part of their food, for they may be trapped in the dead of winter when there are so few insects that they cannot depend upon them.

They have the instinct shared by most of the gnawing animals, such as field mice, striped squirrels and beavers,—of storing up in the fall a supply of food to be used in the winter. One which I kept several years, after those of which I have been telling you, dropped nearly a peck of hickory nuts down a large hole which a mouse had gnawed in the floor of my closet, thinking that he was storing up a rich supply which he could draw upon when he should need them. They probably live upon nuts and seeds in the fall and winter, and their power of catching insects helps them to gain a living during the spring and early summer, when proper vegetable food is scarce, but insects very abundant.

Of course I need not tell you that the name "flying squirrel" is a mistake, as they do not really fly, and are not furnished with true wings. A very thin skin, covered with hair, like the rest of the body, joins the fore to the hind leg on each side, and thus form a broad sail which enables the animal to slide along through the air for some distance. Their legs are very short and weak, and they cannot jump upward much more than a foot; but, by climbing up to some high place, such as a tall tree, and then sailing off into the air, they can slide for a hundred feet or more before reaching the ground. The tail is very broad and flat, and is used as a rudder to regulate the slope at which they shall fall. The rudder of a boat is used to turn the boat from side to side, so it is flattened vertically, and moves from side to side. The tail of a flying squirrel does not seem to be of very much assistance in turning from side to side, but it regulates their fall, so that they can come almost straight down to the ground, or sail off so as to come down very gradually.

Sometimes they come almost down to the ground very rapidly, then, just before they reach it they bend the tail so as to sail off for some distance, close to the ground. After they have sailed down from a high place in this way, and have thus acquired a good supply of force, they are able to change the position of the limbs and tail so as to go up some little distance, in the same way that a sled will slide up a short hill after it has gone down a long one, but of course they are not able to reach a point as high as that from which they started.

Mine were able to start from the top of the window, and sweep down almost to the floor, and then rise enough to catch the back of a chair on the opposite side of the room, which was about twenty-one feet deep. In the woods, where they can start from a very great height, they make much longer flights than this. The tail is also used to stop them, by bending it down so as to catch the air, when they wish to alight. All of these uses of the tail for a rudder, require that it should be arranged on the opposite plan to the rudder of a boat, and we see why it must be flattened horizontally, and move up and down, instead of being flattened vertically, and moving from side to side.

It may be new to many persons in the city, to learn that the flying squirrel is fully as abundant and widely distributed as the chipmunk or striped squirrel, although it is not as often seen, since it lives among the tall forest trees, and is seldom seen in the day-time.—PROF W. K. BROOKS, in Wide Awake.

THE HABEAS CORPUS CASE.

In the habeas corpus case of Twombly vs. Woods, before Judge Foster, at Dover, on Wednesday, the arguments were heard, and the Judge held that by the decision of the late Chief Justice Bellows in the case State against Richardson, it has been decided that the custody of the child belonged to the father, unless it was shown he was clearly unfit for the trust, such as being grossly immoral, etc. The testimony adduced did not sufficiently bring the case within this rule, and the Judge held that the child was awarded to the father, Mr. Twombly, the wife to have the full and unrestrained right to see the child upon all reasonable occasions. The case was stoutly contested on the part of the friends of the child's mother, with whom the mother resides and has her home. The Judge pretty clearly intimated that the custody of the child might perhaps be decreed to the mother, upon her application for a divorce.

PORTSMOUTH AND VICINITY.

The Eastern Railroad has at the station in this city an improvement in the shape of a mounted platform from which ladies can reach the high steps of the cars—provided the new platform is near the steps when the cars stop, which is not often the case.

The Sunday trains between Boston and this city have been discontinued. These trains do not pay for running after the summer hotels at the beaches close, yet they are never put on until the season is waning; if they were started as soon as the summer travel commences they would no doubt be well patronized by the world's people for three months.

Richard Taft, Esq., of the Profile House, Franconia Mountains, is on a visit to his son-in-law, Chas. F. Eastman, at Odiorne's Point.

The steamer Major did not make her proposed trip to Newburyport and up the Merrimack river on Wednesday, the number of excursionists appearing not warranting it.

The coroner's jury in the case of John Faulkner, found dead on a Sunday morning, three or four weeks ago, (it is so long we have forgotten the exact date,) finished taking evidence on Tuesday evening, having examined fourteen or fifteen witnesses.

The cheap excursion to the White Mountains over the Eastern Railroad starts this morning at quarter-past seven o'clock.

Charles A. Shannon, Esq., has been appointed principal of the school at Eliot Neck, where he taught twenty-one years ago. The gentleman who secured his services was a pupil in his school at the time. Miss Clark of Rye is to be assistant.

Mr. James R. Eaton desires us to say that he received that anonymous letter signed "John D. Claymore;" and that $500 or any other sum will not buy him, as he is not for sale.

The attendants at the Court street chapel will have additional cause for thankfulness that the sidewalk between their chapel and the corner of Haymarket square has been raised to its proper grade.

On Wednesday morning, at about seven o'clock, the barn of Mr. Sylvester Gilbert, on Cass street, was discovered to be on fire, and the flames were not put out until a hole had been burned through the roof. The family were engaged in candy-making at the time, and it is supposed that the fire caught from a spark.

Rev. J. H. M'Carty, D. D., who is to give a free lecture this evening in the Methodist church, delivered the last Decoration Day address at the National Cemetery at Camp Chalmette, near New Orleans, and it was published by the G. A. R. of Louisiana. A copy has been laid on our desk, and though we hate to read printed speeches as a general thing, yet we did read this one all through, and enjoyed it. We intended to make some extracts, to give an idea of the lecturer's style, but cannot make a selection to suit us without taking up more room than we have spare, and will only say that if his Decoration Day address is a fair sample of what he can do, his hearers this evening will enjoy a rich treat.

The rooms of the Health Lift Co., on Daniel street, have been closed,—not, as we are informed, from a lack of patronage, but through a misunderstanding which caused the shutting up of the rooms during the absence of the agent on a vacation.

The register of the ship Granite State gives her tonnage as 1683.69. Her officers, so far as the list is made up, are: mate, Thomas Fitz, of Boston; second mate, Samuel S. Sides, of this city; carpenter, Richard Burnham, of Kittery; steward, Andrew Morine, of Baltimore. She will take out four boys as apprentices,—one each from Eliot, Kittery, Concord and this city.

The burglar alarm between the dwelling and shop of Mr. John F. Shillaber was twice tampered with on the evening of the 25th, at eight o'clock and ten, the alarm being sounded both times. This was evidently done by some one well acquainted with the working of the alarm, as the circuit was broken for a short while and then closed again, each time; but however much he may know about the apparatus he will find it hard work to cut the wire or break into the shop without setting the gong clattering. A sharp watch was kept during the night, (Mr. Shillaber deals in fire-arms and ammunition,) but no one was seen around.

Fishing parties have been the order of the day (and night, too,) during the recent spell of splendid weather; and numerous parties from the country, as well as from the city, have availed themselves of the gentle breezes and smooth sea to "stop out all night," and the schools of fish that have recently struck in on the coast have enabled many of the parties to make good catches.

Miss Kate Claxton and her company had a good paying audience at Franklin Hall on Tuesday evening, and the acting was all that it was anticipated it would be; Miss Claxton maintained her reputation as a great actress, and her support was good; and the audience was made as thoroughly and delightfully wretched as that dismal play, the Two Orphans, well performed, could make them. But though the acting was all that was expected, the scenery was not; this, however, was not the fault of the management, as the stage was found to be too narrow to admit the use of much of the scenery carried by the company, only a very small portion of which was available.

At the annual meeting of the stockholders of the Cocheco Manufacturing Co., held at Dover, on Wednesday, the following officers were elected: President, Amos A. Lawrence; Treasurer, Howard Stockton; Clerk, Z. S. Wallingford; Directors, John A. Burnham, Amos A. Lawrence, J. Ingersall Bowditch, Jefferson Coolidge, Fred A. W. Hitewell, John McDuffee and Howard Stockton.

Time-Proof Teeth.

The teeth may be rendered time-proof by brushing them daily with Sozodont. No later can encrust them, no canker affect the enamel, no species of decay infest the dental bone, if this pure and delicious dentifrice is faithfully used to the exclusion of every other preparation.
